FISCAL YEAR ENDED MARCH 31, 1922

To the Hon. Sir Lomer Gouin, K.C.M.G., K.C., Minister of Justice.

Honourable Sir,—I have the honour to submit reports and statistics regarding the administration of penitentiaries for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1922.

The number of inmates in custody at the close of the fiscal year was 2,640, as compared with 2,150 at the beginning of the year. The average daily population was 2,417.

As will be seen by the above "Comparative Summary," the cost per capita per diem, which for the year 1920-21 amounted to $2, has for the year 1921-22 been reduced to $1.55. This is largely on account of the reduction in the cost of nearly all commodities used.

Cost per capita per diem covers every expenditure made in connection with the penitentiaries, including purchase of lands, erection and repairing of buildings, heating, lighting and water system, as well as the care and maintenance of the inmates, and salaries and uniforms of the officers.

The actual cost of feeding the inmates per diem for the last year was 17½ cents.

Owing to the increase of the prison population in the eastern penitentiaries, considerable difficulty has been experienced and large additional expense entailed in providing them with proper accommodation, care and treatment.

Emergency expenditure to the amount of $37,000 was found necessary to cover cost of temporary cells, repairing damage by storms, and replacing boundary wall at St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, a portion of which, having been damaged by frost, fell down.

The building programme at all of the penitentiaries has been prosecuted vigorously during the year.

At British Columbia the new cell dome has been completed and a portion of the extension of the boundary wall built.

At Saskatchewan the new east wing and hospital have been practically completed; the administration wing is now rapidly nearing completion; a very beautiful cell dome 75 feet square is under construction and the isolated cell building has been begun.

At Manitoba a new cell block to house 208 inmates, equipped with up-to-date cells and all sanitary appliances, has been started, the walls being already up and a new transformer station and storehouse with shoe shop overhead has been erected.

At Kingston the new boiler-house, electric light department, pipe shop, etc., with a 120-foot reinforced concrete chimney is under way, as is the remodelling of the laundry, power-house and changing room. The old boiler-house, which for many years has been a menace to the safety of the prison and where supervision was most difficult, will be remodelled and turned into workshops.

At St. Vincent de Paul the new northeast wing is nearing completion and work on the south wing reconstruction commenced. A building for store accommodation has been begun and a transformer house erected. A filtration plant to clarify, purify and chlorinate water pumped from the river for use of the villagers, is being erected.

At Dorchester the beautiful new cell block capable of accommodating 260 inmates has been finished; a new water works dam and several other necessary and important works completed. New cement sidewalks have been laid and a new stone wall surrounding the warden's residence erected.

At the St. Vincent de Paul and Kingston penitentiaries the hydro-electric is being installed to furnish light and power. It is estimated an annual saving of $40,000 will result by the introduction of the hydro in these two institutions.

Although a tremendous building programme has been carried on for the past year and much larger expenditures made in connection with construction than heretofore, the per capita cost of the penitentiaries is less than it has been for several years.

Conditions at all of the penitentiaries have been greatly improved:—

The introduction of carefully selected, qualified, certificated school teachers, has been productive of wonderful good;

The enjoyment of privileges afforded by the increased and improved libraries has done much to advance the morale of the inmates;

The abandonment of the checked and striped clothing and the substitution of plain blue for winter and plain brown for summer wear;

The granting of the tobacco ration;

The added writing and visiting privileges;

The greater variety of food and change in the diet;

The improved cooking and serving of meals;

The introduction of concerts and moving-picture shows;

The holding of religious missions;

The non-clipping of hair during winter months;

The improvement in the discharge outfits;

The abandonment of the idea of handling all men by "rule of thumb", and substitution therefor of the personal study of each inmate and treatment of him, as his temperament and disposition would warrant;

The improvement in prison hospitals;
The additional work secured for the inmates;
The introduction of dental surgeries properly equipped, and treatment of defective teeth;
The endeavours now put forth by penitentiary officers to secure employment for inmates on discharge; all have combined to not only wonderfully improve the condition of the inmates, but have had the effect of convincing them that those in charge of penitentiaries have their interests at heart.

The retirement of Mr J. C. Brown, warden of British Columbia penitentiary, on September 30, 1921, is greatly regretted by all in the service who knew him. Though 77 years of age, he remained in active control of the institution until the date he severed his connection with same. He possessed exceptional attainments, was of high moral character, an excellent judge of men and stood very high in the estimation of the people of the province he so faithfully and honourably served before coming into the penitentiary service fourteen years ago.

The vacancy caused by Warden Brown's retirement was filled by the promotion of the deputy warden, Mr. W. A. Patchell, who has been thirty-two years in the penitentiary service. The position of deputy warden, vacated by Mr. Patchell, was filled by the promotion of the chief keeper, Mr. George W. Trollope, and the chief keeper's position, vacated by Mr. Trollope, was filled by the promotion of Mr. Patrick Devine, the next senior officer on the discipline staff.

On May 23, 1921, Col. Rene de la Bruere Girouard, a veteran of the Great War, an engineer by profession with many years of experience with the Canadian Pacific Railway and Riordan companies, and a member of one of Quebec's most illustrious families, was appointed by the Civil Service Commission to the vacant wardenship at St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary.

During the year the inspectors have been most assiduous and attentive in the performance of their duties and have continually furnished reports as to the conditions of the various penitentiaries. The auditor's reports have been most gratifying and a very decided improvement in the accounting of the various penitentiaries has resulted.

A great many inmates sentenced to penitentiary in the past few years have been guilty of crimes of violence. In one penitentiary a short time ago, seven less than half of the inmates were incarcerated for one of the following three offences: murder, manslaughter or robbery with violence.

Many of the inmates coming to the institutions are found to be in a most unsatisfactory condition. Numbers of them suffer from various diseases and vermin. Although they are presumed to be innocent until proven guilty, they are in many respects worse treated while awaiting trial than after their removal to a penitentiary. One educated inmate lately wrote on coming to a penitentiary: "In the meantime I am glad of the change of environment. After the sordid and vitiating atmosphere of those jails—this huge prison is a soothing and comforting haven of refuge—and I am speaking from a hard and cruel experience and good standards of comparison. Verb. sap." In this connection a former inspector of Canadian penitentiaries once wrote: "Society has found, by terrible experience, that her jail or prison system has too often turned out to be the largest factor, and the most successful machine, in the fabrication of the evil it was seeking to destroy."

I am glad to report a very considerable reduction in the number of reports recorded against inmates for misconduct. At one institution only 131 reports were entered against the inmates during the entire year. This is about one report for every three days, and I submit it is a wonderful record.

The above resulted through an honest endeavour to study, understand and intelligently manage the inmates.

The more punishment inflicted on inmates in a prison the stronger the probability that the place is badly managed.

No real progress can ever be made in the treatment of inmates until the differences between one inmate and another are taken into account.

Nothing much can be brought out of a man but what is in him. However, we are learning that there usually is a great deal in the inmate which has not been brought out. Many of them possess amazing peculiarities. We find it of interest and importance to compare the peculiarities of the inmates, but consider it of much greater importance and a subject for deeper study to ascertain how they acquired these peculiarities.

Our aim is to make confinement in the penitentiaries produce the maximum of good, with the minimum of evil: a system that will be both deterrent and reformatory, both merciful and strict.

Usually men are not wicked because they prefer bad to good, but because they have at some time come under the influence of evil associates and companions which has appealed to something in them.

We find offenders do evil simply because they have never known good. This is particularly so of many young men who have been sent to penitentiary during the past few years, most of whom have long criminal records before being received and before reaching the age of sixteen years. The great majority of them confess to lack of proper home influences or training, nights spent at dance halls, jazz parties, pool rooms, joy-riding parties in stolen motor-cars, and to have robbed in order that they might have sufficient money to enable them to participate in all of the above, which they invariably term "pleasure". On reception they are found to be insolent, defiant, suspicious and to have no respect for law or order, rule or regulation.

Wardens have considerable difficulty with this class of inmate for a time, but I am pleased to say wonderful success has resulted in the handling, training and reformation of many of them. They now leave the institution with a fair education, a good trade and a vastly different viewpoint of their responsibilities. It is gratifying to know that few of them are returning to penitentiary.

We have learned that the best method by which an inmate may be reformed is by the sympathetic guidance, encouragement and assistance of good, God-fearing officers, who by their daily example and guidance will continually influence an inmate for good. "The object lesson is the best teacher," and there is no place where this applies with greater force than in a penitentiary.

Most of the wardens and deputy wardens now in charge of Canadian penitentiaries are true, clean men, judges of human nature, trained in the service, who take an intense and kindly interest in their wards and whose every action in dealing with them is just and merciful.

A wonderful change has taken place in most of the penitentiaries, as is exemplified by the feeling of confidence with which the inmates now regard their wardens.

The work of most of the chaplains during the past year has been all that could be desired and the character of the active, zealous chaplain is exemplified to a very wonderful degree in the conduct and bearing of his followers. One faithful and devout chaplain said to me: "I find the greatest doctrine to preach to fallen men is that the lost are recoverable, that the most fallen may rise and that there is no height of purity, power or felicity in this world to which the most guilty of them may not through penitence attain."

The request of former years for more work for the inmates is again renewed. From 1918 to 1921 the cash revenue of the penitentiaries increased from $63,000 to $162,000, and the latter amount may easily be increased tenfold if we be given sufficient Government work to employ those inmates for whom no other suitable occupation can at present be found.

Farming operations under an extensive scale are being carried on at nearly all of the penitentiaries and many of the inmates are taught agriculture in its various branches. These farms produce large quantities of grain, hay, roots, vegetables and pork, while in Dorchester and Manitoba penitentiaries cattle-raising has been introduced with excellent results. But agricultural pursuits can only be prosecuted for a period of from six to seven months in Canada and other work should be provided sufficient to keep every inmate actively employed.

IT IS USELESS TO TRY TO REFORM AN IDLE MAN

With sufficient government work to keep the inmates continually employed the burden of supporting the penitentiaries would be removed and wages could be paid to inmates as well, thus enabling those with dependents to send money thus earned to needy ones at home while the head or wage-earner of the family is incarcerated.

The following is a list of provisions grown on Prince Albert, Sask., penitentiary farm last year:—

Oats	14,728 bushels	Potatoes	7,530 bushels
Barley	2,203 "	Turnips	950 "
Wheat	589 "	Carrots, red	800 "
Peas and oats	201 "	Carrots, white	70 "
Hay, wild	106 loads	Beets	650 "
Hay, cultivated	175 "	Parsnips	200 "
Green feed	8 "	Mangles	70 "
Cabbages	4,000 heads	Onions	60 "

Green vegetables such as radish, lettuce and onions, were furnished the steward during the entire summer and the prison steward was supplied with all the pork used throughout the year.

The penitentiary hospitals are supplied with all up-to-date necessary appliances for operating, sterilizing, etc., and at each penitentiary a dental surgery has been outfitted where the dental needs of the inmates are attended to. A very considerable expenditure is now made each year in this connection and both physical and mental conditions of inmates improved thereby.

Many of the inmates when received suffer from venereal disease. A determined effort has been put forth to effectually cure these cases. Blood examination and Wasserman tests are now made and no efforts are spared to make the cure permanent.

The appointment of capable, certificated, active school teachers has been a boon to the institutions and a great blessing to the inmates. Wonderful advancement has been made by the inmates in their studies and an earnest effort is put forth by the great majority of them to improve themselves. Many who could neither read nor write on reception, leave the institutions with a fair education as well as a useful trade. Inmates who display special talent are aided and assisted in every possible way. Some who possess special talents, but were not aware of it, are discovered, and their talents developed with most gratifying results.

The schoolmaster at each institution is also the librarian and part of the duties of this officer is to advise and assist the inmates in the selection of what they should read. Several hundred new volumes have been added to the libraries and all books and magazines are now carefully selected by the library boards, which, in each case, consist of the warden, two chaplains, and the schoolmaster.

The following recommendations, some of which were made in former reports, are submitted:—

The erection of institutions for the segregation of the first offender and young men from the old hardened criminal and recidivist, is desirable and necessary. The erection of such an institution was begun in 1895, but afterward abandoned. The opening of such an institution has continually been recommended by all those engaged in the management of penitentiaries. The overcrowded conditions at St. Vincent de Paul and Kingston now make it imperative that something must be done.

The removal of the female prison from within the male prison enclosure is also an essential. The building in which the females are housed could be profitably used for other purposes. This has been recommended many times by the superintendent.

The opening of a mental disease hospital for the feeble-minded and insane inmates is also a necessity. At the present time those mentally diseased are transferred to some of the mental disease hospitals under the control of the provinces. Great difficulty is experienced in prevailing upon some of the provincial governments to receive these unfortunates, and not infrequently they are retained in the penitentiary for long periods before being removed. In some cases very troublesome patients are returned to the penitentiary, although pronounced by Dominion Government alienists as hopelessly insane. It would appear that the closing of the insane ward operated in connection with the penitentiaries until 1915 was a serious mistake. There should be a properly constructed and operated mental disease hospital provided as speedily as possible for these unfortunates.

Advanced methods of agriculture should be taught in all penitentiaries.

It is recommended that those who have been educated in the handling of criminals and the management of penitentiaries be invested with power to administer the affairs of same. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police are recognized, the world over, as a very excellent and efficient force, their success and efficiency having been accomplished and made possible by the method of administration employed, viz.: individual control with authority to administer the affairs and discipline the force without interference. They are a semi-military body as are the officers of the penitentiaries.

The training of all discipline officers before being permitted to assume responsible duty is again suggested. The duties of these officers are partly military and partly police, and should be largely reformatory. That they be thoroughly trained before being placed in charge of inmates is recommended as an outstanding essential.

Wardens and surgeons of penitentiaries should be afforded every opportunity of visiting other penitentiaries, prison congress, etc., and of studying methods of administration other than their own.

More government work should be provided to enable us to pay the inmates a fair wage and make the penitentiaries self-sustaining.

There should be a Canadian Prison Congress meeting annually to discuss the methods of dealing with the criminal in Canada.

There should be a parole officer employed in each prison area, whose duties would be to become fully acquainted with every inmate in the institution; to make a full and exhaustive inquiry into each case, not only of the man himself, but of the penitentiary and court records regarding him and more particularly of his record, habits, associations, environment and life in general in the community in which he lived, thus arriving as nearly as possible at the reason for his downfall. It would also be the duty of these officers to get fully into touch with the employers of labour in the districts and seek out situations suitable for those to be paroled. They should also visit as often as possible all paroled men and receive reports from employers regarding them and use their every endeavour to encourage them. These paroled men should remain under the control of the penitentiaries and the Dominion Parole Officer should have authority to cancel any parole and return the man to the penitentiary on receipt of an adverse report from the area parole officer, after investigation.

There should also be a parole board at each penitentiary, consisting of the warden, surgeon, school-teacher, chaplains and the area parole officer for that prison area.

They should report to the Dominion Parole Officer. The case should then be further considered by the Superintendent of Penitentiaries and the Dominion Parole Officer; and their report, accompanied by the report of the trial judge and such other reports as the Solicitor General might require, forwarded for decision.

This would mean the separation of the paroling of penitentiary inmates from those of the provinces.

In this way, only officers who come into actual contact with the inmates would be permitted to sit on the boards and few mistakes would be made in the releasing of men on parole, as all reports would be prepared by those possessing first-hand knowledge of the men.

The parole officer for the area should arrange employment for them prior to their parole and assist them in every way possible. One of the needs of our system is some more effective method of aiding the inmates on their discharge. Men find it difficult to obtain employment and this frequently leads to their resorting to crime. On discharge from the penitentiary they find it much more difficult on account of the stigma of having been in prison.

All men granted parole should report to the warden of the penitentiary from which they had been paroled. They should not be placed under the control of the police.

A first offender, unless his crime be of a very serious nature, should, after a short period of incarceration, be released on parole. The parole officer should arrange for employment with proper environment for him on the outside. He should be placed in charge of the area parole officer, made to work and live a clean, decent life. If married, he should be made to support his family. In any case the country is relieved of the burden of his support. Every endeavour should be put forth by the area parole officer to learn fully all about him and ascertain the cause or causes of his having committed the crime for which he had been arrested, and no effort spared to reclaim him. A study of the old hardened criminal may be interesting pathology, but it is the study of, and interest in, the first offender that will produce results and prevent increase of the really criminal class.

Should the efforts of the area parole officer fail to reclaim him and he again resorts to crime while under control, his license should be at once revoked and he returned to the penitentiary to serve out the unexpired portion of his sentence. Parole should never be granted to a repeater.

For the past three years missions have been held at St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary during the Lenten season with wonderful results, and in the year just closed at Manitoba and Dorchester penitentiaries also. At these missions the chaplains have been assisted by talented clergymen. The results have been very far reaching, surpassing even our fondest hopes and expectations. The clergymen who assisted at these missions gave their services gratis; needless to say they were appreciated by both officers and inmates. The following are the reports received from the warden of the Manitoba penitentiary regarding the mission held at that institution:—

The warden reports:—

> "Enclosed please find report of the Protestant chaplain on the above, and also copies of letters from the Rev. Dr. Aikins, who took charge of the Protestant mission, and Father Handley, who conducted the mission for the Catholics.
> "When I first suggested the mission to the chaplains I advised them that it would be well to choose missionaries of the calm, convincing type, rather than those who would appeal to the emotions only.
> "As the mission approached, I sensed, among the men, a somewhat antagonistic feeling towards the same. I therefore addressed them at the close of a moving-picture show, held on the 23rd ult., and explained the programme with a view to creating a more cordial atmosphere towards the mission. I believe this address produced the results intended.
> "The Protestant chaplain's report will give a list of the meetings. In addition to those enumerated on the 28th and 31st, the Protestant voluntary services were held, at which practically all the Protestants attended. Both services were noteworthy for their heartiness, and a suggestion made by Mrs. Cooper, who acted as pianist at the voluntary meetings, that the men name their favourite hymns, met with many responses.

"I identified myself as much as possible with both missions, affording the missionaries every facility.

"At the close of the voluntary communion service on the 2nd inst., I again addressed the men, reminding them that when I first took charge of the institution I told them 'it is up to you,' and advised them that that axiom still applied, that the only people who could wash out any stigma attached to the name 'Stony Mountain' were the inmates themselves during and after their sentences. A cordial reference to the missionaries met with hearty approval from the men and the assembly closed with the singing of the Doxology.

"The mission has proved to be a great success in many ways; to the men it has brought satisfaction of their greatest need, namely, assurance of hope for the future, provided they started afresh and in earnest. When I paid my evening visits to the prison I found many men praying in their cells. While no emotional appeal was made I believe that a number are determined to live a Christian life, and still others are trying to commence a better life. The tone of the institution has been raised; the number of those seeking material benefits has been much lower than one would anticipate.

"The mission also produced a good effect upon the officers, the complimentary remarks of the visitors to the institution created a feeling of pride in the penitentiary and its work, while many clearly realized for the first time the end to which our efforts are directed. I am sure the majority of the officers did all possible by their sympathetic attitude to make the mission beneficial.

"Upon the missioners themselves, there was a marked effect. Father Handley's report will speak for itself. The visiting Protestant clergymen expressed themselves as amazed at the cordial response to their endeavours.

"In the outside world much was accomplished by the mission which helped to dissipate the erroneous opinions held by the public, due to the press articles from ex-inmates. All the missioners expressed themselves in most complimentary terms upon the management of the penitentiary. The Reverend G. A. Dixon, pastor of the Crescent Congregational church, and a prominent social worker, remained for the afternoon in order to investigate the conditions more thoroughly. As a result, on the evening of the 2nd inst., he preached to a large congregation, eulogizing the penitentiary and paralleling the conduct of the institution to the theme of Harold Begbie's 'Twice Born Men'.

"Father Handley, an American by birth, has preached in many of the penal institutions in the United States, from Fort Leavenworth down to small county jails. This fact emphasizes the weight of his report. The other mission to which he has reference was also held in a Canadian penitentiary.

"I have been invited to address meetings in Winnipeg to explain the methods in use at this institution; for this I will seek your permission from time to time.

"The Winnipeg Presbytery as a result of the mission have offered to co-operate with me in finding employment for inmates upon their release, if recommended by me. This will prove a much needed alternative to the Salvation Army, whose resources are usually greatly strained, although their willingness is beyond question.

"Some of the missioners are eager to keep in touch with the inmates by correspondence, and I have granted this permission.

"I feel that a great step forward has been taken, some of the impressions left upon the inmates cannot but be permanent, and in the future we may rely upon a larger measure of sympathetic co-operation from the public than has been the case in the past. I hope the day will soon come when the Canadian public will realize that the adulation of foreign penal systems is, at times, misplaced, and that your policy is evolving a type of institution which adequately meets the conditions of our Canadian character.

"Our thanks are due to the missioners, particularly Rev. Dr. Aikins and Father Handley. The former left a large institutional church for the week and threw himself into the mission with the whole weight of his large heart. Father Handley was a revelation. He chose a different subject each day and his addresses were delivered with convincing logic, backed by the fervour inspired by Divine belief. In personality I found him to be the most humble and sincere of men, and among those who are the better for having met him is the warden himself."

Rev. Dr. Aikins reports:—

"In compliance with your request I hereby send you a brief résumé of the recent mission held among the Protestants in Stony Mountain penitentiary. Viewed from the standpoint of a preacher of the gospel the visible results were beyond any other mission that I have ever held. The deep interest manifested by the men, their penitence for wrong-doing and their sincere determination to seek Divine help in leading a new life were to me a gratifying revelation of the fact that the Saviour of Mankind is now as He was in the days of His flesh, 'The Friend of Sinners'.

"Judging by the interviews that I conducted the great majority of the men were sincere in what they did when seeking evidence of a real change. I received such replies as the following: 'I am a changed man because I am contented and happy.' 'If staying here will atone for the past I am willing to stay.' 'I feel in my heart that my sins are forgiven.' 'I have failed many times but I am going to make one more big try.' 'I have quit swearing and cigarette smoking.' 'I am not concerned so much about myself as those dependent on me on the outside.'

"As you know, I preached the gospel of loving-kindness and tender mercy. No one stands outside the compassion of the Saviour and their hearts opened out in response, as the flowers to the sunlight. They are not monsters of iniquity but men with strong natures who somehow missed God and got on the wrong path. The same ground that grows rank weeds can grow good wheat and I believe they will become good men.

"To have 88 men receive the Sacrament out of a possible 123 was surely an indication that Divine favour rested on the effort. Of course the circumstances were favourable owing to the fact that the chaplain had prepared the ground and that you did all that any man in your position could do to make the mission a success. Personally, I am thankful for the experience; it was the greatest week in my life."

Rev. Father Handley reports:—

"Permit me to thank you for the inspiration and stimulation of the mission in Manitoba penitentiary, just drawing to a close. It has been one of the most delightful experiences of my whole life. I wistfully regret its ending.

"During my three years as a newspaperman and my twenty-three years as a mission preacher in the Congregation of St. Paul, I have had many opportunities to study prison conditions. This is the first prison mission I ever gave and only the second I ever heard of having been given on this continent.

"I congratulate you and your superior, whose sympathetic vision made the experiment possible. It has been a wonderful success Every participant doing his top-best in the prevailing atmosphere of cheerful good-will which has shone throughout our effort, hails this mission as the harbinger of better times for us all.

"Among the prisons I have visited, your institution is a bright, particular star. It is so sunny, clean and orderly, so simple, frugal, wholesome, so correct in its snappy military observance, so varied and interesting in its vocations, so quietly and smoothly efficient in its operation, that I have not once been able to feel I was in a prison; all the old, dismal associations of the word are wanting. I have caught myself referring to it by the slip of the tongue, as the university. Again I have marvelled at the parallel between a properly conducted prison and a monastery. This I have impressed on the men in my talks, begging them to behave themselves as good monks, labouring cheerfully and utilizing their leisure to think of God and thank Him for quiet, peace and plenty, secluded from worldly care and temptation, in which they may cultivate those spiritual qualities which alone make men free.

"The heartiness of their response to this appeal has been most gratifying. Surely many of them will persevere. Surely society will one day acknowledge its great debt to this prison for returning these men to civil life well grounded in the best and sturdiest qualities of good citizenship.

"Ninety per cent of the Catholics in prison approached the Sacraments, most of them three times during the week. This is far above the average of parish missions. Many had not been reconciled to God since childhood. Surely the Redeemer who died for them will richly bless all who made possible those consoling results. May He ever bless and prosper you."

The Protestant chaplain reports:—

"I herewith present the report of our mission held in this institution March 26 to April 2, 1922.

"On January 8 last you made the suggestion that the two chaplains arrange a date for conducting a week's mission. We at once set to work to perfect an organization. In this we believe we were Divinely guided, as results prove.

"We first secured Rev. Dr. J. E. Aikins, of Young Methodist Church, to act as our evangelist for the series. His board kindly released him for two Sundays, March 26 and April 2, and intervening week that he might take up this work.

"As we have many different denominations represented in the prison, we decided to try and interest as many as possible by inviting a representative from each to be with us on certain days and co-operate in the mission. With this object in view we arranged the following schedule: Monday—Rev. W. A. MacLean, of St. Giles Presbyterian Church. Tuesday—Rev. W. E. Mathews, of Broadway Baptist Church. Wednesday—Rev. W. J. Southam, of Holy Trinity Anglican Church. Thursday—Rev. Geo. Laughton, of Central Congregational Church. Friday—Rev. E. F. Church, of Fort Rouge Methodist Church. Saturday—Col. MacLean and Capt. Allen, of the Salvation Army. This schedule prevailed throughout the week save in the case of Rev. Geo. Laughton, who, owing to illness, was unable to come, but sent a splendid supply in the person of Rev. Geo. Dickson, Crescent Congregational Church. To each of these ministers we are deeply indebted, not alone for their help in the work, but for the splendid spirit of co-operation and encouragement that each one brought to us from day to day. There was the most sincere brotherhood manifested throughout.

"In securing Dr. Aikins as evangelist, we are sure it was more than good fortune. It was Divine guidance. Though the pastor of one of Winnipeg's largest churches, he unhesitatingly answered us when we asked him to undertake the work. 'I will surely go if the Lord wants me to go. I must pray over this matter. I will let you know in a few days.' He freely gave his full time to us for the eight days of our mission. He gave his all to the work; the riches of his well-stored mind; the wealth of his deep affections and intense sympathies, as well as the ardour of his great nature. In deep reverence we say 'God bless Dr. Aikins,' and in saying it, we believe we are expressing the mind of all the men who have been influenced in these meetings.

"Of the meetings themselves we must say that from the very start they were a success. This was due in large measure to Dr. Aikins' splendid judgment in his approach to the men. It was totally devoid of all censoriousness on the one hand and any condescending or patronizing spirit on the other. He won their respect and confidence from the start. This is equally true of all the ministers who took part. How completely the esteem of the men was exemplified in the Tuesday a.m. meeting, when a voluntary service was held and one hundred and two desired to be present, and this does not include the fireman, kitchen men and bakers who wanted to be present, but their duties kept them away. Throughout the week the meetings grew in interest and power. All the meetings were calm, quiet and dignified. No means were used to snatch a verdict, or even to commit the men save the workings of the Holy Spirit in the hearts of the men.

"On Friday night I made a personal canvass of the prison to know what men would like to partake of the Sacrament on Sunday. After careful explanation and instruction, I found there were eighty-nine who so desired. Many of them said 'I would like to, but do you think I am good enough?' I invariably answered, 'I cannot be your judge.' 'It is for you to settle between yourself and God.' I would then repeat the conditions of partaking—'Ye who do truly repent of your sins, and intend to lead a new life following the commands of God and walking from henceforth in His Holy Way, draw near and take this Holy Sacrament to your comfort and make your humble confession to Almighty God.' I said if you will enter into that covenant with God we will not deny you the Sacrament. 'That is what I am trying to do,' or 'That is just what I want to do,' was almost the invariable reply. That sacramental service was truly a time of heart searching—a time we will all long remember.

"When Dr. Aikins' official board heard we were going to hold Sacrament on Sunday, they very kindly loaned their beautiful silver individual communion service for the occasion, and also sent along their treasurer, Mr. Dingle, to assist. This act, with their kindness in releasing Dr. Aikins for the mission and sending their baritone soloist on both Sundays has done much to cure the men, who thought they had a grouch against all churches.

"In conclusion let me thank you for that suggestion on January 8 and for your hearty co-operation throughout the entire mission. It would not have been at all necessary to have blocked us to have killed all effort. All you would have needed to do would be to have sat back and perhaps carelessly let your foot touch the brake, and nothing could have been accomplished. You put your influence and personality into it, and because we were all united good has resulted.

"We thank you for your help and influence, and hope this will not be the last mission in this institution."

Arrangements have been made for the holding of similar missions in all the penitentiaries during the next Lenten season.

Respectfully submitted.

W. S. HUGHES,
Superintendent.

APPENDIX A—DOMINION PAROLE OFFICER'S REPORT

R. R. Creighton, Acting Parole Officer, reports:

Having taken over temporarily the duties of the Dominion Parole Officer since the sudden and much regretted death of the late Judge W. P. Archibald on January 17 last, it devolves upon me to submit the annual report of the parole system.

In the death of Judge Archibald the department has lost an efficient officer, and the inmates of our penal institutions a friend whose practical assistance and kindly advice were always at their service. His long experience, kindly disposition and sympathy with the unfortunate class of the community with whom he had to deal peculiarly fitted him to perform the important duties devolving upon him.

There were liberated on parole 405 inmates from the Dominion penitentiaries and 498 from the various jails and reformatories, making a total of 903. As compared with the previous year the releases from the penitentiaries show an increase of 30 and those from the jails and reformatories a decrease of 10.

TABULATED STATEMENT FOR YEAR ENDED MARCH 31, 1922

Prisoners released on parole		Revocations	Forfeitures	Total loss
		per cent	per cent	per cent
Dorchester	100	8 or 8·0	5 or 5·0	13 or 13·00
St. Vincent de Paul	104	10 or 9·6	3 or 2·8	13 or 12·5
Kingston	116	10 or 8·6	5 or 4·31	15 or 12·9
Manitoba	31	4 or 12·9	.....	4 or 12·9
Saskatchewan	30	3 or 10·00	.....	3 or 10·00
British Columbia	24	1 or 4·16	.....	1 or 4·16
Total, penitentiaries	405	36 or 8·8	13 or 3·20	49 or 12·09
Jails, reformatories, industrial farms, etc	498	6 or 1·2	8 or 1·6	14 or 2·8
Grand total	903	42 or 4·6	21 or 2·32	63 or 6·9

Of the 903 persons released, 42, or 4.6 per cent, had their licenses revoked for non-compliance with the conditions of parole, and 21, or 2.32 per cent, forfeited their licenses as a result of subsequent conviction

The following are the figures submitted by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police covering the period between 1899 and March 31, 1922:—

Released on parole from penitentiaries	6,674
Released on parole from jails and reformatories	7,741
		14,415
Licenses revoked	511
Licenses forfeited	324
Sentences completed on parole	12,892
Sentences not yet completed	688
		14,415

A reference to the above table shows that between the periods mentioned, 12,892 persons out of 14,415 liberated, have observed the conditions of release and completed their sentences. When 688 who are still reporting are added to this number and a deduction from the total releases is made it shows the gratifying result that only 835, or 5.7 per cent, failed to observe the conditions of parole and had their licenses either forfeited or revoked. No further commentary is necessary to show that the parole system is producing highly satisfactory results and that its success is fully established.

APPENDIX B—WARDEN'S REPORT

KINGSTON

J. C. Ponsford, Warden, reports:

The inmate population has increased 123, made up as follows:—

	Males	Females	Total
Remaining at midnight, March 31, 1922	831	24	855

The male population increased 124, and the females decreased by one.

The number of inmates received during the year was:—

Males, 391; females, 12; total, 403.

The discharges during the year were as follows:—

	Males	Females	Total
Expiration of sentence	124	6	130
Pardon	1	..	1
Parole	107	6	113
Deportation	24	1	25
Death	4	..	4
Returned to provincial authorities	2	..	2
Transferred to reformatory	1	..	1
By Order of the court	3	..	3
Transferred to other penitentiary	1	..	1
	267	13	280
Inmates received during year			403
Net increase			123

There are at the present time 14 inmates confined in the different asylums of the province, 9 of whom are serving a life sentence.

Of the 855 inmates confined, 733 are under 40 years of age.

You will note by the statistics that there were no escapes during the year just closed, which reflects much credit on the surveillance of the disciplinarian staff.

The sanitary condition of the penitentiary and the general health of the inmates have been good, with the exception of a number of cases of enteric fever in the early part of this year The source of infection was traced to the drinking of the lake water. The disease was of a mild type and all cases made good recoveries. The well water has been examined regularly during the year and has invariably been reported pure, while reports on the water obtained from the lake have been to the effect that it was contaminated with colon bacilli. The danger from this source of drinking water has been overcome by the installation of an efficient chlorinization plant, which should eliminate any danger of enteric fever in the future, even though the inmates do not confine themselves to the drinking of the well water. The lake water is now made reasonably safe and there should be no further danger from that source.

With the addition of all modern instruments and equipment, the hospital has been placed in a very high state of efficiency, wherein there can be performed the most serious operations. During the year, such major operations were performed as the removal of a tubercular kidney, and the amputation of a leg, as well as a number of minor operations. The sterilizing room is in first class condition and in keeping with the rest of the hospital.

Venereal diseases are given special attention by the surgeon and in all cases of syphilis, he is assisted by Professor Austin, of Queen's University, who has charge of the Provincial Free Clinic for Veneral Diseases at Kingston.

A Wasserman test is made of all newcomers, in addition to their being vaccinated.

I regret to report the death of four inmates during the year:—

Inmate G-407, Barre's death was due to malignant tumor.

Inmate G-600, Ward died from pulmonary tuberculosis.

These two died within the walls of the prison. The other two--

F-202, G. Vanstone, and

F-346. J. Jessamine, died in provincial hospitals for the treatment of insane patients.

As might be expected, there were a number of minor accidents.

Excellent progress was made in all lines of building construction and a large amount of repair work was done during the year. Before we could commence the construction of the new power-house, dynamo room and laundry, the old gas house building had to be taken down, the debris removed and a large amount of deep and difficult excavation work done to get a foundation for the building as the ground was filled in on what was formerly lake front. This necessitated extra precaution for the footings of the building. The basement walls, 12 feet high, were built of concrete to the grade line, and an average of 5 or 6 feet of the stone wall completed before the work was shut down for the winter.

The foundation for our new smokestack was a difficult proposition, owing to the fact that we had to go below the water level to the solid rock to get a foundation suitable for carrying a 120-foot smokestack, and necessitated the building of a cofferdam and the use of a pump, which delayed progress to quite an extent. However, the foundation, which is of concrete, was built to the grade line, at which point we were forced to discontinue further work owing to weather conditions.

The excavation for the large coal vault, which had been commenced the previous year, was completed, and the concrete walls, columns and beams, were all constructed, and the forms set for the roof before work was discontinued

The old stone bastion or tower-house at the northeast corner of the prison enclosure was taken down and the boundary walls raised four feet on both sides, extending 40 or 50 feet each way from the tower, and a new umbrella type tower-house built and cement coping put on portion of the boundary wall raised. This completes the construction of the new tower-houses, which are a great improvement on the old ones, not only from a point of usefulness, but they also add very materially to the appearance, and give the officers doing duty a full range of vision over practically the entire north end of the yard.

The work of reconstructing the dome galleries was commenced and the two first gallery floors, which are of cement, have been poured. The construction of these galleries necessitated a very much larger amount of work than would be visible after the floors and galleries had been completed.

In the placing of the iron brackets for the new galleries, 421 lineal feet of 1¼-inch holes had to be drilled in the stone walls for the bolts to fasten the brackets to the wall.

Both of stone balustrade walls on the entrance steps from King street to the warden's residence had to be taken down and rebuilt. These walls were each about 65 feet long and four feet high and a number of the steps had to be reset.

The painting of the new North wing was completed during the year, and the old boundary wall at the south end of the prison was taken down and the debris removed.

Two hundred and seventy-five reinforced cement fence posts were made during the winter for use on the farm.

During the winter, 1,600 feet of 6-inch concrete conduit tile were made, which will be used in laying the hydro system cable from Union street to the transformer house and the main trunk line through the prison yard.

Owing to the lack of cell accommodation, four ranges of the double-sized cells in the Prison of Isolation building were divided by wooden partitions, which necessitated a large amount of work.

The blacksmith shop was advantageously employed during the year in making barriers, beds, and locking bar apparatus for Dorchester, St. Vincent de Paul and Prince Albert penitentiaries, as well as keeping pace with our own work and repairs.

A large quantity of work has been done on the mail bag department, where about 100 inmates were employed during most of the year. 91,575 mail bags were repaired, 76,935 new ones were made. For the manufacturing of 76,935 bags in 1921-22, we received $14,238.50—as against the manufacturing of 72,835 during the year 1919-20—for the making of which we only received $7,627.63, or a difference in favour of the 1922 business of $6,610.87.

There have been shipped from this repair shop during the year to the different mail bag repositories, 95,985 repaired bags and 92,227 new bags.

Besides the work for the Post Office Department, a commencement was made with work for the Topographical Surveys, Parks Branch, and Geodetic Survey, all of which work proved profitable and gave the best of satisfaction to the new department.

The total receipts for the mail bag department are given at $39,569.71, on which a small profit was made.

I would be very glad if it were possible to obtain larger orders from the Post Office Department and Parks Branch, as we are organized and equipped to handle double the amount of work which has been done for these departments during the year just closed.

The tailor shop has been well and profitably employed. During the fiscal year just closed, there were 431 pieces of uniforms made, 43 pieces of custom work done, and 6,455 articles of clothing made for the inmates, and 733 articles of inmates' discharge clothing, 369 discharge shirts made for other penitentiaries, as well as 508 suits, shirts, and pants made for the Department of Indian Affairs, triennial clothing, and 12 uniforms for the D.S.C.R. Marine and Fisheries, 300 suits overalls. Department of Interior, Geodetic Survey, 192 provision bags. Parks Branch, 200 suits overalls. All of the work done for other Government departments was entirely satisfactory, and left a small profit for the benefit of the penitentiary.

The shoe shop was also well and profitably employed during the year. Work was done in this department as follows:—

	Pairs
Custom shoes made	80
" " repaired	1,837½
Contract shoes made	223
Contract belts	150
Post Office Department leggings	500
Uniform shoes	243
Uniform shoes, repaired	190
Night slippers made	6
Night slippers, repaired	70
Bandoliers for tower men	6
Change room, slippers required	2,444½
New slippers made	641
Cobourgs made	477
Leather mitts made	703½

Harness made and repaired.
For discharge, there were 224½ pairs boots made.
For female prison, 50 pairs of new shoes and 101 pairs repaired.

The change room was one of the busiest departments in all of the penitentiary, as it is there that every inmate must go for his change of clothes whenever required, and it is there that he gets his clean clothes once a week before going to the shower baths. New articles of clothing, including socks to the number of 7,862 pieces, were made and 36,380 articles were repaired, as well as 42,309 tags which had to be put on the various articles of inmates' wearing apparel.

There were also 548,577 articles of clothing and bedding laundried during the year.

There were 36,380 articles of wearing apparel and cell equipment repaired.

The carpenter shop, the tin and paint, printing department and shop in which brooms are made, have all been well and profitably employed, and the stonecutters have been very busy cutting stone for the different buildings under the course of construction.

The steward's department has supplied good and wholesome food to the inmates with a varied diet. A number of improvements have been made here, and all of the interior has been renovated, which makes a rather inviting appearance.

The engineers' department has been very busy during the latter part of the fiscal year making preparations for the installation of hydro power to the institution, and when the hydro has been fully installed, it will be a great saving on coal.

Several of the main water and steam lines of pipe had to be taken up and replaced, owing to their having become unserviceable through erosion and other causes. These were relaid with new pipe and covered with asbestos lining and zinc covering, and where the opportunity offered, they were inclosed in wooden or cement conduits. This condition also applied to several of the electrical lines, including the internal telephone system which had to be almost entirely relaid through faulty construction when first installed, owing to not having been properly grounded from lightning, and nearly all of the wiring in the different shops, which had formerly been installed by the open system, has been taken down and placed in conduits, which is a very much safer and sane method of installing the wire and has made a splendid improvement to all of the shops.

The heating system in the Prison of Isolation was all remodelled and has made a great improvement in the even distribution of the heat along the different galleries.

Drinking water lines were laid from the well in the yard to the asylum building, tailor shop, and shoe shop, and a new line laid to the boiler in the kitchen which heats the water for drinking purposes of the inmates who prefer hot water to tea.

Telephones were installed in the tower on the boundary wall at the southwest and southeast corners, and connected with the yard shanty and the deputy warden's office. This adds to the security of the prison.

The wiring was all changed in the Roman Catholic and Protestant chapels and school-room, which has made a splendid improvement in all three quarters. In fact, the engineers' department has had a very busy year, and the staff there had to be increased to keep pace with the improvements that were necessary and the large amount of repairs from natural wear and tear.

The female ward was thoroughly renovated, and a number of improvements made to the living quarters of the matrons. Shower baths were installed and other improvements made to the inmates' quarters. There was also a washing machine put in the laundry, which greatly facilitates the getting out of washing for the hospital, which is done by the females.

All inmates in this department were employed in making light articles of wearing apparel for the male inmates and discharge shirts for the other penitentiaries, as well as their own clothing.

The spiritual welfare of the inmates was well and carefully looked after and administered to by the Roman Catholic and Protestant chaplains, both of whom were very much interested in their work, and I am sure they are doing much for the moral uplift of the inmates. They are both very attentive to the sick, and endeavour to interview each inmate before he is liberated either on parole or expiration of sentence.

Both of the chaplains have been permitted to have assistance from their confrères during special services and feast days, which was very beneficial to all concerned, and of great assistance to the chaplains in the discharge of their spiritual duties.

Colonel Otway, of the Salvation Army, accompanied by his staff and band, were permitted to hold a song service twice on different Sunday afternoons during the year. These services were greatly enjoyed, and I believe were beneficial to all of the inmates who attended. I endeavoured to arrange for such a service once a month, but have not been entirely successful, although Adjutant Condie has promised to put one on whenever it is at all possible to do so.

The superintendent has granted permission to hold a week's missionary service in the penitentiary during the Easter season, 1923. This mission, the chaplains and myself are looking forward to, with a great deal of anticipation of the good results that will come from the same. There will be special music, and all arrangements will be made at the proper time for the successful issue of the mission.

One of the best moves that has ever been made in the penitentiary service for the moral uplift and benefit of every inmate was the appointing of a certificated school-teacher, who also has charge of the library. Our teacher took over his duties on July 4, 1921, and has very energetically and successfully managed the school and given individual instruction and assistance to the inmates in their cells between 6.30 and 8.30 every evening, which has shown very marked results. The inmates have become quite interested in their work and for the most part spend their evenings in study under the tuition of the teacher, who visits as many of them every evening as is possible for him to do.

The teacher is having splendid success in the library by advising the great majority of the inmates to read only the better class of books and those of an educational character. There have been added to the library during the year some 500 volumes of the very best books by standard authors, and there have also been added twenty weekly and monthly magazines of which we are taking monthly more than 100. and I feel sure that during the coming year, the librarian and school-teacher will be found in even greater demand amongst the inmates.

During the period between Christmas and New Year's, a splendid entertainment was put on by the Y.M.C.A., which was very highly appreciated by all of the inmates who enjoyed it in the fullest degree. Other entertainments have been provided by the inmates themselves on every holiday during the year by permitting quartettes to sing in the corridors of the various cell blocks.

In my recommendations last year, I drew attention to the congested condition existing here, and recommended the building of a new prison for that purpose. Since my last report, the prison population has increased 123, making a total of 855 inmates, which is altogether too large a number to be confined in one penitentiary. I would therefore again repeat the recommendation, and ask that the construction of a new penitentiary be proceeded with at as early a date as it is convenient to do so. I am of the opinion that no penitentiary should contain more than 500 prisoners.

I wish to again recommend that the female ward be removed from here to some suitable distance and placed under an entirely separate management from that of the male penitentiary.

I am of the opinion that it would be in the best interest of the service to have the wardens of the different penitentiaries meet the superintendent and inspectors at least once a year for the purpose of discussing all matters pertaining to the best interest and management of the penitentiaries.

I wish to express my gratitude to the superintendent and inspectors for their assistance and courtesies rendered during the year, and I also wish to tender my thanks to all of the officers on my staff for their loyal and hearty support, which I very much appreciate.

I enclose herewith reports from:—

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL

R. de la Bruère Girouard, Warden, reports:

My first annual report in connection with the administration of St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary also includes the following:—

1. Statistical report.
2. Surgeon's report.
3. Chief Industrial Officer's report.
4. Farmer's report.
5. Librarian and School-teacher's report.

From the Statistical report it will be noted that on March 31, 1921, the population of this institution was 555 and that at the close of the year we had a population of 687, making an increase of 132. During this period we had one escape on October 30 last, but the inmate was recaptured on October 31 and returned to this institution on November 1, 1921.

There were six deaths during the year.

Since taking over the administration of the institution on May 23, 1921, I have had the filing system introduced on an up-to-date basis.

The hospital and sanitary conditions generally have been visibly improved. Many useful articles have been received, which have assisted in putting the hospital in the condition it now is, a modern and model department in every respect.

The treatment and possible elimination of venereal diseases was gone into thoroughly and a good working system established, blood tests of every suspected case being sent to Montreal for examination and report.

Drinking water has been repeatedly examined and that supplied by our artesian well has been found to be free from taint and of high quality.

An operating room has been furnished and our first operation, the removal of a tumor, was an extremely successful one.

A dental clinic was opened and completely furnished with all modern appliances and the services of a qualified dentist secured for this department. A great improvement in the dental condition of the inmates has been noted.

Five cases of insanity developed amongst the prison population during the fiscal year, the surgeon's report in each case being confirmed by the provincial alienist.

It is regretted that arrangements cannot be made for the immediate removal to mental disease hospitals of the unfortunates who are pronounced insane by the prison surgeon. Repeated efforts were made during the past year to have cases transferred to local provincial asylums, without success. I would respectfully recommend that a mental disease hospital, for the care and treatment of those going insane while serving a term in the penitentiary, be erected. It is not humane to keep the unfortunates confined in the penitentiaries where proper care and treatment cannot be given them.

It will be noted that the cost for medical attention is slightly higher than any previous years, due to the extra medical care and dental treatment bestowed on the inmates.

Dealing with our industries and construction, I am happy to report that considerable success has attended our efforts.

The employment of the present chief industrial officer was a move in the right direction. The construction work under his guidance is now handled in an efficient manner, directed by technical skill and education.

The new Northeast wing, construction of which was recommenced in May, 1921, is nearing completion. Concrete was poured throughout the entire winter in this building. It is hoped that it will be ready to accommodate over two hundred inmates by the end of December, 1922.

A study of the steam system in use in the institution convinced me that hydro-electric would be not only preferable, but cheaper. The steam plant has, therefore, been largely removed and the hydro-electric introduced. I am glad to say that my original estimate that a saving of $20,000 per year will be exceeded is being borne out; in fact, during the first month that the new current was used the lighting alone showed a saving close on $1,200. The engineer and his staff are deserving of a great deal of credit for the way the new installation was handled.

Eighteen new model cells have been constructed in the hospital building for the isolation of inmates.

Eighty-five temporary wooden cells were built in vacant shop building and thirty-six other temporary cells were added in the cell blocks of the main dormitories to accommodate the increased population.

Eleven of the large double cells in the North wing were partitioned into twenty-two standard cells, each five feet wide.

The building of a power line extending from Messrs. Laurin & Leitch's quarry into the prison was completed and a transformer house of cut stone. 36 by 10 by 12 feet, was built, this during the coldest winter months.

A large carriage house, 40 by 30 by 12 feet, with drain pits and concrete floor, also an oil storage house of masonry, 38 by 14 by 11 feet, were built outside the prison walls.

The frame storage building for lumber, 112 by 20 by 12 feet, was blown down in October last by a storm. This has been completely rebuilt.

Owing to faulty construction and action of frost, three hundred and ten lineal feet of boundary wall was torn down and had to be rebuilt.

The light railway track to quarry was relaid with ties and ballasted throughout, and 6,450 lineal feet of 56-pound steel rails laid.

The old Case tractor which was no longer considered useful on the farm, was remodelled, and is proving highly successful as a locomotive to haul our materials from the quarry, thus doing the work formerly performed by two horses.

The warden's quarters were thoroughly renovated and decorated inside. Six of the officers' houses were painted and renovated. The lower portion of the administration building was renovated.

Shortly after I assumed control of the institution, it was decided to construct an Officers' Club House outside the prison walls. This was started in December, 1921. The funds for the erection of this building were subscribed by the officers. A beautiful large airy club room, 50 by 24 feet, with a verandah on three sides, for the exclusive use of penitentiary officers in the evening and leisure hours has now been completed. This was a badly needed accommodation as there is practically no distraction or amusement of a local nature in this village. It is confidently expected that this Club House will develop and strengthen the esprit de corps of our staff through the encouragement of games principally of an outdoor nature.

New machinery is badly needed for the machine shop and a considerable saving would result if such machinery were installed. This department is capably managed by a temporary machinist instructor.

The book bindery is turning out very high-class work and the inmates in this department have been actively employed during the whole year to considerable advantage.

The carpentry department also requires new machinery. Besides the necessary work in connection with building, etc., in the institution, twelve filing cabinets and forty pack saddles were turned out for Government departments.

The masonry department, which employs from seventy to ninety inmates, is doing excellent work. The men on discharge who have mastered this trade are seldom without employment outside and command at times as high as $1 an hour for their services.

The output of the quarry has increased. The new instructor has already opened same, taking the stone from a different angle and working with the seams. Stone of very superior quality is taken from a greater depth than formerly.

The tailor and shoe shops have also shown considerable improvement and are turning out large quantities of excellent work.

The tinsmith shop has also been doing good work throughout the year, and with the number of inmates receiving instruction in this work, we should, in the future, be in a position to take up a large amount of work required by the Government in other departments.

In summing up the results obtained by the industrial officers, I wish to say that I am extremely satisfied with the progress made during the past year, and wish to tender my thanks to the chief trade instructor and his assistants for their untiring efforts in this connection.

It is to be regretted, however, that more Government work which can be done by the inmates of the penitentiaries, who are the wards of the Government, is not furnished. I am confident the institution could be made self-sustaining were a wage paid to the inmates as well.

The farm under the administration of the new farm instructor, who is a graduate of MacDonald College, is showing good results. The piggery returns have been increased very largely, in fact about $2,400 in the last six months. I anticipate a very large increase of the amount of products grown on the prison farm.

The school and library are in excellent condition and wonderful results are being obtained through the efforts of the schoolmaster and librarian. The statistics contained in his report will fully bear out this statement.

The steward's department, though handicapped by poor kitchen arrangements, has attained all that could be expected. Food of a very good quality has been well served. A greater variety in the dietary has been introduced. I feel the steward has handled his department wonderfully well.

RECOMMENDATIONS

In my opinion segregation of youthful and first offenders from the hardened criminal is absolutely essential, and the more experience I gain, the more I am convinced that the superintendent's recommendations for the construction of a new penitentiary to be set aside for this class of inmate is not only desirable but imperative, particularly in the case of St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, where the congested condition occasioned by our large and increasing population demands and requires that a definite limit of say 500 inmates be not exceeded in this institution. As it is now, our population is 687.

If reformation rather than the punishment of the criminal is the end the authorities have in view, then the only solution for the problem is, as has been suggested above, and on many occasions by the superintendent and inspectors. I make this my strongest recommendation, being absolutely convinced that segregation of youthful and first offenders is not only necessary but absolutely essential.

A close second to my first recommendation is the amendment of the Criminal Code to empower a judge to give an indeterminate sentence. Who can say whether a stated sentence with definite limits will punish or establish a cure? There is no question but that the authorities who are more intelligently capable of deciding this are the penitentiary officials themselves. A man knowing that his release and liberty depend on his conduct and industry, and above all, the assurance he can give the officials that he will lead a better life when released, is a powerful incentive towards the reformation of that inmate. A criminal, like an athlete, can in a sense be overtrained as well as over punished, resulting in his going stale, and the effect that is calculated on by a definite sentence is often lost. It is seldom, if ever, one meets two natures in the criminal world of even mental calibre, and therefore the treatment accorded to one will not necessarily have the desired effect if accorded to the other.

I would also recommend that certain Government departments be approached with a view to giving preference to penitentiaries to fulfil their contract work, and that the penitentiaries be supplied with the necessary machinery and materials to meet these contracts in an efficient and capable manner. It has been clearly demonstrated by many other penitentiaries that an institution of this sort can not only be put on a self-supporting basis but actually made to pay a revenue to the State instead of being a burden to the public through taxation. This would enable the authorities to pay an inmate a small wage, thus helping his dependent family, or in the case of a single man, leaving him a nest-egg for his re-establishment in civil life, instead of practically throwing him helpless on the community, thereby possibly forcing him to fall back into the criminal ranks. It would be a powerful incentive for an inmate to reform.

I would also recommend that a district parole officer be appointed in each district in conformity with the superintendent's recommendation in his 1921 report, to operate with the warden, chaplains, and school-teacher of each penitentiary for the purpose of determining what inmates are qualified for parole; also that wardens and senior officials of penitentiaries be afforded every opportunity of visiting other penitentiaries, to study other methods of administration.

Following the precedent established three years ago by this institution, with the kind support of the authorities at headquarters, missions in both the Catholic and Protestant chapels were held this year with excellent results. I strongly recommend that these missions be given every encouragement and held annually There is no doubt but that they are productive of great good.

With the kindness of the Brothers of Laval College, the Montreal Tramways Company, the Prisoners' Welfare Association, and the Salvation Army, concerts have been given to the inmates, which have been much appreciated and have done a great deal to improve the morale of the community.

I wish to thank the members of my staff who have on the whole given me hearty and loyal support, and in particular to thank the Superintendent and the Inspectors, for the kindness, courtesy, and interest they have always shown towards myself, interest which is appreciated in every sense of the word.

DORCHESTER

Wm. Meighen, Warden, reports:

I beg to submit herewith the annual report for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1922, together with the following reports:—

(1) Statistical report.
(2) Farm report.
(3) Surgeon's report.
(4) Librarian's report.
(5) School-teacher's report.
(6) Matron's report.
(7) Roman Catholic Chaplain's report.
(8) Protestant Chaplain's report.
(9) Chief Trade Instructor's report.

At the closing of the prison, March 31, 1922, there were in custody 435 inmates. We received during the year 262 and discharged 157, as follows: Expiry of sentence, 42; parole, 100; deported, 11; deaths, 3 (one inmate died in Insane Asylum on transfer); transferred to Boy's Industrial Home, St. John, N.B., 1. Our population at the close of the fiscal year ended March 31, 1921, was 330 souls, making an increase for the past fiscal year of 105, and an average daily population of 397, the largest increase in any one year in the history of the institution.

Owing to a season of drought in the Maritime Provinces, which was very unusual, our farm operations for the year were not as fruitful of results as we would have liked. We tried last year to raise a variety of small vegetables, such as radish, lettuce, green onions and so forth, in order to provide a varied diet in season for the inmates, and although the season was very unfavourable we did succeed in furnishing the inmates with a much more varied diet than heretofore.

Although our crop of hay was light in comparison with other years, we raised about 350 tons, and as we had over 100 tons left from the previous year, we were able to feed from seventy-five to a hundred head of cattle, as well as our twenty horses through the winter, and during the fall and winter supplied the institution with fresh killed beef from our own herd.

Very good progress was made in our building operations. Our new South wing was roofed in by October, 1921; the east side, containing 130 cells, was plastered and ready for occupation in December, thus providing proper and safe accommodation for our overflow of population, which we were obliged for some two or three months previous to house in the corridors of the North and East cell wings. The west side of the South wing was finished during the early part of 1922, thus providing us with a cell wing containing 260 modern cells, and making what I believe to be one of the best and most modern cell wings in any prison.

We also installed an auxiliary to our water supply system, by the construction of a concrete dam across the stream known as the Millbrook, about one mile from the prison. This dam is 100 feet long by eleven feet deep and three feet wide, reinforced with eight buttresses, extending the full height of the wall. This increases our water supply by 450,000 gallons. A pump has been installed close to the dam driven by a 25-horse-power oil engine, and pipe laid a distance of 3,200 feet to connect with our reservoirs, from which the water flows by gravitation to the prison. We are now equipped with sufficient water supply for the first time possibly in the history of the institution.

We also constructed a garage for the purpose of housing our motor trucks.

Other very necessary improvements have been made throughout the institution, such as the enlarging of the keeper's hall, painting of the chaplain's rooms, decorating of the Roman Catholic altar, and extensive alterations to the farm. The erection of a new fence along the main road in front of the prison, made with turned posts, painted, and covered with Page wire, has added much to the appearance of the institution and the farm. The construction of a concrete walk along the prison lane to the main road has also added greatly to the appearance of our property, and is very much appreciated by our officers.

It would have been impossible for us to have accomplished one-half the construction work done without the use of the motor trucks. With the motor trucks we hauled all our coal from the prison siding during the summer months; we also hauled our gravel for construction purposes, and with the use of our light Reo, we were able to transport inmates and officers to places where they were working, a mile or so from the prison, in a period of about ten or fifteen minutes.

The discipline of the inmates has on the whole been good, which indicates that the majority of our officers endeavour to do their duty conscientiously and faithfully, for when officers are honest and zealous in the discharge of their duties, the inmates under their supervision naturally fall into the same groove, and thus become better fitted to again become useful citizens of our country and take their place in the world of work. I endeavour to have all my officers feel that it is their duty to set the inmates the example of clean, honest, manly men, and to impress upon all inmates upon their arrival the foolishness of and certain failure of pursuing a life of crime, and I believe when once you convince an inmate that you are honestly interested in his welfare, and anxious to do him good, you thereby secure his respect and confidence, which are essentials in order that he may be reformed.

The chaplains report everything as satisfactory in connection with their work, and I believe are assisting very much to uplift those under their charge.

The surgeon reports the general health of the inmates as good, and sanitary conditions and water supply of the institution as satisfactory.

Our school-teacher is handicapped for want of accommodation. He is, I believe, doing splendid work with the many illiterate and uneducated inmates who come under his charge, and I hope within another year to have our new hospital with school-room, now under construction, completed and ready for occupation, when much more good will be accomplished.

The providing of moving-picture entertainments during the Christmas holiday season helps to convince the inmates that we are interested in their welfare and endeavouring to uplift them.

The matron reports everything as satisfactory in her department. Very little trouble of any serious nature occurs in the female department, which indicates that the matrons are excellent disciplinarians and possess good, strong, characters themselves. Our female population has decreased during the past year from 13 to 7, and I expect it to decrease to three or four during this summer. I therefore think it would be advisable rather than keep up the expense of maintaining a female department, to transfer the few we have to the female department at Kingston penitentiary.

I wish to thank the superintendent, the inspectors and the structural engineer, for the support, encouragement, and courtesies shown me.

MANITOBA

H. W. Cooper, Warden, reports:

The population has shown an increase of 31, being now 224.

Considerable work has been done during the winter. Sufficient stone has been quarried to construct the walls of the new wing, and most of this has been cut.

The fire-fighting system has been improved, and many new appliances installed.

A new ice-house has been built, the officers' dormitory redecorated, and sanitary drinking fountains installed in the trade shops.

Owing to the large construction programme, it has been possible to find other employment for the men hitherto employed on stone breaking.

Particular attention has been devoted to the library. It has been systematized, extra accommodation provided, and an increased number of good books put into circulation.

The school has proved to be an important factor in the work of the institution.

The number of pupils attending classes is now eight times as large as when the year opened, and it has been found possible to interest eighty per cent of the inmates in some form or another of education, by bringing them under the supervision of the school-teacher.

The discipline of the institution has been satisfactory, owing largely to the loyal support and co-operation of the guards and instructors.

At present, the first mission held in this institution is being conducted, with apparently most encouraging results.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

W. A. Patchell, Warden, reports:

At the end of September, 1921, we lost the esteemed and valued leadership of our warden, Mr. J. C. Brown, who retired after many years' service. I was afterwards appointed to succeed Warden Brown, being promoted from deputy warden, to date with effect as from October 1, 1921.

There was a steady increase in the prison population. At the beginning of the year 146 inmates were in custody, and on March 31, 1922, the total reached 197.

The health of the inmates generally was good and there were no deaths. Two or three accidents occurred but these proved to be of a minor nature. It was necessary to have X-ray examinations made on one or two of the inmates, which had to be done outside the penitentiary.

There were no escapes from the penitentiary, but John Lynn, who was undergoing a life sentence for murder, escaped from the Mental Home for Criminal Insane at Saanich, Vancouver island, on November 30, 1921, and to date has not been recaptured.

Discipline among the inmates has been good. The more varied diet given, without increasing the cost of maintenance, and the weekly ration of tobacco issued, have both greatly tended to help in this direction.

The chaplains report that the spiritual welfare of inmates has been attended to throughout the year, and that the behaviour and interest of the inmates whilst attending Divine service leaves nothing to be desired. Each chaplain now holds a week-day meeting each week.

The Protestant chaplain arranges for a visitor from the outside to come and give the inmates an address at the first meeting of each month. Although there is no obligation to attend these week day meetings, the fact that at the Protestant meeting the attendance has steadily increased until it now reaches 65 per cent, goes to show that they are well appreciated.

In the last week of every second month the Protestant chaplain also provides a moving-picture exhibition for all the inmates. We are indebted to several film companies in Vancouver who kindly loan us suitable films for display. The conduct at these entertainments has been excellent and such entertainments have made the inmates realize that the authorities are not indifferent to them.

Our thanks are due to the Salvation Army, Vancouver, which gave us a very good band concert during the summer.

The chaplains have done all in their power to assist in the re-establishment of men released or paroled. It should also be stated that the Salvation Army, through Staff Captain Cummins, gave valuable assistance in this direction.

The schoolmaster reports that the number of inmates attending school has increased from 14 to 40, and besides these, there are 25 others who receive instruction in their cells during the evening in various branches of study. A man may be illiterate when he arrives at the penitentiary, but with the excellent school facilities now provided, there is no excuse for illiteracy when he leaves the institution, and every endeavour is put forth to assist all inmates with their studies.

Many books have been added to the library. It is a pleasure to note that there has been a much greater demand for technical books than formerly.

An up-to-date garage has now been provided, and the trucks are doing useful work and are proving more serviceable than horses. A farm tractor is also operating satisfactorily.

Farm operations have been fairly successful.

Eight hundred and eleven cords of wood, 450 cedar posts, 8 to 16 feet long, and a great deal of other material was salvaged from the river. This will materially reduce the fuel account for the winter and furnish sufficient posts to meet all fencing requirements.

The work of clearing land was energetically undertaken and fair progress made. At the end of the year about five acres had been thoroughly cleared which will increase in the farm acreage for the future. This will consequently aid us in securing better returns from the farm.

The "Glen Brook" sewer was completed to the end of the reserve, and about 3,000 feet from Eighth avenue were backfilled and graded. Approximately two acres were also graded fronting on Columbia street.

All galleries, stairs, and railings in the central hall were completed. The kitchen and the cells in the south side of the east wing were painted with white enamel paint, greatly improving the appearance, besides being a great aid to cleanliness.

Towards the end of the fiscal year excavating work was commenced for the foundation of the new south wall. Numerous other small jobs were completed.

We were pleased to receive a visit of inspection from Inspector Smith, when several matters were discussed regarding the prison, and settled much more satisfactorily than could be done by correspondence.

I wish to thank the superintendent and his staff for the assistance and support they have at all times given to me.

SASKATCHEWAN

W. J. McLeod, Warden, reports:

The prison population has increased during the year by forty-eight.

We had in custody on March 31, 1921, 194 prisoners and on March 31, 1922, 242. During the year we received 125 prisoners and discharged by expiration of sentence 36; by parole, 29; deported, 6; returned to provincial authorities (insane). 5; released by order of the court, 1. There are at present five inmates receiving treatment in the Mental Disease hospitals.

On May 2, 1921, work was started on the new north or administration wing. This building, which is 155 by 60 feet, was roofed in on October 31 of that year. During the winter 1921-22 much work was done on the interior of this wing, which when completed, will contain the offices of the warden, secretary and accountant; an office for the use of superintendent and inspectors of penitentiaries; the keeper's hall, visiting cage, kitchen, bakery, officers' mess, basement for storage of vegetables, cooling room, school, library, church, chaplains' vestries, as well as the apartments occupied by unmarried officers who sleep on the premises.

The new east wing and hospital erected in 1920 has been plastered and painted and the greater portion of same is now ready for occupation. All gates, locking apparatus, etc., have been installed.

During the summer, the residences were given a coat of paint.

The extension on the eastern end of the shops' building has been fitted up as an up-to-date garage.

The shoe shop has been moved to that portion of the shops' building formerly occupied by temporary cells, and upon the removal of the shoemaker's shop, the tailor shop was enlarged. This was very necessary owing to the increased work in these shops.

Seven hundred and forty-three thousand bricks of excellent quality were made during the summer. Three hundred and forty-eight cords of wood for burning kilns were cut on our wood reserve and hauled during the winter.

We had some 457 acres under cultivation, off which we gathered 14,728 bushels of oats; 589 bushels of wheat, 2,203 bushels of barley, 201 bushels of peas, 8 loads of green feed, 175 loads of hay, 7,530 bushels of potatoes, 950 bushels of turnips, 650 bushels of beets, 870 bushels of carrots, 60 bushels of onions, and over 4,000 heads of cabbage. We also cut and stacked 106 loads of wild hay.

During the winter 2,570 cubic yards of gravel for construction purposes were hauled. Our trucks were kept employed throughout the year hauling gravel and freight. Had it not been for the trucks hauling gravel we would have been forced to purchase gravel by contract as heretofore. I do not know what we would have done without them.

Our blacksmith and carpenter shops have been kept very busy during the year with work for our new buildings.

Our school-teacher is doing splendid work. His pupils are making wonderful progress and the addition of this officer to the staff has given a wonderful incentive to the desire on the part of many of the illiterate to learn. The library is well looked after. Many excellent books have been added and are appreciated by the inmates. The new library, when completed, will provide very much more favourable and satisfactory quarters than the present, where the librarian is forced to work under great difficulties. Magazines have been greatly appreciated by the inmates. The chaplains both report the conduct of all inmates while at Divine service as good and all seem to take keen interest in the services.

The surgeon has reported the sanitary conditions, water supply, ventilation, etc., as excellent.

I would recommend that a permanent officer be appointed to care for the motor machinery and transport now in use at this institution. Up to the present, this duty has been looked after by the engineer or other officer on the staff. There should be a qualified motor mechanic employed to keep the tractors, motor trucks, threshing machine, etc., in condition.

I respectfully draw your attention to the fact that several officers on this staff are still temporary. These officers do not participate in annual increases. Some of them have been employed for a considerable time. Owing to the increase in population and change in hours done by officers, it is necessary that the permanent staff of this institution should be increased, as it is unfair to retain officers on the staff as temporary. They work at a considerable disadvantage financially as compared with those who are permanent.

During the year we were visited by Inspector Smith, who made a very thorough inspection of everything in connection with the institution.

Work on the new boundary wall is the next large undertaking to be considered. When it is completed, am of the opinion the Saskatchewan penitentiary will compare more than favourably with any institution of its kind.

Would recommend the return to the system of a mental disease hospital being operated for the care and maintenance of the criminally insane. The present conditions are not at all satisfactory, as frequently considerable trouble is experienced in having insane inmates properly removed to mental disease hospitals where proper care and maintenance may be given them.

I wish to thank the superintendent and his staff for their prompt, courteous treatment and assistance at all times.

ROYAL CANADIAN MOUNTED POLICE

HEADQUARTERS,

OTTAWA, ONT., 1922.

The Honourable the Minister in control of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Ottawa.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit herewith the Annual Report of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for the year ending September 30, 1922.

STRENGTH AND DISTRIBUTION OF THE FORCE

On that date the strength of the force was 64 officers, 1,163 non-commissioned officers and constables and 656 horses. On the corresponding date in 1921 the strength was 70 officers, 1,610 non-commissioned officers and constables, and 795 horses. The strength of the force thus has decreased from 1,680 to 1,227, or by 453, making 27 per cent. This reduction, which took place in accordance with the policy of the Government, and which is still proceeding, has been effected without having recourse to dismissals, within the time required. The overhead expenses were cut down by the abolition of the squadrons at Brandon and Macleod, the reduction of the squadron at Ottawa to about one-third of its former strength, and the abolition of the sub-district at Portage la Prairie. In addition, 8 officers and 10 senior non-commissioned officers were retired to pension, and a large number of constables were granted free discharges.

The following shows the distribution in the several provinces and territories on September 30, 1922:—

VOLUME OF WORK

While there has been a reduction in numbers there has been an increase in work; I estimate it at about one-ninth. Whereas last year nearly 12,600 investigations were made, the total number this year has exceeded 14,000. The increase has been heaviest in regard to federal statutes; the force has rendered constant service to other departments in enforcing the penalty clauses of legislation in which they are interested. The decrease has been in our reserve squadrons, and has not greatly affected our detachments, though it has been necessary to reduce the strength of many of them.

The detailed statistics reveal at once the volume of the work performed, and the marked increase in it. The following is a comparative statement for the years ending September 30, 1921 and 1922, respectively:—

Total Investigations Year Ended September 30, 1921

Federal statutes	3,675
Criminal Code	513
Provincial statutes and parks regulations	172
Investigations for other departments	8,235

Total Investigations Year Ended September 30, 1922

Federal statutes	5,235
Criminal Code	470
Provincial statutes and parks regulations	219
Investigations for other departments	8,108
	14,032

An increase of 1,437 investigations; or 11.4 per cent.

While a slight drop in the number of investigations under the Criminal Code and investigations for other departments is recorded, there is, as already noted, a noticeable increase in the number of those of breaches of the federal statutes.

The tables which follow set forth the details, alike as to the classes of cases handled, the Acts under which action has been taken, and the departments to which services have been rendered.

CLASSES OF WORK DONE

It will be observed that the foregoing statistics fall under four headings.

1. The enforcement of federal statutes is the regular work of the force; it consists of the enforcement of the penalty clauses of the various federal statutes in which federal departments are directly interested.

2. As regards the Criminal Code, the force is responsible for the maintenance of law and order in the Northwest Territories, Yukon, National parks, and Indian reserves. It also enforces the provisions of the Criminal Code in all cases where departments of the Federal Government are concerned, such as theft of Government property, frauds in connection with the Post Office, currency, etc. In other cases the provincial administrations are responsible.

3. As regards provincial statutes and parks regulations, by special arrangement between the Federal Government and the Provincial Governments of Alberta and British Columbia, both the federal and provincial laws are enforced by this force in the federal parks in these two provinces.

4. By investigations for other departments is meant the special inquiries and investigations concerning departmental matters, made at the request of Federal Government departments; and also special inquiries made to assist Provincial Police departments.

To these aspects of our work I shall revert on a later page.

ACTIVITY IN PATROLLING

These extremely diverse activities do not exhaust the duties performed by the force; some of these involve much labour without bringing returns which can be exhibited in statistics, but none the less are important. For example, in many parts of the country an immense number of patrols are necessary. When members of the force are sent out on these, it is customary to charge them with the execution of such specific investigations as have been called for in the neighbourhood to be visited, but even if there are none of these, it is essential to keep ourselves acquainted with general conditions in considerable areas. Often a patrol by members of the force brings to light conditions which otherwise would not become known—violations of customs or excise regulations, the existence of undesirable propaganda, the improper storing of explosives, carelessness in observing quarantine or other regulations of the Department of Agriculture, debauching of Indians, or, on some occasions, the existence of distress or destitution which call for remedy. Leaving aside our Arctic journeys as of a special nature, we have in the past year made some patrols in northern British Columbia, where unrest among certain Indian bands made it desirable to strengthen the hands of the Indian Department. Another area where interesting patrols were made was the Queen Charlotte islands. Again, the making of these tours of inspection and investigation sometimes tends to decrease our statistical returns by preventing irregularities; for example, in certain waters the convictions for breaches of the fisheries regulations have decreased because our visits have caused these regulations to be observed.

ASSISTANCE TO PROVINCES

A certain amount of work has been done in giving assistance to provinces, and as most of these cases were of a somewhat exceptional nature, they present features of interest.

BANK ROBBERIES ALONG THE INTERNATIONAL BOUNDARY IN MANITOBA

On September 29, the following telegram from the Attorney General of Manitoba was received by the Honourable the Minister of Justice:—

> "Manitoba Government desires Royal Canadian Mounted Police to co-operate with and assist Manitoba Police in apprehending bank robbers who are operating in southern and western Manitoba. These robbers apparently enter from United States and also commit breaches Customs laws. Banks at McGregor, Killarney and Melita, Manitoba, have been robbed recently with extreme violence, recent robberies also in Moosomin and Ceylon. Saskatchewan situation is difficult to cope with but we feel same can be handled if we have full co-operation and assistance of your police."

On your instructions the Officer Commanding Manitoba District took steps to arrange for our full co-operation. After consulting with the Attorney General he strengthened our existing detachments along the international boundary in Manitoba, established additional ones at the most advantageous points and arranged an effective patrol along the boundary in Manitoba by federal and provincial police. The robberies were being committed by a gang of hold-up men from the United States, who apparently made their headquarters at Minot, N.D. They would select a bank in a small town adjacent to the international boundary, cross into Canada in high-powered automobiles after dark, and return to the American side after having blown the safe and secured all the cash and valuable securities. The members of the force detailed to this duty carried out their work in a satisfactory manner.

After the road crossing the international boundary had become impassable for traffic on account of snow, the following letter, dated November 11, was received from the Deputy Attorney General of Manitoba:—

> "I am directed by the Honourable the Attorney General to advise you that it is felt you can now safely remove from the patrol along the international boundary, all members of your force whom you so kindly sent there to assist us in maintaining law and order.
> "We wish to thank you for the good assistance rendered in these matters."

The additional temporary detachments were then withdrawn and the special boundary patrols discontinued.

ARREST OF CRIMINALS IN CAPE BRETON

The following telegram was received on May 17 from the Deputy Attorney General of Nova Scotia:—

> "This department desires services member or members Royal Canadian Mounted Police to arrest under bench warrant in remote part of Cape Breton island criminals with whom local constables are unable to deal. If this department's request can be granted please instruct Inspector LaNauze here."

You approved of the force rendering the assistance requested and the officer commanding at Halifax was instructed to make the necessary arrangements.

It appears that three brothers had been wanted by the Nova Scotia authorities since November, 1920, on a criminal charge of having caused grievous bodily harm. The three accused had managed to evade or defy the local authorities from time to time and had gained a reputation as desperate characters. The information furnished to us was to the effect that the accused were looked upon as outlaws and that they would resist arrest. After going into the details of the matter the officer commanding at Halifax decided on a line of action and detailed Sergeant Blakeney and Constable Cook to the case. In order to reach the very remote part where the fugitives were suspected to be living and in order effectively to carry out the plan of action decided upon, they were obliged to perform a long and hazardous journey on foot, forty miles of which was done across an unknown section of the country in a pouring rain storm. By skilful conduct, our men effected the arrest of the three wanted men without finding it necessary to have recourse to violent measures, and escorted them to Sydney, N.S., where they were handed over to the provincial authorities.

A letter, dated May 31, 1922, has been received from the Deputy Attorney General of Nova Scotia, in which he writes:—

> "I desire to say that the services of the force in this connection have been most satisfactory; the local authorities have for months been endeavouring to effect the arrest of these criminals, who live in a remote part of the province and were reported to be dangerous and to have boasted that the authorities were afraid of them. Sergeant Blakeney with Constable Cook of the force accomplished their mission expeditiously and effectively and the result will undoubtedly create a greater respect for the law than apparently has heretofore prevailed in the locality."

PROPOSED NOVA SCOTIA POLICE FORCE

During the summer the Government of Nova Scotia entertained the project of establishing a provincial constabulary, and solicited the aid of this force. On August 19, 1922, you received a telegram from the Honourable the Minister of Public Works and Mines of Nova Scotia in which, after announcing the intention of forming a provincial police force, he asked for the loan of some experienced members of this force for temporary service with the Nova Scotia force. On your instructions to comply being received, several non-commissioned officers, drawn from several divisions, were despatched to Nova Scotia, reporting to Lieut.-Colonel E. W. MacDonald, who had been appointed commissioner of the proposed provincial force. A change took place in the plans of the Government of Nova Scotia, the project was abandoned, and the police force which had been enrolled was disbanded on August 28, our men returning on August 31. During their brief stay they acted in an advisory capacity. On September 2, Lieut.-Colonel MacDonald addressed to me a warmly worded letter of thanks in which the following paragraphs occur:—

> "I can not speak too highly of the soldierly and gentlemanly manner in which they conducted themselves during the time they were in Nova Scotia.

Besides being an asset, it was a very great pleasure to me, personally, to have had them associated with me. Cooper, Aitken, and Stangroom, the three with whom I came in closest contact, are, as you no doubt know, all men to tie to and of the sort to whom praise cannot begin to do justice. My one regret is that the policy followed would not permit a longer period of contact with them.

"This letter would not be complete without a word of appreciation of the most valuable assistance, advice, help, and co-operation which I was given by Inspector LaNauze. He did everything in his power to make my task a light one, and if it was not such it was not because he did not try hard enough to make it so."

AID TO OTHER DEPARTMENTS

This is an exceedingly important portion of our work. By far the greater amount of the assistance rendered to other departments is a matter of routine, to be set forth in our statistical tables; but some aspects of the work are interesting, and are noticed in the paragraphs which follow.

Speaking generally, if the force did not undertake these duties they either would remain undone, to the detriment of the public service, or the various departments would have to make their own arrangements to perform them; in many cases this would mean the employment of private detectives. The employment of these has ceased; it is expensive, the charges being high, and in addition there is the drawback that the Government is in the position of employing persons engaged on delicate duties, without having satisfactory control over them. One result of the reorganization of 1920 has been the discontinuance of the services of those agencies.

NATURALIZATION INVESTIGATIONS

No small labour is incurred in reporting for the Secretary of State upon applicants for naturalization. The policy has been adopted by that department, when aliens apply for the privilege of becoming British subjects and citizens of Canada, of procuring independent and disinterested examination of their character and conduct. In many cases applicants live in remote places, or in settlements exclusively inhabited by people of foreign birth or origin; in other cases local circumstances forbid hope of disinterested reports being rendered by persons who in effect are neighbours of the applicant; and in addition reliance on local testimony might lead to perfunctory answers being given. Although more than four thousand such investigations were made this year alone, all were conducted carefully and an independent statement of the facts bearing upon each application was made. In a number of cases it was ascertained that the applicants were not suitable for citizenship.

PROTECTION OF DOCKYARDS

In 1911 an arrangement was entered into between the Dominion Police and the Department of the Naval Service whereby the former assumed the duty of protecting the naval storehouses and dockyards at Halifax and Esquimalt, this including the scrutiny and inspection of persons entering and leaving these places. After some hesitation, it was decided that the expenses incurred should be borne by the Dominion Police vote. This arrangement persisted on the absorption by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police of the Dominion Police. Our total strengths at Halifax and Esquimalt are 30 and 15 respectively, and of these at least 25 at the former and 12 at the latter station are performing this duty. The present understanding is that the naval authorities provide buildings, barrack furniture, etc., and that we pay for repairs, light, heat, telephone service, subsistence, etc. I estimate the cost of the purely dockyard duties to us to be approximately $50,000 a year.

THE AIR BOARD

A good deal of work has been done in enforcing the regulations of the Air Board. Civil flying is carried on in Canada under control; this fact seems imperfectly known in the United States, and from time to time flying craft arrive from that country without complying with our regulations. In such cases our force co-operate with the officers of the Air Board in taking the necessary steps. In most cases infractions have been innocent, but at times the omissions have been suspicious. On one occasion an American flying boat undertook to carry out commercial operations in connection with pulp limits in Northern Quebec without complying with the regulations; a member of the force was despatched to the scene by aeroplane and detained the machine until its owners made the necessary arrangements with the Air Board. On several occasions action was taken with regard to attempted smuggling from Canada to the United States; the only step which can be taken in such cases is the enforcement of strict compliance with all regulations.

Assistance of another sort has been given by providing a constable for protection of Government property at Camp Borden; the daily patrol there is some 18 miles, much of it over rough trails. There had been considerable pilfering of Government stores; some arrests have been made, but in the opinion of the Department of National Defence the principal service rendered is to be found in the cessation of thefts.

NARCOTIC DRUGS

An important and arduous task is the support of the Department of Public Health in enforcing the Opium and Narcotic Drugs Act. Reference was made in the last annual report to the calamitous nature of this traffic; I regret to be obliged to state that the evil persists, and I fear has grown in some parts of the country. To check it will require the united efforts of this force and the provincial and municipal authorities, and also drastic punishment of the agents, such as the peddlers who deliberately create addicts.

The figures already given show that we have been active, having arrested and prosecuted over one thousand persons, and having secured 800 convictions, with nearly 350 prison terms and over $60,000 in fines. The quantity of cocaine, morphine and heroin seized in the year is nearly 1,250 ounces. This amounts to about 600,000 grains; and as a "deck," the cant name for a dose, usually is five grains or less, it will be seen that we have intercepted fully 120,000 doses. These "decks" are sold to addicts at from one to five dollars each, according to circumstances; so that this quantity represents from one-third to half a million dollars which would have come from the pockets of the wretched customers of these harpies.

A recent change of the Act provides for the deportation of aliens convicted under its provisions. With regard to Orientals, when such convictions are obtained we turn the particulars over to the Chief Commissioner of Chinese Immigration, and I understand that about one hundred offenders are awaiting removal from the country. It has been observed that Chinese addicts to this vice continue to be devoted to opium, and to be little inclined to the use of the other drugs; but further that cocaine and the other noxious drugs usually are to be obtained in the Chinese opium dens, so that white addicts repair to these plague-spots.

The difficulties of repression are exceedingly great, for several reasons. One is the ease with which these drugs, which are small in bulk, can be imported; numerous and very cunning devices are resorted to for the purpose of smuggling them, instances being known of their being most artfully concealed in shipments by apparently reputable firms from abroad. An effective international governmental control of the manufacture and trade in these drugs seems the only real preventive of this illicit form of international commerce. Another difficulty is that the traffic is so remunerative that those who take part in it have abundance of money at their command and use it to counter our measures, and to fight cases stubbornly in the courts. Yet another obstacle is the repulsive nature of the work of repression, entailing as it does contact with peculiarly loathsome dregs of humanity; our men greatly dislike it, and it is undertaken only in accordance with duty, and because of the knowledge that while unpleasant it is a service to humanity.

CUSTOMS AND INLAND REVENUE

By special arrangement with the Department of Customs and Inland Revenue, a number of members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police have been appointed Customs and Excise enforcement officers, without salary, and are now working, in close co-operation with officers of the Customs Preventive Service, in checking the activities of smuggling rings operating between Canada and the United States.

In order to assist the Excise Preventive Service, eighty members of the force have been appointed Inland Revenue officers, without salary, and undertake investigations and enter prosecutions under the Inland Revenue Act in conjunction with their regular duties as federal police officers. There has been a considerable increase in this class of work. Large numbers of complaints have been received respecting alleged illicit distillation of spirits. For the year ended September 30, 1922, 1,606 investigations have been made under this head by members of the force, resulting, so far, in 676 prosecutions being entered, and the seizure and confiscation of a large number of illicit stills.

DEPARTMENT OF INDIAN AFFAIRS

During the past year the force was called upon to investigate 622 breaches of the Indian Act and 448 convictions were secured. We have also enforced quarantine regulations on various reserves in cases of an outbreak of contagious diseases.

Where it is considered necessary detachments are maintained in the vicinity of large reserves. Speaking generally the Indians are a peaceful people and their attitude towards members of the force, who periodically patrol large reserves, is both respectful and cordial. They fully realize that we are just as ready at all times to assist and protect them as we are to take action against members of their band who get out of bounds.

Escorts were furnished to parties paying treaty where required and in several instances members of the force acted as treaty commissioners and paid treaty on behalf of the Indian Department.

SUPERVISION OF PARI-MUTUEL BETTING ON RACE TRACKS

The force was again called upon during the past year to perform the work of supervising pari-mutuel betting on behalf of the Department of Agriculture.

In the provinces of Ontario and Quebec race meetings were conducted almost continuously on the different tracks, from May 5 to October 7. Two parties of four men each were therefore kept constantly employed for that length of time in Ontario and Quebec. In the western provinces only one and in some cases two meetings were held. The detachments for these were furnished by our western divisions. Reports and returns covering each meet were furnished to the Department of Agriculture and the work was performed in a manner satisfactory to all concerned.

HARVESTERS' EXCURSION

This year we again provided escorts for the special trains conveying harvesters from Eastern to Western Canada. A considerable number of these trains were despatched, and the duty called for the employment of a large number of non-commissioned officers and men. These were supplied from Toronto, Ottawa, Fort William, Winnipeg and Regina. The services rendered were satisfactory to all concerned, including the passengers on the trains.

AID TO THE DEPARTMENT OF MARINE AND FISHERIES

Assistance has been rendered to the different officers of the Department of Marine and Fisheries throughout the country from time to time during the past year. The department found it necessary to call upon the force specially to aid its officers in dealing with illegal lobster fishing and canning in the Maritime Provinces. The combined efforts of the Fisheries inspectors and the members of the force detailed to this duty have no doubt had a beneficial effect. The Department of Marine and Fisheries informed me that:—

> "The assistance afforded the officers of the Department by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police has been good and much progress towards stopping illegal fishing has been made."

THE EXPLOSIVES ACT

A considerable amount of work has been performed during the past year for the Department of Mines, Explosives Division, in ascertaining whether proper care is exercised in the matter of storage and handling of explosives. In order to empower the force to render more effective co-operation with the officers of the Explosives Division, ninety members of the force have been appointed inspectors of explosives, without salary, and have thereby been given additional powers in the enforcement of the provisions of the Act.

During the year ended September 30, 1922, 107 special investigations were made under the Explosives Act by members of the force. In a great number of instances first offenders were given a departmental warning. Prosecutions, however, were entered against eighteen flagrant offenders and convictions secured.

COUNTERFEITING

A number of investigations in connection with counterfeit currency have claimed our attention during the past year. An outstanding case under this head was the successful rounding up of one of the largest gangs of counterfeiters which has come to our notice for many years. After months of painstaking and skilful work our detective staff was successful in discovering a remarkably complete plant for the manufacture of counterfeit bank bills, concealed in a house situated on a little island in the St. Lawrence river, near Montreal. The plant included a printing press, quantities of blank bank note paper, plates for turning out ten, twenty, fifty and one hundred dollar notes, and also a large quantity of counterfeit bank notes ready for circulation. The whole gang, including the counterfeiters and their agents who assisted in passing the false notes into circulation, were eventually arrested. They total to date nineteen persons. The case is now before the courts in Montreal.

DEPARTMENT OF IMMIGRATION

Members of the force co-operate closely with the officers of the Department of Immigration throughout the Dominion, and many special inquiries are made by our detective staff. This work has resulted in a number of undesirables being refused entry into Canada, and in a number of deportations. Guards have been supplied when necessary for certain classes of immigrants arriving at ocean ports, particularly for Chinese arriving at the port of Vancouver.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR—CROWN TIMBER BRANCH

Assistance has been rendered the Department of the Interior in connection with the collection of Crown timber dues, especially in the Athabasca and Fort McMurray districts.

THE MIGRATORY BIRDS ACT

A task which we discharge, occasionally at the price of some effort, is the enforcement of the Migratory Birds Act. This legislation has been passed in accordance with international agreements to prevent the indiscriminate slaughter which was threatening valuable species with extinction. A considerable number of investigations have been made for the Parks Branch of the Department of the Interior; in particular a constable spent the summer on the shores of the lower St. Lawrence, devoting his whole time to the work of suppressing the wanton slaughter of birds and destruction of eggs on the islands which border the gulf. Handsome acknowledgement has been made of this constable's services.

PROTECTION AGAINST COMMERCIALIZED VICE

A department of our work is the protection of female immigrants against the dangers which unfortunately beset their path. In Montreal the Revd. John Chisholm acts as Officer for the Suppression of Commercialized Vice, being given certain powers by us. In Halifax Miss E. Egan performs similar duties.

Mr. Chisholm uses as his base of operations Dorchester House, in which women immigrants not travelling in family parties are lodged on landing, before proceeding to their destination. He is at the head of a well-arranged system of protection; directresses travel in the ships, exercising supervision over unaccompanied women immigrants; conductresses travel on the immigrant trains from Quebec, St. John and Halifax to Montreal; at western places like Winnipeg, Regina, Edmonton, etc., lady workers meet the girls on arrival; and in addition at sundry places there are "follow-up workers" who visit the girls in the places where they are employed and seek to link them with the church life of the religious denominations to which they belong. This entails incessant labour in meeting trains, which often arrive at inconvenient hours in the night. Mr. Chisholm reports that every train conveying immigrants to Montreal has been met. In commenting upon this, he says:—

> "Our staff of lady workers meeting, with the writer, all steamship and railway trains with immigrants, has been greatly strengthened by the addition of Miss McCrory, a Roman Catholic lady, capable of speaking the French and German and Dutch languages. In addition, we have our follow-up workers, whose duty it is to visit the girls in the places where they are employed, and link them up with the church life of the religious bodies in which they were nurtured in their homes. Then inside Dorchester House, we have our lady superintendent, and her assistant, with a staff under their supervision in keeping the Dorchester House as orderly and attractive as possible to the homeless strangers.
> "A new feature of the writer's work was making provision for the reception and direction of the non-English speaking girls, who are constantly increasing in numbers. This rendered it necessary for me to visit Winnipeg, and Regina, and secure in those centres reliable persons speaking the language of the strangers to whom we could send notice by wire of the pending arrival of those needing help. For Winnipeg, I secured the Lutheran immigration chaplain, named the Rev. Niels Damskor, and Rev. Symion Bychinsky for the care of the Eastern European girls. Then with Miss McCrory here to speak their language, we are now well equipped to welcome and direct the western and eastern European girls."

The work thus outlined has been fruitful in incidents which cast a vivid and unpleasant light upon the dangers which threaten the unescorted girl who travels, and upon the number of human beasts of prey who strive to trap her; some of the plots which Mr. Chisholm and his helpers frustrated can only be described as diabolical, and the organization has saved many women from ruin and misery.

As an offshoot from this service for the protection of immigrants a useful organization for the protection of native-born girls who travel has been devised. Mr. Chisholm thus discusses it:—

"During the past year the writer gave increased attention to migrant girls, who, in large numbers, leave rural localities to seek work in our large cities. We succeeded in greatly increasing the formation of the Strangers' Department in every parish or congregation. This organization is usually a sub-committee of a guild or Women's Mission Society. This sub-committee appoints a secretary, whose duty it is to receive notice from a similar secretary in some other parish or locality notifying her that a young lady of a certain name is about to accept a position, or to move to a certain residence in a certain part of the city where she resides. When the stranger arrives she is at once visited and linked up with the church to which her people belong. I present the following illustration of how advantageous such a department is for the welfare and protection of our young girls.

"On March 1 of this year I received a letter that two girls were leaving a certain parish in Cape Breton to accept positions in Montreal, and that they were to reach Bonaventure station on a certain train. I was on hand with one of my lady-helpers, and met the two girls as they came off the train. As we were leaving the station by the north entrance, the two girls drew my attention to a third girl who came from Prince Edward Island. I asked them who was that man with her. They said, 'We don't know. He met us on the other side of the river and proposed taking us in his auto to our destination.' They also told me that he was a perfect stranger to the third girl. I immediately rushed after them and overtook them as they were approaching an auto on the east entrance of the station. After asking the girl certain questions, I discovered that the man had no authority to meet her, and when he found out from my conversation with the girl that I had authority to inquire after her welfare, he jumped into his auto and disappeared.

"The two girls from Cape Breton had a Strangers' secretary in the parish they left, who notified the official Strangers' secretary in Montreal who notified me, with the result that the girls were in no danger. The girl from Prince Edward Island came from a place where there was no Strangers' secretary, and, as a consequence she had a narrow escape".

WORK IN THE ARCTIC

Our duties and responsibilities in the Far North increase steadily and I have to report this year an interesting advance in administrative work, and, most unfortunately, a distressingly large number of murders by Eskimos.

A new post has been opened by Inspector C. E. Wilcox at Craig Harbour, on the south shore of Ellesmere island, approximately in latitude 76° 12, longitude 80.5, and he and his party will spend the winter there. Ellesmere island is the last great island before the Polar sea is reached.

On the western coastline of the Arctic ocean the headquarters of what is known as the Arctic Sub-district are being moved from Herschel Island to Aklavik, a place in the Mackenzie delta which of late has become the trading centre of the district; Fort Macpherson is being abandoned. The Tree River detachment is being strengthened, and a new detachment is to be established at Cambridge Bay, on the south coast of Victoria island, east of Kent peninsula. This is about two hundred miles from Tree River, which in turn is a very remote post, the distance by sea from Herschel Island being nearly seven hundred miles, and the route lying through straits which in some summers are so blocked by ice as to be impracticable for ships.

In the Hudson bay area the detachment at Chesterfield Inlet has been strengthened, and an officer, Inspector E. G. Frere, has been stationed there; our control of the region to the north of it is being strengthened; a patrol in April visited Mr. Knud Rasmussen's camp on one of the islands near Melville peninsula.

NEW POST ON ELLESMERE ISLAND

The establishment of the Ponds Inlet detachment was described in the annual report of 1921. The numbers of the force in this general area have been augmented, and a commissioned officer, Inspector C. E. Wilcox, has assumed command of the detachments there.

Inspector Wilcox and a party of eight other ranks, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, left Quebec in the C.G.S. Arctic on July 18, 1922. They reached the entrance to Ponds Inlet on the northern coast of Baffin island on August 15. Pack ice prevented the ship from entering the inlet and making her way to Salmon river, the place where the Hudson Bay Company's post and the police detachment are situated. Staff-Sergeant Joy, the non-commissioned officer in charge of the detachment, was summoned by a party sent over the ice, and reported to Inspector Wilcox in the Arctic on August 17. Owing to ice conditions, Inspector Wilcox decided not to try to reach the post, but to push on to Ellesmere Land and establish headquarters there, leaving the landing of stores at Ponds Inlet for the return voyage.

The Arctic sailed from Ponds Inlet on August 18 and on August 20 she entered Jones Sound. Fram Fiord, the most easterly inlet on the south coast of Ellesmere island, had been considered as the site of the post, but it was blocked with ice and two attempts to enter it failed. Weather conditions were threatening and no time was to be lost. A fairly suitable place, which was named Craig Harbour (after Mr. J. D. Craig, the officer representing the Department of the Interior), was found on the shore of Ellesmere island opposite Smith island in Jones sound. On August 22, Inspector Wilcox determined to winter there and the landing of stores began; after very hard work, this task was completed and Inspector Wilcox left the Arctic and entered upon his sojourn there on August 28; he bade farewell to the ship in a blinding snowstorm. With him are one non-commissioned officer and five constables.

The original intention had been to establish three posts, one at Ponds Inlet, one on North Devon Island, which lies between Baffin island and Ellesmere island, and one on Ellesmere Island. The Arctic, however, was unable to convey the building material, stores, etc., for all three, and in consequence all that could be done in 1922 was to land materials and stores for two posts, at Ponds Inlet and Ellesmere Island; those for North Devon, which are stored in Quebec, will be despatched next year. While Inspector Wilcox is wintering at Craig Harbour in Ellesmere island, he regards it as unsuitable for headquarters of the northern detachments, and is of opinion that Dundas Harbour, on the south coast of North Devon island, in approximately latitude 74′ 35″, longitude 82′ 20″, offers greater advantages; in particular, Lancaster sound usually is clear of ice for a longer period in the year than Jones sound. He looks forward to Craig Harbour being left in charge of a non-commissioned officer. On the return voyage the Arctic reconnoitred Dundas harbour, and Mr. Craig reports that it is suited to the purpose; the harbour is well protected from all winds and, so far as can be judged, open for a comparatively long period, while there is room and shelter for buildings and a good anchorage close at hand.

The Arctic returned to Ponds Inlet on September 1, and again was much hampered by ice; she could not begin to land the stores, etc., until September 6. On September 7, she left on her return voyage.

Cordial relations existed between Inspector Wilcox and the police party on the one hand, and Mr. Craig and Captain Bernier on the other. When Inspector Wilcox landed both Mr. Craig and Captain Bernier addressed to him warmly commendatory letters; and Inspector Wilcox wrote to them in appreciative terms. The police party did a good deal of work while in the ship, lending assistance to the crew, and in return the crew materially helped in the work of starting the buildings.

A post office has been established at Craig Harbour, Inspector Wilcox being postmaster.

No further news has been received from Inspector Wilcox, nor can any be expected until late in 1923.

CRIME AMONG THE ESKIMOS

It unfortunately is necessary to record a terribly large number of crimes of violence among the Eskimos. At present we have under arrest on charges of murder or related crimes no fewer than nine of these people, three at Ponds Inlet, five at Herschel Island, and one at Tree River; the number of deaths involved is thirteen, of whom three are white men; in addition, several additional murder cases are under investigation, but arrests have as yet not been made. In the summer of 1923 two courts will proceed to Arctic regions to try these cases, one to Ponds Inlet and one to Herschel Island.

This epidemic of murderous violence is surprising as the Eskimos in general are a kindly and docile people. In all probability in the past many quarrels among them had fatal endings; and in any case they now are armed with exceedingly deathly weapons. A grave feature of the situation is the number of white men who have fallen victims to the violence of these people. In 1912, Messrs. Radford and Street were killed at Bathurst Inlet, in the course of a quarrel. In 1913, the Revd. Fathers Rouvier and Le Roux were murdered on the Coppermine river, apparently out of mere cupidity. In 1920, Robert S. Janes, a Newfoundlander, was shot at Cape Crawford, in Baffin island, as the climax of a series of disputes. In April, 1922, Corporal W. A. Doak, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and Mr. Otto Binder, of the Hudson Bay Company, were killed at Tree River in a very treacherous and brutal manner, Corporal Doak apparently because the slayer, a prisoner charged with the murder of a fellow Eskimo, did not wish to be taken out of his familiar surroundings, and Mr. Binder with no provocation at all. Apart from the deaths of white men, the deaths of ten Eskimos amount to a serious proportion in so scanty a population.

During the last winter Staff-Sergeant A. H. Joy, who is stationed at Ponds Inlet, investigated the death of Robert Janes. This man had been trading at Patricia river, about thirty-five miles from Ponds Inlet, and decided to travel overland to the western coast of Hudson bay. In his journey he encountered at Cape Crawford, the northernmost point of Baffin island, a band of Eskimos among whom were some with whom he had had differences. Disagreements arose, and Janes was killed, an Eskimo named Noo-kud-lah being accused of having fired the fatal shots, while two others, Oo-roo-re-ung-nak and Ah-tee-tah, were active in assisting him. Staff-Sergeant Joy found the remains, conducted an autopsy, as coroner held an inquest, arrested the accused, and as justice of the peace conducted the preliminary hearing and committed them for trial. The whole of these proceedings were carried on by him in a thoroughly workmanlike manner. This winter Staff-Sergeant Joy is investigating an affair at Home Bay, some 200 miles north of Cumberland gulf, in which three Eskimos are said to have been killed.

Mention was made last year of several murders on the western coastline, including an affray on Kent peninsula in which five Eskimos met their death.

This last affair has had two sequels; an Eskimo named Pugnana, one of the slayers of the others, was killed in turn by two of his fellows, Alikomiak and Tatamigana, and after being arrested Alikomiak murdered Corporal W. A. Doak, our non-commissioned officer in charge of the Tree River detachment, and Mr. Otto Binder, manager of the Hudson Bay Company post at that place. As a result of this dreadful series of crimes of violence, and of the earlier killings reported last year, we have in detention at Herschel Island the following Eskimos:—

Alikomiak, charged with the murder of Corporal Doak and Mr. Binder; and also, with Tatamigana, of Pugnana.
Tatamigana, charged, with Alikomiak, with the murder of Pugnana.
Olepsek;
Amokuk;
Ekootuk: all charged with the murder of Ahkak at Prince Albert Sound, in Victoria island, in the winter of 1919-20.

At Tree River there is under arrest:—

I-ka-luk-piak, charged with the murder of an Eskimo named Hav-oo-Ogak.

In addition an old woman named Kapakatchiak is implicated in the murder of Ahkak; she was too feeble to take to Herschel Island when the others were conveyed there, and it is a question whether she can be placed on trial.

Two other murders have been reported. An Eskimo named Hiktak is said to have been killed in the Coronation gulf region, an Eskimo named Komeuk being suspected of having committed the crime; it is doubtful whether the Tree River detachment can complete the necessary investigations this winter. A man named Kapolak is said to have been put to death at Wellington Bay, in Victoria island, by his son, Pannak.

Corporal Doak in December, 1921, proceeded from Tree River, of which detachment he was in charge, to Kent Peninsula, investigated the murderous affray there, and arrested Alikomiak, the sole survivor of those implicated in the killing, taking him to Tree River. Partly because Alikomiak had frozen his feet and Corporal Doak had attended to them, he was allowed a certain amount of liberty. He repaid this, on an occasion when Corporal Doak was the only white man at the post, by shooting him while asleep; he then waylaid Mr. Binder, who lived close by, and killed him. The murderer was promptly secured, and is at Herschel Island awaiting trial.

Fuller accounts of these cases, and of the conditions under which the Arctic regions are controlled, are to be found in one of the appendices to this report.

WORK OF THE DISTRICTS

The force is distributed among eleven territorial districts, and in addition there is a depot at Regina, and "N" Division at Ottawa, now greatly depleted, is used as a reserve from which men are drawn to discharge numerous miscellaneous duties. The Northeastern Arctic islands are administered under the supervision of headquarters, and the western coast of the Arctic ocean and the lower Mackenzie are part of the district of northern Alberta. Some account of the special features of the work in these several districts may be given.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Assistant Commissioner T. A. Wroughton, the Officer Commanding in British Columbia, dwells upon the assistance rendered to other departments. He refers in particular to the enforcement of the Opium and Narcotic Drug Act, which has been energetic. Out of 246 cases brought to trial, 207 convictions were secured; in addition, 139 search warrants were executed where nothing was found, and in 22 instances drugs were found but ownership could not be proved.

Assistance also has been rendered to the Customs branch, especially in connection with the smuggling of narcotic drugs from steamers plying from the Orient. Twelve specific investigations were conducted, resulting in seven cases being handed over to Customs officials for such action as they deemed necessary.

Another interesting piece of co-operation has been the enforcing of the Fisheries Act. As a result, thirty convictions have been secured. Fifteen power fishing boats, of an average value of $1,000, were confiscated, and a boatload of fish which was sold for $1,420; while fines amounting to $1,615 were imposed and paid. A substantial improvement in the observance of the law is reported in this connection.

NORTHERN ALBERTA

Superintendent G. L. Jennings, O.B.E., Officer Commanding in Northern Alberta, reports some administrative rearrangements, the most important of which are the closing of the detachment at Grande Prairie and the post at Fort Macpherson, the opening of a new post at Aklavik in the Mackenzie delta, and the prospective shifting of the headquarters of the Arctic subdistrict from Herschel Island to Aklavik. He suggests the establishment of a detachment at Fort Rae at the extreme north of Great Slave lake, a considerable Indian population trading there.

Dealing with the organized portion of his district, Superintendent Jennings observes that the drug traffic has made marked increases during the year; a vigorous campaign was made to combat it; 46 searches were made, resulting in about 26 per cent of convictions. The majority of these convictions have been amongst the Oriental population, very few white men having been observed to be connected with the traffic.

Dealing with the more serious forms of crime, the officer commanding notices the murders by Eskimos (which are treated separately) and observes that with this exception the Provisional District of Mackenzie has been remarkably free from anything but petty offences.

In regard to the case of Albert LeBeaux, reported on last year, this man was handed into the custody of the force after the trial, and Inspector Fletcher was appointed deputy sheriff of the Northwest Territories. The whole proceedings in regard to the execution were performed under his direction, this including the procuring of a hangman and taking him to the scene of the execution. Thus concluded the first jury trial, with subsequent execution, in that district and possibly in the Northwest Territories of Canada.

SOUTHERN ALBERTA

Superintendent C. Junget, the Officer Commanding the Southern Alberta District, particularly remarks the abolition of "M" Division, the reserve squadron stationed at Macleod, and the consequent closing of that historic post, the oldest Mounted Police station in existence, having been established in 1873. The reserve squadron for some time had been dwindling, so that when it finally was abolished it consisted of little more than 30 men. The closing of this old post necessitated a considerable amount of work in checking over and disposing of stores. A detachment of one non-commissioned officer and one constable is maintained, the old quarters of the officer commanding being used for this purpose; all the other buildings have been locked up. The detachments of old "M" Division were transferred to "K" Division.

The detachments have been increased from 21 to 23; some of them have been reduced in strength. | Those in the Banff subdistrict and the one at Waterton Park, where the force is responsible for law and order, have had a very busy summer, a great number of cases being handled.

Here, too, the drug traffic is a preoccupation. Superintendent Junget's report is more cheerful that those of the others, the traffic having lessened during the year. This is due for the most part, to the continued activities of our plain clothes staff and the heavy penalties imposed for infractions of the Act. Only 41 convictions were obtained, in comparison with 148 last year. This traffic, however, still exists and it is only by the continued efforts of plain clothes men that it can be kept down, as traffickers are becoming more artful in their dealings.

NORTHERN SASKATCHEWAN

Superintendent F. J. A. Demers, the Officer Commanding Northern Saskatchewan, reports a year without especial incident. It is interesting to note that in this division, which includes for administrative purposes the western shores of Hudson Bay, the dogs on the strength outnumber the horses. New detachment quarters have been completed at Chesterfield Inlet, which is becoming a more important post.

Dealing with the assistance rendered to other departments, Superintendent Demers states that infractions of the Inland Revenue Act are on the increase in this district; there is a decided increase in number of cases investigated as compared with last year, 431 cases having been investigated by the force in company with preventive officer of the department. Convictions were secured in many instances, but many searches were made without any results. Rural telephones are responsible for many failures of searches, the persons concerned being notified of the presence of officers in the district.

Several cases have been investigated during the year on behalf of the Post Office Department. These cases are of a type usually very difficult to bring to a satisfactory conclusion; however, every effort has been made to trace the perpetrators of the crimes and although a number of the cases have been under investigation for some time, sight of them has not been lost.

As usual, escorts were sent with the parties sent to pay treaty money to the Indians. Other work was done in connection with the Indians, including the enforcing of quarantine regulations in cases of outbreak of smallpox. Crown timber dues have been collected, the Explosives Act has been enforced, prisoners have been brought back from the United States, etc.

SOUTHERN SASKATCHEWAN

The Officer Commanding the Southern Saskatchewan District, Superintendent A. B. Allard, reports that the work in his district increased 35 per cent over that of the previous year. He had, for example, 874 cases to investigate under federal statutes, these resulting in 429 convictions, most of them being under the Inland Revenue Act; this is practically thrice as many as in 1920. He remarks that every effort is being put forward to enforce this law rigidly. Under the Railway Act 57 convictions were obtained, as against one last year. There was activity in attacking the traffic in narcotic drugs. The investigations made at the request of other departments numbered 1,084; of these 324 were in connection with applications for naturalization. The district suffered during the period under review from numerous robberies of post offices, apparently by expert professional thieves from the United States.

During the year there was a rearrangement of subdistricts and detachments, four of the latter being abolished. There are 19 detachments outside of Regina.

MANITOBA

Superintendent R. S. Knight, the Officer Commanding the Manitoba District, notes the abolition of two subdistricts, Brandon and Portage la Prairie; there now are two subdistricts, Winnipeg and Fort William. His report is principally concerned with the occasions on which assistance has been given to other departments. Dealing with the work undertaken for the Department of Health he refers, as do the others, to the special efforts which have been made during the past year to endeavour to check the illicit traffic in drugs; 119 cases were investigated, resulting in 28 convictions. This shows an increase over last year. In checking the drug traffic, he states that it has been found very difficult to secure convictions, as the class of people engaged in this traffic are of a most elusive and unscrupulous nature; besides this, drugs are frequently put up in such small quantities that they can be disposed of at a moment's notice, and are easily concealed upon the person, or in any place.

Somewhat allied with this work is that relating to the illicit distilling of liquor. Investigations made on behalf of the Inland Revenue Branch numbered 278. Out of this number, 126 convictions were secured, which shows a considerable increase over the figures of 1920-21. In many cases the information given in this particular branch is unreliable, resulting in much unnecessary work having to be undertaken.

This work predominates in the work done for the Department of Indian Affairs; 102 cases were investigated and 76 convictions obtained. Indeed, the majority of the cases investigated have been the results of the liquor traffic, and special efforts have been made to put a stop to this. A letter was received from the Rev. James A. Donaghy, of Indian Springs, conveying the appreciation of the Indians of the Swan Lake bands for the police protection rendered during the Indian celebration in July, the Indians stating that it was due to the presence of the police, which kept away the peddlers of illicit liquor, that a great deal of trouble was averted.

The whole of the international boundary, from Saskatchewan to Fort Frances, Ont., has been continually patrolled and every assistance possible has been rendered to the Customs and Excise officials. As assistance could only be rendered at the request of the Customs' officials the number of cases investigated is small as compared with that of last year.

WESTERN ONTARIO

Superintendent A. W. Duffus, Officer Commanding Western Ontario, in his annual report mentions the anxiety caused by unemployment and depressed labour conditions in the winter months of 1921-22, remarking upon the manner in which this was dealt with by organized relief measures.

Here again more attention has been given during the past twelve months to infractions of the Opium and Narcotic Drug Act. Many difficulties were encountered in the early operations of the drug squad, but these have since been satisfactorily overcome. The drug habit is claiming a larger number of victims as each year goes by, and much has to be done before it can be claimed that control of the situation has been obtained. Opium smoking is confined chiefly to Orientals but the taking of cocaine and morphine and similar narcotics is on the increase amongst white men and, unfortunately, white women.

An alarming number of post office robberies and thefts of mail occurred during the fall of 1921 and spring of 1922 which called attention. Our efforts were in the main successful.

Infractions of the Indian Act on Indian Reserves in Western Ontario District led to several investigations. As a result the Cape Croker Reserve and the Muncey Reserve have been patrolled on several occasions with beneficial effects, particularly on the Muncey Reserve, where resentment at our first appearance has given way to a more cordial appreciation of our work.

Numerous investigations have also been made during the year by the plain clothes staff at the request of and on behalf of the different Government departments, and although none of them call for special mention they have all been conducted very thoroughly. The total number of these inquiries amounts to 1,942.

Members of this command have also by special request assisted in important investigations in connection with the Finance Department, the Customs Department and the Department of Justice (Penitentiaries Branch).

EASTERN ONTARIO

Superintendent T. S. Belcher, Officer Commanding "A" Division, reports duties somewhat in contrast to those of other divisional commanders. "A" Division represents the old Dominion Police, and, in addition to the duties of protection of Government buildings, etc., is responsible for the district known as Eastern Ontario, which comprises the same territory as Military District No. 3. The conditions under which the members of this division work being somewhat different from those of the other divisions, it may be of interest to note that the quarters occupied by it are those situated from 186 to 190 Wellington street, Ottawa. The majority of the members live at home, being married men. All the unmarried men are required to live in barracks, which gives a reserve of about twenty men at night time if any emergency should arise; these, together with the night supervision men, take up considerable room. The buildings in question are centrally located.

The total strength (including a large detachment at Halifax) is 216, as compared with 217 in 1921; yet the demands for protection for the buildings constantly increase. The conduct and discipline have been good.

The duties undertaken by this division largely consist of protection of government buildings; supplying men for official purposes; investigations by the C. I. B. Department; patrolling the Government parks and looking after the fire protection of all Government buildings.

During the year this division placed guards on 31 buildings, which took an average of 118 men every twenty-four hours. Its patrols also visited a large number of the buildings on which no men are posted, fastened the doors and saw that everything was safe. The strength of the guards on the Finance Department, the Royal Victoria Museum and the National Gallery have been increased. The work of guarding the buildings is supervised by an officer, three sergeants and three corporals, who visit the men on duty at irregular hours during the day and night. The buildings are supplied with control clocks and also with telephones establishing thorough oversight. Patrols are made through the Experimental Farm during the day and night owing to complaints of theft of flowers and fruit.

The Fire Department consists of seven regular men and a sergeant. They have 116 buildings to inspect twice a week in regard to the collection of waste-paper and inflammable material. Three of the men have to charge all the fire extinguishers once a year and to clean them every six months. Much other routine work is done in this connection, such as keeping in order more than 27,000 feet of hose. During the year fire demonstrations have been given to the staffs in the various Government buildings, and in some of them fire drills have been held.

In addition to these duties of guarding and prevention, a good deal of criminal investigation work has been done in a satisfactory manner. A large proportion of this consisted of inquiries regarding thefts in Government buildings. In a number of cases the guilty persons have been found and have been dealt with by dismissal or by other means; a number were taken before the courts and punished in the usual way.

The detachment which was established at Senneterre, Que., has done good work amongst the Indians, who form the largest element in the population. The condition of the people has improved considerably. Careful watch has been kept to prevent traders selling liquor and as a result, most of them have kept a little money in the Hudson's Bay and other stores which will help to carry them over the winter.

QUEBEC

Inspector J. W. Phillips, the Officer Commanding Quebec District, in his annual report lays stress on the large amount of work performed in assisting the Customs Department in enforcing the Opium and Narcotic Drugs Act, in assisting the Inland Revenue officers, and in detecting counterfeiters. The work entailed by the first named of these duties was arduous, and has been attended with considerable success. Even more onerous has been the work done for the Department of Health; the obstacles to be surmounted have been great, but a number of very important cases have been handled, and many seizures made; prominent among the successes has been the breaking up of what was known as the Maxie gang. The volume of the drug traffic in Montreal unfortunately is very great, the dealers being untiring in their efforts to smuggle their death-dealing wares, alike from ships and from American territory. In the matter of counterfeiting a great success was scored in the arrest of the large and well-equipped gang led by one Grignon. A number of postal robberies also have been investigated and the guilty persons detected; in this a number of gratifying successes have been achieved. A large portion of the duties performed in Montreal, indeed, has been in the nature of detective work, and cannot be too particularly described.

The several detachments in this district have been conducted efficiently.

An incident in the work of the Quebec detachment was the making of extensive patrols along the St. Lawrence river in connection with the Migratory Birds Convention Act.

THE MARITIME PROVINCES

Inspector C. D. La Nauze, Officer Commanding the Maritime Provinces District, reports a steady increase in the work performed, the total number of cases having risen from 309 in 1920-21 to 356. In addition the command has carried out the policing and protection of the Halifax Naval Dockyard and the Naval magazines of Georges Island and Fort Clarence.

It is noticed that the investigations for other departments have nearly doubled.

THE YUKON

Inspector E. Telford, the Officer Commanding the Yukon, in his report is principally concerned with administrative duties which are not performed by the force in the organized provinces of the Dominion. He himself has been appointed Acting Gold Commissioner of the Yukon during the absence of Mr. Mackenzie. The officers of the force perform the duties of magistrates within the territory except in Dawson and Whitehorse. The Officer Commanding acts as immigration inspector for the northern part of the territory, and the Officer Commanding at Whitehorse acts as mining recorder and Crown timber and lands agent. Staff Sergeant W. J. D. Dempster has been appointed magistrate and coroner for the Mayo District. Our non-commissioned officers and constables perform a multiplicity of duties—as postmasters, subcollectors of Customs, immigration officers, veterinary inspectors, inspectors of weights and measures, etc. Federal statutes, Yukon ordinances and municipal by-laws are enforced, and the administrative duties performed extend to attending cases of sickness in out-of-the-way places.

Patrols were made in all directions, many of them calling for endurance, courage and judgment. Some of them penetrated to regions never visited before. One, of 444 miles, was from Rampart House to Herschel; others were from Rampart House to Blue Fish and to Crow River. One patrol went from Whitehorse via Kluane Lake to Wellesley Lake, in the Donjek country, where a dangerous lunatic was wandering around; the man was brought back to Whitehorse and later sent out to an asylum.

TRAINING

Training is carried out principally at the depot at Regina, under Superintendent G. S. Worsley. The work went on there continuously during the year. In the first six months a good many recruits were handled, being fully trained in equitation, squadron drill with and without arms, and troop and squadron drill mounted and dismounted. During the summer months every man available in the depot was exercised in mounted and dismounted squadron and troop drill twice a week. The drill has been good. Physical training also was given. The men have always been well trained and make a good appearance on parade. The summer months have been all that could be desired for outdoor training.

Reference is made by him to lectures and sports, and to such special performances as musical rides. Barracks, hospital, stables and stores are in good repair, and the horses are in excellent condition. The discipline is described as excellent.

Careful attention is paid at the depot to training in shooting with rifle and revolver, the more so because when constables go on detachment opportunities for training are lacking, both because of the incessant pressure of other duties, and because of lack of facilities. To counteract this, arrangements were made whereby the detachment men within reach of Regina came in for musketry in groups. Preliminary instruction thus was given before the courses were fired, the result being that the scores improved greatly; far fewer failed and there were far more marksmen. The force competed in several shooting associations and did well. In revolver shooting the Royal Canadian Mounted Police team won the championship of Canada, and Inspector T. V. S. Wunsch not only won the championship of Canada, but achieved a world's record. In the rifle four members of the division won places on the Saskatchewan team which competed at the Dominion Rifle Association matches at Ottawa, and did well.

"N" DIVISION

This squadron during the year was reduced from about 150 all ranks to about 50. Its duties have been of a miscellaneous nature as, in addition to training, it has been used as a reserve from which have been drawn men for numerous special duties, such as furnishing guards for harvesters' trains, guards for income tax offices, parties to supervise the pari-mutuel machines, etc.

TICKET OF LEAVE ACT

This work has been duly carried on. All the figures are substantially larger than those of last year. In 1921 the releases averaged nearly 70 a month, and this year nearly 100. There again is an increase in the number of licenses revoked and forfeited. The figures in detail are:—

Released on parole from penitentiaries	492

CRIMINAL IDENTIFICATION

This service continues to assist all the police forces in the Dominion. As has been pointed out in the past, it is co-operative in its nature, and its purposes will not be fulfilled until all agencies combating crime employ it, and it contains a complete record of convicted criminals. This year another increase in activity is recorded, the figures being:—

It is with much regret that it was found necessary, on account of reduction in strength of the force and the cutting down of overhead expenses, to retire the above-mentioned officers to pension. All of them were experienced officers who had rendered good service.

Superintendent Tucker, who was also retired to pension, does not show in the foregoing statement, he having been granted an extra month's leave on account of handing over his command in the Yukon, and the distance he had to travel to come back to Vancouver. His retirement dated from October 1.

Twelve senior non-commissioned officers were also retired for the same reasons, after long and faithful service.

HEALTH

The reports of the Principal Medical Officer and the Assistant Surgeon show that the health of the force on the whole has been good. As is inevitable in a service entailing open-air life, travel in out-of-the-way places, and a certain number of risks and hardships, a considerable number of injuries are recorded.

It is with great regret that I record the death of one officer and nine other ranks.

Inspector Kennedy had served for many years in the Dominion Police, and had held a commission in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police after the amalgamation.

The tragic circumstances of Corporal Doak's death are described elsewhere in this report.

HORSES

The reduction in the numbers of the force has resulted in our sending a considerable number of horses from Ottawa and Brandon to Regina. Some have been sent to pasture, and a number have been disposed of. The casualties among the horses have been:—

Cast and sold	136
Died	22
Transferred to another Department	1
	159

TRANSPORT

The bulk of our motor transport, consisting of eight McLaughlins, was purchased in 1916. These have done a great deal of work, and although they have been kept in repair, some of them are now almost worn out, and will probably have to be replaced. Two Ford touring cars were bought during the year, and are being used on the Boundary Patrol. It is found that these are much more serviceable than motorcycles with side cars, and just as economical.

BUILDINGS

The only building operations undertaken during the year were those at Aklavik, where a new post has been established. The Fort McPherson log buildings were taken down and re-erected at Aklavik. Logs have been cut for the erection of new ones. A portable saw-mill was sent in during last summer, and lumber is being cut for the completion of these buildings. This work is all done by our own men.

Our reserves at Battleford and Maple Creek, where we had fairly large barracks, which were built years ago, and are now occupied only by small detachments, have been turned over to the Department of the Interior to be disposed of to the best advantage.

CLOTHING

The supply and quality of clothing has been satisfactory.

FORAGE

The supply has been satisfactory. While prices remained high for the greater portion of the year there are indications of a decline.

I have the honour to be, sir,
Your obedient servant,

CORTLANDT STARNES,
Assistant Commissioner.

APPENDIX A

THE CONTROL OF THE ARCTIC REGIONS

THE MURDER OF ROBERT S. JANES

An account was given in the annual report of 1921 of the establishment of the Ponds Inlet Detachment by Staff-Sergeant Joy, and mention was made of the killing by Eskimos of one Robert S. Janes. During the winter of 1921-22 Staff-Sergeant Joy apprehended three Eskimos named Noo-Kud-Lah, Oo-roo-re-ung-nak and Ah-tee-tah, on the charge of having killed Janes in March, 1920, at Cape Crawford, at the extreme northwestern corner of Baffin island.

Robert Janes was a native of Newfoundland who had spent a good many years in this part of the world; among his other activities he had been second officer of the Arctic in the expedition of 1910-11. In 1916 he established himself as a trader at Patricia River, Eclipse sound, about thirty-five miles from Ponds Inlet, where are situated two trading stations and our detachment. His commercial operations were unsuccessful, his financial backing in St. John's, Newfoundand, fell through, for several successive summers the ship he expected did not arrive, and the natives ceased to trade with him. It is stated that disputes arose between him and sundry Eskimos, in part over financial matter. His circumstances during the last year and a half of his life are described as having been very miserable. In 1919 he made efforts to obtain a passage to St. John's, but these were frustrated, and he is stated to have decided to make his way to Chesterfield in Hudson bay, this involving a long and arduous journey along the west coast of Baffin island, across Melville peninsula and by Wager bay. He and his driver, an Eskimo named Oo-Took-ito, set out early in 1920, and arrived on March 14 at a large native encampment at Cape Crawford. In this camp was Noo-Kud-lah, with whom Janes had been at variance. Some time after his arrival Janes was shot and killed, it being alleged that Noo-Kud-lah fired the shots.

After establishing himself at Ponds Inlet, Staff-Sergeant Joy undertook the investigation of this affair. On December 7, 1921, he left the detachment for Cape Crawford, arriving there on December 21. On December 26 he found the body, which had been buried in the snow by four Eskimos, Oo-Orloo, Ewah-lah, Jock and the son of the last named, Panik-pah. Staff-Sergeant Joy speaks of this as an "admirable and christian-like act"; the Eskimos expose their dead, but these men, knowing that the practice among white men is different, went to considerable trouble to inter him. Staff-Sergeant Joy conducted an autopsy, finding two bullet wounds and incontestable evidence that the deceased had come to his end by violence. He removed the body to Ponds Inlet and in his capacity as coroner held an inquest, finding a jury of three among the traders and appointing a fourth to be special constable. The inquest opened on January 23, and after some adjournments ended on February 11. Eight natives were examined, and the following verdict was rendered:—

> "That the said Robert Janes was shot to death on or about the end of March in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty, the precise date being to the jurors unknown, at Cape Crawford, in the Northwest Territories. And that the cause of his death was that Noo-kud-lah, alias Ki-wat-soo, Eskimo did feloniously and of his malice aforethought kill and murder the said Robert Janes by shooting him through the body and head with a rifle, from which he instantly died.
> "And so do further say that Oo-roo-re-ung-nak, Eskimo, and Ah-tee-tah, Eskimo, did felonously and of their malice aforethought aid and abet the said Noo-kud-lah, alias Ki-wat-soo, in committing the said felonous act."

The accused, Noo-kud-lah, had not been present during these preliminary proceedings, having moved to a place called Igloo-lik, on Fury and Hecla strait, nearly five hundred miles from Ponds Inlet if the main coast line be followed. Following the verdict of the inquest, Staff-Sergeant Joy, who has a commission as justice of the peace in the Northwest Territories as well as another as coroner, issued warrants for the three men named in the verdict. The rest of the winter and spring were occupied in collecting the three men for whom warrants were out, as well as the necessary witnesses; these people were scattered all over the northern part of Baffin island, an area some three hundred miles long by two hundred miles wide, and to the usual difficulties of travel in this inhospitable region was added a scarcity of dogs, due to an epidemic which prevailed. Staff-Sergeant Joy sent messages to these people to come to him, giving assistance in the way of provisions when necessary, and one by one the persons incriminated and most of the witnesses made their appearance at the post. Oo-roo-re-ung-nak was arrested on May 29, 1922, Ah-tee-tah on June 12, and Noo-kud-lah on July 10. One of Staff-Sergeant Joy's difficulties was with interpreters, and he postponed the formal arrest of Noo-kud-lah for a week after the man's arrival, until he could obtain the services of a man who could satisfy him that he had made the accused understand the warning given at the time of the arrest. It also took much effort to collect the witnesses.

The preliminary inquiry was opened on July 10, before Staff-Sergeant Joy, sitting as justice of the peace, and was continued until July 20. Eight witnesses were examined, seven Eskimos and one white man, the latter, Mr. Wilfred C. Caron, a trader at Ponds Inlet; statutory declarations made by eight Eskimos also were submitted, these being men who were at distant places; and the three accused men made statements. Concerning this last feature of the proceedings, Staff-Sergeant Joy observes: "The accused were given the statutory warning, and although the form was complied with and the best explanation possible given them, I was convinced that it was beyond their comprehension and each made a statement without examination." Of the witnesses examined, one Eskimo woman and Mr. Caron were summoned for the defence, and four of the statutory declarations were submitted on the same side.

Summarized, the facts brought out were that for some time Janes had got on badly with a number of Eskimos, particularly with Noo-kud-lah, disputes having occurred over claims by Janes upon the Eskimo for goods which he had given them. For the defence it was deposed that Janes had threatened violence, and at one time had assaulted Noo-kud-lah's father, and further that he had taken some fur from Ah-tee-tah against his will. It also was sworn that during his stay at Cape Crawford, Janes had had a dispute with the natives, had been very angry, and had threatened to shoot their dogs and to shoot some of them. The details of the killing as elicited in evidence were that Janes was in an igloo when, in accordance with a preconcerted plan, Oo-roo-re-ung-nak entered and told him that another Eskimo had some skins which he was willing to sell; Janes (who was very eager to obtain furs) came out, and on his emerging Noo-kud-lah shot him through the body. The unfortunate man did not fall immediately, and Ah-tee-tah went up to him and pushed him down; Noo-kud-lah fired again, the bullet going through his head and killing him. Evidence was given that one or more general discussions were held at which the decision to kill Janes was taken. After the murder had taken place a number of the Eskimos gave the murderer skins as a reward. The Eskimos insisted that they were greatly in fear of Janes.

On July 20 the three men were committed for trial.

During 1923 a court will be sent to Ponds Inlet and the accused will be tried. They now are in the vicinity, under open arrest. A feature of the situation is that it is necessary to provide for the prisoners and witnesses and their families, the detention interfering with their customary habits of life, and the vicinity of Ponds Inlet being unable to support so considerable a number of people. The confinement to one locality and the anxiety have told severely on the prisoners.

While carrying out these operations, which necessitated his assuming in turn the characters of a policeman, a coroner and a magistrate, Staff-Sergeant Joy was alone, so far as this force is concerned; the only other white men in the vicinity were those belonging to the two trading stations at Ponds Inlet. Inspector Wilcox on his way north left a corporal and two constables with him, so that during this winter the detachment will number four. It may be added that the documents sent out by Staff-Sergeant Joy were complete in every detail; the proceedings before this court were as regular as any taken in the Dominion.

ALLEGED MURDERS AT HOME BAY

During the winter of 1922-23 Staff-Sergeant Joy will investigate another killing, this time among the Eskimo. Three of these people are reported to have been slain at Home Bay, on the east coast of Baffin island, some distance north of Cumberland gulf. Meagre particulars have been received, Staff-Sergeant Joy's preliminary report rendered on August 30, 1922, being in part as follows:—

> "I have the honour to report that I was informed by Capt. Munn, of the Arctic Gold Exploration Syndicate, yesterday that an Eskimo in charge of of the Sabellum Trading Company's outpost at Kiveetung, or Kingnitung, Home Bay, is stated during the past winter to have become insane, claiming to be Christ. Acting under his order another Eskimo shot and killed two other natives (men) who refused to accept the insane man's views or biddings. Some time later when the insane man was said to be threatening to kill a woman, who was on her knees at the time, a native named Kidlappick shot and killed him when he was about to strike and kill the kneeling woman with a hammer.
> "Some time prior to this the insane man had been shot and wounded by another or the same man, on account of his terrorizing the community. The Eskimos on this occasion nursed his wound until he became well, and it was after this that the murder took place.
> "The murderer of the two Eskimos, also the murderer of the insane man, are said to be living in the vicinity of the Hudson's Bay Company's trading post at Cumberland gulf at the present time.
> "Kiveetung is on Davis strait, about two hundred miles north of the entrance to Cumberland gulf."

Our latest information from Staff-Sergeant Joy is dated September 7; up to that time for various reasons he had been unable to proceed to the scene of the killing; he purposed going there during the winter.

PORT BURWELL DETACHMENT

Sergeant J. E. F. Wight spent an uneventful winter at this place, discharging his duties as Customs officer, etc. He made several patrols, travelling a distance of over seventeen hundred miles, of which some three hundred and twenty miles was by dog-sled and the rest by water; visits were paid to the southern portion of Baffin island, to the Button islands, and to various places on the east or Atlantic and the west or Ungava bay sides of the long point of land which comes to an end at Cape Chidley. The purpose of these journeys was partly to obtain a knowledge of the country and the trails, and partly to ascertain to what extent his instructions as to the observance of the game laws had been heeded. He concluded that the Eskimos who trade at Port Burwell quite understand the reason for these restrictions. He is of opinion, however, that in the large area south and west of Ungava bay much hunting and trapping out of season goes on; there is in this region a large fur district.

An interesting remark made by Sergeant Wight is that the natives in this region entertain feelings of dread as regards the Government, having heard of it only as a repressive agency, and having no experience of the practical benefits of which it can be the bearer. He remarks that if it were possible to station in this region a medical man (who could have the powers of a magistrate) they would have an opportunity of learning something of good citizenship. It may be remarked that the Department of Indian Affairs supplied Sergeant Wight with a large medicine chest, the contents of which he has dispensed as needed to the natives who live in the vicinity of Port Burwell.

THE HUDSON BAY REGION

Work in the area tributary to Hudson bay, as always is the case, has been arduous, but has presented no unusual features. The post at Churchill has been closed and an officer, Inspector E. G. Frere, has been stationed at Chesterfield inlet, about four hundred miles further north, with a detachment of some strength. The other post in this general area is at Port Nelson.

The hardships and exposure which form part of the routine of service in this country are illustrated by two extracts from the diary of the patrol made from Port Nelson to Fort Churchill by Corporal Campbell. He left on February 6, 1922, the temperature being thirty degrees below zero. His entry for February 9 is:—

> "Thursday, February 9. Forty below. N.N.W. wind. Broke camp at 8 a.m. Boiled kettle at noon and struck camp for the night at Broad River. Getting very cold. There are a few Indians trapping here. Mileage, 25."

In the four days following the temperature was from forty-four to forty-six degrees below zero. The entry for the last day of the northward march is:—

> "Monday, February 13. Forty-six below. Drifting in a.m. Blizzard in p.m. Broke camp at 7.30 a.m. and arrived at Fort Churchill at 11 a.m. Just got in in time. Strong wind coming up from the N.W. which developed into blizzard in p.m. Dogs in splendid condition. Mileage, 18."

The fate of Ouangwak the absconding murderer, to which reference was made in the last annual report, has been completely cleared up. As was confidently believed, he perished in the blizzard which was raging when he fled. Early in January, 1922, Sergeant W. O. Douglas, who then was in charge of the detachment at Chesterfield, heard that a body had been found near Lake Shekoligyouak, the scene of the fugitive's disappearance. He made a patrol, under arduous conditions as travelling was bad and dog-feed scarce, from March 15 to May 11, and found the remains. They had been much mutilated by animals, probably his own dogs, but numerous articles scattered about were positively identified as having been in Ouangwak's possession during his flight.

A ghastly feature of the exhumation, which vividly illustrates the difficulties of travel in this region, is thus noticed in the report:—

> "Owing to the starving condition of the dogs it was necessary to start for home as soon as possible. . . . The dogs were some one hundred yards from the spot where I was uncovering the remains and three times almost managed to reach there even against the united efforts of four natives to hold them; the last time with the sled turned over. When in a starving condition a husky dog shows no fear for a stick or a whip when he smells meat."

An Eskimo of this region, Edjoarjuk, behaved very well in this matter. Sergeant Douglas says:—

> "On my arrival at native Edjoarjuk's camp on Lake Shekoligyouak, I found this man alone with his family, all the other natives of his camp having moved further south owing to hunger and scarcity of deer. This man did not move south with the remainder of his camp, but stayed in the close vicinity of the remains, as he was expecting me and not wishing to take me further out of my course knowing the scarcity of deer.

"A great deal of credit is due to this Eskimo, as on my arrival at his camp his fall caches had long since been finished, and he was living entirely on fish which were very scarce, only being able to get just enough to keep them alive.

"This is the third winter that I have patrolled this district, and I have never before seen such hard times."

Sergeant Douglas reports that these winter patrols are welcomed by the Eskimo, who now realize that they come as friends and not merely as agents of punishment.

Yet another murder case will have to be investigated in the northern portion of this district. Word has been received that in the winter of 1920-21 an Eskimo named Poya-tack was killed by another native named Ce-nu-Jook. This took place north of Repulse bay, in a peculiarly inaccessible region.

Another example of the perils of life in Hudson bay is afforded by a report, dated September 24, 1921, and received by me on May 8, 1922, that the crew of a Hudson's Bay Company schooner had met natives living on Coats island, in the north of the bay, who told them that they had found the skeletons of three white men, and a boat, on the shores of the island. One man had been buried under rocks, and the other were close together in the open; a revolver, the only weapon found, was near the remains. An American schooner, the A. T. Gifford, was lost in the bay with all hands on her way out in 1915, and from various indications it is believed that the three men whose remains were found had belonged to this vessel.

MR. KNUD RASMUSSEN'S EXPEDITION

Mr. Knud Rasmussen, the Danish explorer and his party, known as the Fifth Thule Expedition (so named from Thule, Mr. Rasmussen's station on the coast of Greenland), spent the winter of 1921-22 on an island near Vansittart island, off Lyon inlet, at the southern end of Melville peninsula. Our Chesterfield Inlet detachment came into contact with Mr. Rasmussen, visits being exchanged. Constable R. McB. Paquet, between March 10 and May 7, 1922, made a patrol of about nine hundred miles from Chesterfield Inlet to Repulse Bay and Vansittart Island; in the course of this he visited the Hudson's Bay Company's schooner Fort Chesterfield at Wager Inlet, the Hudson's Bay Company post at Repulse Bay, and the Danish expedition. On his way north, on April 1, he met Mr. Rasmussen on his way to Chesterfield Inlet. The Hudson's Bay Company agents, Constable Paquet reports, were surveying the Boothia peninsula for the purpose of establishing new trading posts. He arrived at Mr. Rasmussen's station on April 8, finding only two natives there, the white men all being absent in various directions on exploring or prospecting trips. At this place Constable Paquet met natives from Igloo-lik, the place on Fury and Hecla strait already mentioned as the residence of Noo-kud-lah when Staff-Sergeant Joy summoned him to repair to Ponds Inlet to face the charges against him.

Constable Paquet reports game plentiful and the natives well off.

Meanwhile Mr. Rasmussen had made his way to Chesterfield Inlet, finding Sergeant Douglas absent on patrol, and travelled on to Baker Lake to visit the Padlemuit Eskimo; on his return from this trip he met Sergeant Douglas. Later Inspector E. G. Frere met Mr. Rasmussen at Chesterfield Inlet.

THE MURDER OF CORPORAL DOAK AND MR. BINDER

A preliminary account of the affray in the summer of 1921 in Kent peninsula was published in the last annual report. Corporal Doak, as the non-commissioned officer in charge of the Tree River detachment, investigated the affair early in 1922, arrested two Eskimos, and finished and despatched his report a short time before he he was murdered. The people concerned belonged to the tribe which killed Messrs. Radford and Street in 1912. One of the murdered Eskimos, a man named Hanak, was described as the cause of all the trouble; "his main object in life," Corporal Doak wrote, "was to secure an extra wife or two for himself. In order to do this he would have to kill some of the married men, and he had threatened to do this. He had also threatened to kill Pugnana and Tatamigana, as they were too friendly with his wife." Hanak's wife, it must be noted, also was named Pugnana. Hanak had challenged the two men named to fight with guns, but they declined; they consulted together and decided to kill Hanak if he showed any sign of commencing hostilities. Two other men of the band, Ikpahohaok and his son Ikialgina, sided with Hanak; the statement is made that "Ikialgina was a useless troublemaker who could not keep a wife when he had one, and Hanak had promised to get a wife for him." The natives other than this group of three had been apprehensive and had decided to move away and leave them. However, the day before the intended departure Hanak made good his threats by shooting at another man named Anagvik; according to the evidence so far obtained this was quite unprovoked, as Anagvik had had no quarrel with Hanak and, when fired upon, was walking from some fish-traps to the camp. Anagvik was wounded. Pugnana and Tatamigana were on the alert; they rushed out of their tents with their rifles and knives, and Tatamigana instantly shot Hanak through the chest, while Pugnana shot and killed Ikialgina. Pugnana then killed Hanak's wife with his knife, and, finding Hanak still to be alive, finished him with the same weapon. Tatamigana in the meantime had been engaged by Ikpahahaok, the two men taking cover and exchanging shots; after killing Hanak, Pugnana went to the aid of his partner and shot Ikpahahoek. Pugana then went to Hanak's tent and killed Okalitama, Hanak's four-year-old daughter. "This was considered to be an act of kindness by the people," the report states. After the fighting was over Pugnana and Tatamigana carried all the bodies to a large lake near by and threw them in.

Retribution soon befell Pugnana. The statement subsequently made by Tatamigana tells the tale concisely:—

> "After the shooting affair at Kent Peninsula, Pugnana and I went out caribou shooting; he was still excited over the killing and asked me if I would help him kill some more people. I talked to him and tried to get him to change his mind but he said that he was bound to do more killing as the other people were against him. On our return to camp I decided that the best thing to do would be to kill Pugnana and save any further trouble. I was afraid to do it alone so I had a talk with Alikomiak, and we decided to get Pugnana to go shooting the next day and to kill him the first chance we had. Alikomiak agreed to do the killing. Our chance soon came leaving camp; Pugnana was a little ahead. I made signs to Alikomiak and he shot him in the back and Pugnana fell dead. I had nothing against Pugnana for he was my cousin and we were good friends, but I did not want to see him kill any more natives."

A statement made by Alikomiak is to the same effect.

Corporal Doak patrolled to Kent Peninsula in December, 1921, and ascertained the facts narrated in the preceding paragraphs. He arrested Tatamigana and Alikomiak and returned to Tree River with his two prisoners, also bringing as witnesses Anagvik, who had been wounded in the affray, Anagvik's wife and Pugnana's widow, a crippled woman named Agnahiak.

The murder of Corporal Doak and Mr. Binder followed.

The detachment at Tree River comprised Corporal Doak, Corporal Bonshor, and Constables Woolams and Stevenson. The detachment had to take care of several prisoners and a number of witnesses who were being held. At Tree River is the police post and a Hudson's Bay Company's trading station, the latter being manned by two white men, Mr. Otto Binder and Mr. C. H. Clark. Seven miles away was a seal camp, formed by a number of Eskimos; accommodation being limited at the post, Tatamigana, Ik-a-luk-piak and the witnesses were sent to the seal camp under the escort of Constable Woolams; Mr. Clark also was there upon some occasion of business. Corporal Doak despatched Corporal Bonshor to Great Bear Lake with the winter's mail, which included the reports from which quotation has been made; he directed Constable Stevenson to accompany Corporal Bonshor for part of the journey. Thus there were left at Tree River Corporal Doak and the prisoner Alikomiak at the police post and Mr. Binder and his native wife at the trading station Alikomiak was under open arrest and was on light fatigue duty.

On the morning of April 1, 1922, Alikomiak rose while Corporal Doak still was asleep, procured a rifle, and shot Doak as he lay in bed. Doak was not killed outright, but died in about two hours. The murderer remained in the room with him. In the course of the morning Mr. Binder, in conformity with his custom, left his own house and walked to the police quarters to visit Corporal Doak. Alikomiak stood near the window where he could command a view and, when Binder was about fifty yeards away, fired through the window, shooting him through the heart and killing him instantly. Alikomiak then went to Mr. Binder's house and told the native woman there what he had done; the two Eskimos carried his body into the police building, and laid it on a bed. In the afternoon some natives came from the seal camp to trade and found the two white men dead. They returned to the camp with the murderer and the native woman; Alikomiak according to his own account had some idea of shooting Constable Woolams, but on the way the other natives disarmed him. At the seal camp Constable Woolams at once apprehended Alikomiak and he and Mr. Clark repaired to Tree River; a message also was despatched to recall Corporal Bonshor and Constable Stevenson.

In explanation of Corporal Doak's course in keeping Alikomiak under open arrest it is to be observed, in addition to the fact that the general docility of the Eskimo tends to induce white men to trust them, that there were practical reasons. Alikomiak, not being married, had no one to make his clothes and boots; after his arrest his feet had been frozen and he was hardly fit to stay at the camp. Corporal Doak had attended to Alikomiak's feet, giving him medical assistance. There is no cell accommodation at Tree River, the post, owing to the difficulty of transporting materials, consisting of a small dwelling-house, and a storehouse.

Inspector S. T. Wood, the Officer Commanding the Arctic Subdistrict remarks:—

> "Corporal Doak, having been a long time in this district, was well known and respected by whites and natives alike. His untimely death is a distinct loss to the police service. He had the reputation of being the best traveller and dog-driver in the district, and for this and for many other reasons he will be a hard man to replace."

Inspector Wood adds that Mr. Binder had a good reputation as a trader and was liked by the natives. Before taking a position with the Hudson's Bay Company, he worked for the Canadian Arctic Expedition.

It is a coincidence that Corporal Cornelius, another fine Arctic traveller, died at Edmonton of influenza on the same day that Corporal Doak was murdered. Corporal Cornelius had been in charge of the Tree River Detachment, and the two men were friends.

THE DEATH OF HAV-OO-OGAK

As regards the death of Hav-oo-ogak, for which Ik-a-luk-piak is under arrest, Corporal Doak's report, which is dated February 24, 1922, is to the effect that on his way back from his patrol to the east in December, 1921, he heard rumours at a native camp that a native had been killed by his partner some time in the autumn of 1921, at a place inland from Grace Bay. In consequence he made a patrol to the camp of the natives who were sealing off shore in the winter, and after making inquiries arrested Ik-a-luk-piak. "I did not have very much to go on in making the arrest," Corporal Doak reported, "but the friends of the dead man were very much worked up, so I knew that if I did not pick him up, they would deal with him in their own way, which would be a dead end for him." It appeared from the stories told that the accused, the dead man and the latter's wife, a woman named Khattia, had lived together in one of the partnerships not uncommon among these people, and the presumption is that Ik-a-luk-piak killed Hav-oo-ogak in order to have the woman to himself. The woman and another witness, an Eskimo named Ictik, Khattia's brother, are under detention.

In this affair, unlike most of our cases of this sort, the accused has not confessed. His statement is that he and the deceased were camped inland and that they left camp with dog-teams to fetch back some caribou that they had shot. Before reaching the cache Ik-a-luk-piak, according to his account, discovered that he had lost his whip, and returned along the trail to look for it. He walked some distance before finding it, and on returning to the cache found Hav-oo-ogak lying on the ground, shot through the head. "His rifle was on the ground about ten feet away from him and there was a trap close to him. It looked as though he had been starting to set the trap. I put on a load of meat and went back to camp to tell the people that he was dead."

The widow's statement is that Ik-a-luk-piak on previous occasions had threatened Hav-oo-ogak and on one occasion had tried to shoot him, being deprived of his rifle by the other Eskimo. On the day of the death the two had gone out to set traps and Ik-a-luk-piak had returned, crying, and saying that her husband "was no good and had killed himself." She and her brother had found the body; the bullet had entered the top of the head and had come out through the forehead. The statement by Ictik corroborated this, both as to previous bad blood between the two men, and as to the nature of the wound.

Corporal Doak remarked in his report:—

> "It is impossible to get any exhibits in these cases, as the bodies are placed by the natives in such a way that wolves, foxes and other animals tear them to pieces in a short time."

It is perhaps of interest to note that as soon as Ictik learned that his brother-in-law was dead he smashed Ik-a-luk-piak's rifle. At Chesterfield Inlet after an accidental shooting—a lad of eight or ten killed a younger child while trying to kill a seal—the natives threw the rifle which had discharged the shot into the sea.

Ik-a-luk-piak was put under arrest and Khattia, Ictik, the latter's wife, and another witness named Kunana are held at Tree River.

THE DISAPPEARANCE OF HIK-TAK

The Hik-tak case is of longer standing, and like the preceding one, involves the ménage à trois which is found so often in the Arctic. Corporal Cornelius reported in July of 1921, that during the preceding winter he had heard of Hik-tak's disappearance and had investigated. The story he gathered he reported in the following language:—

> "During the spring of 1920 when the snow had nearly all gone, an Eskimo named Hik-tak and his wife Argak and son Akana, together with his partner named Komeuk, were encamped about seven days' travel southwest of Port Epworth.
> "Early one morning, Komeuk took his 22 cal. rifle and went off to kill some game. Argak saw him going over the hills to the south quite a distance away.

"That same morning after breakfast, Hik-tak got his 44 cal. rifle, his knife and deerskin mitts and went off to the north to find a good camping place where they intended to move to the following day. Hik-tak was to return to camp that evening and help pack their outfit to their new camping grounds the following day.

"Argak wanted to go along with him, but he took the boy, Akana, to pack some meat for him in her place.

"After going some distance, Hik-tak sent Akana back to camp, saying that there was too much mosquitoes for him to go further, and that he could go the following day with his mother.

"On occasions previous to his departure from camp this time Hik-tak had told his wife Argak, that he was afraid someone was going to kill him, and that he thought the time was drawing near, but never said who he suspected of wanting to kill him.

"Argak watched him and Akana going for some time, but had to go inside her tent on account of mosquitoes.

"No shots of the hunters' rifles were heard that day by Argak.

"Komeuk returned to camp that evening carrying some fresh deer meat.

"The morning following Hik-tak's departure Argak awoke and found Hik-tak's right hand deerskin mitt of the pair he had taken away, under her head. Argak asked Akana and Komeuk if either of them had brought the mitt back, but they said that they had not.

"That evening, Argak, Akana and Komeuk followed Hik-tak's trail and soon came to pieces of deer horns. There was a lot of caribou tracks crossing Hik-tak's trail at this place, also lots of blood scattered around, but no print of a caribou's body where it had fallen on the snow, and no signs where meat had been cut.

"At this same place Argak found Hik-tak's 44 cal. rifle and his new cartridge bag which had got badly torn since his departure. The rifle was nearly all covered with snow, but his knife was never found.

"From this place, what they took to be Hik-tak's trail led to a lake close by and was lost at its edge.

"After their return to camp Komeuk went away by himself to look for the missing man, and did not return for some time.

"According to the natives around Port Epworth, Komeuk and Hik-tak seemed to get along very well together, and Akana and Hik-tak were the best of friends.

"Komeuk now has Argak for his wife.

"The natives in Coronation gulf sincerely believe that there was foul play in connection with Hik-tak's disappearance, and they believe that Komeuk is responsible.

"Komeuk has a bad reputation amongst the Eskimo, and it is said that he shot his first wife through the head some years ago.

"Most of the natives are somewhat afraid of him, partly on account of him being a native 'Medicine man,' and say that he is dangerous and needs watching."

Constable Stevenson is to investigate the affair in the coming winter, if time permits. A trial may result in August next, at Herschel Island.

THE KILLING OF KAPOLAK

The parricide case, the killing of Kapolak, presents a strange story of unfaithfulness and ungovernable rage. In this case also the investigation was made by the late

Corporal Cornelius, who early in 1921 heard of the affair while on patrol. The people concerned were living at the time at Wellington Bay, in Victoria island, opposite Kent peninsula; this was visited in February, 1921. Corporal Cornelius' report in part is as follows:—

"During the spring of 1920, Kapolak and his family, composed of Uhokak his wife, their two sons Pannak and Kannuyatchiak, and Inoahoadlik (Kannuyatchiak's wife), moved camp from Dease Strait to a lake called Umingmuktok, on Victoria land, north of Wellington bay.

"Shortly after their arrival at the lake, another native named Imnaina and his wife Kingodlik, and young son Hilawk went to the lake and pitched camp along side of them.

"Kapolak became interested in Kingodlik and spent much time in her company.

"Uhokak (Kapolak's wife) became jealous and accused Kapolak of his wrong doing. Kapolak became angry and seized Uhokak by the throat to choke her, but Inoahoadlik interfered and Uhokak and she were successful in keeping Kapolak from carrying out his intention.

"Kapolak being determined to kill Uhokak got a long spear, but before he could bring it into use, it was taken away from him by his sons, Kannuyatchiak, Pannak and Inoahoadlik.

"Kapolak then got a rifle from Kannuyatchiak's tent, but this also was taken from him by Kannuyatchiak and Inoahoadlik.

"Kapolak became tired and went away, and soon afterwards fell asleep.

"After Kapolak awoke from his sleep he started making a knife, and a day later, when completed, he went after Uhokak again, intending to kill her with it.

"Uhokak seeing him coming ran to the lake and waded out in the water and climbed on to the ice. Being closely followed by Kapolak she jumped into the water again and got on to another piece of ice.

"This chase continued for some time, during which Inoahoadlik walked out into the water and called to Uhokak to go ashore. Uhokak seeing Inoahoadlik waiting for her, went to the shore as quickly as possible.

"Kapolak was following closely behind and immediately after his arrival on shore, went straight for Uhokak with his knife. Inoahoadlik got in front of Uhokak for the purpose of trying to stop Kapolak, but he threw her on the ground and grabbed his wife. Uhokak then caught Kapolak's uplifted arm which held the knife. Kapolak put his hands behind his back with the intention of changing the knife into the other hand, but in trying to do so dropped it.

"Inoahoadlik snatched the knife from the ground before Kapolak could recover it, and threw it away as far as she could.

"Kapolak then grasped Uhokak by the throat, saying that he would kill her and then kill himself. Uhokak and Inoahoadlik were unable to stop him.

"While these two men were struggling with Kapolak, Pannak, who had seized a rifle in his tent went to them, closely followed by his brother Kannuyatchiak.

"Pannak approached Kapolak from the back, and when within about eight feet of him (without speaking) shot him through the head, death resulting instantly.

"The body, according to native custom, was wrapped in deerskins and left on the land.

"The statements taken from those concerned in this case were given willingly and straightforwardly, and as they compare so well together, there can be no mistake of this being the true facts of the crime.

"Pannak, at the most cannot be more than thirteen years of age, and according to the statements taken was always on friendly terms with his father Kapolak before this trouble started, therefore, Pannak saying that his only reason for killing his father, was because he knew Kapolak intended to kill his mother, must be the truth.

"The Ekalloktok natives, who all know of this affair, are under the opinion that Pannak was quite justified in killing his father to prevent Kapolak carrying out his murderous intention."

PATROLS IN THE ARCTIC

During the year a number of patrols were made from Tree River, the distances travelled being great, and the work arduous. Of these the most interesting is that made by Corporal Doak in December, 1921, to Kent Peninsula in connection with what may be called the Alikomiak-Pugnana murders. He travelled approximately 400 miles, leaving on December 3 and returning on New Year's day. His account of this journey is in part as follows:—

"We travelled east to Cape Barrow, and then following a zig-zag route through many islands, into Bathurst inlet, our general direction being south-east.

"We visited three large snow house villages, besides meeting several bands of natives coming from inland.

"The natives are very short of seal oil, and as they depend on this for both food and fuel, they were putting in a most miserable time. At one village the natives were down to eating deerskin (we made our stay short at this place).

"This, of course, is entirely their own fault, for they should have been out sealing, but according to their customs the women must do no needlework out on the ice, and the winter clothes must be made on land. They prefer putting up with two or three weeks' hardship to breaking any of their taboos.

"Leaving the inlet we travelled northeast and on December 13 we came to another village at the head of Kent Peninsula. I stayed there that day, investigating the shooting affair, and taking statements from those who witnessed it. We left the village on the following morning and as a result of my investigations, arrested native Tatamigana, who is the only survivor of the actual combatants. His partner Pugnana had been killed by native Alikomiak.

"We stayed that night at the Hudson's Bay Company's post at Kent Peninsula, and the next day I went inland after Alikomiak, using Tatamigana as guide. We reached the native village about 9 p.m. on the second night and I arrested native Alikomiak.

"The natives at this village were not particularly friendly, for according to their customs the boy had just done the right thing in killing Pugnana, and it was hard for them to see why I should take him away.

"This is the same band of natives that a few years ago was implicated in the murder of Radford and Street.

"We should have a first-class interpreter here, this would greatly facilitate our work with these natives. They require everything to be explained to them in detail, otherwise they imagine that they are being bluffed, and sooner or later there will be a mix-up in making an arrest.

"None of the natives with whom I came in contact have any idea who or what the police are, or what they are doing in the country. On asking one of the natives if he knew who we were, he replied 'The rich men of the country.' This reply alone shows their complete ignorance.

"I arrived back at the Hudson's Bay Company's post at Kent Peninsula on December 18 with prisoners Tatamigana and Alikomiak, and remained there until the 24th, as Alikomiak had frozen his heels and was unfit for travel. It was necessary for Alikomiak to ride on our sled all the way back to Tree River."

It may be added, in view of subsequent events, that the entry in the patrol diary for December 19 is:—

"Interpreter and natives fixing up sleds. Corporal Doak fixing up native Alikomiak's frozen feet."

Another patrol, which involved travelling 637 miles, was carried out by Corporal Bonshor and Constable Stevenson between November 27, 1921, and January 20, 1922, from Tree River to Prince Albert Sound, in Victoria island, to arrest Amokuk, one of the natives charged with the murder of Ahkok. In the early stages this journey was hampered by lack of snow. Difficulty was experienced in getting an interpreter, but the patrol carried out their duty.

THE LOWER MACKENZIE RIVER

The work along the Mackenzie river has proceeded as usual, a number of long patrols being made.

An incident which illustrates the perils which beset the trapper and prospector was the death by freezing of a trapper named John O'Brien. This man was spending the winter with a partner on the South Nahanni, a stream which flows southward into the Liard river near the boundary between the Yukon and the Northwest Territories. He left their cabin on January 27 last to visit some traps, intending to be away eight or ten days. As he did not return at the time appointed, his partner and a neighbouring trapper searched for him, and about a month after his departure found him frozen to death. O'Brien, who was a former soldier, was a strong, healthy man; he had reported at our post on entering the country, and his death was duly reported to us. No next of kin has been discovered, and there is no estate to administer.

A picture of the force at work is afforded by a patrol of 464 miles undertaken between January 30 and February 28 by Inspector G. F. Fletcher, from Fort Fitzgerald to Hay River and back; he tried a number of cases, inspected detachments, and performed numerous other administrative duties. The thermometer never was higher than 4 below zero, once was 48 below, and often was lower than 30 below. He reports:—

"I found all the Indians and white trappers in good circumstances. There are a great many moose around on the river but owing to lack of wind the Indians have not been able to get any. Cariboo are reported to be four days' journey east from Fort Resolution on the Great Slave lake but none have been brought in to the fort. The fur catch has been fair; there seems to be a great quantity of mink in the country. The Indians are reported to be in good health, although the usual number of them have died from consumption. I heard of no starvation amongst them. The trails were unusually good except on the lake where the slightest wind covers them. The weather kept very cold but did not seem so except on the lake where the wind was strong. There are a very few Indians in the forts and we are endeavouring to keep them out in the bush as much as possible where their health is much better. The fur catch at Fort Rae is reported to be very good, a great number of martin being brought in."

In December, 1921, a report of sickness and destitution among Indians at Rat River, Rocher River and Stony Point, east of Fort Resolution, caused a patrol to be sent to relieve them. In April, 1922, Corporal A. R. Schultz made another patrol of 140 miles to see how they had fared. It was found that their condition had improved. There had been an outbreak of smallpox, and the Indians had maintained a strict quarantine.

REPORT

SECRETARY OF STATE

OF

FOR THE

YEAR ENDING MARCH 31, 1922

PRINTED BY ORDER OF PARLIAMENT

OTTAWA
F. A. ACLAND
PRINTER TO THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY
1922

To General His Excellency the Right Honourable Lord Byng of Vimy, G.C.B., G.C.M.G., M.V.O., Governor General and Commander-in-Chief of the Dominion of Canada.

My Lord,—I have the honour to lay before Your Excellency the accompanying report of the Department of the Secretary of State for the twelve months ended March 31, 1922.

I have the honour to be, My Lord,

Your Excellency's most obedient servant,

A. B. COPP,

Secretary of State.

Ottawa, April 1, 1922.

OTTAWA, April 1, 1922.

The Honourable ARTHUR BLISS COPP, LL.B.,
Secretary of State of Canada.

SIR,—I have the honour to submit, herewith, my report of the operations of the Department of the Secretary of State for the fiscal year 1921-22.

This report, as you will observe, contains no statement respecting the operations of the Clearing Office Branch of the department or of the Office of the Custodian of Alien Enemy Property. These offices have been busily occupied in carrying out the purposes for which they were created, but as final conclusions have not yet been reached in the negotiations respecting the disposition of enemy property, the settlement of claims, etc., it is considered that the publication of a statement at this juncture would be premature. Later a full report and financial statement will be issued for public information.

Among special matters of importance which engaged the attention of the department during the year particular mention should be made of the reception to His Excellency Lord Byng of Vimy, which took place in August last. The programme was drawn up and arrangements for the installation at Quebec and the reception at Ottawa were made by the Secretary of State Department. Much time and study were given to the perfecting of arrangements for the various functions, and I am glad to say that all features of the programme were carried through with signal success.

I have the honour to be, sir,

Your obedient servant,

THOMAS MULVEY,
Under-Secretary of State.

War Charities Act, 1917	7

CORRESPONDENCE BRANCH

The Correspondence Branch conducts the general correspondence of the department and administers the Bankruptcy Act (appointment of Trustees), Boards of Trade Act, Canada Temperance Act, Ticket-of-Leave Act, Trade Unions Act, and War Charities Act. The general correspondence includes the official correspondence of the Dominion Government with the Provincial Governments. The branch also has charge of the registration and filing of the correspondence of the Companies Branch in addition to its own.

The volume of correspondence conducted during the year shows slight variation from that of the previous year, while the increased activity which arose in the administration of the Acts above mentioned in the year 1920-21, particularly the Bankruptcy, the Boards of Trade, and Canada Temperance Acts, was sustained, The operations under these Acts may be briefly noted:—

Bankruptcy Act

By the amendment to the Bankruptcy Act passed at the 1921 Session of Parliament the general administration of the Bankruptcy Act was transferred to the Department of Justice, but the provisions of the Act relating to the appointment of trustees are still administered by the Secretary of State. During the year just closed one hundred and forty additional trustees were appointed. A complete list of the trustees appointed up to the 31st of March, 1922, will be found in the concluding pages of this volume. The appointments of twenty-four trustees were revoked during the past year. Thirteen of these resigned; eleven failed to renew their security. The appointments revoked are indicated in the list above referred to. The amount of security which trustees are required to deposit or give guarantee for is $15,000.

Boards of Trade Act

The year was one of increased activity in the administration of this Act. Fourteen new boards, a list of which will be found in the report of the Registrar's Branch, were registered during the year. All boards registered under the Boards of Trade Act or under special Acts of Parliament make annual returns to the department. The correspondence and clerical work involved in the handling of these returns has augmented the work of the branch materially. I am pleased to say that the Boards of Trade have shown a readiness to forward their returns promptly.

Canada Temperance Act

It was noted in last year's report that plebiscites had been taken under the 1919 amendment of the Canada Temperance Act (Part IV) in the provinces of Nova Scotia, Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan on the question of the importation of intoxicating liquors. During the year just closed further plebiscites were taken in the provinces of Ontario, New Brunswick, and in the Yukon territory. Both provinces voted decisively in favour of prohibiting the importation. The result in the Yukon territory was against the prohibition. The vote for and against the prohibition in the two provinces and the territory was as follows:—

	For.	Against.
Ontario	540,773	373,938
New Brunswick	40,050	18,773
Yukon territory	433	828

The prohibition came into effect in Ontario on July 19, 1921, and in the province of New Brunswick on January 17, 1922.

Under Part I of the Act an election was held in the city of Quebec on a petition for the repeal of the operation of Part II in that city. The result was decisively in favour of the repeal and an Order in Council was passed accordingly under date October 18, 1921, revoking the Order in Council (dated December 8, 1917) which brought Part II of the Act into force in that city. The repeal took effect from October 22, 1921.

Part II of the Act continues in force in the following places:—

Ontario.—District of Manitoulin.

Nova Scotia.—Counties of Digby and Guysborough.

Manitoba.—Lisgar and Marquette.

Ticket-of-Leave Act

This Act is administered jointly by the Department of Justice and the Department of the Secretary of State. The Secretary of State receives petitions for clemency and communicates His Excellency's pleasure in relation thereto to the parties concerned. The number of sentences which came under review in the Remission Office of the Correspondence Branch during the year closed was 1,897, not including "No Interference" cases, that is, cases which had been under consideration on previous occasions and in which clemency was withheld. Licenses or tickets-of-leave were granted in 913 cases and temporary licenses in five. These temporary licenses are issued for the purpose of allowing prisoners to leave prison for medical examination or treatment.

Sixteen capital cases were dealt with in the branch during the year, jointly with the Department of Justice. The judges' reports and the evidence in all such cases are filed with the Secretary of State, who also communicates His Excellency's decisions regarding the execution of the sentences to the authorities concerned. Of the sixteen cases the death sentence was carried out in five; five were commuted; in the remaining six cases new trials or reprieves were granted.

War Charities Act

Some 272 societies are now registered under this Act and are making returns to the department. Although the number has been diminishing gradually since the close of the war, the fact that so many have maintained their registration under the Act bears forcible testimony to the serious interest the Canadian people have taken in the rehabilitation and welfare of their soldiers. It is also noteworthy that some twelve new societies were registered during the year just closed. These societies are as follows:—

Lord Byng of Vimy Chapter, I.O.D.E.	Magrath, Alta.	Mar.31, 1922	Mrs. Lawrence Clark.	Mrs. E. H. Gaunce.

By a change in the regulations made during the year War Charities are now required to make returns to the department once a year instead of twice, and societies which are required under their articles of incorporation to make reports to other departments are now exempted from making returns under the War Charities Act.

Trade Unions Act

No new Trade Unions were registered during the year. The returns made by the existing unions were checked and filed in the Correspondence Branch.

Card Index of Companies

During the year the registration clerks completed a Card Index of charters under The Companies Act from the year 1913 to date. This index supplements and brings up to date the printed list of incorporations issued by the department in 1914, which contains a list of charters granted to the end of 1913. This index has proved a valuable addition to the equipment of the branch.

[1] An annual statutory return of bonds is submitted to Parliament under section 32 of Chapter 1, R.S.C., 1906, giving full particulars of all bonds registered in the branch since last return.

[2] Quarterly returns of these lands were sent to the registrar of each city and county in the province of Ontario, and to the secretary-treasurer of each city and county in the province of Quebec in which patents were issued, and copies of the several returns in Ontario were also sent to the provincial secretary of Ontario.

During the year copies have been made of over 3,200 pages of documents and records, including 517 certified copies and certificates.

Over 2,650 searches have been made for company names through the Dominion and Provincial lists of incorporated companies in order to prevent duplication in names of companies incorporated.

A considerable amount of miscellaneous work has been performed, such as proof reading, furnishing memoranda of various kinds, and supplying information from the indices and records.

A list of public officers to whom Commissions have been issued and a list of Boards of Trade registered since the last report are also submitted herewith.

THE COMPANIES BRANCH

The number of companies incorporated under The Companies Act and amending Acts during the fiscal year 1921-22 was 895, including 20 corporations without share capital, with a total capitalization of $351,555,900, and the number of existing companies to which supplementary letters patent were issued was 127, of which 43 increased their capital stock to the amount of $18,275,000, 13 decreased their capital stock $5,121,450, the remaining 71 being granted supplementary letters patent for various purposes such as changing names, extending powers, etc., making a total of 1,022 charters and supplementary charters issued during the year; while the total capitalization of new companies and the net increased capital of existing companies amounted to $364,709,450, the maximum total. The usual synopses (with index thereto) giving full particulars of all companies incorporated, as well as of all existing companies to which supplementary letters patent were granted during the fiscal year, are appended hereto.

A considerable increase has been noted in the number of documents registered pursuant to Section 69a of The Companies Act, there having been 122 documents registered during the fiscal year 1921-22 as compared with 62 during the preceding fiscal year. The total amount of money secured by new Mortgages, Trust Deeds and Debentures during the past year is $211,542,789.35. The instruments entered upon the Register of Mortgages and Charges comprise 107 new Mortgages and Trust Deeds, 2 Memoranda of Satisfaction, 2 Appointments of Receiver and Manager, and 3 Debentures not covered by Trust Deeds.

The total number of companies which have submitted the summary prescribed by Section 106 of The Companies Act for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1921, up to and including March 31, 1922, is 3,604, which indicates an increase of 404, when compared with the number (3,200) submitted during the previous fiscal year. 413 delinquent returns for the fiscal years ended March 31, 1918, 1919, and 1920, were also received, making a total of 4,017 returns received during the past fiscal year.

Improvement continues to be noted in the manner in which the requirements of Section 106 of The Companies Act are being observed. Many companies, however, are still in default and should comply with the law without further delay. A considerable number of companies which filed returns during previous fiscal years have ceased to be subsisting companies and have been requested to surrender their charters for cancellation.

REPORT OF THE COMMISSIONERS

As required by Section 36 of the Civil Service Act, the Civil Service Commissioners respectfully submit the following report of the work of the Commission during the calendar year 1922.

Classification

Progress in Classification.—The task of classifying the Civil Service, imposed on the Commission by the Act of 1918, is now approaching completion. The only units to which classification has not yet been applied are the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment, the Soldier Settlement Board, and the Income Tax Branch of the Finance Department.

Considerable attention has been devoted to the classification of new positions, to reviewing positions for which departments claimed higher compensation, to revising specifications when necessary, and wherever possible abolishing special classes in order to simplify classification. At the end of 1922 there were 2,204 classes, a net increase during the year of 46, but to offset this increase about 100 classes will be deleted as no longer necessary.

Special Investigations.—The initial work of classifying the Service has been succeeded by that of maintaining the classification and of investigations of special cases, on which 1,709 reports have been prepared during the year. These reports, mainly on individual positions, deal with such questions as classification, compensation, and the provision of special allowances or rates to meet local conditions.

Reorganization

As a matter of routine an effort has been made to combine or abolish positions, where this can be done without the loss of efficiency. An example of the economy effected by this procedure may be found in the organization of the Commission itself, where, partly by readjustment of duties and partly by actual reduction in the volume of clerical work the staff has been reduced from 245 in October, 1921, to 173 on December 31, 1922.

Department of National Defence.—The work of reorganization of the Department of Militia and Defence, mentioned in last year's report, has been very materially increased by the passing of the National Defence Act of 1922. At the request of the Department the Commission undertook to combine the civil branches of the three units affected, and to lay down an establishment for the new organization. By December, 1922, 130 positions, rendered surplus by amalgamation and representing an annual cost of approximately $140,000, were abolished. These figures do not include the temporary employees of the Department of Militia and Defence who were retired under departmental arrangements.

The task was carried out with the fullest co-operation of the departmental officials concerned.

Department of Customs and Excise: Interior Changes.—The approval by Council on October 3, 1921, of an establishment for the ports and outports of the Department of Customs and Excise, necessitated new establishment lists now in course of preparation. In the administrative staff at Ottawa, the amalgamation of the Customs and Excise services necessitated certain revisions and adjustments in classes.

It is estimated that if mechanical methods for the collection and tabulation of customs statistics were installed an annual saving of at least $50,000 would be effected. This matter is now under consideration.

Department of Public Printing and Stationery.—A number of minor physical changes have been made, but the most noteworthy achievement has been the reduction in staff below the authorized establishment. On March 31, 1922, the staff numbered 742; on December 31, 1922, this number had been decreased to 635. The March figures were somewhat over establishment owing to the necessity for the retention of some extra mechanics to complete the work of organization. During the year 85 positions have become vacant or been abolished and only 8 new appointments made.

These reductions in staff have not decreased production. The cost rate to departments has been lowered to such an extent that a reduction in printing charges, estimated at more than $1,000,000, has been made, as well as a saving in salaries alone of over $200,000 per year.

Post Office Department.—At the termination of the contract with Griffenhagen and Associates, it was found that the Financial Branch of the Post Office Department had been left in a very unsettled condition, and at the request of the Postmaster General, the Commission undertook, in conjunction with departmental officers, to restore order. With a view to the installation of improved office methods and staff reductions a thorough survey has been made of the seven divisions of the branch (Revenue, Money Order, Postal Note, Postage Stamp, Savings Bank, Expenditure, and Salary Warrant), and a report submitted to the Postmaster General. The recommendations, if put into operation, will greatly improve the service, will render surplus 75 positions and save $45,000 annually. It is proposed to deal similarly with the Secretary's Branch, the Postal Service Branch, and the Equipment and Supply Branch.

As a result of a study of the mechanical transport problems in Toronto, it was found practicable to reduce, almost by half, the number of mail transportation trucks. The garage and office records were thoroughly overhauled and a complete set of forms installed giving the Post Office Department an absolute check on its automobile transportation work in Toronto. An extension of this principle to other large centres is contemplated.

General Observations.—While, during the four and a half years in which the Act has been in operation, the primary work of classification is nearing completion and much reorganization has been done, there are many questions of reorganization which should be carefully considered. Three examples are given below:—

(1) In six of the government departments there are major engineering branches employing from fifteen engineers and assistants, to hundreds of various grades. In one department alone there are five such independent branches with heads reporting directly to the deputy minister, which might well be consolidated under one chief engineer. In the opinion of the Commission the question of amalgamation and consolidation of considerable portions of related engineering services of various departments should be kept in mind, with a view to increased efficiency, united effort and reduced cost.

(2) Steps might be taken towards a consolidated accounting service, including a pre-audit section, which would handle accounting work for all government departments.

(3) A large saving in staff could be made by a comprehensive consideration of the housing problem for each individual department. It has been observed that in many departments employees performing routine work necessitating constant supervision are, of necessity, placed in small rooms; had large rooms been provided fewer employees would have been necessary.

It is undoubtedly a difficult matter to accommodate properly the constantly fluctuating staffs of government departments, but the Commission considers that a considerable saving in staff could be effected by a careful study of space requirements when new buildings for accommodating large staffs are planned.

EXAMINATIONS

General Figures.—During the year 1922 the Commission conducted 1,370 Civil Service examinations, at which 15,000 persons were examined; 6,442 of these were certified for employment in the service; 686 were certified for promotion; and 273 for transfer. Of the 6,442 certified for employment 2,320 were appointed to positions of a permanent nature, either as additions to the staffs of the various departments, owing to increase of work, or as replacements to fill vacancies in these staffs caused by death, resignations, etc.; 4,122 of the 6,442 were assigned for employment of a purely temporary nature.

As in previous years, the generous assistance given the Commission in preparing and rating examination papers by officers of the various departments, and by professional, scientific and business men in the outside world has enabled the cost of such a large number of examinations to be reduced to a remarkably low figure; the entire expenses for the year for such outside examiners being less than $1,250.

The acknowledgments of the Commission are particularly due to those whose names are given on pages xiii and xiv, the majority of whom served as members of Advisory Examining Boards without remuneration of any kind, and through whose active interest and unselfish work the merit system has been made workable and effective.

Examination Subjects.—The general factors in the examinations have been the candidates' education, training and experience, their technical or special knowledge as required, and in certain cases their personal qualifications and capacity for work of a supervisory or executive nature. Added to these, the usual investigations have been made as to the candidates' physical fitness and their honesty and reliability.

A Popular Misconception.—To the minds of many, the words "Civil Service examination" unfortunately convey the impression of an academic, schoolroom test, at which those candidates, otherwise well qualified, who have been away from their books for a considerable period, may suffer a material disadvantage.

This is a misconception. The examinations of the Commission are, as far as possible, eminently practical tests designed to bring out the ability and qualifications of the candidates for the type of position for which they are applicants. Candidates for high grade administrative, technical and executive positions are no longer tested only by their memory of text book facts. They are asked to send in certified statements of their training and experience, together with their published books or articles, and may also be asked to submit a thesis on some problem intimately connected with the work to be undertaken. Important positions have been satisfactorily filled in this way, and men of standing and reputation have been glad to enter examinations of such a nature.

Civil Service examinations have come to mean, not red tape and academic impracticabilities, but the application to the public service of employment methods used more and more successfully and more and more extensively in private business.

A Sample Examination.—In August, 1922, the Commission was asked to select a number of swine graders and junior swine graders for work in connection with the swine grading policy of the Department of Agriculture. The competition was thrown open to the whole country. The nature of the positions was such that an examination based solely upon a written paper would not have been satisfactory. With the co-operation of officers of the Department of Agriculture, therefore, a more practical examination was devised. Arrangements were made in different centres throughout the Dominion to have the candidates assembled in railway stockyards at which swine of various grades were available, and in the presence of local examining boards, composed of recognized swine experts and representatives of the Department and of the Commission, the candidates were required to go through the actual operation of grading the various types of animal present. The sworn statements of education and training submitted by the applicants were also rated by the same examining boards. The result was the selection of a fine type of swine graders, satisfactory not only to the departmental officials concerned, but to the producing and marketing public as well.

Oral Examinations.—In certain types of positions, such as those entailing executive or supervisory ability, the personal qualifications of the candidates are of undoubted importance. In such cases candidates have been given oral examinations, the examining boards endeavouring to standardize the test questions given each applicant, so that the selection may rest upon an equitable and impartial basis. Some of the important competitions in connection with which oral examinations have been held are: Junior trade commissioners and statisticians, Department of Trade and Commerce; research engineers, Department of the Interior; district architects, Department of Public Works; live stock promoters, fruit transportation specialists, and swine graders, Department of Agriculture.

Examinations to Test General Intelligence and Ability.—While the Commission, in common with other examining bodies, has during the past year conducted investigations into the so-called "intelligence" or psychological tests, it has proceeded cautiously in the application of these tests to the ordinary types of examination. Several of the examinations for clerical and stenographic positions, have, however, included questions designed to test the applicants' ability to follow directions accurately, to think clearly on simple problems and to use ordinary common sense in the execution of the duties of the position. By comparison with subsequent performance records, these tests, to this extent, have proven of value.

Objects of Examinations.—In accordance with the letter and principles of the Civil Service Act, the Commission has endeavoured to instill a spirit of reasonable competition into every examination; its aim being to provide Canadians with a fair opportunity to compete for positions in their public service, as well as to secure for that service the candidates best qualified to enter and advance therein.

Promotions in the Service.—In accordance with the provisions of the Civil Service law, vacancies in the service, so far as has been consistent with its best interests, have been filled by promotions from the junior grades.

The factors on which selections are based in promotion examinations include the work records of the applicants, their length of service and their fitness for the duties of the position for which they are applying. In all cases reports are obtained from the departmental officials under whom the candidates have been working, and where necessary a written examination on the duties to be performed is also given. The results have been that the officers of the department best qualified to select the employee to be promoted have been given a fair opportunity to express their choice, while almost uniformly the candidates themselves are well satisfied, inasmuch as they realize that the principle of "a fair field and no favours" is now in effect to a much greater degree than heretofore. The Commission regrets that in a few isolated cases departmental officials have not co-operated with the Commission in promotion examinations as much as they might have, but on the whole the year's record of promotions has been a satisfactory one. Among the important positions in the service which have been filled by promotion have been the following:—

Fruit Commissioner, Department of Agriculture.

Collectors of Customs and Excise at Fort William, Ont., and Quebec, P.Q., Department of Customs and Excise.

Comptroller of Currency, and Secretary of the Department, Department of Finance.

Secretary, Department of the Interior.

Warden, New Westminster Penitentiary, Department of Justice.

Director of Employment Service, Department of Labour.

Secretary, Post Office Department.

Chief Engineer, Department of Public Works.

Secretary, Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Trade Commissioners to Mexico and at Bristol, England, and Junior Trade Commissioners at New York, N.Y., and Shanghai, China, Department of Trade and Commerce.

Preference to Returned Soldiers.—The preference prescribed by law for returned soldiers and sailors has been faithfully observed, as well as the special preference provided by the Civil Service Amendment Act of 1921 in favour of pensioners who were unable to resume their pre-war avocations and who have not been otherwise re-established. During the year 2,837 veterans of the Great War have been certified by the Commission for employment in the service; 1,261 of them being absorbed in positions of a permanent nature. Among the latter were a considerable number of disability cases who were unable to re-establish themselves in the outside world but who are quite fit to function efficiently in the positions to which they have been assigned.

Rural Postmasterships.—The system of co-operation between the Post Office Department and the Commission, whereby the qualifications of the applicants for the more important rural postmasterships are investigated by personal interview, has been continued during the past year with very satisfactory results.

Competitions for Local Positions.—It has been possible, during the past year, largely owing to the co-operation of the departments, to apply the principle of competition to positions of a local nature to a much more extensive degree than heretofore. The policy of the Commission has been to hold local competitions in all cases where there appears to be any likelihood of continuance of the position, and when the departments have found it necessary to engage help in cases of emergency, they are empowered to do so for a period of thirty days under the provisions of the law. For positions continuing for a longer period, the principle of competition has been successfully applied.

On the whole, the attitude of the departmental officials in such selections has been praiseworthy, a desire being evident to secure the best men available for the country's service, but in a few individual cases the Commission regrets to observe that there is still apparently a tendency to create positions in the hope of providing employment for needy friends, rather than for the sole reason that additional work requires additional help. The Commission has fortunately been able to intervene successfully in the majority of such cases, though in so doing it naturally has incurred the hostility of the departmental officer concerned as well as of the person for whom the position was designed.

Appointment on Probation.—Section 13 of the Civil Service Act provides that "the deputy head may at any time before the expiration of six months reject any person assigned or appointed to any position under his control or direction." The Commission regrets that fuller advantage of this clause of the law is not taken by the various departments. The entrance examination taken by the employee is only one test of his efficiency and fitness for the position to which he has been assigned, and the rejection by departmental officials of employees who do not prove satisfactory is often not only in the interests of the service but of the employees themselves, who thereby realize that the efficient performance of the duties of their positions is the only safeguard to their retention in them. Many a square peg in a round hole would have been a better civil servant if he had been reallocated during the probationary period of his career, instead of being permitted to remain in a position for which he was not suited.

Efficiency Ratings.—During the year the Commission made progress in the development of a standard system of rating and recording the efficiency of the various government employees, and recommended to the Governor General in Council that such a system be installed.

New Regulations.—New regulations based upon the changes in the law and upon the experience gained in the last four years have been drafted and submitted to the Governor General in Council for approval. These the Commission believes will do much to remove some of the present "red tape" and to render the procedure between the Commission and the departments more expeditious and effective.

Examination Manuals.—The following manuals regarding Civil Service examinations are available to the public:—

A—Information respecting Civil Service examinations.

B—Information respecting technical positions in the Civil Service.

C—Information respecting promotions in the Civil Service.

Expressions of Appreciation.—The following extracts from letters which have been received are expressive of a spirit of co-operation and confidence which is much appreciated by the Commission:—

From a departmental official.—"Permit me to express our thanks for the consideration shown us in this matter by the Commission."

From an examination candidate.—"I desire at this time without having any knowledge whether I have been successful in passing the examination or otherwise, to extend to you my most sincere expressions of appreciation and satisfaction for the very cordial treatment accorded me. I wish to emphasize that I cannot conceive how a competition of this nature could have been carried out under more ideal conditions, or that it could be possible for candidates to wish more fair consideration."

The Operations of P.C. 2958

Reference was made in the last report of the Commission to an Order in Council passed on December 16, 1920, (P.C. 2958) to enable permanency to be granted to certain temporary employees who either had passed no qualifying examination or, if qualified, had not been reached on the eligible lists, but who had by faithful and efficient service shown their fitness and ability to perform the duties required of them. The responsibility of recommending the employees to benefit by this concession was placed upon the respective deputy ministers who were required to certify that the provisions of the Order in Council were satisfied. These recommendations were approved by the Commission except in cases where in the opinion of the commissioners the said provisions had not been complied with, and the Commission reported their findings to the Governor in Council with whom final action rested.

Practically all departments had made their final recommendation by the end of 1922 and the results are as follows:—

Total number recommended by the deputy ministers, 6694, of whom 1645 were subsequently withdrawn, leaving 5049 to be dealt with. The Commission endorsed 4001 of these recommendations and 3171 were approved by His Excellency in Council and granted permanency while 830 are still before Council. Of the remaining 1048, 617 were reported on investigation to be ineligible, 37 have died or resigned and 394 were in course of investigation at the close of the year.

These figures may be summarized as follows:—

Superannuation

Nearly a Thousand Retirements.—During the past year 375 retirements have been effected through the operation of the Public Service Retirement Act, bringing the total retirements under the Act, since it came into force in July, 1920, to 957. Of those retired in 1922, 146 were seventy years of age or over; 72 were between sixty-five and seventy years of age, and 157 were under sixty-five years; the majority of these last being retired on account of ill health or lack of employment. Of the 375 vacancies created by these retirements 247 have been or are to be filled and the remaining 128 have been abolished. Of the 247 vacancies thus created the majority were filled by promotion and in many cases the position at the bottom of the line abolished. The saving in salaries effected in the 128 positions abolished has amounted to $194,042.02 annually, while as the salaries paid the new incumbents in the remaining positions were the minimum of the class as provided by the Civil Service Act, a considerable further saving was effected.

Fewer appeals against retirement were brought before the Board during the past year, only 30 in all being filed. Of these 11 were not allowed and in the remaining 19 cases the recommendation for retirement was withdrawn by the department.

Payments of retiring allowances are made in three ways. Each employee retired received one month's notice and one month's salary gratuity or two months' salary gratuity in lieu of notice. Under this heading $86,359.42 has been paid during the last twelve months. According to age and length of service employees receive a retiring annuity or a retiring gratuity. Accordingly $75,249.67 has been paid in lump sum gratuities, and the annual cost of annuities granted during the year was $141,350.53. In seventeen cases a double gratuity was granted on account of physical disability or protracted ill health incurred during the period of service.

An amendment was made to the Act at the last session of Parliament which enabled the Commission to give special consideration to certain cases where unusual circumstances warranted exceptional treatment. In twenty instances the application of this amendment removed anomalies which could not have been overcome otherwise.

What of the Future?—The Public Service Retirement Act has been in operation for two and a half years, 957 retirements have been effected thereby and a separate report with full details has been presented to Parliament each session as required by the Act. As it stands at present, however, the Act will cease to operate on July 1 next, but on two previous occasions Parliament has seen fit to extend its lease of life each time in anticipation of the early introduction of a permanent scheme for retirement for which moreover there has been a long sustained and ever-increasing agitation within the ranks of the service itself. It may therefore be pertinent to briefly set forth here a few observations on the working of the present tentative measure.

A survey of the service has disclosed the fact that at present there are over 900 employees of 65 years of age and over who do not contribute to any Superannuation Fund and just below this age line are approximately another 900 employees between the ages of 60 and 65, who are also unprovided for so far as superannuation is concerned, and further the great majority of the personnel—viz., those under 60 years of age—are not under any superannuation scheme whatever. Could the case for a permanent superannuation measure be more concisely or convincingly presented?

The attitude of mind of civil servants towards retirement has changed appreciably since the Public Service Retirement Act came into force in 1920. Instead of retirement being looked upon with dread it has proven a boon to many and it is believed that a superannuation scheme will prove one of the best means of promoting efficiency in the service. No system of classification or improved methods of administration will be operated satisfactorily in the Civil Service until a comprehensive measure of superannuation is in force. The advantages of superannuation in the public interest are apparent inasmuch as it relieves the Government of the embarrassment and extravagance of retaining the services of officers who have outlived their usefulness; creates a proper flow of promotions; renders the service more mobile; deters efficient officers from leaving the public service for private employment where emolument and opportunity may be greater; helps to attract a better class of applicants for positions in the service, and in general tends to promote efficiency in every way.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. J. ROCHE, Chairman.

M. G. LaROCHELLE,

CLARENCE JAMESON,

Commissioners.

Under-Secretary of State, Report of..... 5

To General His Excellency the Right Honourable Lord Byng of Vimy, G.C.B., G.C.M.G., M.V.O., Governor General and Commander-in Chief of the Dominion of Canada.

My Lord:

I have the honour to lay before Your Excellency the annual report of the Department of External Affairs for the year 1921-22.

I have the honour to be, My Lord,

Your Excellency's obedient servant,

W. L. MACKENZIE KING,
Secretary of State for External Affairs.

Ottawa, October 31, 1922.

REPORT OF THE UNDER-SECRETARY OF STATE FOR EXTERNAL AFFAIRS

The Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, C.M.G., M.P.,
Secretary of State for External Affairs,
Ottawa.

Sir,—I have the honour to submit my annual review of matters dealt with by the department during the past year.

European War

The Peace settlement has been advanced by the ratification on July 26, 1921, of the Peace Treaty with Hungary, and of the Treaty with Roumania respecting Bessarabia on April 14, 1922. As to the Peace Treaty signed with Turkey on August 10, 1920, it has become evident that its terms will require modification and fresh negotiations for this purpose will have to be undertaken.

Germany having made default in meeting her obligations under the Treaty of Versailles, a conference of the inter-Allied Governments was held in London, as an outcome of which a protocol was signed by Great Britain, Belgium, France, Italy and Japan on May 5, 1921, modifying annex 2 to part 8 of the Treaty of Versailles so as to enable the reparation commission to adopt a new schedule of payments to be made by Germany.

Conferences at Genoa and the Hague

An Economic and Financial Conference was assembled at Genoa at the invitation of the Italian Government to consider the question of the economic reconstruction of Central and Eastern Europe. Sir Charles Gordon, G.B.E., and Professor Edouard Montpetit, K.C., LL.D., were appointed to represent Canada at the conference, which met on April 10 and terminated May 19, 1922. All the European countries, except Turkey, were represented, as was also Japan; the British delegation included representatives of Australia, South Africa and India, as well as of Canada. No very tangible results were obtained and invitations were extended to the powers represented, with the exception of Germany and Russia, to a subsequent Conference at the Hague on June 15, 1922, further to consider the question. At this latter conference Canada was represented by Professor Montpetit.

Washington Conference

In an effort to promote the establishment and maintenance of a general condition of peace, the President of the United States suggested to the Principal Allied and Associated Powers participation in a conference on the subject of the limitation of armament, and the suggestion being favourably entertained issued formal invitations to those powers to such a conference to be held on November 11, 1921, at Washington. The question of limitation of armament being closely related to Pacific and far Eastern problems, it was proposed that these should also be considered; and as being interested in this aspect of the conference, Belgium, China, the Netherlands and Portugal were also invited to take part. Canada was represented at the conference by the Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Borden.

As a result of its deliberations, which continued until February 6, 1922, the following treaties were on that date approved and signed at its closing session:—

1. Treaty between the United States of America, the British Empire, France, Italy, and Japan limiting Naval Armament.

2. Treaty between the same powers regarding the use of submarines and noxious gases in warfare.

3. Treaty between the United States of America, the British Empire, France, Italy, Japan, Belgium, China, the Netherlands, and Portugal relating to principles and policies to be followed in matters concerning China.

4. Treaty between the same nine powers relating to Chinese customs and tariff.

In addition there were notified to the conference the following treaties concluded during its session:—

5. Treaty between the United States of America, the British Empire, France, and Japan signed December 13, 1921, relating to their Insular Possessions and Insular Dominions in the Pacific ocean.

6. Treaty supplementary to the foregoing signed February 6, 1922.

7. Treaty between China and Japan signed February 4, 1922, providing for the restoration to China of rights and interests in the province of Shantung.

A series of resolutions was further adopted regarding the appointment of a Commission of Jurists to consider the amendment of the Laws of War; the creation of a Board of Reference to consider questions connected with the Chinese treaty; and relating to various other matters connected with the policy to be adopted in regard to China. The above treaties 1 to 6 were signed by the Canadian Plenipotentiary, have been approved by the Canadian Parliament and ratified by His Majesty, and only the exchange of ratifications remains to be effected.

Assembly on the League of Nations

The second assembly of the League of Nations was summoned by the President of the Council and convened at Geneva on September 5, 1921; Canada being represented by the Rt. Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice, and the Hon. Sir George Perley, K.C.M.G., High Commissioner in London. The Judges and Deputy Judges of the Permanent Court of International Justice were duly elected in accordance with the provisions of the instrument creating that body. Esthonia, Latvia and Lithuania were admitted to membership in the League. Amendments were voted to the following articles of the Covenant of the League:—

Article 4, regarding the selection of members for non-permanent representation on the Council; Articles 12, 13 and 15, so as to provide for the submission of disputes to the Permanent Court of International Justice; Article 16, regarding the economic blockade; and Article 26, to require a three-fourths majority for the adoption of amendments to the Covenant.

Resolutions were also adopted in regard to the reduction of armaments and the application of the economic means of pressure provided by Article 16 of the Covenant.

International Labour Conference

The third International Labour Conference met at Genoa on October 25, 1921, Canada's representatives being, for the Government, Mr. Gerald H. Brown, Assistant Deputy Minister of Labour, and Mr. J. Obed Smith, Superintendent of Immigration, London; for the employers, Mr. S. R. Parsons; and for the workers, Mr. Tom Moore. The Hon. W. R. Rollo, Minister of Labour of Ontario, the Hon. T. H. Johnson, Attorney General of Manitoba, the Hon. A. G. Galipeault, Minister of Public Works and Labour of Quebec, Messrs. F. Roy, E. Blake Robertson and Arthur Martel, also attended as technical advisers.

Recommendations were adopted by the Conference regarding (1) the prevention of unemployment in agriculture, (2) the protection of women wage-earners in agriculture, (3) night work of women in agriculture, (4) night work of children and young persons in agriculture, (5) the development of technical agricultural education, (6) living-in conditions of agricultural workers, (7) social insurance in agriculture, (8) the application of weekly rest in commercial establishments; and further, seven draft Conventions were adopted: (1) concerning the age for admission of children to employment in agriculture, (2) rights of association and combination of agricultural workers, (3) workmens' compensation in agriculture, (4) regarding the use of white lead in painting, (5) the application of weekly rest in industrial undertakings, (6) fixing the minimum age for admission of young persons to employment as trimmers and stokers, (7) compulsory medical examination of children and young persons employed at sea.

CONFERENCE AND CONVENTION REGARDING THE WHITE SLAVE TRAFFIC

Canada was also represented by Mr. J. Obed Smith, Canadian Superintendent of Immigration in Great Britain, at a conference on traffic in women and children at Geneva summoned to meet on June 30, 1921, at the instance of the League of Nations. An Act was adopted by the conference embodying resolutions and recommendations urging the adhesion of as many states as possible to the conventions for suppressing this traffic and the making more effective of the legislative measures for such suppression and for the protection of women and children.

The assembly of the League of Nations having considered these recommendations at its meeting in September, 1921, drew up a convention to carry them into effect which was signed by many of the representatives, including Canada's representative, the Rt. Hon. C. J. Doherty. This convention is to come into force in respect of each party on the deposit of its ratification or act of accession. The deposit of the King's ratification on behalf of Canada was made on June 28, 1922.

General Conference on Weights and Measures

The sixth General Conference on Weights and Measures was held at Paris in September-October, 1921, Canada being represented by Mr. J. E. Sears, Deputy Warden of the Standards of the Imperial Board of Trade. An International Convention amending the convention of May 20, 1875, regarding the Metric System, was signed at Sevres, October 6, 1921, and awaits ratification.

International Seed Control Congress

On the invitation of the Danish Government a Canadian representative was appointed in the person of Mr. George H. Clark, Seed Commissioner of the Department of Agriculture, to attend the International Seed Control Congress at Copenhagen in June, 1921. The object of the congress was to arrive at a mutual agreement as to technical methods to be adopted to insure uniformity of results as regards testing of seeds for purity and germination.

Other Conferences

At the thirteenth International Geological Congress held at Brussels from the 10th to the 19th August, 1922, Canada was represented by Mr. Charles Camsell, Deputy Minister of Mines, and at the Pan-American Conference of Women at Baltimore in April, 1922, by Mrs. Ritchie England, M.D.

Pursuant to a recommendation of the Conference of Prime Ministers held in 1921, a conference of representatives of the Patent Offices of the Empire was assembled at the Patent Office, London, in June, 1922, to consider the practicability of instituting a system of granting patents which should be valid throughout the Empire, Mr. W. J. Lynch, I.S.O., being the Canadian representative.

A scheme was approved by the conference, but until it should be generally accepted by the different portions of the Empire, a provisional scheme for immediate adoption was also recommended. This provisional scheme Canada has not seen her way to adopt.

ADDITIONAL TREATIES

Note might also be made of ratifications of treaties heretofore signed and of negotiations of recent treaties additional to those adopted by the various international conferences as follows:—

Ratification of the protocol declaring acceptance of the statute of the Permanent Court of International Justice was given on July 16, 1921.

Canada's ratification of the Principal Postal Union Convention signed at Madrid November 30, 1920 with final protocol, was deposited with the Spanish Government at Madrid December 1, 1921.

The Convention for the regulation of Aerial Navigation signed at Paris October 13, 1919, by the representatives of some thirty-three states, including Canada, was ratified by His Majesty on June 1, 1922. The protocol of ratification deposited with the French Government at Paris contained a clause reserving liberty to delay the application of Article 5 of the treaty forbidding the flight of aircraft of non-contracting powers over the territory of contracting powers in favour of certain of such non-contracting powers.

With Canada's concurrence the convention regarding the non-fortification and neutralization of the Aaland islands concluded at Geneva October 20, 1921, between the British Empire, Germany, Denmark, Esthonia, Finland, France, Italy, Latvia, Poland, and Sweden in accordance with a recommendation of the Council of the League of Nations, was ratified on April 6, 1922.

The Franco-Canadian Trade Agreement of 1921 was in response to representations from the French Government extended by Order in Council of February 23, 1922, to apply to Algeria, the French Colonies and Possessions, the territories of the Protectorate of Indo-China, and the territories of the Saar Basin.

Real and Personal Property Convention with the United States

The United States Supreme Court having decided that British subjects resident in Canada were excluded from the benefits conferred by the convention regarding the disposal of real and personal property of March 2, 1899, a supplementary convention to extend the application of the first named convention to the Dominion was negotiated and signed at Washington, October 21, 1921, ratifications being exchanged June 17, 1922.

Conventions were signed at London on May 1, 1922, and ratified July 28, 1922, with Denmark and with Iceland renewing for a further period of five years from May 4, 1921, the Arbitration Convention signed with Denmark on October 25, 1905.

Declaration Recognizing the Right to a Flag of States having no Sea-Coast

This declaration was agreed to on April 20, 1921, at the general conference on Freedom of Communications and Transit held at Barcelona. Canada took no part in the conference nor in the conclusion of any of the treaties negotiated at it, but decided to accede to the declaration by notice given after its ratification. The notice was duly given on October 24, 1922.

Revival of Treaty with Hungary

Formal notice was given in accordance with the provision of Article 224 of the Peace Treaty with Hungary on October 23, 1921, to revive the treaty signed at Vienna on December 3, 1873, and the declaration signed at London June 26, 1901, between Great Britain and Austria-Hungary for the mutual surrender of fugitive criminals.

Peace Commission Treaties with Chile and Peru

The treaty with Chile for the establishment of a Peace Commission signed March 28, 1919, was with Canada's concurrence terminated as from April 4, 1922, by an exchange of notes in the view that the establishment of the League of Nations sufficiently insured the ends at which it aimed, and on the same ground it was decided not to proceed to the ratification of the similar treaty signed with Peru on July 16, 1920.

RELATIONS WITH THE UNITED STATES

Passing to our relations with the United States it might be noted that as action by Congress necessitated the discontinuance of the privileges extended to Canadian fishing vessels in entering and clearing from United States ports during the war, these privileges were withdrawn as from July 15, 1921. Canada in like manner felt obliged to withdraw similar privileges granted to United States fishing vessels under the War Measures Act, but decided to make available to such vessels visiting ports on the Atlantic coast modus vivendi licenses under the Act to protect the customs and fisheries.

The Sockeye Salmon Treaty of 1919, after amendment to meet the objections of the United States Senate had again been submitted to that body. As no progress had been made in regard to it, it was again withdrawn by the President. Direct negotiations were then taken up between the Canadian fishery officials and the Fisheries Board of the State of Washington looking to a settlement of the question of protecting the Fraser river salmon fishery, but it became plainly apparent that a satisfactory arrangement could only be effected by a formal treaty.

Development of the St. Lawrence River

The International Joint Commission in January, 1922, submitted to the two Governments its report on the reference made to it on January 21, 1920, of certain questions relative to the development of the navigation and power capacities of the St. Lawrence river between Montreal and lake Ontario. The report expressed preference for a scheme of improvement recommended by the Board of Engineers appointed by the two Governments, but advised that this scheme should be submitted to further examination and study. It also made recommendations as to the basis on which the capital cost of the undertaking and the cost of maintenance and operation should be apportioned between the two countries.

Pecuniary Claims Convention

Meetings of the tribunal under this convention were held at Washington between November 23 and December 13, 1921, at which decisions were pronounced in the cases of the following claims in which Canada is interested:—

In the matter of the Favourite, damages were awarded against the United States Government for three thousand one hundred and eighty-eight dollars ($3,188), together with interest on two thousand six hundred and eighty-eight dollars ($2,688) at four per cent (4%) from September 6, 1895 to April 26, 1912.

In the case of the Wanderer, similar damages for one thousand six hundred and three dollars and five cents ($1,603.05), with interest on six hundred and three dollars and five cents ($603.05) at four per cent (4%) from September 6, 1895 to April 26, 1912.

The claims of the United States in the cases of the Argonaut and Colonel Jonas H. French were dismissed.

The United States claim in respect of the David J. Adams was also disallowed, although compensation to the owner of the vessel as an act of grace was recommended.

In the cases of the sealing schooners Jessie, Thomas F. Bayard, and Pescawha, damages against the United States Government were awarded at one thousand five hundred and forty-four dollars ($1,544) for the first named; one thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars ($1,750) for the Thomas F. Bayard; and one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500) for the Pescawha.

In the case of the Kate, the damages against the United States were fixed at one thousand and eight dollars and five cents ($1,008.05), with interest at four per cent (4%) on five hundred and eight dollars and five cents ($508.05) from February 15, 1897 to April 26, 1912.

Quadripartite Fur Seal Treaty of July 7, 1911

The share derived by Canada under the provisions of this treaty from the sales in 1921 of skins taken on the United States rookeries amounted to $90,805.86, being 15 per cent of the value of some 31,000 skins sold. From the Japanese Government in June, 1922, the sum of $1,333.56 was received as proceeds of Canada's share of seal skins taken on Robben island in 1918-19-20. From the Russian authorities 12 skins were received as portion of Canada's share of skins taken in 1920 on the Commander islands. These authorities, however, contend that as the number of the Russian herd has fallen below 18,000 they are dispensed from delivering to Canada any share of skins taken. This view is not accepted by Canada.

There has been a slight falling-off during the past year in the business of the Passport Office, although it still continues in very considerable volume, something like 22,000 passports having been issued, the revenue received amounting to some $50,000.

I am happy to express my satisfaction with the manner in which the members of the staff have discharged their various duties.

I have the honour to be, sir,

Your obedient servant,

JOSEPH POPE,
Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs.

Ottawa, October 31, 1922.

REPORT

OF THE

DEPUTY MINISTER OF LABOUR

FOR THE

FISCAL YEAR ENDING MARCH 31, 1922

Minister of Labour.

Sir,—The depression in commercial activities which set in about the middle of the fiscal year ended March 31, 1921, and was the outstanding feature of industrial conditions of that year, continued substantially unchanged throughout the fiscal year 1921-22, and the problem of unemployment, which in the winter of 1920-21 had been for the first time the subject of action on the part of the Federal Government, again demanded federal attention during the winter of 1921-22. It will be recalled that food prices had in the summer of 1920 reached the highest level recorded and a decline began in July of that year. The decline continued throughout the fiscal year 1921-22, though in diminishing degree and not materially affecting fuel and rents. The price tendency at the close of the fiscal year 1921-22 did not afford ground for expecting a further material fall in prices in the immediate future.

The unemployment situation continued to be throughout the year a somewhat prominent feature of industrial conditions. As during the preceding year, federal aid was extended, but on a somewhat different basis. It will be recalled that during the winter of 1920-21 a federal grant was allowed in reimbursement of municipalities on account of expenditure incurred by a municipality in providing relief for unemployed persons and their dependents, and this aid was given without regard to the question if the province in which the municipality was situated had undertaken to assist the municipality to an equal or to any degree. Several provinces had as a matter of fact co-operated with the Federal Government and had assumed an equal moiety with that of the Federal Government in reimbursement of the municipalities, each authority bearing one-third of the expenditure, but in other provinces the unemployment situation had not been regarded by the Provincial Government as requiring action on its part. The federal plan for the winter of 1920-21 contained no provision for assisting a municipality with respect to work which might be undertaken by the local authorities specially for the purpose of relieving unemployment distress. Representations had during the summer of 1921 been received by the Government from various municipal authorities urging that federal co-operation should extend to such enterprises instead of being confined to partial reimbursement of municipalities on account of relief actually distributed to unemployed persons. This matter was, during the summer months of 1921, the subject of careful consideration and inquiry on the part of the Minister of Labour, and in October, 1921, an Order in Council, P.C. 3831, was passed which set forth the plan of federal assistance for the approaching winter, 1921-22. The federal proposals emphasized the view which had been maintained during the preceding winter that unemployment was "primarily a municipal responsibility, and in the second instance the responsibility of the province," but recognized "that because of the present situation being due to causes beyond the power of local, or even national control, Provincial and Federal Governments should co-operate with municipal authorities in (a) helping to create and provide employment, (b) where employment cannot be furnished to workmen who are willing to work, to aid in providing food and shelter for themselves and dependents until the present emergency period is past"; also "that federal funds used for unemployment relief or for relief work must be disbursed only through responsible municipal authorities, who in each case shall bear at least one-third of the total or extra cost".

Thus, in the relief scheme for the winter of 1921-22, the first place was given to relief to be afforded municipalities with regard to works undertaken by local authorities during the winter specially for the purpose of relieving unemployment. The federal authorities recognized the fact that ordinarily work in the building line undertaken during the winter months would cost both as to labour and material more than at other seasons, and the regulation accordingly provided that with regard to any such work undertaken by a municipality the Federal Government would reimburse the local authorities to the extent of one-third of the excess or winter costs. Provision was made for the reasonable protection of federal authorities with respect to the operation of this scheme. The plan of the preceding year for reimbursing municipalities to the extent of one-third on account of moneys expended for direct relief was continued; payment of the federal grant on either account was, however, to be conditional on the Provincial Government concerned undertaking an equal responsibility, the federal policy for the winter of 1920-21 not having insisted on this condition. The necessary arrangements for putting this policy into effect were accordingly taken up by the Department of Labour with the Governments of the several provinces.

On December 29, 1921, a new administration acceded to power, and on January 25, 1922, a further regulation, P.C. 191, was made with regard to unemployment matters. P.C. 191 agreed with earlier regulations in the view that the question of unemployment relief was "fundamentally a municipal and provincial responsibility" and that "the abnormal economic and industrial conditions now existing and arising in a measure out of the late war alone afford justification for action on the part of the federal authorities; that federal action must therefore supplement municipal and provincial efforts, must be designed on lines permitting close and effective co-operation with and supervision by municipal and provincial authorities, and must be proportioned by the efforts of those authorities". The scheme of federal co-operation laid down in P.C. 191 (January 25, 1922) varied at important points from that of P.C. 3831 (October 7, 1921), the degree of federal responsibility being substantially increased—the Federal Government assumed, for instance, one-half (instead of one-third) of the extra or winter cost with respect to public works undertaken by municipalities on account of unemployment, and one-half (instead of one-third) of the cost of relief afforded by municipalities to returned and unemployed ex-service men; this, of course, to be effective only as from date of regulation, viz., January 25, 1922. As in the case of P.C. 3831, payment of the federal grant was to be conditional on the Government of the province concerned assuming the proportion of responsibility laid down in the federal regulations. As during the preceding winter, unemployment was more pressing in some provinces than in others; some of the provinces accordingly invoked the federal scheme of co-operation while others did not. As the winter proceeded supplemental regulations were enacted by the Federal Government to meet emergencies which arose, particularly with respect to unemployed returned soldiers in Montreal and in Halifax.

The federal expenditures within the fiscal year totalled $500,000, but this sum included a portion also of federal disbursements on account of provincial and municipal expenditures during the winter of 1920-21, accounts for which had not been rendered within that fiscal year. On the other hand the larger portion of the federal liabilities for the winter of 1921-22 necessarily remained over for the succeeding fiscal year. Accounts from the various municipalities, which, under the system adopted, went to the provinces for approval before submission to the federal authorities, were at the time of writing only in part to hand, but the additional federal liability for the winter of 1921-22, and payable during the fiscal year 1922-23, may be estimated approximately at $800,000. Particulars with respect to the operation of the unemployment regulations and the text of the principal regulations are included in a chapter of the present report.

General Work of Department

Work proceeded during the year with respect to the several statutes and ordinances administered under the authority of the Minister of Labour. The statutes, etc., in question are as follows: (1) Conciliation and Labour Act, (2) Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, 1907, (3) Fair Wages Resolution of the House of Commons, 1900, (4) Employment Offices Co-ordination Act, (5) Technical Education Act. Reports of the operations for the year under these statutes are included in the present volume.

Record as to Industrial Disputes

With respect to the matter of industrial disputes, always that feature of the work of the department which brings it most conspicuously into the public eye and one which necessarily calls at times for the most strenuous and severe effort on the part both of the minister and officials, the record of the year is on the whole satisfactory. It should be noted that this record is maintained for the calendar year and not for the fiscal period, this plan being more convenient for matters of comparison with records of other countries. The figures of the actual time losses in working days, namely, 956,461, are somewhat larger than those of the preceding year, but the strikes involved were scattered over many industries and included no dispute which at any time proved a serious inconvenience to the public. The industry on which the time losses in working days fell with particular severity was that of printing, which accounted for 317,934 lost working days, or precisely one-third of the total of time losses. Although this strike was undoubtedly the occasion of much inconvenience to the trade, both as to employers and workers, and may have been the occasion of suffering in individual cases, it cannot be said that it caused serious trouble to the public. The industry is not a public utility and would not therefore fall within the scope of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act. The department none the less proffered its good offices to both parties, whether by way of the establishment, under clause 63, of a Board of Conciliation and Investigation or otherwise, but the dispute remained unsettled.

Other industries chiefly affected by industrial disputes included that of pulp and paper making to the extent of 201,346 lost working days, and the building and construction trades with time losses totalling 153,372.

The total of time losses for the year, 956,461, is sufficiently serious if these losses are regarded from a monetary point of view and averaged, conjecturally (for it is hardly practicable to obtain precise figures on the point), at $4 per day, representing thus a presumed loss in labour of $3,825,844. On the other hand, if we have regard to the presumed number of days worked during the year by industrial workers at large, it is found that, estimating the total number of workers in round figures at 1,500,000, and allowing 300 working days per year to each worker, the total possible number of days worked reaches the large figure of 450,000,000; the total of time losses throughout the country during the year on account of strikes was, therefore, somewhat less than one-four hundred and fiftieth part of the total number of days worked, the equivalent of one-third of one day per worker, a showing which, having in mind the widespread turbulence in the industrial world during recent years in practically all countries, speaks volumes for the relatively sound conditions characterizing Canadian industry in this respect. No more striking illustration of this fact can perhaps be shown than in contrasting the figures on this point for Canada with those for Great Britain with respect to the calendar year 1921. The time losses in Canada reached, as stated, the figure of 956,461; those for Great Britain for the same period were in excess of 80,000,000, or more than eighty times those of the Dominion, although proportionately to population the British figures should be no more than perhaps five to six millions. For United States the estimated time losses on account of strikes during the calendar year 1921 reached the impressive total of 53,196,997 work days, a figure again greatly out of proportion to the relative populations. Comparisons with other countries where figures are available are practically always to the advantage of Canada, though in varying degrees. It should be noted that the figures cited for possible number of days worked in the case of Canada are approximate only and have been made without regard to the unemployment factor, an uncertain proportion of the total of workers having been idle from this cause. The same applies with regard to figures cited in the case of other countries. No returns have been received by the department from any country estimating the number of days lost on account of unemployment, though in the case of countries in which a system of employment assurance prevails figures would be available showing the number of workers receiving unemployment allowance. The time losses on such account in the case of Great Britain would be of course greatly larger than the time losses from strikes, terribly high as were the latter in that country.

Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, 1907

Proceedings under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act for the year were along the usual lines. Of the 54 disputes dealt with during the year and as to each of which the applicants had declared their belief that a strike was threatened, the impending trouble was averted in all cases save one, that of a street railway in St. John, N.B. The record for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1922, brings the number of disputes dealt with under the statute since its inception, March 22, 1907, to 558. In 524 of these disputes the threatened strike was averted or ended, a Board having been in a few cases established after a strike had been declared; in 34 cases the threatened strike occurred despite the efforts, by means of Conciliation Boards or otherwise, of the department. A Board of Conciliation and Investigation is not, it will be remembered, necessarily established in the case of each application, an application being sometimes the result of an error in view on the part of the applicants; also the dispute involved is in some cases one which proves adjustable by the direct efforts of the department.

The Industrial Disputes Investigation Act continues to be the subject of study in many parts of the world, and inquiries continually reach the department. Correspondence of the department shows that in the United States the question of the legislation best adapted for dealing with industrial disputes is made frequently the subject of debate between rival college debating teams; many hundreds of inquiries reach the department in the course of a year, the correspondents usually desiring copies of the Canadian legislation, of which it is intimated much has been heard, and the fullest possible information as to its operation. Special steps are taken from time to time by way of issue of special bulletins, etc., to meet this demand.

From a communication which comes to hand at the time of writing it appears that in the Republics both of Mexico and Chile the Industrial Disputes Investigation

Act is under investigation. A Canadian, resident in Mexico, addressing the Rotary Club of the city of Mexico, closed what is described in the journal in which the report appears as "an interesting and timely address" with the following testimony to the efficacy of the legislation and methods of Canada:—

"The economic loss from strikes in the United States during the year 1920 was represented by 48,163,754 working days lost, and in Canada, during the same period, by a loss of 886,754 working days. In proportion to population this was in the ratio of four to one in favour of Canada.

"During the first six months of the year 1920, when all lines of industry were still severely suffering from the unrest and dislocation incident to the termination of the world war, the proportion of population affected by strikes and lockouts in Canada was much smaller than in any other industrial country in the world. The percentage of population so affected in the several countries, and which are the first post-war figures available, was as follows:—

Australia	6·81
Italy	4·85
Spain	3·50
Sweden	3·10
France	3·00
Germany	2·96
Belgium	2·34
Switzerland	1·86
Great Britain	1·70
United States	1·04
Holland	0·93
South Africa	0·69
Canada	0·49

"The President of the Republic of Chile has recently submitted to Congress a draft labour and social welfare code, with a request for its adoption at the earliest possible date, and which embodies the Canadian provisions for conciliation and arbitration in industrial disputes, but reserves the right to strike after all means of settlement by other methods have failed.

"It is therefore but reasonable to conclude that the method of dealing with industrial disputes by means of conciliation and arbitration, while recognizing the right to declare a lockout or call a strike after all means of conciliation have been exhausted, is the most successful solution of the industrial problem thus far evolved."

Testimony as to the wide reputation achieved by the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act was received also from Australia in the shape of a statement made in the Legislature of South Australia by Sir Henry Barwell, Prime Minister of that State, when introducing a new industrial code, the leading feature of which is the adoption with regard to industrial disputes of the principles and machinery substantially as embodied in the Canadian statute. The measure was introduced about the close of September. Premier Barwell dwelt at some length on what he believed to be the failure and breakdown of the system of compulsory arbitration. Sir Henry Barwell on this point remarked as follows:—

"The Government believed that the whole system of compulsory arbitration was fundamentally unsound. That it had led to a deplorable amount of litigation was beyond question. That fact alone, however, would not be sufficient to condemn it. If the existence of the courts, no matter how crowded they might be with litigants, had put an end to strikes, or even greatly diminished their number, one would hesitate before taking steps to abolish the system. But what did they find? The number of strikes had not diminished; it had very considerably increased since the system of compulsory arbitration was established. Again, far from improving the relationship between employer and employee, the system had been responsible for the utmost ill-will and bitterness between the two.

"Australia has been simply the home of strikes. There have been far more in Australia in proportion to the number of people than in any other country in the world. The system which this Bill is intended to abolish is called compulsory, but it is compulsory against one side only. The boast is often openly made that the penalties of the Arbitration Acts cannot be enforced against thousands of unionists as there are not gaols large enough to hold them. And this is true. The result of compulsory arbitration is frequent failure by employees to observe awards when they do not give them all they desire."

After examining various other aspects of the industrial code as it had in the past existed in South Australia, Sir Henry Barwell went on to state that,—

"His aim in drafting the Bill had been to provide some simpler and yet more effective method of adjusting working conditions—a system which would give every facility for employers and employees in particular industries to get together with a view to coming to agreement which could be mutually advantageous. He had looked to other parts of the world for a precedent, and he found that Canada had a system which had given the utmost satisfaction over a period of fifteen years. Under it sweating had disappeared, the relationship between employer and employee had improved, and strikes had been few indeed as compared with the number in Australia. It had been copied in South Africa, and also in some of the United States. Employers and a big majority of the general public of Canada favoured the system. The working people here were divided, some holding that they were sacrificing too much in giving up the right to the sudden strike. The freedom of the Canadian tribunal from the formal procedure, suggestive of the ordinary judicial court, was greatly in favour of the system, as saving of time and expense, and being conducive to an amicable adjustment of differences... The substance of the Bill was contained in Part III, which provided for the creation of Conciliation Boards to act as mediators between employers and employees in the event of an industrial dispute, and endeavour to bring the parties together, and secure a settlement of the dispute. The Bill did not apply to any but manual workers, skilled and unskilled. Its provision, therefore, did not apply to clerks, so that if there should happen to be a strike or a threatened strike on the part of clerks, there would be no power to set up Conciliation Boards to deal with the dispute. The reason for excluding clerks from the scope of the Bill was the same as the reason for excluding agricultural workers, namely, that there had never been a strike by clerks, and there was no reason to anticipate that there would be one. Every Conciliation Board would consist of three members —one appointed by the employers, one by the employees, and the third (the chairman) by the other two. In special cases where the minister thought the number of members on the board ought to be more than three he might require the employers and employees each to nominate any number of members up to five. The members of the board would be appointed only to deal with a particular industrial dispute, and they were, therefore, only to hold office until the report of the board on that dispute was signed and forwarded to the minister. The board would act only as mediator, and the representatives of the parties on the board would have no power to bind the persons who appointed them. The function of the board was to endeavour to bring about a real settlement—one which had the actual consent of both parties. If the board was able to bring about an agreement it was to be signed by the parties and filed with the Registrar of Conciliation Boards. It would then be binding on the parties who signed it, and on every member of any association of employers or employees which signed it, and would have much the same effect as regards the person bound by it as the determination of an industrial board had at present. If the dispute was not settled after a careful inquiry, the chairman was to make a full report to the Ministry of Industry, setting forth the facts of the dispute and the findings of the board, together with his recommendation for a settlement according to the merits and substantial justice of the case. The object aimed at was to create an enlightened public opinion upon the merits of the dispute, for it was recognized that even under the present system industrial disputes of any magnitude were usually determined by the decision of the tribunal of public opinion, and that the side which had not got the support of public opinion could not hope to succeed. Where the Conciliation Board was able to bring about a settlement, the Bill did not attempt to provide any magic formula of words which it was claimed would remove the impasse. The reason was that it was realized that in the nature of things there could not be any such remedy, and that, if both parties were determined to fight, the best method in the long run was to allow them to fight, taking care, however, to provide and instruct public opinion, which experience showed would inevitably make its influence felt in favour of one side or the other in the long run.... There was also in the Bill provision for a limited prohibition of strikes and lockouts. In the light of experience in this and other States where there had been an absolute legislative prohibition of strikes and lockouts, it would be foolish to expect that any absolute prohibition of strikes and lockouts would be likely to prevent those industrial offences altogether, or even to make any difference in the frequency of their occurrence. The Bill adopted what was considered to be the utmost that could be reasonably expected to be enforced in practice, namely, a prohibition under heavy penalties of any strike or lockout on account of any industrial dispute prior to or during a reference of such dispute to a Conciliation Board. The definition of 'strike' and 'lockout' was made wide enough to include the refusal on the part of any person bound by an industrial agreement to offer or accept employment on the terms of such agreement, and any person who so refused was deemed to do an act in the nature of a lockout or strike. The result of the provisions of the Bill was that the 'right to strike' was not affected, except where there was an actual dispute, and that dispute had not been submitted to and finally dealt with by a Conciliation Board, or where there was a repudiation of the terms of an industrial agreement on the part of one or another of the parties thereto during its continuance. If the mediation provided by a Conciliation Board failed, public opinion, after being enlightened officially as to the merits of the dispute, might still prevent a strike or a lockout, but otherwise there was no remedy provided by the Bill, nor was it possible to find one. Certainly no such remedy was provided by existing legislation."

Sir Henry Barwell's final reference to the Canadian statute was to the effect that "no industrial legislation in any other part of the world had stood so long or proved so successful in operation as the Canadian Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, 1907".

Other Branches of Work

In the special chapter of the report dealing with the fair wages work of the department is printed the text of an Order in Council, P.C. 1206, June 7, 1922, which is intended to secure a more effective observance of the fair wages policy. Although the new regulation falls outside the fiscal year covered by the present report, it is convenient to use the present occasion for making its provisions known.

The Labour Gazette has been printed regularly in French and English during the year and has become more and more widely recognized as a reliable source of official information on industrial matters in Canada, increasing evidence of this being found in the numerous quotations credited to its pages and appearing in other continental publications, official and non-official, interested in social and industrial questions.

The work of the Statistical Branch with reference to food prices continues to play an important part in the fixation of wage rates. Several bulletins issued by this branch with reference to wage returns have received large circulation and have been the subject of much inquiry.

No important change has marked the operations of the Employment Service Branch. There were at the close of the fiscal year 77 employment offices in the various provinces. The number of applications for employment reported during the year was 546,168, and the total number of placements effected was 363,475.

Technical education continues to show substantial development in most of the provinces, and the assistance afforded by the Federal Government under the Technical Education Act is undoubtedly an important influence to this end. The disbursements by the department during the year to the different provinces were $720,236.05. In the chapter of the present report discussing the operations of the Technical Education Act summaries are given of the work done in the respective provinces.

International Labour Conference

With regard to that phase of the work of the department arising out of the League of Nations International Labour Conference, it will be recalled that the terms of the Treaty under which this body was constituted called for a meeting of the Conference once a year; also the Governing Body, i.e., the executive of the Conference, meets under its own regulations not less frequently than once in three months. At the first meeting of the International Labour Conference held at Washington, D.C., in October-November, 1919, and at which the members of the Governing Body were first named, the appointment being for a period of three years, Canada was selected as one of the countries to be represented in the Government group, and the Minister of Labour, the Honourable G. D. Robertson, who had been one of the delegates in attendance at the Conference, was appointed by the Dominion Government as representing Canada in the group in question. The Honourable Mr. Robertson remained a member of the Governing Body until the change of administration in Canada in December, 1921, when the Honourable James Murdock, who succeeded to the portfolio of Labour, was appointed. The Governing Body, it will be recalled, consists of twenty-four members, twelve in the Government group, six in the employers' group and six in the workers' group, the membership in each group being selected by the delegates to the Conference. The period of three years covered by the first election will terminate in November, 1922, when in all likelihood the Fourth International Labour Conference will be in session, and a new election will presumably take place. Whether or not Canada will be again given a place in the Government group is not clear. It will be remembered that Canada was also given representation in the workers' group, Mr. P. M. Draper, Secretary of the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada, being selected by his fellow workers.

Four meetings of the Governing Body of the International Labour Office were held during the fiscal year, as follows: (1) April 12-14, 1921, at Geneva, Mr. W. L. Griffith, Secretary of the High Commissioner for Canada in London, England, being in attendance on behalf of the Dominion Government and in substitution for the Minister of Labour; (2) July 5-7, 1921, at Stockholm, Sweden, attended by Mr. F. A. Acland, Deputy Minister of Labour for Canada; (3) October 19-21 and November 11-18, 1921, at Geneva, attended by Mr. Gerald H. Brown, Assistant Deputy Minister of Labour for Canada; (4) January 17-19, 1922, at Geneva, attended by Colonel David Carnegie, Honorary Correspondent of the Department of Labour in London, England, and Canadian Delegate on the Temporary Mixed Commission for the Reduction of Armaments of the League of Nations, who was resident in Canada throughout the period of the war.

The third session of the International Labour Conference was held in Geneva, Switzerland, from October 25 to November 19, 1921, and was attended by a delegation from Canada, including representatives of Government, employers and workers, together with technical advisers for each group. The Government representatives were Messrs. Gerald H. Brown, Assistant Deputy Minister of Labour for Canada. and Lt.-Col. J. Obed Smith, Superintendent of Emigration for Canada, London, England, and the technical advisers were Honourable W. R. Rollo, Minister of Labour for the Province of Ontario; Honourable Thos. H. Johnson, K.C., Attorney General of Manitoba; Honourable Antonin Galipeault, Minister of Labour for the Province of Quebec, and Mr. Ferdinand Roy, K.C., Quebec, P.Q.

I have the honour to be, sir,

Your obedient servant,

F. A. ACLAND,

Deputy Minister of Labour and Registrar of Boards of Conciliation and Investigation.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOUR, OTTAWA.

I.—INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES INVESTIGATION ACT, 1907

FIFTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF PROCEEDINGS, BEING FOR THE FISCAL YEAR ENDING MARCH 31, 1922

Introductory Note

Proceedings under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, 1907, followed the customary lines during the fiscal year. The number of applications received was 54, and in 31 cases Boards of Conciliation and Investigation were established. The statute was, it will be remembered, enacted in March, 1907, and during the fifteen years closing with March 31, 1922. the disputes dealt with under its provisions number 558. Of the 54 disputes (including five carried over from the preceding year) dealt with during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1922, and as to each of which the applicants had declared a strike to be impending, the threatened strike was averted in all cases save one, that, namely, involving the St. John, N.B., street railway and its workers. Of the 558 disputes dealt with during the fifteen years covering the life of the statute and as to each of which the applicants for a Board of Conciliation and Investigation had declared a strike to be impending, the threatened strike was averted in 524 cases.

It will be observed that the number of disputes dealt with during the year exceeds considerably the number of Boards of Conciliation and Investigation established, the figures being 54 as against 31. In the 23 cases in which Boards of Conciliation and Investigation were not established, there was, as a rule, considerable departmental procedure on other lines than by way of establishing Boards of Conciliation and Investigation; no strike occurred in any case where, for any reason, it was not deemed desirable to establish a Board. In one case, a dispute involving railway workers, the employer having expressed a preference for procedure under the Conciliation and Labour Act, legislation which antedated the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, and the employees consenting to this procedure, the dispute was accordingly dealt with under the provisions of the older statute. The tribunals thus established, namely, in the first place a Committee of Conciliation, Mediation and Investigation, and in the second place a Board of Arbitrators, not ranking technically as Boards of Conciliation and Investigation, though serving the same purpose, are not included in the tables of Boards of Conciliation and Investigation printed herewith, though the application is properly included in the number of applications received.

The tribunal known as the Canadian Railway Board of Adjustment No. 1, which was established during the summer of 1918 to deal during the war with disputes between (a) Canadian Railways being members of the Canadian Railway Association and comprising practically all railways of importance in Canada and (b) six trades unions representing railway workers in the four running trades. namely, (1) Locomotive Engineers, (2) Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, (3) Conductors, and (4) Trainmen, also Railroad Telegraphers and Maintenance of Way Employees, continued its activities during the year. As provided by the agreement, disputes affecting the workers having membership in the unions concerned, were referred generally to the Canadian Railway Board of Adjustment No. 1 and were duly settled. One case, however, a dispute of unusual importance, affecting all the railways and practically all the membership of each of five of the unions concerned. the organization embracing maintenance of way employees not being a party to the dispute, was referred to a Board of Conciliation and Investigation and was duly dealt with and an agreement effected

* Including five cases left over from preceding year, as stated below.

The proceedings under the Act during the year include five cases in which certain proceedings had taken place during the preceding year, namely, disputes between (1) the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway and certain of its employees; (2) the Corporation of Ottawa and its firemen; (3) the Canadian National Railways and certain of its employees in the Stores Department, Fort Rouge, Winnipeg, Man.; (4) the Dominion Steel Company, Limited, Sydney, N.S., and its electrical workers, machinists, etc., and (5) the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, Limited, New Glasgow, and its tin workers, electrical workers, machinists, etc.

At the close of March, 1922, results were still pending in connection with six applications concerning disputes between (1) coal operators, members of Western Canada Coal Operators' Association, and certain of their employees, being members of District 18, United Mine Workers of America; (2) Algoma Eastern Railway Company, Sudbury, Ont., and various classes of its employees; (3) Dominion Power and Transmission Company, Hamilton, Ont., and its linemen, groundmen, etc.; (4) Dominion Power and Transmission Company and Hamilton Street Railway Company respectively and various classes of their employees; (5) Ottawa Electric Railway Company and certain of its employees, and (6) employers, members of the Canadian Building and Construction Industries, Ottawa Branch, and certain of their employees, being hod-carriers.

The figures contained in the above table may be thought to show discrepancies as compared with those appearing in the yearly summary. A closer examination will, however, show the respective statements to be in agreement. A complete statement of proceedings for a year must show all disputes dealt with during the fiscal year. The figures of the yearly statement include, therefore, disputes carried over from the previous year and which are counted in the summary of that year's proceedings. Thus the same dispute may properly figure in the annual statement for each of two years. In the statistical recapitulation covering several years, as above, it is necessary that no dispute shall be counted more than once, and account is taken of the number of applications received during the year and thus brought within the purview of the statute.

(1) MINING AND SMELTING INDUSTRY

(a) Coal Mines

Date of receipt of application	Parties to dispute	Party making application	Locality	No. of persons affected	Nature of dispute	Names of Members of Board: (c) Chairman: (e) Employer: (m) Employees	Date on which Board was constituted	Date of receipt of report of Board	Result of reference
Oct. 3, 1921	Dominion Coal Company and certain of its employees, being miners and mine labourers working at Nos. 6 and 7 Mines, Springhill, members of Local Union No. 4514, United Mine Workers of America.	Employees....	Springhill, N.S.....	165 dir., 12,200 indir.	Against reduction in wages and changes in working conditions.	.....	.....	.....	After the application had been received a representative of the department visited the locality and through his mediation negotiations between the disputants were renewed, resulting in a threatened strike being averted. The matter of the establishment of a Board was, therefore, left in abeyance.
Dec. 24, 1921	Dominion Coal Company, Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company and Acadia Coal Company and certain of their employees respectively, being members of District No. 26, United Mine Workers of America.	Employees....	Cape Breton Island, N.S.	10,000 dir... 3,000 indir..	Against reduction in wages.	U. E. Gillen, (c) 4; Col. W. B. Thompson, (e) 2; Jas. Ling, (m) 1.	Jan 6, 1922	Jan. 30, Jan. 31, 1922	The report was signed by the chairman and Colonel Thompson and contained recommendations as to settlement of the dispute. Mr. Ling presented a minority report. No strike occurred in this dispute but differences in an acute form continued and were the subject of much public discussion. Neither side formally accepted the findings of the Board and sometime after the close of the fiscal year the Board was re-convened, and the members of the same having, after assembling, resigned membership the Board was declared by the Minister to be defunct and a new Board was established to make a further investigation.
Mar. 21, 1922	Coal operators, being members of Western Canada Coal Operators' Association and certain of their employees, being members of District 18, United Mine Workers of America.	Employees....	Southern Alberta and South-eastern British Columbia.	9,000 dir.... 3,000 indir..	Wages and working conditions.	W. E. Knowles, K.C., (c) 4; R. G. Drinnan, (e) 1; H. Ostlund, K.C., (m) 1.	March 31, 1922	.....	Proceedings were unfinished at the close of the fiscal year, but looking slightly beyond the date in question it may be noted that the miners ceased work on March 31, the strike being undoubtedly involved with that declared on the same date in bituminous and anthracite mines of the United States and extending generally throughout all mines which had agreements with the U.M.W.A., such agreements terminating as in the case of that of District 18 on March 31. At the date of writing, (June, 1922) the strike continued both in the United States and in District 18 and bade fair to last for many weeks. Agreement covering District 26, Nova Scotia, had been of a special nature and had terminated during December, 1921.

(2) TRANSPORTATION AND COMMUNICATION

(a) Railways

March 17, 1921	Canadian National Railways and certain of its employees in the Stores Department, Fort Rouge, Winnipeg, being members of Victory Lodge No. 1326, Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees.	Employees....	Winnipeg, Man.....	10 dir ..... 100 indir....	Wages and dismissal of certain employees.	R. W. Craig, K.C., (C) 3; C. E. Dafoe, (E) 1; T. J. Murray, (M) 1.	May 17, 1921	June 9, 1921	This dispute was investigated by two special representatives of the department and as the result of their inquiries a Board was not immediately established, there being ground for the view that it would be settled by negotiations. Direct negotiations, however, failing, a Board was established and secured an agreement signed by representatives of both parties to the dispute.
April 25, 1921	Algoma Eastern Railway and its employees of various classes, members of Division No. 4, Railway Employees Department, American Federation of Labour.	Employees....	Sudbury, Ont.....	21 dir..... 30 indir.....	Wages.....	Rev. Father Brennan, (C) 4; Basil Campbell, (E) 2; Fred Bancroft, (M) 1.	May 30, 1921	July 5, 1921	The report was unanimous and was accompanied by letters from both parties to the dispute accepting the findings of the Board and advising that a settlement had been reached as a result of the Board's efforts; no strike occurred.
May 31, 1921	Canadian Pacific Railway and certain of its employees, being clerks, freight handlers, etc., members of Lodge No. 1506, International Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees.	Employees....	Port McNicoll, Ont.	200 dir..... 200 indir....	Wages.....	.....	.....	.....	It was decided that the dispute here in question did not involve the company named as employer, the company's business being operated through a contractor. Later an application involving the contractor, F. W. Nicholas, as employer was submitted. (See below.)

May 27, 1921	Canadian Pacific Railway Company and Grand Trunk Railway Company (including Canadian National Railways) and freight handling staffs, Montreal Wharf.	Employees	Montreal, Que.	500 dir. 3,000 indir.	Alleged breach of agreement.				Negotiations between the disputants were renewed as a result of departmental mediation and an adjustment was effected without Board reference.
June 6, 1921	Canadian Pacific Railway Company and Western Stevedore Company and certain of their employees, being freight handlers, etc., members of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees, Twin Lodge No. 605.	Employees	Fort William, Ont.	300 to 400	Wages.				The application was regarded as defective at important points. Also inquiry suggested that the differences had not yet reached the stage of a dispute within the meaning of the statute. No Board was established on this application, but later the matter was revived in an application which named the Western Stevedore Company alone as the employer. (See below.)
June 25, 1921	Canadian National Railways, Western Lines, and certain of its employees, being ditcher engineers, watchmen and firemen, members of the International Brotherhood of Steam shovel and Dredgemen.	Employees	C. N. System	46 dir. 96 indir.	Wages.				At the time this application was received the question of wage rates for all classes of railway employees was about to be considered and it was doubtful if the dispute came within the statute. The question of establishing a board was allowed to remain in abeyance for a while and the dispute passed away.
July 16, 1921	F. W. Nicholas and certain of his employees in the freight sheds at Port McNicoll, Ont., members of Lodge No. 1506, International Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees. Winnipeg, Man.....	53.....	Union recognition and alleged dismissal of certain employees.	.....	.....	.....	In the Minister's view the causes of this dispute were not such as brought the matter within the scope of the I. D. I. Act for adjustment; no strike occurred.
July 26, 1921	Canadian National Railways and certain of its employees, being clerks, freight handlers, roundhouse, shop and station employees, etc., members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railroad Employees.	Employees...	C. N. System.....	7,000.....	Against reduction in wages.	.....	.....	.....	The employing railway objecting to the establishment of a Board of Conciliation and Investigation under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act and favouring reference under the terms of the Conciliation and Labour Act, the dispute was dealt with under the last mentioned statute. (See below)
Aug. 2, 1921	Grand Trunk Railway Company and certain of its employees, being clerks, freight handlers, roundhouse and shop labourers, station employees, etc., members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railroad Employees. Sept. 16, 1921	Interim report Oct. 11, 1921. Agreement reached Jan. 18, 1922.	The Board presented an interim report, which was accompanied by a tentative agreement signed by representatives of the various railways and the various unions embracing the employees concerned. The agreement required that the Board should remain in existence until it was ascertained whether its services should be further desired in the event of a revision prior to July 15, 1922, of the schedule represented in the agreement. Pursuant to the recommendations of the interim report negotiations between the disputants were renewed and as a result an agreement was reached which rendered unnecessary further procedure before the Board. No strike occurred.
Aug. 22, 1921	Canadian National Railways and certain of its employees in the Mechanical Stores Department, Fort Rouge, Winnipeg, being members of Victory Lodge No. 1326, Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees.	Employees...	Winnipeg, Man.....	100.....	Against reduction in wages.	.....	.....	.....	In view of the fact that a Board had been established a few months earlier to deal with a dispute between these same parties concerning the same questions, it was considered that the establishment of another Board was not justifiable. No strike occurred.
Sept. 19, 1921	Toronto Union Station Company and certain of its employees, being assistant baggage agents, etc., members of Division No. 123, Canadian Brotherhood of Railroad Employees.	Employees...	Toronto, Ont.....	120.....	Against reduction in wages.	.....	.....	..... The agreement which accompanied the report of the said Board disposed of the points in this case.

Oct. 12, 1921	Canadian Pacific Railway, Canadian National Railways and Grand Trunk Railway, and their freight handlers in the Port of Montreal, members of Division No. 178, Canadian Brotherhood of Railroad Employees.	Employees...	Montreal.....	300 dir..... 1,850 indir.	In protest against alleged violation of agreement.	.....	.....	..... Feb. 13, 1922	Algoma Eastern Railway Company and employees in various classes, members of Division No. 4, Railway Employees Department, American Federation of Labour.	Employees...	Sudbury, Ont.....	10.....	Wages and conditions...	Fred Bancroft, (M) 1	.....	.....	Proceedings unfinished at the close of the fiscal year.

(b) Street Railways

Mar. 17, 1921	Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway Company and certain of its employees, being members of Local Division No. 846, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America.	Employees...	St. Catharines, Ont. and vicinity.	160 dir..... 150 indir.	Alleged discrimination against certain employees.	D. Dick, Jr., (C) 4; G. D. Kelley, (E) 1; Jos. Gibbons, (M) 1.	May 6, 1921	Aug. 8, Sept. 1, 1921	The report was signed by the chairman and Mr. Gibbons and contained recommendations as to settlement of the dispute. These were accepted by the employees, and, with certain reservations, by the company. Mr. Kelley presented a minority report. No strike occurred.
April 9, 1921	Toronto and York Radial Company and certain of its employees on the Metropolitan, Mimico and Scarboro Divisions, being linemen, wiremen, train despatchers, operators, etc., members of the Toronto Branch of the Canadian Electrical Trades Union.	Employees...	Toronto, Ont.....	170 dir..... 100 indir.	Wages and conditions...	A. Purvis, (C) 4; F. H. McGuigan, (E) 2; Louis Braithwaite, (M) 1.	June 13, 1921	June 28, 1921	In view of certain negotiations concerning changes in ownership of this railway the matter of the establishment of a Board was held for a time in abeyance. In the meantime an officer of the department in the locality endeavoured to bring about a settlement of the dispute through renewed negotiations between the parties concerned. As this settlement could not be effected and as the changes in the management of the railway did not take place a Board was established. The report was signed by the chairman and Mr. McGuigan. Mr. Braithwaite presented a minority report. The findings of the Board were not accepted by the employees; no strike occurred.

Proceedings under the Conciliation and Labour Act

An application for the establishment of a Board of Conciliation and Investigation under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act to deal with a dispute concerning a reduction in wages was received on July 26, 1921, from employees of the Canadian National Railways being clerks, freight handlers, roundhouse, shop and station employees, parlor, sleeping and dining car employees, members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railroad Employees, but, as mentioned in the introductory note, the employing railway indicating a preference for proceedings under the Conciliation and Labour Act, the employees, on August 2, invoked the machinery of that statute; the employer in this case, was designated as the Intercolonial and Prince Edward Island Railway, National Transcontinental, Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Northern Railways.

The dispute was referred accordingly to a Committee of Conciliation, Mediation and Investigation composed as follows: Mr. Hamnett P. Hill, Chairman, appointed by the Minister in the absence of a joint recommendation from the other members of the Committee, Messrs. George D. Kelley, Ottawa, and Harold Fisher, Ottawa, nominees of the company and employees respectively. This Committee failing to procure a settlement, the dispute, under the provisions of the Act, was referred to a Board of Arbitrators, the same members continuing to serve, save that Mr. Hill found it necessary to retire and the Reverend Dr. Byron Stauffer, Toronto, was appointed in his stead. The report of the Board of Arbitrators received by the Minister on November 9 was signed by the Chairman and Mr. Fisher and contained recommendations concerning settlement of the dispute. Mr. Kelley did not concur in these findings and presented a minority report. The Board's findings were accepted by the employees, but not by the company. Much correspondence followed between the department and the parties to the dispute and direct negotiations were renewed, which continued into the new fiscal year; up to the date of writing no strike had occurred and conditions did not point to such an occurrence.

II.—CONCILIATION WORK

In addition to the important duties arising out of the administration of the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, 1907, the Department of Labour, assisted during during the year in the adjustment of many labour disputes, the minister giving in some cases his personal attention to this work. The services of various officers of the department, and particularly of the fair wages officers who are stationed at different industrial centres, were also utilized extensively. The fair wages officers in question are Mr. D. T. Bulger, stationed at Vancouver; Mr. F. E. Harrison, stationed at Calgary; Mr. E. N. Compton, stationed at Toronto; Mr. W. D. Killins, stationed at Ottawa, and Mr. T. Bertrand, stationed at Montreal. Special assistance in connection with labour disputes was also rendered on various occasions in the Maritime Provinces and elsewhere by Mr. E. McG. Quirk, of Montreal. Mr. Quirk, though not actually an officer of the Department of Labour, has frequently been appointed as a special representative. The services of the correspondents of the Labour Gazette and superintendents of the employment offices were also utilized in connection with conciliation work at various points.

Special attention was given during the year to the labour situation in the coal fields of Nova Scotia, Alberta and British Columbia. Mr. D. T. Bulger, Vancouver, continued to act throughout the year as chairman of the Cost of Living Commission which was established in 1918 on request of the coal miners and operators of Vancouver island to deal with cost of living and wages matters there. The other members of the commission are Mr. Tully Boyce, of Nanaimo, on behalf of the coal operators, and Mr. J. McAllister, of Cumberland, on behalf of the coal miners. Four reports were submitted by this Commission dealing with the cost of living in June, September and December, 1921, and in March, 1922, respectively. Reference is made to the operations of this commission in previous annual reports of the department.

The Calgary Office

During the year 1921, there was a marked decrease in the number of industrial disputes in this area. This is largely accounted for by the fact that the wage scales in the building industries were amicably settled, and also that the wage contracts between employers and employees in the coal mining industry, did not expire until March 31, 1922.

Like most other industries coal mining suffered a depression during the year. The demand for coal has been normal, while the industry is admittedly over-developed. During the war period, the industry supported a large number of employees, and it is now in the position of having the same number looking to it for their maintenance, while its production has materially decreased.

In the year 1921, the bituminous mines in District Eighteen worked an average of 197½ days; Lethbridge lignite mines, 210 days; Drumheller lignite mines, 128½ days, and the only anthracite mines in the district (at Bankhead) worked 265 days. The average earnings of a contract miner employed at the principal collieries in District Eighteen for the year 1921, was $9.61 per shift. The day wage men received an average of $7.18 per shift, while day wage boys made $4.42 per shift. Contract miners employed at same mines earned an average of $2,104 for the year. Day wage men averaged $1,572, and boys received $1,158.

The average number of men and boys employed during the calendar year is officially placed at 10,018, the pay-roll amounting to $15,922,773, or an average earning per employee of $1,589.42.

During the year 1921, the output of coal from the mines of District Eighteen, comprising Alberta and southeastern British Columbia, was 6,784,262 tons, and for the year 1920, 7,852,856 tons; a decrease in tonnage for the year 1921 of 1,068,594 tons.

The office of the Director of Coal Operations which had had jurisdiction over the coal mining industry of Alberta and eastern British Columbia, ceased to exist at the close of the parliamentary session of 1921. Notwithstanding urgent representation upon the part of miners and operators, it was not deemed expedient to renew the legislation with regard to that position. During the period July, 1917, to June, 1922, the Coal Director had adjudicated upon five hundred and twenty-eight disputes in the coal mines of District Eighteen. After the expiration of the aforesaid legislation, Mr. W. H. Armstrong, who had officiated as Director of Coal Operations, sat as independent chairman on two or three minor disputes, which were satisfactorily adjusted.

The wage contract between the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association and the United Mine Workers of District Eighteen was completed in July, 1920, and dated for two years from April 1, 1920.

Events attending the termination of the agreement on March 31, the reference of the consequent dispute to a Board of Conciliation and Investigation under the chairmanship of Mr. W. E. Knowles, K.C., of Moose Jaw, and the strike of miners beginning on April 1, are matters into which it is unnecessary here to enter at length; but were such as to involve continuous and arduous exertions on the part of departmental officers concerned.

During the fiscal year concluding March 31, the building industry in this area materially felt the results of the general business depression. Very little construction work was attempted in the Prairie Provinces and as a result many of the employees in the building trades crafts were idle. Assistance was rendered by departmental officers in drawing up trade agreements at Calgary, Edmonton, Lethbridge and Regina. Two or three minor disputes arose and assistance was also given in these instances and amicable adjustments made.

During the months of July and August, 1921, the department sent a special representative to this area with a view to explaining to employer and employee the Joint Industrial Council plan. Meetings were held at Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina and Moose Jaw. In practically all of these centres the employer and employee displayed marked interest in the explanations. A Joint Industrial Council in the building trades was established at Saskatoon and one is now under consideration at Edmonton. It seems probable that with a revival in the building trades in the West this method of dealing with problems in the construction industry will be much in favour.

Wage schedules were prepared during the period mentioned for Federal Government work but principally for employment in connection with the National Parks. Only one dispute arose in connection with this work which was regarding the demolition of a steel bridge in the Rocky Mountains Park of Canada at Banff, which matter was satisfactorily adjusted.

The officers of the Calgary office of the department investigated twenty-seven industrial disputes during the period covered by this report. Seventy-nine employers and nine thousand two hundred and sixty-nine employees were affected by the disputes. In many instances the offer of mediation by the department's officers was instrumental in preventing a cessation of work in the industries concerned.

Periodical visits were paid to associations of employees and employers in the principal centres of industry. Assistance was rendered wherever possible in the preparation of working agreements between parties affected. Increased interest in the work of the department and its publications is apparent and many inquiries were received from employees and employers for information upon various subjects in which they are interested.

III. FAIR WAGES

The fair wages policy of the Government of Canada is based on a resolution of the House of Commons which was adopted in the session of 1900, as follows:—

> "That it be resolved, that all Government contracts should contain such conditions as will prevent abuses, which may arise from the subletting of such contracts, and that every effort should be made to secure the payment of such wages as are generally accepted as current in each trade for competent workmen in the district where the work is carried out, and that this House cordially concurs in such policy, and deems it the duty of the Government to take immediate steps to give effect thereto.
> "It is hereby declared that the work to which the foregoing policy shall apply includes not only work undertaken by the Government itself, but also all works aided by grant or Dominion public funds."

Additional force was given to the fair wages resolution in the revision of the Railway Act in 1903 by the inclusion in that statute of a section requiring the payment of current rates of wages to all workmen engaged in the construction of lines of railway towards which the Parliament of Canada voted financial aid.

An Order in Council was also adopted in 1907 requiring contractors to post fair wages schedules in a conspicuous place on the public works under construction and to keep a record of payments made to workmen in their employ, such records to be open for inspection by the fair wages officers of the Government.

In connection with proposed works of construction schedules are generally prepared setting forth the minimum wages rates and hours of labour to be observed in the performance of the contract. In other cases the practice is to insert a clause calling for the observance of the current wages and hours of the district and providing that in the event of a dispute arising as to what are the current wages or hours the same shall be determined by the Minister of Labour whose decision shall be final.

Apart from the preparation of fair wages conditions for inclusion in contracts for works of construction the fair wages policy has also been applied to contracts for the manufacture of certain classes of Government supplies.

During the year 1921-22 the Department of Labour prepared fair wages conditions in connection with the execution of twenty-three contracts. These were divided among the different departments of the Government as follows: Public Works, 4; Railways and Canals, 7; Marine and Fisheries, 4; Interior, 3; Militia and Defence, 5.

On June 7, 1922, an Order in Council was passed to secure the more effective observance of the fair wages policy. Although this step was not taken during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1922, it has been thought well for purposes of information to include the terms of the Order in Council in the present annual report. The text of this order appears at the end of the present chapter.

FAIR WAGES COMPLAINTS ON GOVERNMENT WORKS

As in previous years complaint was made to the Department of Labour in various cases that contractors for government works were not complying with the fair wages requirements of their contracts. Most of these complaints related to alleged payment of lower wages rates than were contemplated by the contract. Investigation was made of all these complaints by fair wages officers of the Department of Labour and steps were taken to secure the rights of those concerned. Some of the contracts in question contained fair wages schedules. In other cases it was necessary for the fair wages officer to ascertain the rates current in the district, the requirement of the contract in these cases being that the contractor should pay the workpeople the rates of wages current in the district for the various classes of labour required.

Following is a list of the complaints relative to alleged non-payment of fair wages rates on government contracts which were dealt with by the Department of Labour during the year:—

TABLE of Fair Wages Complaints on Government Works and Disposition thereof during the fiscal year ending March 31, 1922

Complaint received	Locality and public work	Department affected	Subject of investigation	Disposition
April 29, 1921 Jan. 26, 1922	Vancouver, B.C. Ballantyne Pier.	Vancouver Harbour Commission.	Alleged that contractors were not paying the prevailing rates of wages; also that overtime rate was not being paid for time worked on Saturday afternoon.	Investigation showed that the contract did not contain a fair wages clause. An officer of the department succeeded in adjusting the complaints respecting certain rates and a conference was arranged between the Vancouver Harbour Commissioners and the Vancouver Trades and Labour Council which resulted in a promise of investigation of the whole subject. The matter was also taken up with the Department of Marine and Fisheries.
May 5, 1921 Jan. 4, 1922	Banff, Alta., Bridge over Bow River.	Public Works.....	Complaint that a reduction had been made in the wages of structural iron workers and that the employees in question had ceased work. Alleged also that common labour was being employed in the demolition of an old steel bridge instead of structural iron workers.	Investigation was made by an officer of the department and the first mentioned dispute was referred to the Department of Public Works. A settlement was reached. An officer of the department succeeding in bringing about a settlement of the latter complaint, a certain number of union men being employed.
May 13, 1921	Trent Canal, Nassau, Dam	Railways and Canals.	Alleged that certain employees were not being paid the current rates in the district	Investigation by an officer of the department showed that the claim was not justified.
June 5, 1921	Welland Canal.....	Railways and Canals..	1. Complaint of carpenters on section 5 re working conditions.	1. Investigation was made of this complaint by one of the fair wages officers and the facts were brought to the attention of the Department of Railways and Canals.
July 25, 1921			2. Complaint that workmen were forced to work overtime on Sundays and holidays at the rate for straight time.	2. Investigation by an officer of the department showed that the complaint was not justified.
Aug. 12, 1921			3. Protest against the ten-hour day and alleged endeavours on the part of the contractors to extend the hours of labour on the contract.	3. The Minister of Labour advised that a ten-hour day prevailed generally on work of this character in the district.
Sept. 2, 1921			4. Request made to ascertain and establish the current rates of wages of the various classes of labour employed.	4. This matter received the special attention of the Minister of Labour and the Minister of Railways and Canals. Various conferences between the contractors and representatives of the workmen having failed to bring about a satisfactory adjustment, it was finally arranged that the Department of Labour should establish and post a schedule of wages and hours which were to be observed by all parties concerned. On September 27 this schedule was posted, effective September 1. A provision was made fixing a nine hour day for the winter months.
Oct. 11, 1921			5. Complaint from the carpenters, plumbers and steamfitters that the rates set out in the schedule which was posted on September 27 were not those prevailing in the district.	5. The Minister of Labour advised that the matter had been fully investigated and that the rates in question were found to be correct.
Dec. 1, 1921			6. Complaint against contractors for sections 1 and 2 for their action in asking the employees to sign an agreement to work Sundays at straight hourly rates.	6. An officer of the department was instructed to interview the contractors and to inform them that the wages schedule required payment for all services rendered on Sundays at the rate of time and one-half and that the contractors were expected to comply with the provisions of the schedule, and also that obtaining release from individual workmen by coercion would not relieve the contractor of his responsibility in the matter.
Jan 30, 1922			7. Advice was received from the contractors on sections 1 and 2, giving thirty days' notice of a proposed reduction in wages.	7. The contractors were advised that they must observe the requirements of the fair wages clause in the contract and in the event of a dispute arising as to what was the current or fair and reasonable rate same should be determined by the Minister of Labour whose decision would be final. An officer of the department was instructed to post the fair wages clause on the work and to visit the Welland Canal for the purpose of determining the current wage scale of the district.

Feb. 8, 1922			8. Official notice was received from the contractors on section 5 asking for a change in wages rates and classifications.	8. A conference was held in the Minister of Labour's office, Ottawa, at which rates for certain classes of labour were discussed with the respective representatives.
Oct. 12, 1921	Lawler's Island, Halifax, N. S., Immigration Building.	Public Works.....	Complaint regarding working hours.....	The matter was taken up with the Department of Public Works and assurance was later received that the eight-hour day would be put into effect.
Oct. 28, 1921	Ottawa, Ont., Printing Bureau, Excavation work.	Public Works.....	Complaint that wages were not being paid to certain employees for time lost on account of weather conditions.	Investigation showed that this claim was not justified.
Nov. 14, 1921	Quebec, Que.....	Militia & Defence....	Alleged that wages of carpenters had been reduced below the current scale.	Investigation by an officer of the department showed that the complaint was not justified.
Nov. 17, 1921	Amherst, N.S., Armouries	Public Works.....	Alleged that contractors were not paying the prevailing rates of wages.	An officer of the department investigated the matter and found that the complaint was justified. Assurance was received from the contractors that the prevailing rates would be paid.
Dec. 6, 1921.	Sainte Anne de Bellevue.	Public Works.....	Alleged that carpenter work was being done at the Government Yard by labourers and that the eight-hour day was not being complied with.	Upon investigation it was found that the work referred to was repairs to the roofs of buildings and certain fencing on the Ste. Anne's Canal which was carried on by the Superintendent of the Canal, and the complainant was advised to refer any similar complaints to the Superintendent of the Canal.
Jan. 3, 1922	Rideau Canal, Ottawa, Ont.	Railways and Canals..	Alleged that labourers were not being paid the prevailing rate of wages.	The matter was taken up with the Department of Railways and Canals who advised that arrangements would be made for payment of increased wages.
Jan. 11, 1922	Esquimalt, B.C., Dry Dock.	Public Works.....	Complaint that a reduced scale of wages had been posted. It was claimed that under the terms of contract the wages rates should not be reduced below those contained in a fair wages schedule which had been posted by the Department of Labour in June, 1921. Request was made that a proper legal interpretation of the matter be obtained from the Department of Justice. Complaint was also made that the sub-contractors were not paying overtime rates for time worked on Saturday from 12 o'clock noon to midnight. Several other complaints were received during the year in relation to the wages of different classes of labour employed on the dry dock.	The matter was taken up with the Department of Public Works who obtained a legal interpretation of the subject from the Department of Justice to the effect that the contract was subject to the general fair wages clause calling for the observance of the current rates in the district. The matter of overtime rates was investigated by an officer of the department and it was found that two shifts were employed. The Minister of Labour submitted a ruling to the effect that where two shifts were employed straight time at the regular hourly rates would apply for work performed from 12 o'clock noon to midnight. Investigation was made of the several complaints regarding rates of wages by an officer of the department and the matters in question were disposed of in some instances by agreements between he parties concerned and in other cases by departmental rulings.
Jan. 28, 1922	Toronto, Ont., Harbour Works.	Public Works.....	Alleged that the prevailing rates of wages were not being paid to certain classes of labour.	This matter was investigated by an officer of the department and recommendations concerning the same were made to the Department of Public Works.

Fair Wages Policy of the Government of Canada

P. C. 1206

Certified copy of a Report of the Committee of the Privy Council, approved by His Excellency the Governor General, on the 7th June, 1922

The Committee of the Privy Council have had before them a report, dated 30th May, 1922, from the Minister of Labour, stating that he has had under consideration the desirability of adopting more effective measures to secure the observance of what is known as the Fair Wages Policy of the Government of Canada, and submitting as follows in connection therewith:—

The policy in question is based on a resolution which was adopted by the House of Commons in March, 1900, in the terms following:—

> That it be resolved, that all Government contracts should contain such conditions as will prevent abuses, which may arise from the subletting of such contracts, and that every effort should be made to secure the payment of such wages as are generally accepted as current in each trade for competent workmen in the district where the work is carried out, and that this House cordially concurs in such policy, and deems it the duty of the Government to take immediate steps to give effect thereto.
> It is hereby declared that the work to which the foregoing policy shall apply includes not only work undertaken by the Government itself, but also all works aided by grant of Dominion public funds.

Under the authority of an Order in Council of August 30, 1907, contractors are required to post in a conspicuous place on any public works under construction the schedule of wages inserted in their contracts for the protection of the workmen employed, and also to keep a record of payments made to workmen in their employ, the books or documents containing such record to be open for inspection by fair wages officers of the Government at any time it may be expedient to the Minister of Labour to have the same inspected.

In conformity with the foregoing, conditions have been inserted in Government forms of contract requiring the observance of current wage rates and providing that in the event of any dispute arising as to what constituted the current rates of wages the same should be determined by the Minister of Labour, whose decision should be final.

An examination of the fair wage clauses of the forms of contract in use in the several Government departments shows that these differ in various respects. It is desirable that the labour provisions in question should be made as nearly uniform in terms and administration as possible.

The minister, therefore, with a view to securing the purposes desired submits the following recommendations for approval:—

That the conditions following, marked "A," shall be observed by the department or departments concerned in connection with all contracts made on behalf of the Government of Canada for the construction or remodelling of public buildings of all kinds, railways, canals, roads, bridges, locks, dry docks, elevators, harbours, piers, wharves, lighthouses, and other works for the improvement and safety of transportation and navigation, rifle ranges, fortifications, and other works of defence, dams, hydraulic works, slides, piers, booms, and other works for facilitating the transmission of timber, and all other works and properties constructed or remodelled for the Government of Canada; also that the like conditions shall, as far as practicable, be observed by the department or departments of Canada, in connection with all agreements made by the Government involving the grant of Dominion public funds in the form of subsidy, advance, loan, or guarantee for any of the purposes mentioned; and that returns shall be furnished by the departments concerned to the Department of Labour showing the nature of all contracts which have been entered into during the month preceding to which these conditions apply, the names and addresses of the contractors, the dates and amounts of the contracts, and the text of the Fair Wages Schedules, if any, inserted in such contracts.

That the conditions following, marked "B," shall be observed by the department or departments concerned in connection with all contracts for the manufacture and supply to the Government of Canada of fittings for public buildings, harness, saddlery, clothing, and other outfit for the military and naval forces, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, letter carriers, and other Government officers and employees, mail bags, letter boxes, and other postal stores, and any other articles and things hereafter designated by the Governor in Council; and that returns shall be furnished by the departments concerned to the Department of Labour showing the nature of all contracts which have been entered into during the month preceding to which these conditions apply, the names and addresses of the contractors, and the dates and amounts of the contracts.

A

(1) In the case of all contracts to which these conditions apply, the department of the Government concerned shall communicate to the Department of Labour the nature of the proposed contract and the classes of labour likely to be required in its execution. The Department of Labour shall thereupon prepare and furnish to the department concerned schedules setting forth the rates of wages generally accepted as current for competent workmen of the various classes required in the district in which the work is to be performed or if there be no current rates in the district, then fair and reasonable rates, the same to be recognized as the minimum rates of wages payable to the various classes of workmen employed; and also setting forth the hours of labour fixed by the custom of the trade in the district, or if there be no such custom then fair and reasonable hours, the same to be recognized as the maximum hours during which the several classes of workmen employed shall be required to work, except for the protection of life or property or on due cause shown to the satisfaction of the Minister of Labour. By the term "current wages" and the term "hours of labour fixed by the custom of the trade" in the foregoing are meant respectively the standard rates of wages and hours of labour either recognized by signed agreements between employers and workmen in the district from which the labour required is necessarily drawn or actually prevailing, although not necessarily recognized by signed agreements.

(2) The following provision shall be inserted in all Government contracts containing fair wages schedules:—

> In the event of any dispute arising as to the wages or hours to be observed under the fair wages schedule or as to the wages and hours of any class of labour not covered by the fair wage schedule, the same shall be determined by the Minister of Labour, whose decision shall be final; payment may also be withheld of any moneys which would otherwise be payable to the contractor until the Minister of Labour's decision has been complied with.

(3) In any case where the Department of Labour is unable to furnish schedules of wages and hours for the purpose aforesaid, the Department of Labour may recommend the insertion of a general clause in the terms following:—

> All mechanics, labourers, or other persons who perform labour in the construction of the work hereby contracted for, shall be paid such wages as are generally accepted as current from time to time during the continuance of the contract for competent workmen in the district in which the work is being performed, and if there be no current rate in such district, then a fair and reasonable rate, and shall work such hours as those fixed by the custom of the trade in the district where the work is carried on, or if there be no custom of the trade as respects hours in the district, then fair and reasonable hours, except for the protection of life and property, or on due cause shown to the satisfaction of the Minister of Labour. In the event of a dispute arising as to what is the current or a fair and reasonable rate of wages or what are the current hours fixed by the custom of the trade or fair and reasonable hours, it shall be determined by the Minister of Labour, whose decision shall be final. Payment may also be withheld of any moneys which would otherwise be payable to the contractor until the Minister of Labour's decision has been complied with. By the term "current wages" and the term "hours of labour fixed by the custom of the trade" in the foregoing are meant respectively the standard rates of wages and hours of labour either recognized by signed agreements between employers and workmen in the district from which the labour required is necessarily drawn or rates actually prevailing, although not necessarily recognized by signed agreements.

(4) In all cases where clerks of works or other inspecting officers are appointed by the Government to ensure the due observance of the contract, they shall be specially instructed by the department concerned to do all in their power to see that the labour conditions are fully complied with and to report any apparent violations to the department with which the contract was made.

(5) The following provisions shall also be inserted in all contracts to which these conditions apply:—

(a) The contractor shall post and keep posted in a conspicuous place on the premises where the contract is being executed, occupied or frequented by the workmen, the fair wages clause or schedule inserted in his contract for the protection of the workmen employed.

(b) The contractor shall keep proper books and records showing the names, trades, and addresses of all workmen in his employ and the wages paid to and time worked by such workmen, and the books or documents containing such record shall be open for inspection by the fair wages officers of the Government at any time it may be expedient to the Minister of Labour to have the same inspected.

(c) The contractor shall not be entitled to payment of any money which would otherwise be payable under the terms of the contract in respect of work and labour performed in the execution of the contract unless and until he shall have filed with the minister in support of his claim for payment a statement attested by statutory declaration, showing (1) the rates of wages and hours of labour of the various classes of workmen employed in the execution of the contract; (2) whether any wages in respect of the said work and labour remain in arrears; (3) that all the labour conditions of the contract have been duly complied with; nor, in the event of notice from the Minister of Labour of claims for wages, until the same are adjusted. The contractor shall also from time to time furnish the minister such further detailed information and evidence as the minister may deem necessary in order to satisfy him that the conditions herein contained to secure the payment of fair wages have been complied with, and that the workmen so employed as aforesaid upon the portion of the work in respect of which payment is demanded have been paid in full.

(d) In the event of default being made in payment of any money owing in respect of wages of any workmen employed on the said work and if a claim therefor is filed in the office of the minister and proof thereof satisfactory to the minister is furnished, the said minister may pay such claim out of the moneys at any time payable by His Majesty under said contract and the amounts so paid shall be deemed payments to the contractor.

(e) These conditions shall extend and apply to moneys payable for the use or hire of horses or teams, and the persons entitled to payments for the use or hire of horses or teams shall have the like rights in respect of moneys so owing them as if such moneys were payable to them in respect of wages.

(f) With a view to the avoidance of any abuses which might arise from the subletting of contracts it shall be understood that sub-letting, other than such as may be customary in the trades concerned, is prohibited unless the approval of the minister is obtained; sub-contractors shall be bound in all cases to conform to the conditions of the main contract, and the main contractor shall be held responsible for strict adherence to all contract conditions on the part of sub-contractor; the contract shall not, nor shall any portion thereof be transferred without the written permission of the minister; no portion of the work to be performed shall be done at the homes of the workmen.

(g) All workmen employed upon the work comprehended in and to be executed pursuant to the said contract shall be residents of Canada, unless the minister is of opinion that Canadian labour is not available or that other special circumstances exist which render it contrary to the public interest to enforce this provision.

The following provisions shall be inserted in all contracts to which these conditions apply:—

(1) All workmen, labourers, or other persons who perform labour in the construction of the work hereby contracted for, shall be paid such wages as are generally accepted as current from time to time during the continuance of the contract for competent workmen in the district in which the work is being performed, and if there be no current rate in such district, then a fair and reasonable rate, and shall work such hours as those fixed by the custom of the trade as respects hours in the district where the work is carried on, or if there be no custom of the trade as respects hours in the district then fair and reasonable hours, except for the protection of life and property, or on due cause shown to the satisfaction of the Minister of Labour. In the event of a dispute arising as to what is the current or a fair and reasonable rate of wages or what are the current hours fixed by the custom of the trade or fair and reasonable hours it shall be determined by the Minister of Labour, whose decision shall be final; payment may also be withheld of any moneys which would otherwise be payable to the contractor until the Minister of Labour's decision has been complied with.

By the term "current wages" and the term "hours of labour fixed by the custom of the trade," in the foregoing are meant respectively the standard rates of wages and hours of labour either recognized by signed agreements between employers and workmen in the district from which the labour required is necessarily drawn or actually prevailing, although not necessarily recognized by signed agreements.

(2) The contractor shall post and keep posted in a conspicuous place on the premises where the contract is being executed, occupied or frequented by the workpeople, the foregoing fair wages clause for the protection of the workpeople employed.

(3) The contractor shall keep proper books and records showing the names, trades, and addresses of all workmen in his employ and the wages paid to and time worked by each workman and the books and documents containing such record shall be open for inspection by the fair wages officer of the Government at any time it may be expedient to the Minister of Labour to have the same inspected.

(4) The contractor's premises and the work being performed under this contract shall be open for inspection at all reasonable times by any officer authorized by the Minister of Labour for this purpose; all such premises shall be kept by the contractor in sanitary condition.

(5) With a view to avoidance of any abuses which might arise from the subletting of contracts it shall be understood that sub-letting, other than such as may be customary in the trades concerned, is prohibited unless the approval of the minister is obtained; contractors shall be bound in all cases to conform to the conditions of the main contract, and the main contractor shall be held responsible for strict adherence to all contract conditions on the part of contractors; the contract shall not, nor shall any portion thereof be transferred without the written permission of the minister; no portion of the work to be performed shall be done at the homes of the workpeople, or, except as specially provided for under legislative authority, by inmates of penal institutions.

(6) All workmen employed upon the work comprehended in and to be executed pursuant to this contract shall be residents of Canada, unless the minister is of opinion that Canadian labour is not available or that special circumstances exist which would render it contrary to the public interest to enforce this provision.

(7) The contractor shall not be entitled to payment of any money which would otherwise be payable under the terms of the contract in respect of work and labour performed in the execution of the contract unless and until he shall have filed in the office of the minister in support of his claim for payment a statement attested by statutory declaration showing: (1) the rates of wages and hours of labour of the various classes of workmen employed in the execution of the contract; (2) whether any wages in respect of the said work and labour remain in arrears; (3) that all the labour conditions of the contract have been duly complied with; nor, in the event of notice from the Minister of Labour of claims for wages, until the same are adjusted. The contractor shall also from time to time furnish to the minister such further detailed information and evidence as the minister may deem necessary in order to satisfy him that the conditions herein contained to secure the payment of fair wages have been complied with, and that the workmen so employed as aforesaid upon the portion of the work in respect of which payment is demanded have been paid in full.

(8) In the event of default being made in payment of any money owing in respect of wages of any workman employed on the said work, and if a claim therefor is filed in the office of the minister and proof thereof satisfactory to the minister is furnished. the said minister may pay such claim out of the moneys at any time payable by His Majesty under said contract and the amount so paid shall be deemed payments to the contractor.

The committee concur in the foregoing recommendations and advise that the same be approved accordingly.

RODOLPHE BOUDREAU,
Clerk of the Privy Council.

It is to be understood that where the term "minister" occurs in the Order in Council, except in the fourth paragraph on page 2, the reference is to the minister of the department with which the contract is made.

IV. STATISTICAL BRANCH

Under special arrangements with the Dominion Statistician certain classes of statistics which specially relate to the work of the Department of Labour have been left for the attention of the officers of that Department. The subjects embraced in the arrangement as to which the Department of Labour is charged with the collection of information are as follows: (1) various aspects of industrial disputes, (2) retail prices of commodities of daily life, (3) current wages and hours in different industries. The work of the Statistical Branch on these matters may be summarized as follows:—

Record of Strikes ad Lockouts for the Year

Strikes and lockouts during the calendar year 1921, numbered 145, as against 285 for the preceding year, and the number of workers involved stood at 22,930 as compared with 52,150 during 1920. In amount of time loss, however, the disputes of 1921 slightly exceeded those of 1920, there being 956,461 working days lost as against 886,754 in 1920, approximately half the time loss of 1921 being due to prolonged strikes in the printing trades and in pulp and paper manufacturing. The accompanying tables give the principal figures for the calendar year 1921 and for each previous year back to 1901.

The departmental record of strikes and lockouts in Canada was begun on the establishment of the department toward the end of 1900 and particulars of industrial disputes have been given each month in the Labour Gazette, and also as early in each year as possible a summary statement for the previous calendar year is printed in the Labour Gazette, with a statistical analysis. The figures are given for the calendar rather than the fiscal year, because in this form they become more easily comparable with statistics on the same subject gathered in other countries, which also as a rule use the calendar year. The figures printed are inclusive of all strikes which come to the knowledge of the department, and the methods taken to secure information practically preclude probability of omissions of a serious nature. So far as concerns figures given with respect to duration of strikes, numbers of employees concerned, etc., it is impossible always to secure exact information, but the estimate made in such cases is the result of painstaking methods in the collection of data, and with increasing experience in dealing with the subject it is believed that the statistics indicate the conditions with reasonable precision.

* A dispute extending over the end of a calendar year is included more than once in this figure.

The record of the department includes lockouts as well as strikes but a lockout or an industrial condition which is undoubtedly a lockout is rarely encountered. In the statistical tables, therefore, strikes and lockouts are recorded together under the term industrial disputes.

A strike or lockout, included as such in the records of the department, is a cessation of work involving six or more employees and lasting more than one working day. Disputes of only one day's duration or less and disputes involving less than six employees are not included in the published record but a separate record of such disputes is maintained in the department and the figures are given in the annual review. During 1921 there were 22 such disputes involving 1,486 employees and a time loss of 2,020 working days.

The only widespread and prolonged disputes during the year, involving as mentioned above over half the time loss, were in pulp and paper making and in the printing and publishing industry. In the pulp and paper industry there were strikes in eight localities against reductions of wages, varying in duration from 14 to 128 days, involving 4,257 employees and a time loss of 201,346 working days. In the printing and publishing industry there were strikes in 16 localities, in most cases for a 44-hour week with a wage increase per hour, the disputes involving 2,613 employees and a time loss of 317,934 working days. Fifteen of these strikes began in the spring but five were terminated within a comparatively short time. The others were unsettled at the end of the year. The building trades in Hamilton and Ottawa were out over 60 days against reduction of wages and involved 503 employees with a time loss of 32,192 days in Hamilton and 1,400 men and 59,720 days in Ottawa.

None of the strikes during the year involved very large numbers of employees, but there were five strikes involving over 1,000 employees. These five strikes, however, involved 7,100 employees and 22·8 per cent of the total time loss for the year. The largest number involved in a single strike in one locality was 2,000 in the pulp and paper-makers' strike at Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., but 2,257 employees were involved in strikes in pulp and paper-making in other localities at practically the same time. In a strike of meat-packing employees at Toronto there were 1,500 involved, but the duration of the strike was only 13 days, involving a time loss of 19,500 days. A similar strike of meat-packing employees at Montreal at about the same time involved 600 men for 48 days with a time loss of 24,200 days. The strike in the building trades at Ottawa also involved a large number of men (1,400 for 61 days, involving a time loss of 59,720 days). In the garment workers' strike at Montreal in November, 1,200 men were involved and the strike was unterminated at the end of the year. There were seven strikes in which the workers numbered over 500 but less than 1,000, altogether involving 4,122 employees with a time loss of 222,412 working days or 23·2 per cent of the total time loss for the year. There were 98 strikes, or 67·6 per cent of the total, involving less than 100 employees, with a time loss of 128,306 working days, or 29·7 per cent of the total time loss of the year.

An analysis by time loss shows there were ten disputes, each involving a time loss of over 50,000 working days with a total of 561,840 working days, or 58·7 per cent of the total for the year. Of disputes under 30 days' duration there were 85, or about 60 per cent of all, but these involved only 13·6 per cent of the time loss.

An analysis by provinces shows that out of 145 disputes, 53 occurred in Ontario and 25 in Quebec and these involved 79·2 per cent of the total time loss for the year; time losses were distributed among the other provinces in the following order: Nova Scotia, 7 per cent; New Brunswick, 6·4 per cent; British Columbia, 4 per cent; Manitoba, 2·3 per cent; Alberta, 0·7 per cent; Saskatchewan, 0·4 per cent; Prince Edward Island had only one strike of moulders involving 9 employees for 17 days, a time loss of 153 days, a negligible percentage of the total.

By industries, the greatest time loss occurred in printing and publishing, the figure standing at 317,934 days, or 33·3 per cent of the total for the year, and in pulp and paper-making the time loss was 201,346 days, or 21 per cent of the total. In building and construction the time loss was 153,372 days, or 16 per cent of the total.

An analysis of the disputes by causes shows that 87 strikes were against reductions in wages, these involving 16,255 employees and a time loss of 517,103 working days. Of these 87 disputes, 48 ended in favour of the employers, 26 ended in compromises, 9 in favour of employees and 4 were indefinite or were unterminated at the end of the year. Thirty-four strikes were for increased wages or shorter hours and other related causes or both. Three strikes against discharge of employees involved 192 employees, three for recognition of union involved 116 employees, and two against the employment of non-unionists involved 91 employees. There were three sympathetic strikes involving 81 employees. Strikes for causes involving issues as to wages and hours, therefore, numbered 121 out of 145 and involved 20,766 employees out of the total of 22,930 and resulted in time loss of 909,470 working days out of the total of 956,461.

An analysis by methods of settlement shows that 60 disputes involving 6,652 employees were settled by negotiations between the parties; of these 19 were in the building trades and 12 in the metal trades. Eighteen disputes involving 2,881 employees were settled as a result of conciliation or mediation, in most cases through the officers of the Department of Labour, 8 of these being in the building trades. Fifteen disputes involving 4,351 employees were settled by arbitration, six of these being in pulp and paper-making, and one dispute involving 55 men (street railway men in Victoria, B.C.), was terminated by a reference to a Board under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act. In 19 disputes the employees involved (3,850 in number) returned to work on the employers' terms and in 12 disputes, involving 647 employees, the strikers were replaced.

Statistics of Prices and Wages

The statistical work on prices and on wages has been carried on during the year along the same lines as in recent years. From month to month the Labour Gazette has contained statistics of retail prices in the various industrial centres throughout the Dominion with summary tables and a statistical analysis of the movement in both retail and wholesale prices. Schedules of wages, industrial agreements and changes in wages have also been regular features of the Labour Gazette. Two reports on rates of wages and hours of labour in various trades in several centres were issued for the months of June and September, respectively, as supplements to the Labour Gazette, following Report No. 1 on wages and hours from 1901-1920, issued in March, 1921. These reports brought down to 1921 the tables of index numbers of wage rates. The tables of retail prices published monthly in the Labour Gazette have contained average prices of foods, calculated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics from reports from representative dealers in each city and from reports secured through the resident correspondents of the Labour Gazette. From these correspondents also were secured the statistics published in the Labour Gazette as to retail prices of coal, wood, coal oil and as to rentals for workingmen's houses. From the average figures for each province and for the Dominion, ascertainable from these figures, comparative statements as to the average cost of food, fuel and rent from month to month and year to year have been published in the form of a weekly family budget. This budget was designed to show the changes in the costs for an average family of a man, wife and three children, living on an income of $16 per week in 1910 ($21 in 1913), the figures in the budget of food, fuel and rent adopted being estimated to represent about two-thirds of the total family expenditure. The budget was first published for the years 1910 and 1911 with the object of showing at least in part the movement in retail prices and cost of living as compared with the movement in wholesale prices as indicated by the index number of wholesale prices, the regular publication of which was begun at the same time. The publication of the family budget has therefore served this purpose pending the construction of an index number of retail prices, for which data as to clothing, boots, etc., have been gathered during the past two years.

The collection of statistics of wages has been continued and extended, information on this subject being secured in connection with the work of the department on fair wages schedules, proceedings under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, 1907, conciliation and mediation, strikes and lockouts, industrial agreements, reports of changes in wages and hours, also by reports furnished by labour organizations and representative employers. Of the three wage bulletins mentioned above the third contained an addendum on wages in coal mines from 1901 to 1921, giving statistics not available for Report No. 1, issued a year earlier. The index numbers covering 21 occupations in 13 cities and certain sample cases in factory labour, in lumbering and in coal mining are intended to indicate approximately the movement in wage rates, pending the calculation and publication of an index number covering the matter more completely.

Statistics as to the movements of prices in other countries have been published as in previous years, the considerable development of statistical work of this nature in nearly all countries having increased the amount of information available.

The statistics of wholesale prices collected by the department have been in considerable demand during the past year in connection with the analysis of the trend of prices and industrial and trade conditions. It is interesting to note that during 1921 two new index numbers of wholesale prices in Canada have been constructed, the one by Professor H. Michell, of McMaster University, designed to reflect sensitively trade conditions, the other by the Canadian Bank of Commerce, divided into two groups, one of goods chiefly exported and the other of goods chiefly imported. Another index number of wholesale prices in Canada was in process of construction by the Federal Reserve Board of the United States and was published soon after the end of the fiscal year. In accordance with an arrangement with the department under the Statistics Act, 1918, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics has also had under construction for some time an index number of wholesale prices in Canada intended to replace, as the official index number of wholesale prices, the index calculated and published by the department since 1910. The new index, it is proposed, will make possible from various view points and by the best statistical method the analysis of price movements required for the study of trade and industrial conditions.

The statistics of prices and cost of living have been used to a considerable extent in the adjustment of wages, while in some cases employers and employees have agreed to adjust wage rates from time to time according to the cost of living statistics in the Labour Gazette.

In the coal mining district of Vancouver Island the operators and the miners have agreed to continue the arrangement made at the end of 1918, whereby the changes in the cost of living are ascertained every three months by a commission and a corresponding change in wages is effected. Such adjustments in wages are in the nature of a flat increase (or decrease) for all classes of employees, including the clerical and office staffs. The following adjustments were recommended and made during the fiscal year: May, 1921, a decrease of 26¼-27½ cents per day; August 1, 1921, a decrease of 21½-22¾ cents per day; November 1, 1921, a decrease of 6½-6¾ cents per day; February 1, 1922, a decrease of 30-31 cents per day. The lower of the two rates is for mines where the base rate was $3 per day and the higher where the base rate was $3.15 per day. The commission consists of Mr. D. T. Bulger, Fair Wages Officer of the Department of Labour, chairman, Mr. Tully Boyce, for the operators, and Mr. Matthew Gunniss, for the miners.

(a) Index numbers for 1921 calculated by reducing those for 1920 by the extent of the average decrease per cent in each group from 1920 to 1921, shown by the samples available for both 1920 and 1921 as follows:—Common labour in factories, 65 samples: miscellaneous factory trades, 257 samples; lumbering, 46 samples.

In addition to the statistics as to retail prices of food and fuel, and as to rates for rent, the department during 1920 and 1921 secured figures as to retail prices of staple lines of clothing, including footwear, from retail dealers throughout Canada, for each year back to 1913. The figures relate to prices prevailing at the end of the year in each case but since 1919 prices have been secured more frequently. From these quotations the percentages of changes in the cost of clothing have been calculated. Information was also secured as to the prices of household supplies, furniture, furnishings, etc., and an estimate has been made as to the percentage changes in the cost of miscellaneous items, the effect of the information gathered showing that such changes are approximately equal to the average changes in other items. The percentage changes in food, fuel, and rent have been calculated from the weekly budgets published in the Labour Gazette from month to month, and the accompanying table summarizes the changes from year to year by groups, the figures for each group and for all items being weighted according to the family budget method. From July, 1920, to June, 1921, food and clothing prices fell steeply, and fuel slightly, while rent advanced. Thereafter changes in all groups were not great.

V. LABOUR GAZETTE

During the year the Labour Gazette has been published monthly in both the English and the French languages, the average paid up monthly circulation of the English edition having been 9,785 copies and of the French edition 1,924 copies. The Labour Gazette constitutes the official record of all proceedings under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act, 1907, and publishes the reports of all Boards of Conciliation and Investigation appointed under the Act. In addition it also prints either complete or summarized reports of proceedings of official commissions, of labour conventions, and of international and other important conferences held in this and other countries, that relate to industrial matters. The Labour Gazette also collects and compiles in condensed form information upon industrial disputes and agreements, fluctuations in employment, changes in wages and hours of labour and other working conditions, the course of wholesale and retail prices in Canada and other countries, fatal industrial accidents, technical education and other subjects. In order that such information with respect to Canada shall be as comprehensive as possible, the department maintains correspondents in some sixty industrial centres in the Dominion. Reports have been given of important legal proceedings and of typical legal decisions affecting labour.

Increasing attention has been given during the year to new labour and other social legislation in Canada. Articles have been printed from time to time summarizing such laws that have been passed during the 1921 sessions of the Dominion and Provincial Parliaments. In addition a special report has been published respecting legislation enacted in 1921 (in continuation of a series started by the department a few years ago), in which laws respecting workmen's compensation, minimum wages, etc., are either reproduced in full or extensively quoted.

In the preparation and indexing of volume XXI of the Labour Gazette, which covers the calendar year 1921, care has been taken to present material in concise form in order both to facilitate the work of reference and to effect economy in the matter of space. During the year it was found necessary to have reprints of certain articles of unusual industrial interest.

The Labour Gazette, being an official publication, and the matter appearing therein being largely of a specialized nature, its contents become frequently a matter of quotation. Credit to the Labour Gazette is usually given where the publication quoting is of recognized standing, and the journals named below are among those which, during the year, reprinted, in whole or in part, original articles appearing in the Labour Gazette. The following list is by no means inclusive, and does not of course include ordinary references to the monthly statistical articles on employment, prices, etc.: International Labour Office-Industrial and Labour Information, British Labour Gazette, Labour Overseas, United States Monthly Labour Review, Weekly News Summary (U.S. Department of Labour), Bloomfield's Labour Digest, Labour Gazette (India), Canadian Congress Journal, Law and Labor, The Survey, Industrial Canada, Canadian Manufacturer, Canadian Forum, Canada Lumberman, Canadian Mining Journal, Industrial News Survey, Vocational Summary, Business Information Service (New York), Industrial Welfare, Journal of Industrial Hygiene, National Safety News (United States), Foctory, Ottawa Citizen, Alberta Labour News, London Free Press, Regina Leader, Daily News Record (New York), International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths' Monthly Journal.

VI. THE EMPLOYMENT SERVICE BRANCH

The present statement represents the fourth annual report of the Employment Service Branch of the department, known commonly as the Employment Service of Canada, being for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1922. During the year agreements under the Employment Offices Co-ordination Act were completed with all the provinces except New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, and in the province of New Brunswick agreements were made with the cities of Moncton and Chatham. The agreements with municipalities were made in accordance with the provisions of the 1920 amendment to the act. Under this amendment the Minister of Labour is empowered to set aside from the moneys available under the act an amount for the maintenance of employment offices other than those operated by provincial governments provided that the provincial government concerned does not propose to enter into an agreement for the maintenance of employment offices. The New Brunswick government has agreed to pay twenty-five per cent of the expenditure on employment offices established by municipalities in the province signing the agreement.

At the beginning of the year there were seventy-five employment offices operating under the Employment Offices Co-ordination Act and at the end of the year there were seventy-seven distributed among the provinces as follows: Nova Scotia, 4; New Brunswick, 2; Quebec, 5; Ontario, 27; Manitoba, 9; Saskatchewan, 10; Alberta, 6; British Columbia, 14. The office at Grand Forks, B.C., was closed during the year and new offices were opened at MacLeod, Alberta, and Chatham, N.B.

The agreement entered into with the provinces and with the municipalities in New Brunswick followed in the main the agreement for the year 1920-21. A new clause included as legitimate expenditure under the Employment Offices Co-ordination Act per diem allowances and travelling expenses of members of provincial and local Employment Service councils provided that such councils were granted no powers or duties other than those approved by the Minister of Labour and provided that copies of all minutes of the meetings of these councils were forwarded to the Department of Labour. A section of the 1920-21 agreement under which the provincial governments agree to organize their respective Employment Services in such a way as to render employers and employees the services afforded by commercial employment agencies was omitted as unnecessary and a new section was added under which the provinces agreed to establish divisions for professional and business and handicapped workers in localities where the volume of business seemed to justify such action.

Statistical Report of Employment Offices

During the fiscal year 1921-22 there were 75 employment offices operating under the terms of the Employment Offices' Co-ordination Act.

During the year the number of applications for employment reported by the offices of the Employment Service was 546,168, of which 442,333 were from men and 103,835 from women. During the preceding year applications for employment numbered 445,280.

Vacancies notified by employers to the Service during the year totalled 437,682, of which 333,266 were for men and 104,416 for women. The number of vacancies reported to the Service during the previous year was 452,344.

During the fiscal year the total number of placements effected by the offices was 363,475, of which 276,867 were in regular employment and 86,608 in casual work (employment of a duration of one week or less is termed casual). Of the placements in regular employment, 242,089 were of men and 34,778 of women. The total number of placements reported during the fiscal year 1920-21 was 420,036, of which 340,291 were in regular employment.

Staff

At the beginning of the fiscal year there were 307 persons employed in the Employment Service of Canada, of whom 58 were on the staff of the Dominion Government—51 in the Department of Labour at Ottawa, 5 in the Interprovincial Clearing House at Winnipeg and 2 in the Branch Clearing House at Moncton. The remaining 249 were distributed among the staffs of the various provincial governments as follows: British Columbia, 31; Alberta, 26; Saskatchewan, 28; Manitoba, 35; Ontario, 92; Quebec, 26; New Brunswick, 3; Nova Scotia, 8.

At the end of the year the total number of employees was 308. Of these, 57 were employed by the Federal Department of Labour, 50 at Ottawa, 5 in the Interprovincial Clearing House at Winnipeg, and 2 in the Branch Clearing House that during the year was moved from Moncton to Halifax.

CONFERENCES

During the year annual conferences of the International Association of Public Employment Services, of the Employment Service Council of Canada, and of the western representatives of the Employment Service were held. The conference of the International Association which met at Buffalo September 7-9, 1921, brought together from various points in the United States and Canada men and women interested in employment service work and employment problems in general. Mr. T. W. Phillips, C.B.E., Principal Assistant Secretary of the British Ministry of Labour, in charge of the Employment and Insurance Branch of the Ministry, was also present and was the principal speaker at the dinner session on September 7, when he described the work of his department of the Ministry. Papers dealing with employment service problems and procedure were read during the conference by delegates from the United States and Canada, and one of the sessions was devoted to papers and discussions on the prevention of unemployment. On the last day, resolutions were adopted supporting the principle of a national employment service and recommending the reservation of public works for periods of industrial depression in so far as practicable.

The Employment Service Council met at Ottawa the week previous to the meeting of the International Association, and the conference of the western representatives of the Service was held at Victoria in March, 1922. Some features of the proceedings of these gatherings are mentioned later.

Employment Statistics

Statistics covering the field of employment are gathered from four principal sources: semi-monthly reports from employers, daily reports from employment offices, trade union reports, and reports on building permits.

Some index to the state of employment in general is found in the total number of employees reported by employers, as compared with the total number reported by identical employers at a given date previous. The Employment Service secures a semi-monthly report on payrolls from over 6,000 employers of labour in all lines except agriculture.

Reports on civic employment, statements of payrolls of temporary employees of departments and commissions in the fifteen largest Canadian cities were during the greater part of 1921 compiled separately. It was decided, however, to include this information with the returns from employers and it is now being shown in this report mainly under the group heading Employment, Governmental.

Daily reports from all the offices of the Employment Service throughout Canada show the number of orders for workers received, the number of applications from workers received, and the number of placements made. Not only do these statistics afford a check on the information derived from payroll reports, but they also show to what extent an unemployment situation is relieved through the work of the offices, or conversely how far the supply of available labour in the country falls short of the employers' demands. They make possible a comparison of the work done under the peculiar geographical and climatic conditions of Canada with that of similar services in other countries, and also the interpretation and control of the larger movements of labour between different geographical sections of the Dominion.

Reports from trade unions throughout the country show the number of members in each union and the number of members out of work or working short time, reflecting in a measure the state of employment in the more skilled trades. These reports are received monthly from approximately 1,550 labour organizations with an average membership of 180,000.

Since August, 1921, the Employment Service has issued a semi-monthly bulletin, "Employment," containing statistical and other information. In addition to statistics on reports from employers and employment offices, published semi-monthly, and on building permits and reports from trade unionists, published monthly, summaries of employment conditions based on all these sources of information are given in the bulletin together with charts showing the changes from week to week. Notes on various phases of employment work in Canada and other countries are also included.

Labour Mobility

The clearance work of the Employment Service was in general carried on during the year along the lines developed in 1919-20.

The Employment Service Council at its meeting in September, 1921, expressed the opinion that the entry of foreign workers should not be permitted without the approval of the general superintendent of the province concerned. The principle that workers should not be shipped from one province to another without the consent of the receiving province was reaffirmed by the Council and a motion was carried to the effect that the practice of notifying trade unions of requests for the importation of labour in organized trades should be continued. A clause from the report of the Committee on Immigration adopted by the Council approved the progress already made towards regulating the importation of labour in accordance with the supply available in Canada and recommended that importation be permitted only after the request had been referred to the Employment Service of Canada and the latter had shown that the workers required were not obtainable in the country. To this end a circular letter to employers was shortly afterwards issued by the Department of Immigration and Colonization.

Requests for workers are frequently received from employers in different parts of the country. The employer is advised in each case to apply for the labour required at the nearest local office of the Employment Service and the majority of these orders are satisfied by labour obtained near at hand.

Since 1919 a special transportation rate for persons being sent to employment at a distance has been granted. This rate has been twice revised, but from September, 1920, has been fixed at 2·7 cents per mile with a minimum fare of $4, tickets issued at this rate being second class. The rate obtains over the following railways: Canadian National Railways, Canadian Pacific Railway, Grand Trunk Railway, Dominion Atlantic Railways, Kettle Valley Railroad, Michigan Central Railway, Pacific Great Eastern Railway, Quebec Central Railway, Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, and Wabash Railroad. Reduced fare applies only in cases of bona fide placements through the Employment Service and presupposes the existence of a well-organized system of provincial and interprovincial clearance to insure that persons will not be despatched long distances when suitable employment is available near at hand.

The number of special rate certificates issued by offices of the Service during the fiscal year 1921-22 was 33,998, of which 22,348 were issued to points in the same province as the despatching offices and 11,650 to points in other provinces.

Farm Labour

In accordance with the procedure adopted in the previous year for securing an adequate supply of harvest help for the Prairie Provinces, a preliminary survey of the needs of each province was undertaken early in the season through the local offices of the service. When estimates had been secured of the approximate number of workers required from outside points by each province and of the dates on which it was anticipated harvest operations would begin in the various districts, a conference was held at Winnipeg to make arrangements for the excursions. Representatives of the railways, of the farmers' organizations in the Prairie Provinces and officers of the Employment Service from these provinces and from British Columbia were present.

Strong representations were made at this conference in favour of granting excursion rates from British Columbia as well as from the eastern provinces in view of the unemployment situation on the Pacific Coast and arrangements were made later for excursions from both Victoria and Vancouver to points in Alberta and Saskatchewan. In regard to these excursions it was decided that only men selected by the offices of the Employment Service in Victoria and Vancouver were to be eligible for the reduced rates and that officers of the service at these points must be assured of the excursionists' intentions of engaging in harvest operations when they reached the prairies as well as of their ability to engage in farm work. Changes in crop conditions in Alberta during the summer necessitated the cancellation of all orders for outside help for that province and in view of these conditions it was arranged that the harvesters from British Columbia should go directly to farms in Saskatchewan on orders furnished the British Columbia offices by the Saskatchewan Employment Service.

As it was represented that the supply of labour in Nova Scotia was no more than was required in that province, no direct excursions were run from that province.

When the first excursion trains arrived in Winnipeg temporary employment offices were opened in the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways stations to furnish inquiring harvesters with particulars of the requirements of the various districts as well as with full information regarding distances, fares and rates of wages to be paid. Manitoba and Saskatchewan representatives of the Employment Service were present and in daily telegraphic communication with the local offices as to their harvest labour requirements. While many of the harvesters were referred from Winnipeg direct to the farmers requiring help it was necessary in some cases to refer the workers to the local offices of the service from which the placements were made. Temporary employment offices for the purpose of dealing with harvesters were also opened in Alberta at Lomond and Retlaw, and in Saskatchewan at Melfort, Shaunavon and North Portal. Part time offices to aid in the distribution of farm labour were maintained throughout the summer at Camrose, Alberta, and Kerrobert, Saskatchewan.

Returns received from the railways indicate that in all 28,029 persons were forwarded from the East to the Prairie Provinces on harvest excursions in 1921 and 4,397 from British Columbia. Of the former, 23,119 secured harvesters' return tickets and of the latter 2,802, indicating that of the total, 80 per cent returned to their starting points.

At the meeting of the Employment Service Council in September, the Committee on Service for Special Classes gave careful consideration to the problem of selecting and distributing harvest labour. The report of this Committee noted the practice adopted by the Employment Service of advising the Railway Passenger Departments of the estimated requirements for harvest labour following which the railways advertised their excursions in Eastern Canada at rates available to men, women or children, and pointed out that under this system no selection of harvest labour had been possible. It was therefore recommended by the Committee that the proper officers of the Employment Service should discuss with the railway officials the feasibility of having selection made in the East by the offices of the Employment Service acting upon orders received from the Clearing House. They also suggested that arrangements might be made with the railways for the running of excursions to various important centres in each of the Prairie Provinces from which harvest labour could be distributed more effectively than from Winnipeg. These recommendations were adopted by the Council as a whole. It is planned to have the officials of the various railways concerned confer with the members of the Employment Service Council on the subject at the meeting of the Council in June, 1922.

The Conference of the western representatives of the service which was held in March at Victoria discussed the possibility of securing reduced rates for farm workers in British Columbia going to points in Alberta and Saskatchewan for the spring seeding. As a result arrangements were later entered into with the railways for the granting of a considerably reduced fare during April to the persons in the coast cities seeking farm work through the offices of the service. It was found that this supply of labour would not be sufficient to meet the spring and summer demand in Saskatchewan and under an arrangement with the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways special rates were granted in May, 1922, to farm workers going from Toronto, Hamilton or Ottawa, Ontario, to points in Saskatchewan. These workers were selected through the offices of the Employment Service, and were given the special rate on presentation of a certificate signed by the local employment office superintendent.

Placement in Professional and Business Occupations

In many of the larger cities the interviewing and placement of applicants in the professional and business class is in charge of a special officer, while at Winnipeg and Toronto separate professional and business sections are maintained. In spite of unfavourable industrial conditions the placement work of these sections during the year under review was very satisfactory. The Toronto office adopted the practice of sending a bulletin listing some of its applicants to a number of local employers about once every two weeks, accompanied by a letter from the City Superintendent outlining the aims of the Employment Service and pointing out how it can serve employers. This bulletin service resulted directly in the successful placement of several of the professional and business applicants listed.

A law was enacted in British Columbia in 1919 prohibiting the collection of fees by employment agencies in so far as workmen are concerned. This legislation was intended to include teachers. As some question arose as to whether the section was sufficiently comprehensive, in order to establish the intention of the legislation more clearly, an amendment was passed in 1921 to the effect that "the expressions 'persons seeking employment' and 'workers' shall include public school teachers within the meaning of the Public Schools Act." Under authority of the amended section a prosecution was brought by the Provincial Department of Labour in February, 1922, against the manager of an agency for the employment of teachers who, acting personally rather than as manager of the company, charged a teacher three per cent of her salary, amounting to $12, for assisting her to secure a position. Although the defendant pleaded not guilty he was convicted and ordered to pay a fine and the costs.

At the beginning of February, 1922, the Saskatchewan Teachers' Exchange, formerly maintained by the Provincial Department of Education, became an office of the Employment Service.

Another phase of professional and business work which developed toward the end of the fiscal year was the co-operation of the Employment Service of Canada with the Employment Service of the Engineering Society of Queen's University, in distributing their applications to employers and making known vacancies to them.

Placement of the Handicapped

The establishment of special divisions for handicapped workers in cities where the volume of business warranted such a step was recommended by the Employment Service Council of Canada and a clause to this effect was included in the agreement with the provinces for the fiscal year 1921-22. A special handicapped section was maintained in the Toronto office during the greater part of the year.

The specialized work involved in the placement of handicapped workers and the necessity for a separate section in the employment office for these cases are shown in an analysis made in June, 1921, of the handicapped applicants seeking employment at the Toronto office. In all, 200 cases were listed at that period with the office, 149 of whom were ex-service men and 51 civilians. One hundred and sixty-four (164) of the total number were apparently suffering from physical disabilities of various kinds, leg and arm amputations and wounds and injuries to the hand claiming the greatest number, while 21 were partially incapacitated through old age. Twenty were handicapped mentally and the remaining 16 were listed as doubtful cases, i.e., cases in which the precise nature of the handicap, if any, had not been ascertained. Of the 145 ex-service men coming under the physically or mentally disabled class, 75 had been retrained. Of these, however, forty-one had either been retrained in some occupation for which they were proving physically unfit or had forgotten how to use their training owing to the lapse of time since taking their courses. Only one civilian was retraining.

The Toronto office effected an arrangement with the Provincial Department of Health under which a doctor from the department held a clinic at the employment office at frequent intervals. By this means not only were the handicaps from which the men suffered more accurately determined and any malingering detected but severe cases of mental or physical disability were transferred to the Department of Health for treatment, or, if necessary, for commitment to the proper public institutions. A number of the applicants in the handicapped section were also examined by an experienced psychologist with the result that the office secured definite information on all its problem cases which proved of great value in the effort to place these men in employment.

Placement of Women

Separate divisions for women were maintained in all the larger offices, and in the Women's Divisions of the Toronto and Winnipeg offices separate sections were provided for the placement of women in farm, domestic and professional and business employment. In offices where a separate division was not maintained for women a special interviewer was usually assigned to this work. Several offices have a separate entrance for women and this practice, recommended by the Employment Service Council in September, 1921, was generally observed when alterations to office premises were made.

The total number of placements of women during the fiscal year 1921-22 was 76,739. About 55 per cent of these placements were in casual employment. There was a steady demand at most of the offices for women day workers and also for resident household workers of all kinds. As a general rule the industrial workers chiefly in demand were weavers, knitting mill operators and sewing machine operators in the textile industry, while packers and labellers for various food industries were also placed in large numbers.

The close co-operation between the Canadian Women's Hostels and the Women's Division of the Employment Service, recommended by the Employment Service Council was maintained and many of the British women brought to Canada by the Canadian Council of Immigration of Women for Household Service were placed through the Employment Service.

PLACEMENT OF JUNIORS

The junior office in Winnipeg continued its operations during the year under review and, although opportunities for suitable employment were somewhat scarce as a result of unfavourable industrial conditions, about 2,500 placements were effected. The outstanding feature of the work was the large number of boys and girls who applied and re-applied for employment. During the year almost every order for help placed in the office was immediately filled, the few exceptions being positions not considered suitable for junior workers. A follow-up system was maintained by the office which kept in touch with the various organizations in the city caring for juniors.

In September, 1921, a section was established in the Toronto office to deal with boys and handicapped workers and soon after the establishment of this section a separate entrance was provided for boys. An experienced psychologist from the staff of the University of Toronto, who is also a member of the Canadian Council on Mental Hygiene, has given much time in this section examining the boys registered. The definite first-hand information furnished by his reports proved of great value in carrying on the work of the section.

In addition to the work done in the special junior sections the Employment Service deals with a number of junior applicants in the general offices. The following table shows the number of applicants under 18 years of age in a number of the larger cities:—

Provincial and Local Employment Service Councils

The establishment of Provincial and Local Employment Service Councils to assist in an advisory capacity in the administration of the Employment Service was endorsed by the Employment Service Council of Canada at its first and second meetings. The present form of agreement with the provinces calls for the organization of a provincial council in each province signing the agreement and of local councils in each city having a population of 25,000 or over, and at the third annual meeting of the Employment Service Council in September, 1921, a recommendation was passed requesting the Minister of Labour to urge the appointment of such councils upon the Provincial Governments which had not yet carried out the terms of the agreement. The Employment Service Council also recommended that members of the Council should urge their respective organizations to assist in the matter.

In May, 1921, the Ontario Legislature passed an amendment to the Trades and Labour Branch Act empowering the Lieutenant Governor in Council to make regulations for the establishment of a Provincial Employment Service Council and of local Councils and to define the scope of their activities. Provision is made for the payment of travelling expenses and the fixing of a per diem allowance to members of the Provincial Council while on official business. Suggestions were made looking to the formation of a Provincial Council.

The Provincial Employment Service Council for Alberta, assisted by the local Councils of the Province, was active during the year in popularizing the Service among employers and workers.

Local Employment Service Councils have been established at Moncton, Moose Jaw, Prince Albert, Regina, Saskatoon, Yorkton, Calgary, Edmonton, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat, and in many instances have been of much value. Early in 1922 the Council at Moncton assisted in securing an appropriation of $100,000 under the Government Housing Act for the construction of houses in the municipality. At Calgary in the spring of 1922 the Council gave its attention to the heavy demand for farm labour. While there was considerable unemployment in the Province difficulty was experienced in securing the number of farm hands required at the wages offered. The Council found that these wages were as high as those being offered throughout the Prairie Provinces at that time. The Secretary of the Council was therefore instructed to institute a campaign in the press for the purpose of pointing out to the citizens the seriousness of the situation and, in the event of little response being received, the Council advised the importation of labour.

Commercial Employment Offices

Legislation forbidding the operation of commercial employment offices has been in effect in Alberta, Manitoba and Saskatchewan since 1919 and in Nova Scotia and British Columbia since 1920, while in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec the number of commercial employment agencies has been reduced. At the end of the fiscal year 1920-21 further legislation was enacted in British Columbia definitely prohibiting the operation of commercial employment offices placing public school teachers and requiring all private employment offices acting as hiring agencies for employers to furnish to the General Superintendent of the province complete records of their transactions. Since the passage of this legislation the provincial Department of Labour has received reports from firms operating offices at other than their regular places of business, individuals carrying on the business of a private agency for more than one employer, offices maintained by associations of employers, crêches operated by municipal corporations and religious organizations. In the provinces where it is still legal for licensed commercial employment offices to operate some progress towards their elimination has been made as in certain cases the license under which an office operated expired and in accordance with the terms of the agreement between the federal and provincial governments such license was not renewed.

VII. TECHNICAL EDUCATION

The Technical Education Act has now been in operation for three years and its results are apparent in every province of the Dominion. The assistance given to the provinces has stimulated activity in all branches of the work and resulted in the spread of vocational education from the few large industrial centres to the smaller cities and towns. Every province is studying the educational needs of those children who are not provided for by the established academic schools, and an earnest effort is being made to extend the scope of the educational system to provide the needed vocational and citizenship training for young people entering industry and for all who have left school without sufficient training to enable them to properly fulfil the duties and responsibilities of citizenship and to advance in their work.

Vocational education is an effort to extend the scope of school work and to make educational methods scientific, that is, to base the curricula on organized facts and set up definite, clear objectives for each course. When it is pointed out that approximately 10 per cent of Canada's population can neither read nor write, that less than 20 per cent of her young people receive a complete secondary school education and that approximately one-half of her children leave school before receiving a training which a child of average intelligence should complete before his fourteenth year, it will be seen that there is room for a wide expansion in the field of secondary education. It is the purpose of the Technical Education Act to assist the provinces in promoting vocational education of secondary grade, the aims of which are,— to develop the intellectual, physcial, social and moral qualities of life, to fit students for the duties and responsibilities of citizenship, to prepare them for following some useful occupation.

Vocational education is not antagonistic to cultural education; it is in itself essentially cultural. It is supplementary to the established system and cannot be separated from it, without injury to both systems. This fact is being recognized throughout the Dominion and one of the pleasing results of the Act is the drawing together of the advocates of the two systems and the establishment of closer co-operation between the various types of schools.

Vocational Schools in the Dominion

A new type of school known as the Composite High School is being developed, which combines the academic, commercial, industrial, agricultural and home-making departments into one school and places all departments on an equal footing. This should result in the elimination of the prejudices and misconceptions which, heretofore, have diminished the efficiency of the vocational schools and retarded the growth of educational work. The increasing popularity of vocational education is indicated by the rapid increase in the number of school buildings which have been built for this purpose since the Act came into operation. Prior to 1919 there were less than ten public buildings in Canada devoted exclusively to secondary vocational education. If we include the new composite high schools, there are now thirty-two vocational buildings of which ten were completed or were in course of construction during the past year; plans are being made for the construction in the immediate future of six more buildings. These new buildings were erected in the larger industrial and commercial centres. In the smaller communities the work is confined to industrial, commercial and home-making departments in connection with the established high schools and to evening classes conducted in the academic day school buildings or temporary rented quarters. The total number of vocational schools on which grants are paid under the provisions of the Technical Education Act is 283 (see table IV). This number includes day vocational departments in connection with the academic high schools, day vocational schools in separate buildings, evening schools, and provincial correspondence departments. It does not include agricultural schools nor domestic science and manual training classes in connection with academic courses.

The figures in table IV are taken from returns made by the provincial governments. Because of differences in provincial regulations and different methods of organization and administration, the returns cover different periods of time and represent different kinds of work. Uniform statistics for every province in the Dominion are not yet possible but the figures given are a fair indication of the present stage in the development of vocational education.

Expenditures from the Dominion Grant

Evidence of the growth of vocational education during the past three years is contained in table I, which is a complete summary of expenditures under the Technical Education Act. Tables II and III give the federal and provincial expenditures for the past fiscal year. The figures for the past year show a marked increase over those for the previous year in every department. The total expenditure from the Dominion fund during the fiscal year has increased from $580,635.43 in 1921 to $720,236.05 in 1922, or 24 per cent. The corresponding increase for the previous year appears to be much greater but this is partly accounted for by the delay in receiving financial statements for work done during the year 1919-20. As a result, a portion of the money earned during this first year was not paid from the Dominion grant until the fiscal year 1920-21. Delays have been shortened by changing the periods for receiving financial statements from half yearly to quarterly, commencing the first quarter of the current calendar year. The chief reason for the decrease in the rate of expansion is the lack of adequately trained teachers to undertake the work. In their efforts to take advantage of the federal aid, the provinces, in some cases, entrusted the work to inexperienced teachers with the result that the work in these places has not been properly developed and in some places has been abandoned.

Teacher Training

The urgent need for competent vocational teachers was early recognized by those connected with the work, and immediately following the appointment of a Dominion director, efforts were made to bring about the establishment of a central teacher-training institute for the Dominion. The National Conference on Technical Education, held in Ottawa in November, 1919, outlined a scheme for such a school and unanimously recommended that the Dominion Government provide the necessary funds for building and equipping the institution. The cost of operation was to be shared by the Dominion and Provincial Governments. Full particulars of the scheme are contained in the proceedings of the conference, Bulletin No. 1, Vocational Education Series, Department of Labour. Owing to the necessity for strict economy no action was taken by the Government and the matter was temporarily dropped. Early in 1922 an effort was made to induce the present government to act on the recommendations of the conference but it was not deemed advisable for the Dominion Government to incur this additional expenditure and nothing has been done.

It is not deemed feasible or advisable for each province to establish its own teacher-training institute but, until some provision is made for the better training of vocational teachers, it cannot be expected that the work will be developed as it should be.

At present teachers for this work are drawn from the following sources:—

The teachers of academic subjects in high schools.

Teachers of manual training and household science in high schools.

Recent graduates in engineering, with or without professional training as teachers.

Skilled workers in industry who have a good general education.

Practically all the shop instructors are obtained from the last-mentioned source and very few of these have any knowledge of the science of education or teaching methods.

It is customary to start evening classes before vocational work is introduced into the day schools. This practice has made it possible to pick out the best available instructors in the evening classes for vacancies in the day schools. The difficulty is to induce the desirable instructors to become professional teachers as it usually means a sacrifice in remuneration and personal freedom. Capable men and women with good positions in industry are loath to enter the schools under these conditions. The success of the work depends upon the quality of the teachers and it is essential that the best possible teachers be secured in order to start the work on a solid foundation.

The importance of providing special training for vocational teachers is realized when it is pointed out that the great majority of the students in vocational schools are preparing for entrance into industrial and commercial occupations or are attending school part time in order to obtain special knowledge which will better fit them for advancement in their chosen occupations. In the majority of cases, attendance is not compulsory and many of the students are those to whom ordinary schooling is, or was, irksome. It is, therefore, necessary to retain their interest and create an appetite for additional knowledge if the schools are to hold them for any length of time. It is evident that this problem requires a special method of instruction and an instructor of high grade.

The best that the provinces have been able to do in the matter of providing the necessary training for vocational teachers is to conduct summer schools for those professionally unqualified teachers already engaged in the work and to allow others to go to the United States for additional training. It is not advisable and should not be necessary for Canadian teachers to secure their training in another country although valuable results can be obtained by sending experienced teachers abroad for study in order that they may bring back new ideas and introduce improved methods of instruction.

Character of the Work Being Done

In 1919, when the Technical Education Act came into force, two of the provinces had done practically nothing in the way of vocational education except along agricultural lines, two provinces had developed different types of vocational education in day and evening classes and the remaining five had just begun to organize vocational courses on an extensive scale. Rapid strides have been made and, considering the difficulties to be overcome, the developments have been satisfactory.

One of the difficulties in administering the Act has been to determine what types of vocational education are to receive Dominion grants. As already stated the work to be promoted is confined to vocational education of secondary or high school grade. All branches of agricultural work are provided for under the Agricultural Instruction Act, consequently agricultural education is not included under the provisions of the Technical Education Act. No grants are paid on manual training and household science work in connection with the regular academic courses because manual training is not intended to prepare boys for industrial occupations and the household science work is not sufficient to prepare girls for the occupation of home-making.

Much difficulty has been experienced in distinguishing between manual training and vocational education. In the localities where vocational education is newly organized, there is a tendency to regard as vocational, all work which is of a practical nature, regardless of the quality of the work or the amount of time devoted to it. The experiences of other countries indicate that vocational courses in order to be effective, should provide for practical or shop work during at least one half of the time and that the academic work should be closely related to the practical.

The Technical Education Act defines technical or vocational education as "any form of vocational, technical or industrial education or instruction, approved by agreement between the minister and the Government of any province as being necessary or desirable to aid in promoting industry and the mechanical trades, and to increase the earning capacity, efficiency and productive power of those employed therein." The annual agreements provide that only pupils with a public school education or industrial workers over thirteen years of age shall be admitted to classes on which federal grants are paid and that a representative of the minister shall have the right to visit all schools in which vocational education is conducted, in order to satisfy himself that the work is being conducted in a satisfactory manner. It is not deemed necessary or advisable for a federal representative to visit all of the schools each year but, if the work being carried on in many localities is to become efficient vocational education, it will be necessary to provide much more personal assistance than is now being given by the Provincial Governments. The existing officials are doing all they can to assist the local authorities and to help one another, but their efforts are almost wholly confined to preliminary investigation and regular inspection. There is need in every province for experts who will be available to assist the local authorities whenever requested. A staff for this purpose exists in Ontario and it is overloaded with work.

In communities where the work was organized under favourable conditions, it has grown and developed into a permanent part of the local educational system and is recognized as such. In localities where the leaders have failed to establish vocational education, the failure has been due to one or more of the following causes:—

Inexperience;
Poor quality of teachers;
Ignorance of the work;
Lack of accurate information regarding the local educational needs;
Failure to co-operate with other educational officials;
Lack of judicious advertising.
Prejudice of the people against innovations of any kind.

Vocational education in Canada is only in its infancy and it is unfair to expect a high stage of development until those engaged in the work have had more experience and until the people have become convinced of the benefits of this phase of education.

It is recognized that no one type of vocational education is suited to the needs of every province and it has been found necessary to develop new methods and special courses of study to meet the requirements of different localities in each province. Some of the povinces have now adopted the policy of making an analytical survey of local industrial and educational conditions before attempting to organize vocational classes. In this way definite objectives can be established and the vocational training can be made to meet the local needs without sacrificing the general or cultural instruction which is required by all students. In order to be of value, such surveys must be made by capable persons who can base their conclusions and recommendations on a wide experience. The benefits of this policy have been fully demonstrated in Ontario.

Owing to the increased amount of equipment and machinery necessary for shop work and to the higher average of salaries paid to vocational teachers, vocational education is more expensive than the ordinary academic education. This fact has hampered the proper development of the work in the past. The increased provincial grants which were made possible by federal assistance to the provinces, have more than offset this increased cost, and there is now a tendency on the part of some localities to organize unnecessary vocational work in order to benefit by the large grants. This is especially true where school accommodation is urgently needed and it is difficult to raise money for building purposes. It is necessary for the provincial and Dominion officials to exercise careful supervision over the administration of the grants, if they are to prevent a mushroom growth which will end in failure in certain localities and react unfavourably on the development of the work in other places.

The provincial authorities fully realize the importance of developing the work along sound, practical lines and are anxious to receive whatever assistance they may from any source. Their time is fully occupied in solving the problems and administering the provincial funds, so that they are not in touch with developments in other provinces. Through the medium of publications and periodicals issued in the United States, Great Britain and other European countries, they are able to secure information concerning developments in foreign countries but there are no such publications in Canada, except annual reports which do not deal with the problems of organization, administration, etc., which are of benefit to other workers.

Vocational Education Bulletins

Realizing the need for some medium for the exchange of ideas and experiences between the provinces, the Technical Education Branch has undertaken the preparation and distribution of bulletins which will be of special interest and benefit to teachers and directors in communities where the work is newly organized. These bulletins will be of two kinds, a periodical called "Vocational Education", the first number of which was issued in January, 1922, and special bulletins dealing with particular phases and problems of vocational education in Canada.

The bulletin "Vocational Education" contains brief articles from authoritative sources dealing with the developments in the work throughout the Dominion and with special features of interest to teachers and directors. It also contains news items of general interest, book reviews and lists of text-books suitable for use in Canadian vocational schools. It is hoped to issue this bulletin at frequent intervals and extend the scope of its contents as the demand arises.

The special bulletins will be compiled from information collected by the department and will deal with the more important problems and developments in connection with the organization and administration of vocational education in Canada. Bulletins are needed on such subjects as school buildings, equipment, courses of study, vocational guidance, educational surveys, etc.

Important Developments During the Year

Although a great deal remains to be done in all branches of vocational education and much fault can be found with some of the work which has been done, there is cause for satisfaction in the general trend of developments. Mistakes are unavoidable under existing conditions, but without the financial assistance rendered by the Dominion Government it is safe to say that vocational education would not have reached its present stage of development for at least another four or five years.

The Agricultural and Technical School at Charlottetown, which is the only vocational school in the province of Prince Edward Island, was organized as a direct result of the additional government aid provided by the Technical Education Act. This school has grown faster than was hoped for by its founders and is fulfilling a pressing need which might have been neglected for several years.

The reorganization of short-term vocational classes in the Nova Scotia Technical College, the provisions for classes among the fishermen and the development of a correspondence division in connection with the vocational work of the province have been greatly stimulated, if not made possible, by federal aid.

Liberal provincial grants on teachers' salaries and building costs are now provided by the New Brunswick Legislature, and several cities are contemplating the erection of new buildings to accommodate the growing vocational classes. Two new composite schools, which provide for both academic and vocational work, are in course of construction.

No progress report for the past year has been received from Quebec, but despite the fact that no director has yet been secured to replace Mr. Macheras, who resigned last year, the work in Quebec continues to grow and new developments are taking place.

One new day school and six new evening schools were opened in Ontario during the year. Three new buildings were in course of construction and plans were completed for the erection of four others. The Industrial Education Act was replaced by the Vocational Education Act of 1921, which provides for more advanced legislation in keeping with recent developments. A summer school for the training of vocational teachers was held for the first time in Toronto.

Teacher training classes were also conducted in connection with the normal school at Winnipeg. The school census conducted by a representative committee of business men and educationalists in Winnipeg is perhaps the most complete of its kind ever secured in Canada.

Vocational education in Saskatchewan is confined principally to the needs of the agricultural communities, although commercial classes were conducted in four cities, and a start has been made in providing evening instruction in homemaking and various branches of industrial work. No director has been appointed and a progress report for the past year is not available. The classes opened in Weyburn have been temporarily closed but new classes have been started in Saskatoon, and the work as a whole shows a marked growth over the previous year. The total enrolment in classes assisted by grants under the Technical Education Act has increased from 825 to 1,720.

The provincial director for Alberta resigned to become principal of the new composite school at Sarnia, Ont., and his successor has not yet been appointed. The Provincial Institute of Technology and Art at Calgary is nearing completion and a greatly increased enrolment of students from all parts of the province is expected to follow the opening of the new building.

The number of evening schools in British Columbia has increased from twenty-one to thirty-six and there has been a steady growth in the day schools which have increased from ten to twelve.

It is regretted that statistics from the various provinces are not sufficiently uniform or complete to give exact comparisons between provinces or with figures for preceding years but the following tables and provincial reports give a fairly complete description of the work being done throughout the Dominion.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

Summary of the Year's Progress

All the work carried on under the provisions of the Technical Education Act is conducted at the Provincial Agricultural and Technical School, Victoria Park, Charlottetown. The school provides for two distinct classes of students; day students, who come from the rural districts, and live in the city for the winter months; and night students who belong to the city and take courses at the school two or three nights a week.

The work of the day classes is carried on in three separate divisions; first a matriculation course for students who intend to take a course leading to a B.S.A. degree at one of our agricultural colleges, second, a full agricultural course for students who are making agriculture their profession; and, third, a motor mechanics course for students who wish to specialize along that particular line.

The subjects taken in the matriculation course are English, French, history, mathematics and chemistry; in the agricultural division, live stock, field crops, poultry and dairying, motor mechanics, carpentry, blacksmithing, English, arithmetic, civics, economics and general science; in the motor mechanics department, motor mechanics, blacksmithing, woodworking, English and arithmetic. The subjects taken at the night classes are: woodworking, mechanical drawing, motor mechanics, English and arithmetic. In addition to these long courses we have short courses of two weeks for cheese and butter manufacturers.

The total enrollment for day classes was fifty-six, being an increase of twenty-one over last year; in our evening classes the enrollment was seventy-two; and in the short course for cheese and buttermakers, thirty-eight.

The instructional work is carried on by seven instructors. Of these two give their full time to the work of the school; three take the course in live stock, field crops, and dairying respectively, and two are employed for five months only. In addition to this valuable assistance is given by the officials of the Poultry Division and by the Director of the Experimental Farm and his assistants.

The establishment of the motor mechanics department was a new depature this year. The demand for instruction in the care, repair and operation of cars, tractors and gas engines rendered this course a necessity. Last year four hours a week during the five months' term were devoted to this subject, but this was not sufficient. This year twenty-three students took the full motor mechanics course ,which includes twenty hours a week in mechanics, two in blacksmithing, two in carpentry, two in arithmetic and two in English. For the city students two hours a night two nights a week were assigned to this subject. Twenty-one students took this course.

The work in live stock, field crops and dairying has been considerably strengthened this year. Besides the regular lectures and class room demonstrations, experiments of a very valuable kind were carried on with the dairy herd at the school dairy barn. Problems in the feeding, care and management, and the keeping of records were taken up and very creditable results achieved.

In the dairy department a complete equipment for milk and cream testing and for cheese and butter manufacturing has been installed. Fifty-five students received instruction in dairying, including practical work in milk and cream testing and the keeping of records. The short course in cheese and butter making was attended by the manufacturers and others.

The courses already established will be carried on and extended next year. It is the fixed policy of this school to provide instruction in all subjects of a vocational nature provided a sufficient number make application and competent instructors can be secured. As agriculture is, and will continue to be, the basic industry in the province this subject receives first consideration. But this is not our only industry.

The fisheries is a well established and growing business, and in any well organized system of technical instruction this important fact should not be forgotten. This industry is suffering The losses due to careless handling of our lobster pack are on the increase, and have already reached alarming proportions. Indeed, so serious has the situation become that unless immediate steps are taken to remedy defects our Island lobster, once the favourite, will be forced out of the market by packers who have adopted the more scientific principals of handling. To meet the situation it is our intention to establish a course for lobster packers and factory operatives during the next school year. The details of the plan have not yet been worked out.

While we are meeting through the agency of our agricultural and motor mechanics classes the vocational needs of the boys and young men of our rural communities, it is felt that courses of a suitable kind should be provided for girls and young women. To meet this demand it is our intention to establish a course in household science and to carry on the work of that department in conjunction with the courses already established.

As vocational training is a new thing so far as this province is concerned it is perhaps unwise to make any statement as to the probable course of future developments. Sufficient to say that the work already undertaken has been approved. The courses established meet the most pressing needs of the province; and when the purpose and aim of vocational education is better known and the possibilities more fully understood it is expected that public interest will increase and with that a more liberal measure of public support and encouragement.

Our chief difficulty at the present time is with regard to text books. We want books that are readable, not too technical, concise and to the point, reasonable in price, and adapted to our needs. This kind of book it is increasingly difficult to get. There are texts in abundance for the instructor but few for the student. Texts that will relieve our students of that deadly monotony of note taking are the things required. Bulk and a big price seem to be the prime essentials so far as the book publisher is concerned.

With regard to the securing of competent instructors this province does not experience the difficulties met with in other places. On account of the special character of our work we are able to draw upon the agricultural colleges. Of course there is the additional difficulty of getting men who have that particular kind of ability that enables them to use their specialized knowledge to the best advantage. A special institution whose duty will be to train teachers for the work seems to be the only remedy here. With indifferently trained teachers we can only expect indifferent results.

NOVA SCOTIA

Report of the Director of Technical Education

GENERAL PROGRESS

During the past year the most important development in secondary technical education in Nova Scotia was the re-establishment and extension of the correspondence study department. A statement regarding this work is included in a following paragraph. The department of Commercial Spanish was discontinued because of a lack of sustained interest on the part of the clerks, for whose benefit three of the banks in Halifax had supported the enterprise. The Halifax Navigation School continued to function as an affiliation of the Technical College. Short technical courses for industrial workers and foremen were re-established after a lapse of four years. Evening technical schools were carried on in twelve industrial towns and cities, and evening coal mining and engineering schools were conducted in thirteen colliery towns. The town of Glace Bay in the erection of a splendid new high school building, provided one section of it specially for vocational instruction. The Legislature in the spring of 1922, voted a grant to be used for the organization of classes among fishermen, which will be organized during the coming winter of 1922-1923.

HALIFAX NAVIGATION SCHOOL

This school continued as a co-operative effort between the Dominion Department of Marine and the Nova Scotia Technical College, the former furnishing the instructing staff and equipment and the latter providing the class room accommodation. The advanced requirements in certificates for officials on all vessels went into force during 1921. This necessitated the appointment of a second instructor for mathematics, science, shipbuilding construction and mechanics. The school is kept open every day in the year except Sundays and holidays. In spite of the serious decline in the mercantile marine all over the world, seafaring men from 20 to 60 years of age continued to seek instruction to enable them to secure higher certificates.

SHORT COURSES

For a number of years up to 1917, intensive courses of three months duration were offered at the Technical College, to industrial workers who wished specific technical knowledge so that they could advance to greater responsibility. The retraining of disabled soldiers caused the institution to abandon the work until 1921. Then courses were reopened in land surveying, electrical machinery, mechanical drafting, architectural drafting, structural steel drafting, technical chemical analysis, assaying and steam engineering. No requirement for admission is demanded other than a common school education through grade VIII and enough industrial experience to profit by the instruction. Special instructors were engaged who had had both technical training and long practical experience. A splendid group of twenty-one ambitious young men presented themselves for instruction. The whole of every day for three months was divided between class-room and drafting-room, field or laboratory, in one special subject, and most satisfactory results were obtained. The short course has proven of great benefit and has become a fixed feature of agricultural education. There is a great field of a similar nature to be exploited for industrial workers. The scope and extent of these courses will be enlarged by the Nova Scotia Technical College in the future.

SECONDARY TECHNICAL SCHOOLS

The industrial continuation schools were continued on the same basis as in previous years. The instruction is carried out for the most part in a series of evening technical classes in the principal towns and cities throughout the province. For purposes of administration they are divided into two classes, viz., Evening Technical Schools for general industrial workers and home-makers, and Evening Coal Mining and Engineering Schools for those engaged in the coal mining industry. Thirty-five different subjects are offered in the former and seven courses in the latter division. During the past year there was an enrolment of 2,193 in twelve communities for the technical schools and a registration of 691 in thirteen colliery centres.

CORRESPONDENCE STUDY DIVISION

The principal advance which has been made in secondary vocational education in Nova Scotia during the past year has been in the re-establishment and extension of correspondence study. This is now organized as a separate division under its own superintendent. A corps of trained men and women was selected as an instructing staff on a part-time basis. Great care was taken to get individuals who were not only qualified in theory and practise, but also on the basis of possessing the personal desire of helping other people. It is only in this manner that each student can be given the individual assistance and criticism which correspondence study needs for greatest success. Almost all of the staff have had extensive experience in teaching.

Through the generous co-operation of other institutions, a large number of special texts were secured, thus obviating the great cost of developing and publishing them. The University Extension Department of the State of Massachusetts, the University Extension Department of the University of Wisconsin, the Industrial Correspondence University at Philadelphia, Pa., the Women's Institute of Domestic Arts and Science, Scranton, Pa., and the Provincial Institute of Technology and Art, Calgary, Alta., all offered their correspondence study texts on most reasonable terms. These were in some cases revised and adapted to conditions in Nova Scotia, while some courses were prepared entirely by members of the local staff. Sixty-four courses were offered as shown in the following list:—

It was found necessary to carry on a vigorous publicity campaign through the newspapers, in order to reach students in isolated portions of the province and also to impress people with the special advantages of the service which was newly offered. The attempt was not made to enrol students by personal canvass, since it was considered advisable to gain knowledge and experience with a moderate number of pupils during the first year.

Up to June 30, 1922, there were enrolled 181 students who registered for 203 courses. Each case was carefully considered on its own merits and no person was allowed to take one or more courses unless he was deemed to be qualified to carry them on. Each lesson was given careful attention with profuse explanations and criticism. Strenuous efforts were made to deal with each student in an individual manner. In many cases long letters were necessary in addition to remarks written on the lesson papers, in order to make helpful explanations. The results were most encouraging in the facts that not one student during the first nine months abandoned his course before completing it and a large number of those who finished one course immediately enrolled in another.

NEW BRUNWICK

Report of the Director of Vocational Education

PROGRESS OF THE WORK

The year shows progress in the vocational education movement in New Brunswick. Two day schools have been added to the one previously operating. The three had an enrolment of 78. Five evening schools have been added to the thirteen reported earlier. The eighteen had an enrolment of 1,135. Seven short courses were held by various local vocational committees in which 177 were enrolled. Instruction by itinerant instructors has been given in 35 localities to 1,541 students.

The total attendance at all the above classes was 2,931 and 76 teachers were employed.

GOVERNMENT GRANTS GIVEN

Prior to this year no grants were offered in New Brunswick to communities to assist in providing buildings for vocational education. The Vocational Act, however, empowered the Lieutenant Governor in Council to provide such grants and an Order in Council has lately been passed taking advantage of this provision. Legislative grants to assist vocational education are therefore now offered in this province as follows:—

(a) For salaries of approved teachers:—
Sixty per cent of amount paid in communities above 6,000.
Sixty-six and two-thirds per cent of amount paid in communities between 2,000 and 6,000.
Sixty-six and two-thirds per cent of amount paid in county schools.
Seventy-five per cent of amount paid in communities of 2,000 and less.

(b) For buildings erected or portions thereof:—
Twenty-five per cent in cities of 10,000 or over.
Thirty-three and one-third per cent in cities and towns from 5,000 to 10,000 and for buildings erected jointly by a town and municipality.
Fifty per cent in all towns and districts under 5,000.

(c) For vocational equipment;
Fifty per cent in all cases.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS

There is already evidence that these liberal grants will quicken development. Several communities are making definite plans to build. Milltown and Edmundston now have new buildings almost completed which are to receive aid. In Milltown, commercial and home-making courses will be inaugurated. In Edmundston, one-third of their splendid new Composite High School will be devoted to vocational classes in industrial, commercial and home economics subjects. These buildings will be in use during the next school year.

The Vocational Commercial Course established this year in the Fredericton High School—the first of its kind in the province—is attracting much attention. The outlook is that such departments will become general in all our cities and towns in a very short time. Campbellton will inaugurate such a course this fall. Other localities are considering the matter favourably. This branch of vocational education therefore seems likely to undergo a rapid development, which will be one of the first important results of the vocational movement in the province.

Another feature of this year's work has been the development of instruction by itinerant teachers. About thirty-five communities have been served. This type of work seems useful, but it is difficult to procure satisfactory instructors. This difficulty will be overcome however.

During the year steps have been taken to assist communities to determine the nature and extent of their vocational education needs. Vocational surveys have been made of Fredericton by Mr. F. P. Gavin, of the Ontario Department of Education, of Edmundston by the Director of Vocational Education for New Brunswick, and of St. John by Mr. F. S. Rutherford, of the Ontario Department of Education.

In each case the recommendation of the survey report has been adopted. Edmundston and Fredericton have already made progress as above indicated. The former has the honour of building the first Composite High School in the province. The latter has such a school in prospect.

In connection with the 1922 Summer School, Mr. Sorsoleil, of the Ontario Department of Education, will make a survey of Moncton. Other communities have already made application for surveys, and this method of assisting school boards will be continued and extended. Such surveys are preparing the way for important building programs in the larger centres, and it is therefore very disturbing that unspent balances of appropriations under the Technical Education Act are not being carried forward to the credit of the province.

New Brunswick is under obligation to Messrs. Gavin, Rutherford and Sorsoleil for assistance and to Dr. Merchant, Director of Technical Education for Ontario, for loaning them.

TEACHER TRAINING

New Brunswick's policy re teacher training is to pay the tuition and transportation of those selected persons who wish to take full time training at approved institutions outside the province. Seven individuals have been so subsidized this year. Two received their B.Sc. degrees in June. One from the Stout Institute, Menomonie, Wis., and the other from Bradley Polytechnic Institute, Peoria, Ill.

In addition the province each year holds a short summer course for those engaged in teaching and for women trade workers who desire to prepare to teach in the night schools. A similar course for tradesmen is held in the winter.

In 1921 summer school was held at Fredericton. There was an attendance of 116. Following is the staff and subjects taught:—

Mr. F. P. Gavin, Special Organizer of Technical Education for Ontario. Taught educational surveys and vocational course construction.

Mr. E. W. Barnhart, Director of Commercial Education for the Federal Board, Washington. Taught commercial work and vocational guidance.

Prof. A. F. Baird, Professor of Engineering, University of New Brunswick. Taught electricity.

Mr. R. T. Steeves, Instructor in Motor Mechanics with the New Brunswick Vocational Education Board. Taught motor mechanics.

Miss Millicent Coss, Clothing Expert in the State Normal School, Framingham, Mass. Taught dressmaking (advanced), textiles and costume design.

Miss Violet Knapp, Head of Home Economics Department, Normal School, Fredericton. Taught nutrition 1 and 11 and rural methods.

Miss Rheta Inch, Head of Home Economics Department, Woodstock. Taught foods 1.

Miss Sarah M. Barnett, Provincial Supervisor of Home Economics. Taught methods and supervised practice teaching for women.

Miss Harriet Alward, Teacher of Home Economics at Sussex and Hampton. Taught foods II and cafeteria.

In addition Dr. G. J. Trueman, of Toronto, gave a four-day course in modern psychology and the statistical method of dealing with educational problems. A week's course in junior industrial education and mental tests was carried out by Prof. L. W. Gill, Director of Technical Education for Canada.

The 1922 winter course was confined to garage mechanics, and was in charge of Mr. W. B. Main, who is a storage battery expert. There were 14 in attendance. It is hoped to extend the scope of this course during the coming winter.

Administrative Staff—

Fletcher Peacock, B.A., Secretary and Director.
Sarah M. Barnett, Supervisor Home-making Department.
Marguerite L. Taylor, Clerk and Stenographer.

FUTURE DEVELOPMENTS

Now that building costs have somewhat receded and liberal grants are available it is confidently expected that accommodation for vocational classes will be more easily procured. In St. John the Vocational Committee is considering the erection of a separate school for this work. In Moncton and Fredericton buildings of the composite type are contemplated. These will house all classes taking secondary grade courses. In the smaller towns development will doubtless take the form of vocational departments established in existing high schools. In order that such service may reach the rural communities an effort is being made to erect consolidated schools having vocational departments attached.

CONCLUSIONS

Vocational education in New Brunswick will have to develop in accordance with our peculiar conditions and needs. These differ even from those in the adjoining province of Nova Scotia where technical training has been in progress for thirty years. Certainly we cannot expect to copy the work done in large industrial provinces like Quebec and Ontario—or in the Prairie Provinces to the west. We have just commenced to develop vocational training. Our population is scattered among small towns and rural communities. The people are variously engaged in farming, fishing, lumbering, manufacturing and commerce. None of these groups is large. The conditions for establishing Vocational Education are therefore most difficult. The problem is a new one and can only be successfully solved by careful study and comparatively slow development.

ONTARIO

PROGRESS AND DEVELOPMENT OF INSTRUCTION IN ONTARIO 1920-21

The work in vocational training carried on in the province of Ontario during the past year under the provisions of "The Vocational Education Act, 1921," has been materially assisted by the financial aid granted by the Dominion Government. Vocational schools are finding an established place in the educational system of the province. On the industrial side they are providing for the young people who are to enter industry the essentials of a good academic education, and at the same time they are furnishing special training in the subjects and operations which are fundamental to the trades and industries in which the pupils are to be employed. The financial support from these sources—provincial, federal and local—has been adequate. and the conditions laid down in order to secure this support have ensured the establishment of schools only where they are needed and only of the type required in each locality. The federal grants to technical education have been in strict accordance with the agreement made between the province and the Dominion, so that wasteful or improper expenditures are guarded against. The total amount of the federal payments on this account in 1921 was $344,956.

COMPARISON OF FIGURES

A comparison of the statistics covering last year's operations with those of the previous year shows the following developments:—

(a) During the year a new day school was established at Niagara Falls, and new evening schools at Barrie, Espanola, Fairbank, Kenora, Preston, and South Porcupine.

(b) The number of teachers in the day schools increased from 177 to 191. and in the evening classes from 845 to 909.

(c) The total enrolment in the day schools in respect of full-time pupils was 2,600 in the year 1920-21, with an average attendance of 2,123. In addition there was 907 part time pupils, and 1,109 special pupils, making a total enrolment of 4,526. The total enrolment in 1919-20 was 4,790. A large number of returned soldiers took advantage of the special day classes in 1919-20 which accounts for the enrolment that year. The classes in bookkeeping, shorthand and typewriting, shoe-repairing, etc., for these men were discontinued during the 1920 period. The total enrolment in evening classes in 1921 was 27,297 as against 26,527 in 1920.

(d) The total expenditure by the municipalities on day and evening industrial education in 1920 was $1,347,905.04 as against $659,072.82 in the previous year, an increase of $688,832.22. The sum of $511,021.04 was contributed in 1921 by the province of Ontario, compared with $140,294.41 the year before. This was an increase of $370,726.63 in provincial grants. A satisfactory feature of the situation is that the various boards have increased the expenditure on teachers' salaries in proportion to the increased teaching personnel. That the municipalities recognize their responsibilities in connection with vocational education is evidenced by the fact that the total of local municipal grants to this work in 1921 exceeded those of 1920 by 56 per cent.

NEW LEGISLATION AND REGULATIONS

During the legislative session of 1921 the Industrial Education Act under which the province had been working was replaced by a statute, "The Vocational Education Act, 1921." The new Act became effective on July 1, 1921. The passing of this Act made it necessary to revise the regulations governing vocational education so as to bring them into conformity with the provisions of the new law. Chief among the new provisions was a clause providing for the appointment of an Advisory Vocational Committee, where two or more of the vocational departments are conducted in the same school by the same principal. Such a committee has charge of the management of all vocational courses conducted in the school in the same way that industrial, agricultural, and commercial committees control their respective schools and departments.

GRANTS

The grant system has proved eminently satisfactory and has not been changed.

COURSES OF STUDY

Courses of instruction are given in trade subjects, practical and technical, and in home-making, art and commerce. There are general full-time day school courses, special full-time day school courses, part-time day school courses, and evening school courses. In suitable localities such courses as the following are given: Steam engineering, electricity, mining and navigation.

NEW BUILDING PROJECTS

Sault Ste. Marie has under construction a new building to be specially devoted to vocational education. It provides accommodation for industrial and technical classes, homemaking classes, and commercial classes, at a cost of approximately $255,000. The building is being erected in a central location, conveniently situated for both day and evening classes. It is expected that it will be ready for occupancy by September, 1922.

The erection of the new Collegiate institute and Technical school at Sarnia has proceeded rapidly and the building will be ready for use in September, 1922. This school will provide in one building for all types of secondary school education at a cost for building of $570,000.

In Hamilton, the main building which is to provide class-rooms, laboratories, administration offices, asembly hall, and gymnasium, for the technical school, is being erected this year and will be ready for use in September, 1922. Some five years ago the first unit or shop wing of the building was erected and in it temporary accommodation was provided for class-rooms. This accommodation was soon found to be inadequate, and the erection of the main building became necessary. In addition to the accommodation already mentioned, the new building provides permanent and adequate accommodation for the art school. The total cost of this structure will be about $800,000.

The Technical Education Board for Windsor and Walkerville, authorized under special legislation secured at the last session of the Legislature, was organized early in the summer of 1921 and proceeded to attack with promptness and energy the problem of providing a new technical school building. It determined the accommodation to be provided, selected and purchased a site, obtained plans by a competition restricted to the architects of Windsor and Walkerville, and appointed an architect. The final plans and specifications were approved by the Department of Education in December, 1921, and at the same time an agreement was signed by the officers of the board and the Minister of Education, providing for a grant on the capital cost of the building.

In the meantime, an estimate of the cost of the building, viz., $80,000, had been obtained and the respective shares of Windsor and Walkerville determined. The requisition for the money was made in October, and the money was voted unanimously by both councils in November. As soon as the agreement with the Government was signed, the contract was let, and material was being placed on the ground before the opening of the year.

When it is remembered that this board came into existence in April, and that before the end of the year they had purchased a site, adopted plans, entered into an agreement with the Government, provided $800,000, and let the contract for the building, it is evident that much credit is due the members of the Board for the efficient and business-like way they discharged their responsibilities.

Plans for new secondary schools of the composite type have been prepared for St. Catharines, Kitchener, and Guelph, and the funds have been provided or promised in each case for building purposes. Actual construction of the buildings will begin in the summer of 1922.

SOME INTERESTING FEATURES OF THE YEAR'S WORK NOTED BY THE ORGANIZERS

The city of Port Arthur has a municipal telephone system. The management found it difficult to secure men skilled in the work of wiping telephone cables. Through the city council a request was made to the Advisory Industrial Committee to provide an evening class in this work. A class was formed, and the men engaged in cable work attended two evenings a week to learn and practise the art of splicing, sheathing, and wiping telephone cables. Excellent work was done and the effect was felt in the better product turned out by the men on the job.

Another notable feature of the work in Port Arthur is the Advisory Committee's plan for instructing helpers and apprentices in the plumbing trade. Hearty cooperation has existed between the master plumbers, the journeymen, and the apprentices attending the class. No apprentice or helper can become a journeyman until he has passed an examination conducted at the school by the Examining Board of the Twin Cities. The prizes for this year were presented at a banquet held at the end of the term, attended by master plumbers, journeymen, and apprentices.

SUMMER SCHOOL COURSES FOR THE TRAINING OF VOCATIONAL TEACHERS

The need for providing means for the professional training of teachers of vocational subjects has become urgent. During the winters of 1919 and 1920, evening classes for the instruction of teachers were held at Toronto, Hamilton and London, and a number of the teachers on the staffs of these schools qualified for Interim Cereificates through attendance at these classes. But it was manifest that the training of teachers through evening school instruction could not be extended to all parts of the province, and some more adequate means of training had to be sought. A summer school for this purpose was opened in the Central Technical School, Toronto, in 1921. The session extended from July 4 to August 5.

Three classes of persons were admitted to the school: (1) Teachers of trade or technical subjects holding temporary certificates; (2) other persons looking forward to teaching in a vocational school who could submit satisfactory evidence of possessing the essentials of a fair English education, and of having approved technical or trade experience in the subject they expected to teach; (3) teachers holding certificates in domestic science who wished to take the practical course in dressmaking.

Travelling expenses and a living allowance of $1.25 per diem were paid to all teachers finishing the course, provided they were teaching in one of the vocational schools of the province.

An introductory course was provided for persons who had had no previous training in teaching and school management, and an advanced course was offered for those who had previously taken one or more of the evening school courses.

The course of study offered included: (1) The aims of education and general principles of teaching; (2) Special methods of instruction as applied to vocational subjects; (3) The analyses of the related knowledge and the mechanical operations of different trades; (4) The preparation of courses of study for these trades; (5) Construction of lesson plans.

Nineteen teachers were enrolled in the first year's course for men and ten in the advanced course; forty-three teachers were enrolled in the first year's course for women and one in the advanced course.

The enrolment in the men's classes included teachers in motor mechanics, machine shop practice, draughting, electric wiring, power plant engineering, electrical testing, electrical design, machine design, and horology.

In addition to the general class work, the women took practical instruction in special methods in millinery and dressmaking. Teachers who already held certificates in domestic science took the special methods in dressmaking.

In spite of the extremely hot weather of the summer, nearly all of those who enrolled attended regularly to the end of the course and tried the prescribed examinations. In the advanced courses six men and one woman completed satisfactorily the courses of study and were awarded Interim Certificates to teach the particular trade or subjects in which they were trained.

In the first year course nineteen men and thirty-four women completed satisfactorily the course prescribed. These teachers will be required to complete a second summer course to obtain an Interim Certificate.

All persons now teaching on Temporary Certificates in day vocational schools will be required to qualify for Interim Certificates by September, 1924.

CHANGES IN THE STAFF OF THE TECHNICAL EDUCATION BRANCH

Dr. James C. Miller resigned his position as Assistant Director of Technical Education in September to accept the Professorship of Vocational Education in the University of Indiana; Mr. F. P. Gavin, one of the organizers of the Technical Education Branch, was promoted to the assistant directorship. The vacancy on the staff of organizers was filled by the appointment of Mr. Milton A. Sorsoleil.

Mr. Gavin, before he came to the Department of Education, was Principal of the Windsor Collegiate Institute and was generally regarded as one of the outstanding men among the high school teachers. He was specially successful in organizing industrial and technical classes. He has been an efficient member of the staff of organizers, and his promotion was well merited.

Mr. Sorsoleil is an honour graduate in English and history of the University of Toronto and a specialist in commercial work. He had given excellent service first as a master and afterwards as Principal of the Normal-Model School at Toronto. His appointment, therefore, is also a promotion within the Department of Education. He is a man of energy and ability with personal qualities which specially fit him for the work. He will be connected more directly with the Commercial Department of the Technical Education Branch.

SOME IMPORTANT PROBLEMS OF THE IMMEDIATE FUTURE

The operation of the Adolescent School Attendance Act introduces important problems that must be solved in the immediate future. The most important of these is the establishment of part-time courses for those who hold home permits or employment certificates under this Act. As has been pointed out from time to time in my reports, part-time courses of instruction have been voluntarily organized in co-operation with industries in several of the day technical schools. But after September, 1922, all school boards in urban municipalities with a population of 5,000 or over must make provision for the establishment of part-time courses, and all young persons between fourteen and sixteen years of age who are at work must attend school at least four hundred hours per year. After September, 1923, the same municipalities must extend their courses to give instruction to workers between sixteen and eighteen years of age for three hundred and twenty hours per year.

While the responsibility for establishing these courses rests with the municipalities, the Department of Education must be prepared to give direction and assistance to boards and advisory committees. As a matter of fact, all the steps that have been taken in the direction of establishing vocational classes and schools have had in view a permanent organization which would provide satisfactorily for compulsory part-time courses as well as for full-time instruction in academic and vocational subjects. Classes established and maintained under the Vocational Education Act will be found, as a rule, most suitable for all workers who have reached the fourth book standard of the public school, because all part-time courses of study planned under this Act to meet the needs of employed boys and girls must provide instruction in the subjects of a general education as well as a training in the subjects, processes, and operations which are fundamental in the commercial, agricultural, home-making art, or industrial occupations in which young persons are actually engaged or into which they wish to enter. On the educational side, therefore, the enforcement of the Adolescent School Attendance Act will not only give a great impetus to the establishment of vocational education, but will present important problems in organization and administration that must be solved.

The problem of providing more satisfactory means for the training of teachers of vocational subjects is also to be solved. The temporary provisions made through evening classes and summer schools are inadequate. Either a special department should be added to one of our present professional training schools or an independent college for the purpose should be established.

Action has been delayed through the negotiations which have been taking place for the organization of a Dominion College maintained and supported in part by the Dominion Government and in part by the province in accordance with a co-operative agreement. Such negotiations have been carried on for about two years, but it would now appear that a plan for co-operation on the proposed basis cannot be carried out. Accordingly, the suggestion has been made that the province of Ontario proceed with the establishment of a school for the training of teachers of vocational subjects.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR OF TECHNICAL EDUCATION

During the year ending December 31, instruction in home economics has been given in the following places: Winnipeg, Brandon, Portage la Prairie, Dauphin, Virden, Selkirk, St. Norbert, Teulon, Gunton, Balmoral and Stonewall.

Home economics work has been making very favourable progress throughout the province. The work introduced in Portage la Prairie under Miss O. B. Lawson has been enthusiastically received by the students and public in general. Courses introduced in St. Norbert and St. Laurent have been taken advantage of by high school girls and by others not in attendance at school. In all other places the work has been maintained as during the year 1920.

Commercial courses for an increasing number of students have been carried on in Winnipeg and Brandon. Evening classes in practically all vocational subjects have been carried on in Winnipeg and Transcona.

The following subjects were included in the evening courses given:—

Machine shop practice
Blacksmithing
Armature winding
Electricity and magnetism
Special electrical course
Alternating currents
Wireless
Telegraphy
Auto electricity
Pattern making Carpentry
Cabinetmaking
Elementary woodwork

Plans for the new Daniel McIntyre school in Winnipeg have been completed and the building is now in the course of construction. Excellent accommodation for vocational classes in electrical work, woodwork, metal work and auto mechanics and drawing will be provided.

The courses of study have been revised for the term beginning September 1, 1922. New courses coming under the Technical Education Act will be,—

(1) Commercial course (as per outline below).
(2) Practical arts course for girls.
(3) Practical arts course for boys.
(4) Junior matriculation and engineering for boys.

A copy of the time allotment table of the commercial course is here shown giving the main outlines. A few minor changes may yet be made in the details.

Courses in practical arts for boys and practical arts for girls have been organized, so as to allow a large portion of time for technical work in the first two years and about 66 per cent for technical work in the final or third year. This will give the pupils in technical or home economics work an opportunity of "staying in" with the general school subjects until the latest possible date and also allow them the maximum amount of time for final choice of a vocation.

Teacher training classes have been started in connection with the Normal School. Courses in aims and methods and principles of teaching have been carried on. A class of twenty-eight consisting chiefly of teachers who formerly were practical mechanics have attended these classes and obtained standing. This work will be carried on throughout the coming year.

No legislation respecting vocational education has been passed during the year.

The problem of part-time education has received very marked attention in the minds of educationalists and business men of Winnipeg. A committee composed of representatives of all the leading organizations has been keeping the question before the public. The accompanying tables give the result of findings of the school census. It is very noticeable in this report that commercial education is the leading factor in the educational requirement in the city of Winnipeg.

Annual Report on Vocational Education, Year 1921-1922

A SUMMARY

During the school year ending June 30, 1922, there was no marked growth in the field of vocational education in day, part-time, evening and correspondence work throughout the province. There was an average of one thousand, eight hundred and forty students who received vocational instruction in evening classes, under the authority of local school boards in twenty-one cities, towns and villages in the province. In addition there was a considerable number of evening classes in English for new Canadians. An average of one thousand, three hundred and sixty-two students were enrolled in day, part-time and correspondence classes receiving instruction in industrial, technical and commercial work in the cities of Calgary, Edmonton, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat. Two hundred and seventy-five students were enrolled in correspondence work in mining and steam engineering at the Provincial Institute of Technology and Art, Calgary. Statistical tables are appended to this report.

Vocational evening classes were in operation at Bankhead, Bellevue, Brule, Cadomin, Calgary, Camrose, Canmore, Coalhurst, Coleman, Cora Lynn, Dinant, Edmonton, Hillcrest Mines, Lethbridge, Mountain Park, National Park, Nordegg, Stettler, Taber, Wayne and the Provincial Institute of Technology and Art at Calgary.

Vocational day schools were open at Calgary, Edmonton, Medicine Hat, Lethbridge and at the Provincial Institute at Calgary.

INSTRUCTION OF VARIED CHARACTER

The subjects of instruction offered covered a wide field as the following list shows:—

Steam engineering (for 1st, 2nd and 3rd Class Certificates.
Mining engineering (for 1st, 2nd and 3rd Class Certificates).
Electrical engineering.
Motor mechanics.
Machine shop practice.
Gas-engine work.
Battery and ignition.
Armature winding.
Woodwork.
Telegraphy.
Drafting—Architectural.
Mechanical.
Railway.
Mine survey.
Sheet metal.
Shop mathematics.
Business English and arithmetic.
Chemistry.
Matriculation subjects.
Cookery.
Millinery.
Sewing.
Dressmaking.
Dietetics for nurses.
Art appreciation.
Drawing and design.
Commercial illustration.
Shorthand.
Typewriting.
Book-keeping.

With exceptions the enrolment and attendance in these classes were satisfactory. It may be noted that no retrograde step was permanently taken by any school board during the year, while on the other hand several school boards in towns made a beginning at providing some types of vocational work in evening classes, thereby affording their communities the advantage enjoyed by residents of the cities. With a competent local instructor similar classes are possible in many towns of the province.

The main features of the work in progress in 1921-22 may be enumerated as follows:—

Four Commercial High Schools.
Two Technical Schools.
One Provincial Institute of Technology and Art.
Three Part-time Schools.
Two Correspondence Classes.
Fourteen Coal Mining Schools.
Four Steam Engineering Schools.
Four Sewing and Dressmaking Schools.
Eight Business English and Arithmetic Classes.

SPECIAL CERTIFICATES

Prior to June, 1921, there had been no certificates issued to teachers of special subjects in this province. Some of these teachers were teaching manual training and household economics in the elementary and secondary schools of the province; others were teaching vocational subjects in the technical schools. In awarding certificates to them consideration was given to the practical and technical training of such teachers, especially as they were working in special fields. All were required to present evidence of their academic, professional and vocational training and were granted certificates as teachers of special subjects in accordance with the statements of qualifications submitted. Sixty-five such certificates have been issued already with the result that this considerable group of teachers has been given formal recognition by the Department of Education and will be able to present departmental certificates when making applications to school boards.

THE PROVINCIAL INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY AND ART, CALGARY.

A distinct contribution to the cause of education is being made by the staff of the institute at Calgary. The instruction given is of a vocational and semi-professional character and has attracted students from all parts of the province. The teaching staff consists of fourteen specialists well equipped by training and experience to be of the greatest service to the industries of the province. During the year ending June 30, 1922, they gave instruction to six hundred and fifteen students in day, part-time, evening and correspondence classes. This is a unique achievement for the second year of an institution of this character. The enrolment for the year 1922-23 will no doubt exceed that of 1921-22. When the new building at Calgary is ready a still greater number of students will be expected to attend. The preliminary work of exploring the needs of the provinces and of adapting the courses to meet those needs most efficiently will have been completed at the time of occupancy of the new building.

The department was enabled to undertake two years' instruction before the completion of the new institute buildings through the kindness of the Calgary School Board, the commissioners of the city of Calgary and the S.C.R. Department of the Dominion Government. Through these bodies, accommodation was provided for staff and students at the Colonel Walker School and adjacent buildings in East Calgary. This service has been of the greatest value to the institute as it has been also to the young men of the province. The pressing needs of these young men were given attention to immediately and the services of the staff were available to assist in planning shops, laboratories and class-rooms. Their contribution as well as that of the public bodies mentioned above are gratefully acknowledged in this report.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Report of the Organizer of Technical Education

Considering the spirit of economy which has taken hold of the public mind, it is gratifying to be able to point to a slight increase in the work in question. The figures are as follows:—

	1921	1922
Schools	33	47
Students	4,638	5,844
Teachers	198	251

TECHNICAL SCHOOLS

Technical schools are organized in the cities of New Westminster, Vancouver, and Victoria. Next year we hope to be able to report on the establishment of an additional one in the industrial city of Trail, and when local questions of taxation are readjusted in Vancouver the subject of building a new technical school in that city will undoubtedly gain favour.

The three years' course of study in these schools is composed of the following subjects: English citizenship and economics, mathematics, mechanics, chemistry, physics, electricity, drawing and design, woodwork, sheet-metal work, and machine shop work.

At the end of the three years' course examinations are held for the Technical Leaving Certificate which is awarded by the Department of Education. This certificate is expected to have considerable weight with employers when engaging workers. At the same time an opportunity is given these students who develop a desire to attend university to adjust their studies and prepare themselves for the university matriculation examination.

In the near future specialized trade courses will be operated successfully, great interest being already displayed by the men engaged in plumbing, sheet-metal working, printing, and engineering.

A table showing the number of students attending these schools, the staffs engaged in the work of instruction, and also the number of students enrolled in the commercial courses in eleven cities in the province is appended at the end of this report.

NIGHT SCHOOLS

Night schools are conducted in thirty-six cities and municipalities in the province. The names of these places with the number of students in attendance will be tabulated at the end. The courses of study embrace the following:—

Business English and arithmetic.
Book-keeping.
Accounting.
Commercial law.
Typewriting.
Shorthand.
Salesmanship.
Show-card writing.
Economics.
Mathematics.
Mechanical drawing.
Stationary engineering.
Automobile engineering.
Ignition.
Electrical engineering.
Navigation.
Shipbuilding.
Carpentry and joinery.
Cabinet-making.
Plumbing.
Sheet-metal working.
Art metal working.
Drawing and design.
Pharmacy.
Dressmaking.
Millinery.
Cookery.

CORRESPONDENCE CLASSES

Correspondence classes in coal-mining and mine-surveying are conducted by the Department of Education, and one hundred and fifty-two students are enrolled.

These classes were organized to overcome the difficulty of regular attendance when men are working under the three-shift system. Most effective tuition can be given to such men when in addition to becoming members of correspondence classes they also attend night school tutorial classes.

The courses of study are as follows:—

No. 1. Preparatory Mining Course (for boys over 14 years of age who have left school).
No. 2. Course in Arithmetic and Mathematics.
No. 3. Course for fire-boss, shift-boss, or shot-lighters. (Third Class papers.)
No. 4. Courses for Overman's Papers. (Second Class.)
No. 5. Course for Mine Manager's Papers. (First Class.)
No. 6. Course in Mine Survey work.

VIII. JOINT INDUSTRIAL COUNCILS

In conformity with a recommendation of the Royal Commission on Industrial Relations, which was appointed in 1919 to consider means for securing a permanent improvement in the relations between employers and workers in Canada, and in accordance with a resolution adopted by the conference of representatives of the Dominion and Provincial Governments with representative employers and labour men, which was held in Ottawa in the same year to consider the subjects of industrial relations, labour laws and the labour features of the Treaties of Peace, the Department of Labour began two years ago a study of Joint Industrial Councils and kindred plans looking to the improvement of industrial relationships. The various reports of the Whitley Committee, which was established by the British Government in 1917 to suggest means for the permanent improvement of industrial relations, were reprinted by the Department of Labour of Canada in 1919 and some of the same have been freely distributed to those seeking information on this subject. At the request of the department, employers and workers throughout Canada who had established Joint Councils and Committees, furnished information regarding their respective joint organizations and the information thus received, together with particulars of similar systems in other countries, was published in 1921 as a separate bulletin under the title "Joint Councils in Industry". Wide distribution was made of this pamphlet and in February, 1921, a conference of representatives of a number of the larger employing companies in Canada which had established Joint Councils with their employees was convened at Ottawa. The proceedings of this conference dealt in the main with the experience gained by these companies with their respective Joint Industrial Councils. The proceedings of the conference of February, 1921, were published as Bulletin No. 2 of the Industrial Relations Series and issued also as a supplement to the Labour Gazette.

At a joint meting of representatives of the international unions of the building trades with members of the Standing Labour Committee of the Association of Canadian Building and Construction Industries, held at Hamilton, May 26, 1920, resolutions were unanimously carried setting up a National Joint Conference Board of the Building and Construction Industries of Canada, to be composed of five representatives elected or selected by the Association of Canadian Building and Construction Industries and five members elected or selected by the representatives of the building trades international unions. The resolution included a request that the Dominion Government should appoint a representative to act as chairman and convener of this National Joint Conference Board.

The functions of the National Joint Conference Board of the Building and Construction Industries of Canada, which was in due course set up, are of an educational and advisory nature, but it may deal with disputes referred to it for settlement by affiliated local organizations or establish local industrial boards. The National Joint Conference Board is also charged with the encouragement of the organization of employers and workmen of the building and construction industries into local joint industrial boards for the settlement of disputes in the building and construction industries of Canada. At the close of the fiscal year 1920-21, local joint industrial boards existed in the building trades in Hamilton, Ottawa, London and Toronto.

A joint conference of the building and construction industries in Canada was held at Ottawa, May 3-6, 1921. This Conference was convened on invitation of the Government of Canada in accordance with a request received from the National Joint Conference Board of the Building and Construction Industries in Canada. Thirty-two delegates were in attendance on behalf of the employers, selected by the Canadian Association of Building and Construction Industries, and an equal number of delegates on behalf of the employees, selected by the international labour organizations of the building trades. Unanimous resolutions based on committee reports were adopted by the Conference on all of the five items of the agenda relating respectively to: (1) existing conditions in the industry, (2) apprenticeship and craftmanship, (3) costs and production, (4) conditions of employment, and (5) development of joint industrial councils.

The report of the committee on joint industrial councils included a recommendation that the Department of Labour continue to co-operate with the National Joint Council in the formation of local joint councils and that the assistance of the Department be available for local councils, and as a consequence an officer of the Department was assigned to give such assistance as was sought in connection with the formation of joint councils. Mr. T. A. Stevenson, the officer referred to, visited various points in Canada, generally at the request of employers and trade unions concerned, and as a result at the end of the fiscal year covered by this report, the formation of joint councils in the building trades at Calgary, Edmonton, Moosejaw, Regina and Winnipeg, was under consideration by the employers and employees at the places mentioned, while in August 1921, the Saskatoon Joint Industrial Council in the Building Industry was organized "to harmonize and standardize the condition of contracting and employment in the Saskatoon building trades and to secure the largest possible measure of joint action between employers and employees for the development of industry as a part of national life, and for the improvement of the conditions of all engaged in that industry, and to adjust any grievances that may arise out of the interpretation of agreements made between employers and employees in the various affiliated trades." This Council consists of fourteen members, representation being of equal numbers of recognized organizations of employers and employed.

In November, 1921, the Vancouver Joint Council of the Building and Construction Industries was formed consisting of 12 representatives of recognized organizations of employers and a similar number of representatives of recognized organizations of employees, the object and aims as set forth in the constitution being similar to those of the Saskatoon Joint Council.

The formation of joint councils in the Printing Trades at Calgary, Edmonton and Regina was also under consideration at the end of the fiscal year.

In addition to the personal assistance given in connection with the building and printing industries, many enquiries were received during the year under review from employers and employees of various other industries regarding joint industrial councils, and information was furnished to various firms who had previously reported to the Department the results attained by joint councils in their organizations, and who had continued to communicate with the Department of Labour not only with the object of seeking advice and information, but also to indicate their experiences.

IX. LEAGUE OF NATIONS INTERNATIONAL LABOUR CONFERENCE

References have appeared in previous annual reports of the Department of Labour to the establishment of the International Labour Organization of the League of Nations under the authority of the Treaties of Peace and to its objects, plan of organization, etc.; also to the matters which received attention at the first session of the conference held in Washington, D.C., October-November, 1919.

The agenda of the first conference was fixed in the Peace Treaties and comprised the following items, namely: (1) the application to industry of the principle of the eight-hour day or forty-eight hour week; (2) the question of the prevention of or providing against unemployment; (3) various proposals relating to the employment of women and children; and (4) prohibition of the use of white phophorus in the manufacture of matches.

The proceedings of the second annual conference, held at Genoa, Italy, in July, 1920, were summarized in the annual report of the Department of Labour for 1920-21. The agenda of this conference related exclusively to matters affecting seamen, including (1) facilities for finding employment; (2) the minimum age of employment of boys on board ship; (3) unemployment indemnity in case of loss or foundering of ships; and (4) the establishment of national seamen's codes.

The proposals emanating from the first and second International Labour Conferences were received in due course by the Canadian Government and were brought by the Government formally to the attention of the competent legislative authorities, as required by the treaty terms. It should be noted that certain of the proposals were regarded by the federal law officers as coming within Dominion jurisdiction, whilst others were deemed to be within provincial authority and were accordingly referred to the several provincial governments for attention.

The third session of the International Labour Conference was held in Geneva, Switzerland, from October 25 to November 19, 1921, and resulted in the adoption of draft conventions regarding the minimum age of trimmers and stokers on ships, medical inspection of children and young persons on ships, the use of white lead in painting, the right of association of agricultural workers, workmen's compensation for agricultural workers, the employment of children in agriculture, and a weekly rest in industrial undertakings. Recommendations were made concerning agricultural workers in relation to technical education, unemployment, social insurance, night work of women and children, maternity and housing conditions and concerning a weekly rest in commercial establishments.

Under the terms of the Treaties of Peace, each state adhering thereto is entitled to four delegates in the International Labour Conference, two of whom shall be Government delegates and the two others shall be delegates representing respectively the employers and workpeople of the country, chosen in agreement with the industrial organizations if such organizations exist, which are most representative of employers or workpeople, as the case may be, in the respective countries. Each delegate may be accompanied by advisers not exceeding two in number. It is also provided in the Treaties of Peace that the decisions of the conference may take the form of (a) a recommendation to be submitted to the member states for consideration with a view to effect being given to it by national legislation or otherwise, or (b) a draft international convention for ratification by the member states. A two-thirds majority of the votes cast by the delegates is required for adoption of any recommendation or draft convention by the Conference. The recommendations and draft conventions are afterwards transmitted through the Secretariat of the League of Nations to the different countries represented on the International Labour Organization for acceptance or otherwise. Each country is obliged under the treaties within the period of one year at most from the closing of the conference or if it is impossible owing to exceptional circumstances to do so within one year, then at the earliest practicable moment and in no case later than eighteen months from the closing of the conference, to bring the respective recommendations or draft conventions "before the authority or authorities within whose competence the matter lies for the enactment of legislation or other action."

THE CANADIAN DELEGATION

The Canadian delegation to the Third Conference took an active part in the proceedings both of the General Conference and of the various commissions which were established in connection therewith.

Since certain items of the agenda were regarded as relating to matters within provincial jurisdiction, the governments of the Canadian provinces were invited by the Dominion to be represented and the status of advisers was given to the provincial representatives. Three of the provincial governments accepted this invitation and appointed representatives, namely, Ontario, Quebec and Manitoba. The delegate on behalf of the employers of Canada was appointed on the nomination of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the delegate on behalf of the workers of Canada on the nomination of the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada. The Canadian delegation was composed as follows:—

Government Delegates.—Mr. Gerald H. Brown, Assistant Deputy Minister of Labour of Canada. Lt.-Col. J. Obed Smith, Superintendent of Emigration, London, England.

Technical Advisers.—Hon. W. R. Rollo, Minister of Labour for the Province of Ontario. Hon. Thos. H. Johnson, K.C., Attorney-General of Manitoba. Hon. Antonin Galipeault, Minister of Labour for the Province of Quebec. Mr. Ferdinand Roy, K.C., Quebec, P.Q.

Employer's Delegate.—Mr. S. R. Parsons, Toronto, former President of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Technical Adviser.—Mr. E. Blake Robertson, Ottawa, representative of Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Workers' Delegate.—Mr. Tom Moore, Ottawa, President of the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada.

Technical Adviser.—Mr. Arthur Martel, Montreal, Vice-President of the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada.

Seven commissions were established for the consideration of different items of the conference agenda. The Canadian Government delegation was given representation on three of these bodies as follows:

Commission on white lead, Colonel J. Obed Smith; Colonel Smith was honoured with the chairmanship of this commission.

Commission on unemployment among agricultural workers and the protection of agricultural workers against accident, sickness, invalidity and old age, Hon. A. Galipeault, Minister of Labour for Quebec.

Commission on technical agricultural education and the right of agricultural workers to membership in labour organizations, Hon. W. R. Rollo, Minister of Labour for Ontario.

The Canadian employers' delegation was given representation on three commissions, namely that for the protection of agricultural workers against sickness, invalidity and old age; the commission on weekly rest and the commission on white lead. Mr. S. R. Parsons, the Canadian employers' delegate, participated in the meetings of the first two commissions, and Mr. E. Blake Robertson, Canadian employers' adviser, in the meetings of the commission on white lead.

The Canadian workers' delegation was represented on three commissions, namely, the commission on unemployment of agricultural workers and protection of agricultural workers against accident, sickness, invalidity and old age; the commission on weekly rest and the commission on maritime questions. Mr. Tom Moore, Canadian workers' delegate, attended the meetings of the first two commissions, and Mr. Arthur Martel, Canadian workers' adviser, the meetings of the third commission. Mr. Moore was honoured with the vice-chairmanship of the commission on weekly rest.

Mr. Gerald H. Brown, Canadian Government delegate, was elected as one of the Government representatives on the Committee of Selection of the Conference which acted as a committee on general purposes throughout the Conference sessions. This committee was also entrusted with the examination of the first item of the agenda, namely, proposals for the reform of the Governing Body of the International Labour Office, and gave consideration as well to suggestions for certain changes in the standing orders.

The Honourable Viscount Burnham, of London, England, was elected by the Conference as its President. The President presided over all the meetings of the Conference with conspicuous tact and ability and was ably supported by M. Albert Thomas, Director of the International Labour Office, who acted as the Secretary-General of the Conference, and by Mr. H. B. Butler, Deputy-Director of the International Labour Office, who acted as Deputy Secretary-General. Three Vice-Presidents were also elected as follows: Mr. Cincinato Da Silva Braga, Government Delegate, Brazil; Mr. J. S. Edstrom, Employers' Delegate, Sweden; and M. Léon Jouhaux, Workers' Delegate, France.

COUNTRIES REPRESENTED

Thirty-nine countries in all were represented at the third session of the International Labour Conference, namely: Albania, Australia, Austria, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Bulgaria, Canada, Chile, China, Colombia, Cuba, Denmark, Spain, Esthonia, Finland, France, Germany, Great Britain, Greece, Guatemala, India, Italy, Japan, Latvia, Luxemburg, Norway, Netherlands, Poland, Portugal, Roumania, the Serb, Croat and Slovene State, Siam, South Africa, Sweden, Switzerland, Czecho-Slovakia, Uruguay and Venezuela. Of those present at the Conference sixty-eight were delegates appointed on behalf of the Governments, twenty-five delegates appointed on behalf of the employers and twenty-five delegates appointed on behalf of the workers. In addition to the delegates there were two hundred and thirty-four advisers in attendance, of whom ninety-six were advisers to the Government delegates, sixty-seven advisers to employers' delegates and seventy-one advisers to workers' delegates.

AGENDA OF CONFERENCE

The agenda of the conference was as follows:—

1. Reform of constitution of the Governing Body of the International Labour Office.

2. Adaptation to agricultural labour of the Washington decisions concerning the regulation of the hours of work.

3. Adaptation to agricultural labour of the Washington decisions concerning:—
(a) Measures for the prevention of or providing against unemployment;
(b) Protection of women and children.

4. Special measures for the protection of agricultural workers:—
(a) Technical agricultural education;
(b) Living-in conditions of agricultural workers;
(c) Guarantee of the rights of association and combination;
(d) Protection against accident, sickness, invalidity and old age.

5. Disinfection of wool infected with anthrax spores.

6. Prohibition of the use of white lead in painting.

7. The weekly rest day in industrial and commercial employment.

8. (a) The prohibition of the employment of any person under the age of 18 years as trimmer or stoker.
(b) Compulsory medical examination of all children employed on board ship.

LIST OF DRAFT CONVENTIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

Consideration by the commissions and afterwards by the general conference resulted in the adoption of seven draft conventions and eight recommendations as follows:—

Conventions—

(1) Minimum age of trimmers and stokers in ships.
(2) Medical inspection of children and young persons in ships.
(3) Use of white lead in painting.
(4) Right of association of agricultural workers.
(5) Workmen's compensation for agricultural workers.
(6) Employment of children in agriculture.
(7) Weekly rest in industrial undertakings.

Recommendations—

(1) Technical education for agricultural workers.
(2) Unemployment among agricultural workers.
(3) Social insurance for agricultural workers.
(4) Night work of children in agriculture.
(5) Night work of women in agriculture.
(6) Maternity among agricultural workers.
(7) Living-in conditions of agricultural workers.
(8) Weekly rest in commercial establishments.

EMPLOYMENT ON BOARD SHIP

The draft convention relating to the employment of trimmers and stokers fixes the minimum age of these workers at eighteen on all steam-propelled ships except war or training ships, unless no persons over eighteen years of age are available, in which case young persons of sixteen years of age or over, if found physically fit after medical examination, may be employed as trimmers or stokers on vessels engaged in the coastal trade of India or Japan. Two such young persons are to be regarded as the equivalent of one man.

Another draft convention establishes compulsory medical examination for any young person under eighteen years of age who is employed on any vessel, except a war vessel or one on which only members of the same family are employed.

USE OF WHITE LEAD IN PAINTING

The draft convention on the use of white lead in painting provides that the use of white lead in the internal painting of buildings shall be prohibited after six years, except in the case of railway stations and industrial establishments, if its use in such buildings is considered necessary by the competent authority after consultation with the employers' and workers' organizations concerned. Artistic painting is also excluded from the prohibition. The employment of boys under eighteen years of age and of all women and girls in any painting work of an industrial character involving the use of white lead is prohibited, but special arrangements may be made with regard to apprentices. Other clauses in the draft convention provide for the regulation of the use of white lead in painting and for the notification of all cases of lead poisoning.

WEEKLY DAY OF REST IN INDUSTRIAL AND COMMERCIAL ESTABLISHMENTS

A draft convention was adopted providing for a rest period of at least twenty-four consecutive hours in each week for all workers in industry, subject to exceptions to be made by the Government after consultation with the organizations of employers and workers concerned and to be reported to the International Labour Office. Where the rest periods are suspended or reduced, compensatory rest is to be provided for as far as possible.

A recommendation was made that similar provision be made for employees of commercial establishments.

AGRICULTURAL WORKERS

The conference adopted draft conventions establishing for all agricultural wage-earners the same rights of association and combination as are enjoyed by industrial workers, and extending to them the benefit of laws and regulations which provide compensation for personal injury by accidents arising out of or in course of their employment.

A third draft convention relating to agricultural workers prohibits the employment in agriculture of children under fourteen years of age during compulsory school hours. An exception is made in the case of children in technical schools under public supervision.

A recommendation was adopted for the prevention of unemployment among agricultural workers by taking steps to bring more land into cultivation, by making temporary work available by the provision of transport facilities, by encouraging agricultural, co-operative and credit societies, by improved methods of agriculture, and by developing industries and supplementary forms of employment which would provide employment during the slack season.

It was also recommended that each state should endeavour to develop agricultural education and make such instruction available to the wage-earners in agriculture.

That laws and regulations establishing systems of insurance against sickness invalidity, old age and similar social risks should be extended to cover agricultural workers on the same terms as those prevailing in the case of commercial and industrial workers, is another recommendation.

Two recommendations were passed regarding night work in agriculture; for the granting to children under fourteen years of age of rest during the night of not less than ten consecutive hours, and to women and young persons between fourteen and eighteen years of rest during the night of not less than nine hours. In the case of women, the hours for rest should be, if possible, consecutive; in the case of young persons, they must be consecutive.

It was further recommended that the draft convention adopted at the Washington Conference with regard to the employment of women in industrial and commercial undertakings, before and after childbirth, should be applied in the case of women employed in agriculture, and should include the right to a period of absence from work and to a grant of benefit provided either out of public funds or by means of a system of insurance.

A final recommendation relating to agricultural wage-earners was for the provision for the moral and hygienic regulation of the living conditions of these workers when living with or without their families in buildings placed at their disposal by the employer.

Looking somewhat beyond the end of the fiscal year it may be noted that an Order in Council was adopted on June 27, 1922, dealing with the questions of legislative jurisdiction involved in the draft conventions and recommendations of the third International Labour Conference. The text of this Order in Council was printed in the July, 1922, issue of the Labour Gazette.

THE GOVERNING BODY

Five meetings of the Governing Body of the International Labour Office were held during the past fiscal year on April 12-14, 1921, at Geneva; July 5-7, at Stockholm, Sweden; October 19-21, 1921, at Geneva; November 11-18, 1921, at Geneva; and January 17-19, 1922, at Geneva. The Governing Body is composed of twenty-four members, of whom twelve are government representatives, six employers' representatives, and six workers' representatives. Of the twelve government seats, one is held by the Government of Canada. The Honourable G. D. Robertson, then Minister of Labour, was appointed a member of the Governing Body in October, 1919, and remained a member until the change of administration in Canada in December, 1921, when the Honourable James Murdock, who succeeded to the portfolio of Labour, was appointed. Mr. W. L. Griffith, Secretary of the High Commissioner for Canada in London, acted as substitute for Honourable G. D. Robertson at the meeting of the Governing Body in April, 1921. Mr. F. A. Acland, Deputy Minister of Labour, attended the meeting in Stockholm in July. Mr. Gerald H. Brown, Assistant Deputy Minister of Labour, attended the meetings at Geneva in October and November respectively. Colonel David Carnegie, Honourary Correspondent of the Department of Labour in London, and Canadian Delegate on the Temporary Mixed Commission for the Reduction of Armaments of the League of Nations, who was resident in Canada throughout the period of the war, represented the Minister of Labour at the meeting in Geneva in January. At the first session of the International Labour Conference in Washington in 1919 Mr. P. M. Draper, Secretary-Treasurer of the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada, was elected as one of the six workers' representatives on the Governing Body. The Department is informed that Mr. Draper, being unable to attend any of the sessions of the Governing Body during the past year, was represented at the meeting in Stockholm in July by Mr. Grospierre, a French labour leader, as substitute, while Mr. Tom Moore, President of the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada, acted as substitute at the October and November meetings of the Governing Body; Mr. Schurch, a Swiss labour leader, substituted for Mr. Draper at the January meeting.

The duties arising out of the relations of Canada with the International Labour Organization have naturally fallen in large measure on the Department of Labour, and have entiled much correspondence not only with the International Labour Office, but also with other departments of the Dominion Government, with the provinces and with employers' and workers' organizations in relation to matters connected with the work of the International Labour Conference. Replies have also been prepared in the Department of Labour to various questionnaires which were circulated on the various items of agenda of the 1921 conference. The performance of these duties has necessarily entailed a close study on the part of certain officers of the various technical questions which have figured on the various agenda or in the questionnaires received from the International Labour Office.

A bulletin entitled "Canada and the International Labour Conference" was issued by the Department of Labour in February, 1922, for the purpose of furnishing information in reference to the International Labour Organization and the subjects which have received attention at the hands of this body to date.

X. UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF MEASURES

It will be recalled that the policy of the Federal Government during the winter of 1920-21 with regard to unemployment matters provided that the Federal Government would reimburse any municipality to the extent of one-third of the amount expended by the municipal authorities for unemployment relief, the federal expenditures in this way totalling $343,336.55. The federal regulations on the subject were administered under the authority of the Minister of Labour. The Order in Council governing federal procedure had been based on the theory of equal participation by federal and provincial authorities in the measure of relief afforded the municipalities, but payment of the federal grant was not made conditional on acceptance by the province of an equal responsibility. In several provinces the Provincial Government took no action in the matter and in these cases, when municipalities claimed the federal grant and other conditions had been met, the federal grant was allowed.

In the fall of 1921 the Minister of Labour caused extended investigations to be made regarding the unemployment situation. Officers of the department visited all provinces except Prince Edward Island, including in their itinerary fifty-one points of industrial importance, and interviewing at the places visited such representative individuals as mayors, presidents of boards of trade, presidents of trade councils, and others who might be able to furnish information which would make the survey as complete as possible. The federal policy with regard to unemployment matters for the winter of 1921-22 was announced by Order in Council dated October 7, 1921, and known as P. C. 3831. In this regulation important departures were made from the lines followed by the federal authorities during the winter of 1920-21. The principle that unemployment relief was primarily a municipal responsibility and in the second instance the responsibility of the province was maintained, but the sphere of federal co-operation was enlarged, being extended to works undertaken by municipalities during winter specially for the purpose of relieving unemployment; also payment of the federal grant was made strictly conditional on acceptance by the provinces of the responsibilities assigned to them in the governing order. The text of P. C. 3831, October 7, 1921, is as follows:—

P. C. 3831.

CERTIFIED COPY of a Report of the Committee of the Privy Council, approved by His Excellency the Governor General on the 7th October, 1921.

The Committee of the Privy Council have had before them a report, dated 5th October, 1921, from the Minister of Labour, submitting that the problem of unemployment, and means best calculated to relieve it, has been receiving constant study and attention since about December, 1920. On December 14, 1920, a federal relief policy was announced, the object of which was to aid responsible municipal authorities to fairly meet existing needs and prevent suffering to any citizen willing to work but unable to obtain employment. It provided for payment by the Federal Government to any municipality of one-third of the amount disbursed by the municipal authorities for unemployment relief, together with a proposal that Provincial Governments join in on an equal basis. The Federal Government's disbursements for this purpose since January, 1921, have been over $600,000. Many gratifying expressions of appreciation have been received, in most cases accompanied by the suggestion that employment should be provided instead of paying unemployment doles. Since July 13 the Department of Labour has been in communication with Provincial Governments, mayors of municipalities and others as to improved methods of dealing with the situation next winter.

It was suggested to the Provincial Governments that, inasmuch as the extent of unemployment, as well as possible remedies, varied in different provinces, a provincial survey by conference or otherwise might be made by each Provincial Government, after which a conference of provincial representatives might meet with the Federal Government to discuss the problem and devise some general plan of assistance to the municipalities, upon whom the duty and responsibility of dealing with relief primarily rests.

Three Provincial Governments only have thus far signified concurrence in the suggestion for a central conference of provincial representatives, two of which desire the representation to extend to organizations other than governmental.

Inasmuch as a federal conference with wide basis of representation would be both cumbersome and expensive, of doubtful value, and, thus far, only approved of by three of the Provincial Governments, and, further, because of the necessity of early decision and action, if useful service is to be rendered, the Minister recommends that the following federal policy of basic principles on unemployment be approved:—

1. Unemployment relief always has been, and must necessarily continue to be, primarily a municipal responsibility, and in the second instance the responsibility of the province.
2. That because of the present situation being due to causes beyond the power of local, or even national control, Provincial and Federal Governments should co-operate with municipal authorities in,—
   (a) helping to create and provide employment;
   (b) where employment cannot be furnished to workmen who are willing to work, to aid in providing food and shelter for themselves and dependents until the present emergency period is past.
3. That federal funds used for unemployment relief or for relief work must be disbursed only through responsible municipal authorities, who in each case shall bear at least one-third of the total or extra cost.

The minister further recommends that the Federal Government agree to participate in the cost of work provided by municipalities to relieve unemployment on the following basis:—

(a) Municipality to bear the normal cost, that is to say, the cost of carrying on the said work in the normal working season.

(b) Estimate of normal cost to be approved by Federal Government's engineers in the Department of Public Works.

(c) That Municipal, Provincial and Federal Governments bear equally and jointly the actual cost over the estimated normal cost, thereby encouraging the creation of employment where possible.

(d) That where work cannot be provided, the Federal Government continue to refund one-third of the disbursements actually made by a municipality for unemployment relief, conditional upon the provinces participating on an equal basis.

The committee concur in the foregoing recommendations and submit the same for approval.

(Sgd.) RODOLPHE BOUDREAU,
Clerk of the Privy Council.

It should be noted with regard to the reference in the text of P.C. 3831 to federal disbursements to the extent of "over $600,000," that the statement in question had regard to disbursements which extended beyond the close of the fiscal year. The federal expenditures within the fiscal year 1920-21 were, as above stated, $343,336.55.

New Regulations in 1922

By a further Order in Council of January 25, 1922, P.C. 191, new regulations were made extending at some points the measure of federal assistance to the municipalities. In the case of public works undertaken for the relief of unemployment the Federal Government undertook, under P.C. 191, to bear one-half of the excess cost over normal, providing that the Provincial Government assumed responsibility for one-third of such excess cost, thus leaving the municipality to bear the normal cost plus one-sixth of the excess cost. The Government continued assistance to municipalities which had made expenditures on account of unemployment relief in cases where work could not be provided, refunding to the municipality one-third of the disbursements made, the federal assistance being conditional upon the participation on an equal basis by the provinces concerned. In addition, it will be noted, P.C. 191 provided that in districts that had not set up some form of municipal government the federal authorities would reimburse the Provincial Governments concerned to the extent of one-half of the disbursements made by the Provincial Government for relief and relief administration: also that in the case of returned soldiers the Federal Government would reimburse the municipal authorities to the extent of one-half of the expenditures made on account of unemployment relief, conditional on the balance being contributed in equal parts by the province and municipality concerned.

P.C. 191

Certified Copy of a Report of the Committee of the Privy Council, approved by His Excellency the Governor General on the 25th day of January, 1922.

The Committee of the Privy Council have had before them a report, dated 25th January, 1922, from the Prime Minister, submitting the following observations with reference to the Order in Council of 7th October, 1921 (P.C. 3831) respecting unemployment relief.

1. The present administration, assuming office at the close of the year 1921, finds that a condition of unemployment beginning in the late months of 1920 and continuing throughout the year 1921 does not promise any material abatement during the early winter months of 1922.

2. Consideration has been given to the means which would seem best adapted to the relief of the distress resulting from severe unemployment conditions, and the provisions to this end of P.C. 3831 have been carefully noted.

3. The minister concurs in the view that the question of unemployment relief is fundamentally a municipal and provincial responsibility; that the abnormal economic and industrial conditions now existing and arising in a measure out of the late war alone afford justification for action on the part of the federal authorities; that federal action must therefore supplement municipal and provincial efforts, must be designed on lines permitting close and effective co-operation with and supervision by municipal and provincial authorities, and must be proportioned by the efforts of those authorities.

4. That municipal undertakings in the nature of public works are important factors in meeting unemployment conditions, but such undertakings cannot be proceeded with during the winter months save at a considerably increased cost, which is in many cases beyond the financial resources of the municipalities.

5. That, having these various points in mind, it is desirable that Federal employment assistance and unemployment relief should be granted on the following basis:—

(a) In the case of public works undertaken by a municipality during the winter months and specially with a view to the relief of unemployment in the district, the municipality will bear the normal cost and the Federal Government will bear one-half of the extra cost incurred by the prosecution of the work during the winter season, the estimate of the normal cost to be approved by officers of the Federal Department of Public Works; the federal grant to be conditional on the province assuming responsibility for one-third of such excess expenditure.

(b) That where work cannot be provided, the Federal Government will refund to a municipality one-third of the disbursements made on account of unemployment relief, disbursed to others than those specified in paragraph (d) following and conditional on the participation on an equal basis by the province concerned.

(c) That where in certain provinces there are unorganized districts without municipal government in which unemployment or distress exists and the Provincial Government finds it necessary to administer a system of unemployment or distress relief, the Federal Government will reimburse the Provincial Government concerned to the extent of one-half of such disbursements for relief and for the administration of the unemployment or distress relief policy in the district.

(d) That in the case of unemployed former members of the Canadian or British forces, now in Canada, discharged as physically fit or not entitled to assistance by the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, the Federal Government will reimburse the municipal authorities to the extent of one-half the disbursements made for unemployment relief, the remaining quota to be contributed in equal parts by the province and municipality respectively.

6. It is to be noted that these regulations do not seek to meet the case of disabled members of the Canadian overseas forces and other classes of returned soldiers which fall within the jurisdiction of regulations administered by the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment; or of persons (where such exist) whose necessities do not clearly arise from inability to secure employment and with whose necessities the municipal authorities have been accustomed to deal.

7. It is the expectation of the federal authorities that the provisions herein will be interpreted broadly and generously by the municipalities and the provinces so that no resident of Canada willing and able to work and unable to secure employment shall lack food, clothing or shelter for himself or herself and dependents.

8. These provisions to continue in effect until the close of the present fiscal year.

The committee concur in the foregoing observations and recommendations and submit the same for approval accordingly.

(Sgd.) RODOLPHE BOUDREAU,
Clerk of the Privy Council.

Additional Regulations

The provisions of P.C. 191 were intended in the first instance to continue in effect until the end of the fiscal year, March 31, 1922, but, by reason of representations received by the Government from provincial and municipal authorities, the time limit was extended to April 16, 1922, in the case of municipal public works and relief in unorganized districts, and to April 30, 1922, in the case of disbursements made for unemployment relief where work could not be provided, and as to returned soldiers. In view of exceptional conditions reported from the province of Manitoba, and of requests received from the authorities of the municipal and Provincial Governments of that province, the provisions of the Order in Council were extended in the case of Manitoba, beyond April 30; whilst in the case of Halifax, N.S., special provision was made under P.C. 78/472, March 8, 1922, whereby in the case of unemployed former members of the Canadian or British forces now in Canada, discharged as physically fit or not entitled to assistance by the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, the Federal Government would reimburse the municipal authorities of the city of Halifax to the extent of one-half of the disbursements made by the municipality for unemployment relief, irrespective of any assistance granted by the Provincial Government.

Under an Order in Council, P.C. 2508, of February 4, 1922, particular attention was given to the degree of distress arising out of unemployment among returned soldiers in the city of Montreal, and the sum of $7,868.87 was disbursed in connection with relief to returned soldiers, in addition to $24,972.60 which was paid in connection with general unemployment relief in the municipality of Montreal.

The policy of the Federal Government was designed only to meet the emergency conditions of the winter of 1921-22, but looking somewhat beyond the close of the fiscal year it may be stated that, in response to requests received from provincial and other authorities, it was announced by the Minister of Labour that the Federal Government would convene a conference of representatives of the Federal and Provincial Governments for the consideration of the problem of unemployment with a view to the determination, if possible, of lines of co-operation between federal and local authorities in the event of necessity for the same arising, also as to certain aspects of other industrial and social questions involving inter-discussion as between federal and provincial authorities.

The disbursements during the year 1921-22 on account of unemployment were $500,000, a portion of which, approximately $260,000, represented delayed accounts from 1920-21, and approximately $240,000 was paid out on various unemployment accounts. Federal liabilities for the greater portion of the winter of 1921-22 did not become known until some time after the fiscal year had closed. The liabilities not covered within the fiscal year may be placed approximately at $800,000, about equally divided between direct relief and assistance on public works. The following statement shows the payments falling within the fiscal year:—

REPORT

OF THE

DEPUTY MINISTER OF MARINE AND FISHERIES

To the Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

Sir,—I have the honour to submit herewith my report for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1922.

At the beginning of the year 1921 there was a drop in the shipping under construction in the United Kingdom as compared with that in hand at the end of September, 1920. This although not particularly marked, was taken by Lloyds, in conjunction with a number of other factors, to indicate a decline in the British shipbuilding industry in the near future. This has now been clearly shown. Not only in the United Kingdom, but generally throughout the world, the shipbuilding trade, and trades allied with it, have suffered a serious setback.

There are a number of reasons for this general depression. To begin with, the sudden and dramatic ending of the war, which everybody thought would have lasted for at least another year, threw, at the close of 1919, a large amount of surplus tonnage on the market, chiefly from American yards, which otherwise might have been needed.

According to Lloyds, at the time of the armistice, November 11, 1918, the steam tonnage of the maritime nations of the world (excluding the Central powers) had suffered a net loss of 1,794,000 tons, since August, 1914.

Lloyds puts new construction for the years 1918 to 1920 inclusive, at about 18,500,000 gross tons. Of this tonnage American yards alone supplied 9,584,668 tons, as follows: 1918, 3,033,030 tons; 1919, 4,075,385 tons; 1920, 2,476,253 tons.

As a result of the sustained spurt of shipbuilding during this period, notably by the United States, but also by other maritime nations, world merchant tonnage at the close of 1920 exceeded the pre-war tonnage by 8,501,000 tons (Lloyds' statement).

The position of the shipping trade at the beginning of 1921 was therefore this: a heavy surplus of tonnage as compared with pre-war tonnage, and a dearth of cargoes, as compared with pre-war quantities, due to the decline of production in Europe generally.

These conditions combined with the high cost of shipbuilding and of ship operating, and the drop in ocean freight rates, following increased competition, made the building of new ships for the time being a losing venture, and even the operating of ships already built a doubtful one.

Hence the general stagnation in the shipbuilding industry and all allied industries.

Lloyds' returns of world shipbuilding (Germany excepted) for the quarter ended June 30, 1921, compared with that ended March 31, 1921, show unmistakably the general decline of the shipbuilding trade, particularly in the United States:—

Shipping in hand	June 30, 1921	March 31, 1921
(Gross tons) United States	717,000	1,102,000

" Other countries	1,952,000	2,186,000
Totals	6,199,000	7,086,000

The United Kingdom tonnage of 3,530,000 represents a total of 789 ships, steam, motor, and sail.

*Vessels of less than 100 tons are not included in Lloyd's Register Shipbuilding Returns.

These returns show that the shipbuilding decline, proportionately, is considerably less in the United Kingdom than in the United States, and the other maritime countries. The drop of 268,000 tons is not very formidable. But here again as at the beginning of the year Lloyds points out that the figures are not a true indication of the real position, which is considerably worse than appears on the surface.

The total of 3,530,000 tons includes 735,000 tons on which work has been suspended, and 444,000 tons on which work has been postponed, largely owing to the strike of the coal miners and shipyard joiners; so that the tonnage actually under way in British yards on June 30, 1921, was really 2,351,000 tons, a decrease of 1,447,000 tons as compared with that being built at the close of the previous quarter.

Lloyds also points out in further proof of the shrinkage in the work of British shipyards, that whereas in the quarter ended March 31, 1921, work was begun on 391,000 tons of steamers and motor vessels; in the quarter ended June 30, 1921, work commenced on only 68,000 tons of similar ships.

Although actually the shipbuilding industry in Britain has been adversely affected to a very considerable extent in common with the general depression, relatively, Britain's position as the leading shipbuilding nation of the world has been strengthened and emphasized.

In 1919 America completely outstripped Britain in shipbuilding. On June 30, 1919, America was building 1,350,000 tons of merchant shipping in excess of the United Kingdom, and 2,255,000 tons more than the other maritime countries combined. And at the close of 1919 she had accounted for 57 per cent of the world's output for that year.

At the end of 1920 America was still in the lead, her output being 2,476,253 tons; Britain's, 2,055,624 tons; other countries (Germany excepted), 1,279,371 tons. In 1920 America was responsible for 42 per cent of the world's output, the United Kingdom for 35 per cent.

Lloyds returns for June 30, 1921, show a complete change in the shipbuilding situation, Britain constructing 2,813,000 tons more than the United States, and 861,000 tons more than the United States and the other maritime countries combined, and accounting for about 60 per cent of the world's overseas tonnage in hand, United States for about 12 per cent. Britain thus for the time being surpassed her record for 1913 when she contributed 58 per cent of the world output.

The settlement of the coal miners' strike and consequent resumption of trade in her chief export ought to stimulate the shipping, shipbuilding, iron and steel, and engineering industries of Britain, all of which were vitally affected by the coal shortage.

Some measure of the dislocation of the British shipping trade, first by the reduced post-war output of the British coal mines, which was about one-third, per miner, of the pre-war output, and afterwards by their being practically closed for the period of the miners' strike, is furnished by a statement of American exports of coal to Europe, pre-war and 1920, appearing in an April number of Fairplay.

In 1913 American exports of coal to Europe amounted to 455,000 tons, in 1920 they reached 8,650,000 tons; to such an extent had the United States eaten into Britain's chief export trade.

Lloyds thus compares the steel and iron overseas steamship tonnages of the different maritime nations on June 30, 1914 and June 30, 1921:—

Country	June 30, 1914	June 30, 1921
	Gross tons	Gross tons
United Kingdom	18,877,000	19,288,000
British Dominions	1,407,000	1,950,000
America (U.S.)	1,837,000	12,314,000
Austria-Hungary	1,052,000	Nil
Denmark	768,000	866,000
France	1,918,000	3,046,000
Greece	820,000	576,000
Germany	5,098,000	654,000
Holland	1,471,000	2,207,000
Italy	1,428,000	2,378,000
Japan	1,642,000	3,063,000
Norway	1,923,000	2,285,000
Spain	883,000	1,094,000
Sweden	992,000	1,037,000

With the exceptions of the tonnage of Austria-Hungary, which has been wiped out, Germany's which has dropped to 654,000 from the five million mark, and that of Greece which has decreased by about 250,000 tons, all the other maritime countries show more or less substantial increases in the June 30, 1921, tonnages over those of June 30, 1914. United States tonnage shows a six-fold increase, Japan's is nearly double, France's increased by about 1,000,000 tons, and Holland and Italy show about the same proportionate increase.

In June, 1914, Britain owned 44·5 per cent of the world's overseas steamship tonnage, the United States 4·3 per cent. In June, 1921, Britain owned 35·5 per cent, the United States 22.7 per cent.

Allusions have been made in previous reports to what is termed the Five Per Cent Principle. The world's overseas merchant tonnage in June, 1914, amounted to 42,514,000 gross tons, in June, 1921, to 54,217,000 gross tons. The increase during this seven-year period roughly approximates to this principle. Had world production kept pace with the increase in the world's merchant marine it would have obviated the tying up of British, of continental, and possibly of American shipping.

On June 30, 1921, there were 1,447 ships of 1,263,000 tons fitted with internal combustion engines. On the same date in 1914 there were 290 ships of 234,000 tons similarly fitted. In 1914, 364 steamers of 1,310,000 tons were fitted for burning oil fuel; in 1921, 2,536 steamers of 12,797,000 tons. Of the merchant marine tonnage of 1921, 72 per cent used coal; in 1914 the percentage was 89.

	1914—Per cent of total gross tonnage	1921—Per cent of total gross tonnage
Sail power only	7·95	5·05
Oil, etc., in internal combustion engines	0·47	2·00
Oil fuel for boilers	2·62	20·65
Coal	88·96	72·30
	100·00	100·00

Mercantile Shipbuilding, 1921

These returns are from Lloyds Register's Annual Summary, are in gross tons and comprise only merchant ships of 100 gross tons or upwards.

UNITED KINGDOM

The launchings from the United Kingdom yards during 1921 totalled 1,538,052 tons; 517,572 tons less than those for 1920, and comprise 35 per cent of the world's output for the year.

Table showing the Countries for which the Merchant Vessels launched in the United Kingdom during 1921 have been built.

France	28	127,854	For sale or flag not stated	4	13,377
Greece	3	10,644
			Total	426	1,538,052

Britain's chief foreign customers were Norway, France, Holland, and the British Dominions, in the order named. The tonnage for foreign owners amounted to 38.5 per cent of the total output.

The returns for the United Kingdom show that 103 vessels of between 5,000 and 10,000 each, and 24 vessels of 10,000 tons and upwards were launched. The following are the six largest:—

Laconia	19,730 tons
Windsor Castle	19,000 "
Conte Rosso	18,500 "
Tuscania	17,250 "
Moldavia	16,510 "
Montclare	16,400 "

Excluding vessels of less than 1,000 tons, 29 vessels with a gross tonnage of 209,000 have been launched which were built on the Isherwood system of longitudinal framing.

The average tonnage of steamers and motor vessels launched, excluding vessels of less than 500 tons, was 4,602 tons.

During 1921, 70 vessels, tonnage 624,487, were fitted with steam turbines, and practically all of them with geared turbines.

During the year 28 motor ships of 102,356 tons were launched, 11 of them were of 5,000 tons and upwards, the largest being about 9,500 tons.

Tonnage launched in England and Wales amounted to 867,600 tons, in Scotland to 551,856 tons, and in Ireland to 118,596 tons.

The leading shipbuilding centres were: Glasgow with 358,347 tons, and Newcastle with 354,813 tons.

UNITED STATES

The output for 1921 was 1,006,413 tons, which was 1,469,840 tons less than the 1920 output, and about 3,000,000 tons less than the record output for 1919.

The decrease was general all over the country. The Pacific Coast tonnage was 55.7 per cent of the 1920 tonnage, the Atlantic and Gulf ports' tonnage about 38 per cent, and the Great Lakes tonnage less than 9 per cent.

The United States tonnage, excluding ships of less than 1,000 tons, comprised 33 ships of 228,000 tons fitted with steam turbines, and 11 ships of 35,000 tons fitted with internal combustion engines. For the carriage of oil in bulk 92 steamers were launched, aggregating about 690,000 tons; 86 of these of about 670,000 tons were built on the Isherwood system of longitudinal framing.

The totals comprise 53 steamers of between 4,000 and 7,000 tons each, 50 of between 7,000 and 10,000 tons, and 18 of 10,000 tons and upwards, including the Bethore, the largest vessel launched in the United States during 1921, the product of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation Plant, at Sparrow's Point, Md.

GERMANY

Germany's output is given by Lloyds for the first time since 1913. During 1921, 242 vessels, total tonnage 509,064, were launched; this output exceeds that of 1913 by 44,000 tons.

In this tonnage are included 17 vessels of 72,777 tons to be fitted with steam turbines, and 7 vessels of 28,839 tons to be fitted with oil engines, also 40 vessels of between 4,000 and 7,000 tons each, 13 of between 7,000 and 10,000 tons, and one of about 14,000 tons.

HOLLAND

The tonnage launched during 1921, 232,402 tons, exceeds that of 1920 by 49,000 tons, establishing a record; as usual the figures do not include vessels intended for river navigation only.

Excluding vessels of less than 1,000 tons this tonnage comprises 13 vessels of about 81,000 tons to be fitted with steam turbines, 9 of which are between 6,000 and 8,500 tons. Three vessels aggregating about 12,500 tons are to be fitted with oil engines. Sixteen vessels of between 4,000 and 7,000 tons each were launched, and four of between 8,000 and 9,600 tons.

JAPAN

Japan's output, 227,425 tons, was 229,217 tons less than in 1920, a reduction of over 50 per cent; it still, however, exceeded the total output of the years 1910-13, inclusive, by over 30,000 tons

The 1921 total includes 21 vessels of between 4,000 and 7,000 tons each, 8 of between 7,000 and 10,000 tons each, and two turbine-engined ships of between 10,000 and 10,500 tons each.

Five vessels of 43,683 tons were fitted with steam turbines, and 3 of 21,058 tons were built for carrying oil in bulk.

FRANCE

The launchings in 1921 amounted to 210,663 tons, an increase of 117,214 tons over those of 1920, and established a record for French building. In the previous record year 1902, 192,196 tons were launched, 146,000 tons being made up of sailing vessels.

The figures for 1921 include 11 steamers of between 4,000 and 7,000 tons each, 11 of between 7,000 and 10,000 tons, and one of 10,741 tons.

Eleven vessels of 62,882 tons were fitted with steam turbines, including two, one of 10,741 tons, and one of 4,618 tons, for which turbo-electric compulsion was adopted.

SCANDINAVIAN COUNTRIES

Tonnage launched in Denmark, Norway, and Sweden, reached 194,607 tons, an increase of 31,260 tons over the 1920 output.

The increase in Denmark amounted to 16,569 tons, in Norway to 12,603 tons, and in Sweden to 2,088 tons, Denmark and Sweden furnishing records.

The totals include 8 vessels of between 4,000 and 7,000 tons each launched in Sweden, 3 in Norway, and 2 in Denmark; in Denmark also were launched 3 motor vessels of over 7,000 tons each, the two largest being about 8,700 tons each.

The tonnage of steel vessels fitted with internal combustion engines launched in Denmark—45,113 tons—is the largest for any country outside the United Kingdom.

ITALY

Italy's output for 1921, 164,748 tons, exceeded that of 1920 by 32,000 tons, and established an Italian record.

About twenty-five per cent of the 1921 output was from the Trieste district.

The totals include 23 steamers of between 4,000 and 7,000 tons and one of 7,756 tons. Eight vessels of 43,620 tons were fitted with steam turbines and 4 of 24,512 tons were built to carry oil in bulk.

BRITISH DOMINIONS

The British Dominions' output in 1921 of 129,675 tons was 74,000 tons less than in 1920. Canada launched 78,420 tons; less than half the output for 1920. On the coasts and on the St. Lawrence 11 steamers of between 4,000 and 7,000 tons and one of 7,177 tons were launched.

In the other British Dominions, 51,255 tons of shipping were launched, of which the Hong Kong district supplied 31,453 tons and Australia 17,408 tons. In the Hong Kong district 4 vessels of between 5,000 and 6,000 tons each were built.

SPAIN

During the year 47,256 tons were launched; this was an increase over the 1920 output of 1,306 tons, but fell short of the 1919 one by 5,353 tons.

The figures include 2 steamers of about 5,000 tons each, and 2 turbine vessels, one of 7,000 tons and the other of 10,137 tons.

General Review

The merchant shipping output of the world in 1921 was 1,519,987 tons less than that for 1920. United States yards showed a drop of 1,469,840 tons, British yards of 517,572 tons, but the total of the other countries shows a gain of 467,425 tons, the figures being:—

	Gross tons 1920	Gross tons 1921
United States	2,476,253	1,006,413
United Kingdom	2,055,624	1,538,052
Other countries	1,329,789	1,797,214
World total	5,861,666	4,341,679

A striking feature of Lloyds returns for 1921 is the re-entry of Germany into the shipbuilding field in decisive fashion. She at present occupies the third place among shipbuilding nations, and has surpassed her 1918 shipbuilding record by 44,000 tons. Should American shipbuilding continue to decline, Germany may ere long hold second place in world shipbuilding.

Though Great Britain, United States, Japan, and the British Dominions show a falling-off in the 1921 production as compared with that of 1920, Holland, France, Italy and the Scandinavian countries show substantial gains, and Spain a small one, and it seems apparent that the continental countries at present are bent on increasing the strengths of their merchant marines, and in this connection Lloyds comparison of proportionate shipbuilding for the pre-war year and the three years immediately succeeding the war is of interest.

	1913 per cent	1919 per cent	1920 per cent	1921 per cent
United States	8·3	57·1	42·2	23·2
United Kingdom	58·0	22·6	35·1	35·4
Other countries	33·7	20·3	22·7	41·4

It will be noticed that in 1921 for the first time the percentage of continental tonnage is higher than that of the United Kingdom, and also that in the space of two years that percentage was more than doubled, 1919 figures being 20·3 per cent, those of 1921, 41·4 per cent; taking into consideration the amount of shipping in hand in the continental countries at the close of 1921, already given, and the part again being played by Germany as one of the leading shipbuilding nations, it is very probable that the proportionate increase of continental shipping will be accentuated in 1922.

An important development of 1921 shipbuilding was the increase in the construction of tankers, of which about 65 per cent more were built in 1921 than in 1920, the United States taking the lead, as shown by the following Lloyds statement:—

	Gross tons 1921	Gross tons 1920
United States	690,308	567,000
United Kingdom	250,868	65,400
Other countries	109,180	8,000
World tanker output	1,050,356	640,400

There was also a tendency to build larger ships. In 1920, 32 ships of 10,000 tons and over were built; in 1921, 47.

Motor ship construction shows a gain. In 1921, 306,642 gross tons of shipping fitted with internal combustion engines were launched; in 1920, 189,977 tons.

In the tonnage of ships fitted with turbines, 1921 shows a decline, the 1921 tonnage being 1,195,000 tons, the 1920, 1,825,000 tons.

Lloyds estimates the total shipbuilding orders in hand at the beginning of 1922 at 4,457,000 gross tons; as much of this has, however, been already launched, and little new work is being placed, Lloyds is of the opinion that the 1922 output will probably be considerably less than the one for 1921.

Canadian Government Merchant Marine

Of the original Canadian Government merchant fleet of 63 ships, deadweight tonnage 380,160, for which contracts were placed in the different Canadian yards: the first, the Canadian Voyageur, 4,300 tons d.w., was delivered from the Montreal yards of Canadian Vickers in February, 1919; the last, the Canadian Constructor, 10,500 tons d.w., was handed over to the officials of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine on January 15, 1922, from the Halifax yards, for service on the New Zealand and Australian route.

The entire fleet comprises 65 ships, approximate deadweight tonnage 381,414; besides the ships with the prefix "Canadian" originally contracted for, it includes the Drummond, Sheba, and McKee, turned over to the company by the Department of Railways and Canals.

On the Atlantic coast the home ports of the fleet are Halifax and St. John for winter sailings, and on the St. Lawrence, Montreal for summer sailings. On the Pacific coast there are regular sailings from Vancouver to Australia, New Zealand, India, and the Orient. The larger ships now carry a certain number of passengers as well as freight.

The principal trade routes of the fleet were given in the 1920 report, under the heading "Marine Activities Affecting Canadian Ports."

American Merchant Marine

The fluctuations in the shipbuilding activities of the United States have of late been kaleidoscopic.

In 1919 America not only completely outbuilt the United Kingdom, but accounted for 57 per cent of the world output for that year.

In 1920 she still held the upper hand, accounting for 42 per cent of the world output, the United Kingdom for 35 per cent.

On December 31, 1920, United States had in hand 1,310,312 tons of shipping; on March 31, 1921, 1,102,672 tons; on June 30, 1921, 717,624 tons; on September 30, 1921, 433,962 tons; and on December 31, 1921, 216,428 tons.

In the course of a year United States shipping under construction had dropped by more than 1,000,000 tons. So rapid a rise, and so rapid a decline, has no parallel in the history of shipbuilding since ships were first built by men.

The returns here given are taken from the annual report of the American Commissioner of Navigation to the Secretary of Commerce for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1921.

American Shipping, June 30, 1914, and June 30, 1921

June 30, 1921	11,081,690	2,361,166	4,839,280	18,282,136

Great Lakes shipping shows a drop of 521,756 tons, and sea and river shipping an increase of 869,666 tons, the two nearly balancing.

Sea-going tonnage of 1921 is between ten and eleven times greater than in 1914. The 1921 tonnage does not include eleven of the large German ships seized, aggregating 167,000 gross tons, of which the Leviathan (54,281 gross tons) is the largest. These ships, however, were laid up on June 30, 1921, together with a number of others; the present operating strength of the American overseas merchant marine is therefore somewhat less than is shown by the table:—

American sea carrying trade has naturally kept pace with the increase of the American merchant marine. The value of the trade carried in American bottoms steadily increased during the years 1914-20 with the increase of American shipbuilding, and declined in 1921 with its decline, but the total value of imports and exports carried in American bottoms during 1921 was more than four times greater than in 1914, the percentages as shown by the table being 39·8 and 9·7 respectively.

An interesting feature of the Japanese merchant marine is the comparatively high proportion of sailing ships included in it. These comprise about 25 per cent of the total Japanese tonnage and are five times as numerous as the steamships.

In the distribution of Japanese steamships of 1,000 tons and over, the Japanese returns give the number and tonnage of the ships on April 30, 1921, not in commission under the Japanese flag, under the titles, " Chartered by foreigners," " Ships lying idle," and " Stranded "; the sum total of these is 81 ships, tonnage 235,579; the effective strength of the steamships of 1,000 tons and over of the Japanese merchant marine on April 30, 1921, was accordingly 706 ships, of 2,442,345 tons.

During the fiscal year April 1, 1920, to March 31, 1921, 86 vessels were launched, their approximate tonnage being 410,000 tons.

Drop in Ocean Freight Rates

A November, 1921, number of The Nautical Gazette states that rates on general cargo from North Atlantic American ports to the United Kingdom and continental ports were 20 per cent lower than in 1920, while the decline on wheat was 46 per cent and on flour 55·5 per cent.

From the Gulf ports general cargo rates had dropped 18 per cent, the rates on wheat 48 per cent, on flour 47 per cent, and on cotton 64 per cent.

The average reduction on general cargo and basic commodities amounted to about 40 per cent.

From the port of New York to United Kingdom and continental ports the 1920 and 1921 rates are given as follows:—

Rates from New York to African ports also show a decline. The rate to Capetown in November, 1920, was $27 per 2,240 pounds or 40 cubic feet; in November, 1921, the standard quotation was $23. To Durban the 1920 rate was $28.80; the 1921 rate $24.80.

From United Kingdom ports rates have fallen to such a point that only vessels operated on the cheapest basis can show a moderate profit after clearing expenses. Tonnage has so far exceeded cargoes, and competition as a result become so keen, that rates have been cut to a minimum in order to avoid the tying up of ships.

British Merchant Marine's Part in Late War

An authentic and detailed summary of the actual services rendered by Britain's merchant marine during the war has at length been given by Sir Joseph McLay, Bart. (Controller of British Shipping from 1916 to the close of the war), in his presidential address to the Institute of Marine Engineers on November 1, 1921.

Of steamers, 500 gross tons and over, there were employed as auxiliaries for purely naval purposes during the war period 1,181 ships of 3,531,029 gross tons.

From August, 1914, to November, 1920, the number of individuals carried to and from all the war fronts was 33,340,736.

Up to the armistice (November 11, 1918) 49,000,000 tons weight of army stores alone (all civil shipments excluded) was carried; up to November, 1920, 56,000,000 tons weight.

Of horses and other animals two and a half millions were carried for army purposes, many of them on long voyages to Australia, Mesopotamia, India, Egypt, etc., and from River Plate to Egypt, France, and the United Kingdom. At one period of the war 40,000 horses and mules were brought monthly from the United States and River Plate to the United Kingdom.

In 1918, France had the equivalent of over 1,000,000 gross tons of British shipping at her entire disposal, which carried 43 per cent of her total imports; at the same time Italy had the equivalent of over 500,000 tons of British shipping, which carried about 45 per cent of her total imports.

During 1918 over 1,000,000 troops were brought from the United States in British ships. From March to August, 1918, 124 additional ships were employed in this service, and every American soldier carried shut out two tons of essential cargo.

The total number of British merchant seamen engaged in the war was about 300,000; number of lives lost, 15,629.

Sir Joseph gives the total loss of British shipping during the war by submarines and other risks, including only vessels of 500 gross tons and over, as 9,943,000 gross tons.

Special Work

In addition to the general work of this office, experiments were carried out by Mr. de Miffonis, of this branch, for which purpose the services of the physics laboratory at Queen's University were made available to the department through the kindness of the authorities in charge.

While not yet completed, interesting and important information has been obtained in connection with the optical properties of the various illuminants used in the Canadian lighthouse service. Studies have also been made in connection with the various metallic reflecting surfaces available for lighthouse purposes, and the desirability of replacing incandescent oil burners by incandescent electric bulbs, as already indicated, has become more apparent.

Ice-breaking

The five-year contract with the Great Lakes Transportation Company, to keep the harbours at the head of lake Superior open for navigation until December 17, in each year, and to open them in the spring, as soon as the canal at Sault Ste. Marie is open for navigation, is still in force.

SESSIONAL PAPER No. 28

RIVER ST. LAWRENCE SHIP CHANNEL

REPORT OF V. W. FORNERET, B.A.Sc., M.E.I.C., SUPERINTENDING ENGINEER

GENERAL INFORMATION

The River St. Lawrence Ship channel commences at the lower exit of the Lachine canal and extends down as far as Father Point, a distance of 340 statute miles.

What may be properly called the "Ship channel," the contracted part of the river, commences at "The Traverse," 60 miles below Quebec, which is 220 miles from Montreal by South channel and by the uncompleted North channel 226 miles, Montreal to Goose cape.

This is divided into five divisions as follows:—

	Statute miles
Division I—Montreal to Sorel	45
" II—Sorel to Batiscan (not including lake St. Peter)	36
" III—Lake St. Peter	20
" IV—Batiscan to Quebec	59
" V—Quebec to Goose cape (North channel)	66
Total	226

DEPTH OF WATER IN THE SHIP CHANNEL, SEASON 1921

The lowest depth of water in the Ship channel during the season of 1921 was 30 feet 2 inches by the Sorel gauge; this was 1 inch higher than the previous season.

The following give the averages for each month during the season of navigation for 1920 and 1921:—

	May	June	July	Aug.	Sept.	Oct.	Nov.	Highest	Lowest
	Ft. in.	Ft. in.	Ft. in.	Ft. in.	Ft. in.	Ft. in.	Ft. in.	Ft. in.	Ft. in.
1920	35 9	33 0	32 4	31 8	31 5	31 4	31 6	37 5	30 1
1921	35 6	32 9	31 10	31 4	30 10	31 4	31 6	37 8	30 2

It is surprising that notwithstanding the extreme dry season during the summer of 1921 that the water level did not go lower than the season of 1920.

It will be noted that the water level was lower during the first part of the season, but rose to that of 1920 after the month of September. This was probably due to the water level in the Ottawa river being higher after September, which gave a larger discharge into the St. Lawrence river.

SWEEPING OF CHANNEL

The Ship channel was swept as usual during the season by the sweeping steamer Detector, and no obstruction of a serious nature was found.

TIDAL SEMAPHORES

The tidal semaphores at Cap à la Roche (Deschaillons, P.Q.), which shows the available depth of water in the dredged channel, commenced operations on April 19, 1921. The tidal semaphore at Pointe Citrouille, which also shows the depth of water in the Cap à la Roche channel, commenced on same date. The Cap à la Roche and Pointe Citrouille semaphore stations are connected by special telephone lines to enable the operator at Cap à la Roche station to telephone every 3-inch rise or fall of tide to the operator at Pointe Citrouille.

The tidal semaphore at St. Nicholas, P.Q., which shows the available depth of water in the undredged St. Augustin channel, was put in operation April 19, 1921.

SYSTEM OF PERMANENT BEACONS FOR PLACING NAVIGATION BUOYS

Good progress was made during the season of 1921 in laying out and erecting permanent beacons for placing and checking the position of the channel buoys. This work, which is done by the Ship Channel staff, was completed between Longue Pointe and Lake St. Peter and also between Three Rivers and Pointe Citrouille. It is proposed to erect a certain number every season.

DREDGING OPERATIONS, SEASON 1921

The dredging operations on the River St. Lawrence Ship Channel for the season of 1921 were carried on with about the same plant as during the season of 1920, only one additional dredge being placed in commission.

The plant consisted of five dredges, one rock-breaker and the necessary attending plant of tugs, scows, stone-lifters, floating shop, etc.

Division I—Montreal to Sorel

Forsyth Shoal (Longueuil Curve), Montreal Harbour.—During the season of 1921, three dredges were employed for short periods deepening the channel from 30 to 35 feet at E.L.W. of 1897 and widening the curve on the north side in order to obtain a width of 850 feet.

The material removed consisted of hard pan, clay, stones, boulders and some very hard shale rock. The total number of cubic yards dredged amounted to 31,500, at a total cost of $58,384.75, or $1 85$^{34}/_{100}$ cents per cubic yard.

Vercheres to Contrecœur Channel.—One powerful elevator dredge was employed during most of the season deepening the channel from 30 to 35 feet at E.L.W. of 1897, the dredged material being clay.

The total number of cubic yards removed amounted to 291,750, at a total cost of $94,847.38, or 32$^{51}/_{100}$ cents per cubic yard.

Division II—Sorel to Batiscan

Ste. Anne Curve.—One dredge worked for part of the season deepening the channel from 30 to 35 feet at E.L.W. of 1897, the material being clay.

The total number of cubic yards removed amounted to 24,750, at a total cost of $11,653.90, or 47 $^{9}/_{100}$ cents per cubic yard.

Champlain Channel.—The channel was again carefully examined by the sweeping steamer Detector early in the season for 30 feet at E.L.W. of 1897 and several sand bars were found to have formed since it had been cleaned up the previous season. These were removed by a dredge before the low water season.

This is the only point in the ship channel between Montreal and Quebec where silting of any importance occurs.

The amount of material dredged amounted to 79,250 cubic yards, at a total cost of $48,734.51, or 61$^{49}/_{100}$ cents per cubic yard.

Division III—Lake St. Peter

No dredging was done in this division during the season of 1921.

Division IV—Batiscan to Quebec

Cap à la Roche Curve.—Two powerful elevator dredges and one rock-breaker were operated during most of the season, widening and deepening the channel to 30 feet at E.L.W. of 1897.

The widening on the north side is now completed and dredged to 30 feet at E.L.W. Owing to the deepening of the south half not being completed to 30 feet, the available depth in the channel is 27½ feet at ordinary low water.

There still remains some widening to be done on the south side of the channel at the lower end of the curve.

Notwithstanding the loss of time due to tides and passing ships and the extremely hard nature of the rock to be dredged, good progress was made. One stone-lifter was also occupied all season cleaning up boulders, and lifted several hundred.

The total number of cubic yards dredged during the season of 1921 amounted to 170,250, at a total cost of $152,218.66, or 89⁴⁰⁄₁₀₀ cents per cubic yard.

Division V—Quebec to Goose Cape (North Channel)

The powerful hydraulic suction dredge No. 8 (Beaujeu) was operated all season on the East Narrows (North channel). The number of cubic yards removed amounted to 569,600, consisting of sand, gravel, clay and stones, at a total cost of $98,821.54, or 17³⁵⁄₁₀₀ cents per cubic yard.

The total number of cubic yards dredged in the River St. Lawrence Ship Channel during the season of 1921 amounted to 1,167,100, at a total cost of $464,660.74, or 39⁸¹⁄₁₀₀ cents per cubic yard.

The total amount dredged from 1851 to the end of the season of 1921 amounted to 119,336,133 cubic yards, the material varying from very hard shale rock to soft blue clay.

ACCIDENTS IN THE ST. LAWRENCE RIVER, SEASON 1921

Between Montreal and Quebec

June 1.—Canadian Government Merchant Marine steamer Canadian Seigneur, outward bound, went aground outside of channel in Montreal harbour. Was refloated; slight damage.

June 16.—SS. Wathena, outward bound, went aground on south side of channel between buoys 159M and 161M. Was refloated on the 18th; slight damage.

July 14.—Steamer Mapledawn, belonging to the Canada Steamship Company, and the Norwegian steamer Rygja collided at St. Croix bar; slight damage.

August 1.—SS. Mina Brea, of the Imperial Oil Company, bound for Montreal, was beached one mile above Sorel on south side on account of leakage. This steamer had touched off Matane on way up. After being lightened, she proceeded up.

August 6.—SS. Astrea, inward bound, grounded near Longue Pointe, Montreal harbour, at 10.30 p.m. Was refloated again and left up at 6 a.m. on the 7th. Slight damage.

September 13.—SS. Bellerby, outward bound, went aground near Ile Ronde, Montreal harbour. Was refloated; slight damage.

September 13.—SS. Wordsworth, outward bound, went aground on north side of channel one mile above Pointe Citrouille Signal Station. Was pulled off by the ship channel tug Emelia, working in the vicinity, at high tide. No damage.

October 11.—SS. Brumath, belonging to the Gaspé Côtier Company, bound for Montreal, went aground on Bouchard island, below Verchères, P.Q. Was refloated; no damage.

November 14.—SS. Cassandra, Donaldson Line, bound for Montreal, went aground outside of channel off Pointe aux Trembles, Montreal harbour, early in the morning. Was refloated at 9.30 a.m.; slight damage.

Quebec to Father Point

August 18.—SS. Maskinonge, belonging to the Dominion Coal Company, and the Canadian Government Merchant Marine steamer Canadian Recruit, both bound for Sydney, N.S., collided off Stone pillars, below Quebec, one-half mile east of buoy 64Q. The Canadian Recruit was sunk (no lives lost) and the Maskinonge returned to Quebec as soon as weather cleared for examination and necessary repairs.

August 19.—Canadian Government Merchant Marine steamer Canadian Warrior, inward bound, stranded near Lower Traverse lightship. Floated off at high tide; slight damage.

September 14.—SS. Innerton, inward bound, stranded on Red island. Was refloated; slight damage.

October 4.—SS. Sante Elena, inward bound, stranded at Channel patch. Was refloated and returned to Quebec next morning; slight damage.

December 1.—SS. Brant County, outward bound from Quebec, went aground on Brulé bank, North channel. Floated at high tide, and returned to Quebec for examination; slight damage.

NOTE.—None of the above accidents between Montreal and Quebec and Quebec and Father Point can be attributed to any fault of the ship channel.

ICE-BREAKING, 1921-22

REPORT OF H. B. McLEAN, ENGINEER (RIVER ST. LAWRENCE SHIP CHANNEL)

I have the honour to submit the following report on the work of the ice-breaking steamers Lady Grey and Montcalm during the winter of 1921-22.

The weather conditions during the winter season of 1921-22 were about normal, not being exceptionally cold nor yet extremely mild. The ice bridge formed at Port St. Francis on December 16 and by December 26 the river was covered with ice from that point to Montreal. On January 24 the ice jammed at Portneuf and by February 10 had backed up to Port St. Francis. Below Portneuf there was open water the whole season.

The Lady Grey went to Three Rivers on November 27, to keep Port St. Francis open and to assist ships in the ice. No great difficulty was experienced. The last vessel, the ss. Crowe, passed outwards on December 9, and the last vessel inwards, the ss. Clyde, on December 14, the Lady Grey proceeded to Quebec, and took up her station there for the winter. While the Lady Grey was employed above, the Mont- calm performed the same service below Quebec, giving assistance to ships at the Saguenay and outwards from Quebec.

The ice jammed three times at Quebec bridge and on several occasions large battures from above came down, but these jams and battures were all successfully broken up by the ice-breakers.

On January 24 an ice jam formed at Portneuf. Owing to unfavourable weather conditions, the Lady Grey was unable to go up until January 27, when it was found that the jam had reached such proportions that it was found advisable not to attempt to break it up until March.

The operation of opening the upper reaches of the river began March 2, at a point halfway between Portneuf and Cap Santé. One ice-breaker was detailed for work above, while the other remained at Quebec to break up any jams that might form and make certain that the other vessel would not be cut off from her base.

As was expected, the ice from Portneuf to Richelieu island was exceedingly heavy, but from Richelieu island upwards rather lighter than usual. Very satisfactory progress was made and on April 3 the Montcalm arrived at Three Rivers.

From April 3 to 13 the ice-breakers were engaged between Three Rivers and the foot of lake St. Peter. The lake ice began to move on April 8, and on April 13 the lake was clear, the Lady Grey proceeding upwards and reaching Montreal the same day.

On April 19, at the request of the Department of Railways and Canals, the Lady Grey proceeded to the foot of the Soulanges canal, where she was engaged breaking up an unusually heavy accumulation of frazil ice. When this work was completed and the channel clear, she returned to Montreal, arriving there April 24.

METEOROLOGICAL SERVICE

Report of Sir Frederick Stupart, Director

As time goes on, it becomes more and more obvious that climatic records are essential to the development of the country. Agriculture and power developments are industries particularly dependent on temperature and rainfall and the Meteorological Service is being continually pressed to increase the number of observing stations. At the present time there are 646 observing stations, an increase of 12 over last year's. At 293 of these stations the observer is paid a salary for the duties performed, but it is only at Toronto, Victoria, Edmonton, Moose Jaw, Winnipeg, Quebec and St. John, that the observers are paid for whole time work. In the majority of instances the stipend is very small. At 353 stations the observing is performed voluntarily by men who take an interest in Meterological records.

THE CENTRAL OFFICE

The Central Office staff consists of thirty-eight persons and for purposes of administration is divided into eight divisions, the activities of which have been as follows:—

Forecasts.—Synoptical charts of the North American continent, Western Europe. and the North Atlantic ocean, have been compiled twice daily from reports received by telegraph, cable and wireless, and from study of the atmospheric movements shown by these charts, forecasts of the probable weather for the next thirty-six hours in Canada and Newfoundland and adjacent waters have been issued, and when deemed necessary storm warnings have been issued to ports on the Great Lakes, and gulf of St. Lawrence, and on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. This division also purchases, supplies, supervises the issue of meteorological instruments and signal lights and drums in all parts of Canada.

The percentage and verification of the daily forecasts has been 84·3, and of storm warnings 83·4.

Climatology.—Prepares monthly and annual bulletins and detailed reports with maps, diagrams, etc., on current weather in all parts of Canada, Newfoundland and Bermuda, supplies weather data to railways and litigants to decide disputes and claims founded on damage through effects of weather. Upon request furnishes special studies of extremes and averages of temperature, precipitation, wind movement, etc., in specified districts to water-power and construction engineers, settlers, physicians and others.

Prepares and issues comprehensive reports and atlases on the climate of the various provinces embodying results of weather observations during the period since Confederation, prepares shorter articles on related subjects for inclusion in bulletins of other governmental departments and of provincial governments, boards of trade, etc.

During the year 1921, the printing of the Record was transferred from Toronto to the Printing Bureau at Ottawa.

Commencing with the issue for January, 1922, certain daily observations, formerly published but omitted during war-time when the issue of the Record was reduced, are being printed and with the same number commences a more comprehensive summary of wind observations.

Work has been continued on the detailed report on the climate of Eastern Canada. The part dealing with the temperature and precipitation of Ontario, illustrated with maps and diagrams will be published during 1922.

Study of Canadian crops in relation to weather changes has also been continued. A method of studying graphically the yields of wheat in the Canadian West in relation to the seasonal changes in the prevailing winds of the North Temperate Zone, was devised during the year and explained before the Toronto meeting of the American Meteorological Association. The maps made in this connection showed the futility of attempts at artificial rainmaking and also showed that for the south-western districts of the wheat region frequently recurring dry years are normal and that therefore, irrigation canals should always be kept in good repair from season to season, even in years of ample rainfall.

Having regard to the growing interest in Canada with respect to problems of reforestation, this division has installed a study of variations in the growth of pine and spruce in order to trace the effect of the weather changes and of local climates. At the present time sections of aged felled trees or even of stumps, are easily obtained from the date of the last annual ring identified with certainty. A collection of such sections from different parts of Canada is being made and correlations of annual ring-growth with weather computed. It is proposed to increase the collection by having paper impressions made wherever possible by Meteorological inspections in future when on annual inspections of outlying stations.

Mr. F. F. Payne, of the Central Office, has for some years past prepared interesting tables of phenological observations made on the various provinces and these may be found in the Annual Report of the Royal Society of Canada; a small supply of reprints is furnished to this service. While it has not been considered necessary to publish these observations in detail in the Meteorological Record they will within a few years form the basis of a most valuable summary report showing the variations in the growing season in the several provinces. Such summaries would not only be valuable from an educational point of view, but would also be useful to the agriculturist and climatologist. Some diseases are found to be more prevalent at the time of flowering of plants so that such dates would also be valuable to the medical profession.

Atmospheric Physics.—Pilot balloon work was carried on at Toronto and Camp Borden, Ont., throughout the year and at Ottawa, Ont., Roberval, P.Q., and High River, Alta., during the flying season. New stations were opened at Halifax, N.S., and Victoria Beach, Man., at the aerodromes of the Air Board, and at Victoria, B.C., in connection with the Meteorological Service. A book of tables for readily obtaining the horizontal distance of the balloon from the station at any minute, was prepared and published. This book in conjunction with the special plotting board enables the observer to very quickly obtain the direction and velocity of the wind at various heights. Balloons have been despatched regularly at these stations whenever the weather permitted. The highest flight obtained at Toronto was on 31st July, 1921, when the balloon was followed for ninety-nine minutes and reached a height of 52,000 feet. The highest flight obtained in Canada up to the present occurred on January 26, 1922, at Camp Borden, when the balloon was followed for 106 minutes and reached a height of nearly 56,000 feet.

Balloons carrying instruments were sent up from Woodstock, Ont., on the International days and the recoveries were very good until January, 1922, when six balloons were sent up and only two found. To obtain upper air data in the west arrangements were made in October for sending up balloons with instruments from Calgary, Alta., and of those sent up about half have been found. The international committee has altered the procedure in sending up the balloons. Hitherto there were six consecutive flights in one month of the year, three consecutive flights in three months and one flight in each of the remaining months. According to the new procedure there are to be but three definite periods of six flights each in the year and for one of the periods the ascents are to take place every twelve hours.

The Meteorological Service had under taken as their part of the international programme in connection with Amunsden's Expedition to send an observer to Fort Good Hope, Mackenzie River District, to take pilot balloon, meteorological and magnetic observations during the year July, 1921-July, 1922. Although Capt. Amunsden has had to postpone his part of the programme the Meteorological Service carried out its part and sent Mr. Harold Bibby to Fort Good Hope. He reached his destination on July 11, and will return in July of this year. The reports received by the winter mail indicate that the instruments were all working satisfactorily.

Two types of thermometers for use on board ship to take the temperature of ocean water in the Pacific were tried out during the year. One was a thermograph of the Bristol type. It consisted of a steel bulb filled with mercury inserted in the intake pipe to the condenser and connected by fine steel capillary tubing to the registering part. The other was a resistance thermometer inserted in the intake and connected to a Wheatstone bridge which was adjusted by a special rheostat so that the temperature read directly on a scale to a fifth of a degree. Readings were taken every four hours. While the tubes exposed to the action of the sea water were made of steel or iron and were practically the same as the pipes in which they were inserted yet the corrosion was so great that it very soon destroyed the thermometers. This defect is now being remedied as well as some other minor defects that developed in the resistance thermometer.

Earth temperature thermometers were almost ready for installation last fall but the freezing of the ground prevented them from being put in. It is proposed to put in a set of thermometers at depths of 4 inches, 10 inches, 20 inches, and 40 inches to be recorded for a period of eight minutes once in every sixty-four minutes and a surface thermometer to be recorded three times in this interval. Thermometers at depths 5 feet 6 inches, 9 feet and 15 feet, to be read once daily will also be added.

Through the courtesy and assistance of Mr. Parkins, of the University of Toronto, extensive observations were made in the Wind Tunnel of the university on the anemometer, and much valuable information on the action of the wind on the anemometer has been obtained. The Meteorological Service desires to take this opportunity of expressing to Mr. Parkins and his assistants its grateful appreciation of the services they rendered and of making it possible to carry on the investigation.

Magnetics.—Photographic records of the variations taking place in the magnetic elements during the fiscal year 1921-22 were obtained at Agincourt with only very slight loss. Pronounced disturbances were of very infrequent occurrence, as was expected in a year of minimum sunspots.

On May 12, however, a very remarkable series of disturbances began which lasted until the 21st, and were repeated at each rotation of the sun for several months, although with much diminished energy. During the May disturbance the limits of our recording instruments were exceeded and for several hours the record was lost. In declination the range was greater than 4° and in horizontal force nearly 1,200, which is almost 8 per cent of the normal value.

Absolute observations for D, H and I were made each week and base values for the differential instruments determined from them.

Tables showing the magnetic character of each day of the year were prepared and copies forwarded to the International Commission on Terrestrial Magnetism. The "selected days" of the commission are used in the analysis of the magnetic data for our annual magnetic report

At the request of the Surveyor-General, index corrections for compasses attached to surveyors' theodolites to the number of sixty were determined and the results forwarded to him. Assistance was also given to members of his staff in determining the constants of their total force instruments both before and after their field work.

Members of the staff of the Dominion Observatory were also assisted in standardizing their magnetometers and dip circles.

Many special reports were made for inquirers and surveyors who required data for specified places and times.

A report was also made of the work of the Canadian magnetic observatories and of the intercomparison of magnetic instruments in Canada for presentation at the Rome meeting of the International Geodetic and Geophysical Union.

The observatory at Meanook was continued in operation as before. During the very cold weather some loss of record occurred owing to stopping of the driving clock.

Weekly observations were made of absolute declination and inclination and twice a month observations of horizontal force.

The declination photographic traces for both Agincourt and Meanook were loaned to the Surveyor-General and the Agincourt declination traces to the Dominion Observatory for use in the reduction of their field work.

Time Service.—During the year ending March 31, 1922, seventy-seven observations for time were made, of which seventy-four were meridian transists of stars and three of the sun.

The determination for instrumental errors in collimation being made principally by reversal on Polaris and also by reversal on suitable star sets in connection with the determination of the azimuth error, the computations being made by the method of least squares.

The level error is obtained by direct measurement with a delicate striding level by Troughton and Simms, the value of a division of the scale being 1·4 inch.

The positions of the stars used being those tabulated in the American Ephemeris.

The various clocks and chronometers in use continue to give satisfaction. The magneto clock has been in operation and continues to perform its work well.

Owing to the many uses, electrical connections, and contacts to which our present clocks are subjected to, it would be advisable to install a free running mean time seconds clock to assist in the better preservation of the time obtained by observation.

Inquiries for time both mean and sidereal and the rating of watches have been increasingly numerous.

The usual daily signal at 11.55 a.m. has been given to the city over the fire-alarm system.

The time has also been given to Agincourt Magnetic Observatory weekly and daily to the Canadian Northern Division of the Canadian National Railway System running out of Toronto.

Visitors and others have been accorded many opportunities of viewing the heavenly bodies with the 6-inch equatorial telescope when available.

The usual time exchanges between Toronto and Quebec, Montreal and St. John, N.B., have been made and recorded on the chronographs at Toronto, Montreal and St. John, the errors of the clocks being computed from the latest observations.

Solar Observations.—During the civil year ending December, 1921, the sun was observed on 173 days with the 6-inch equatorial telescope and the usual maps drawn showing the position and size of the various groups of sunspots. On nineteen of these days the sun's disc was completely free of spots.

The following table will show the differences between the times at the several observatories, and that at Toronto:—

Seismology.—The Milne seismographs at Toronto and Victoria have been kept in operation throughout the year with little loss of record. No alterations were made in their adjustments, the booms being steady at a period of 18 seconds.

Toronto recorded ninety-three disturbances, forty-five less than last year, and thirty-seven less than the average number for the past seven years.

The month of May with thirteen, and August and December with three, show the greatest and the least number recorded in any month of the year.

The largest quakes occurred on January 17 and 31, giving trace amplitudes of 13 and 16 mm. The epicentre of the former was possibly off the coast of Centre Columbia and may have been a dual earthquake, and that of the latter, off the coast of Northern California.

Quakes of lesser intensity with amplitudes ranging from 2 to 3·2 mm. were recorded on:—

April 10—Epicentre, north of Queen Charlotte Island.
May 1—Epicentre off Tejupan Point, Mexico.
August 23—Distance from Toronto, 3,610 km.
September 11—Distant.
October 15—
December 18—Distance, 5,000 km.
January 9—Distance, 3,330 km.

We continue to forward abstracts of both the Toronto and Victoria observations to various seismological centres throughout the world. The records are also published, and information regarding the character of any large disturbance, together with its distance from Toronto is furnished to the Press Associations. The Toronto evening papers are supplied with bromide copies for publication.

At the request of Professor Turner, Chairman of the Seismological section of the British Association, we are remeasuring from 1913 all our tabulations, in an effort to detect possible mistakes or wrong analysis of the various waves with a view of arriving at a more accurate table of velocities.

The new Milne-Shaw instruments referred to in previous reports have not yet arrived owing to the press of orders at the manufacturers.

The Library and Publications.—Volumes, including annual meteorological reports, received from various countries have been 162 in number, while daily, weekly and monthly reports have come from 104 different services. Each month 531 copies of the Canadian Weather Record and 626 copies of the Monthly Weather Map have been sent out, and each day 374 weather maps have been distributed from the Central Office and about 200 from the Winnipeg branch. Nearly 200 copies of the Toronto Observatory Year Book were sent out and also 87 copies of the Magnetic Observatory report for both the years 1917 and 1918.

Mechanics.—The station equipment for all meteorological stations is first assembled in the Central Office workshop. The thermometer screens are wholly constructed here—barometers are tested and packed, as are also thermometers. Wind-gauges, sunshine recorders, rain-gauges and various other instruments are carefully inspected before being shipped. Much mechanical apparatus required by the physics branch is here constructed and instruments are being constantly sent in for repairs.

Appendix A

The Director of the Quebec Observatory reports as follows:—

The work performed at this observatory has been the same as in former years.

Meteorological observations were taken daily without interruption, and the instruments were kept in good order.

Monthly reports were forwarded to the Central Office, and extracts from the records of the observatory were furnished to the public through the newspapers and otherwise. Statements as to the weather conditions, exact hour of sunset at different places and angle of elevation of the sun at certain time of the day, etc., were supplied for use in several cases before the courts.

The weather bulletin has been posted regularly in the principal sections of the city and published in all the newspapers, and an ever increasing number of inquiries were also answered by telephone concerning the local weather forcasts.

Several chronometers were rated and barometers were compared with standard instrument in this office.

The clock errors and rates have been determined by observations of standard stars on nearly ever fine night and the correct time was given by means of the time ball, the noon-gun and also by telephone.

Whenever observations could not be taken, the error of the mean time clock was obtained by comparisons with the sidereal clock which has a steadier rate.

The mean time clock being situated in the residence, is much more affected by sudden changes in the temperature and by vibrations during strong winds and gales.

Allow me to state the following facts with regard to the condition of the observatory buildings.

In the course of November, 1913, the engineer of the Public Works Department, while making his annual survey of the Government properties at Quebec, made a personal inspection of the premises. This gentleman reported that the buildings were in a bad state of repair and that they were not susceptible of any profitable alterations or improvements without a considerable expenditure of money, and he advised the Department to erect a new building.

During the month of February, 1914, I was requested to report as to the proposed improvements and necessary repairs to the buildings so as to make them in keeping with the National Battlefields Park in which they are situated.

After conferring with the authorities of the National Battlefields Park Commission, and taking the advice of the resident engineer of the Department of Public Works, I deemed it my duty to report that a new building was needed.

In the year 1919, the Department of Public Works had intended to make some urgent repairs, and to that end, one of the inspectors of that department came to Quebec, and after making a thorough inspection of the buildings, he found that they were in such a bad state that they were unfit to be repaired.

By letter dated July 23, 1918, I was requested by the Secretary of the National Battlefields Park Commission to take steps to remedy the unsanitary conditions arising from the fact that the overflow of the observatory wooden cesspool emptied at intervals in the park roads, owing to the sloping state of the grounds.

This matter was brought to the attention of the officials of the Department of Pubic Works who made the suggestion that a pipe connection be made with the park sewer system.

I then made a survey and plan showing the location of the proposed pipe connection, but this matter has remained in abeyance pending the construction of a new building.

As above stated, the observatory is situated within the National Battlefields Park, and occupies a space of 300 feet by 200 feet.

The grounds have never been fenced in, and it would be necessary for the protection of the various instruments lying in the open, to erect a suitable fence, in order to prevent their being tampered with by the public visiting the Park.

Should the department decide to build a new observatory, I would ask you to kindly allow me to offer a few suggestions which I believe are useful and necessary, as to the inside partitions, the location of the instruments, etc., so as to remedy many inconveniences and defects which have come to my notice during the 28 years that I have been in charge of the observatory.

Appendix "B"

The Director of the St. John, N.B., observatory reports as follows:—

The regular routine of meteorological observations has been carried on continuously throughout the year. Eye readings, made tri-daily, of the various instruments serve as a check to standardize the electric and autographic recording instruments. Hourly abstracts, from the recording instruments, have been made and monthly sums and means computed. As in the past the morning and night observations have been telegraphed the central office at Toronto for purposes of the weather charts.

No changes of importance have been made in the equipment or in the exposure of the outside instruments.

The wind station at Point Lepreau continues to give valuable records of direction and velocity in that section of the bay of Fundy; the anemograph records sent here from that station have been tabulated and the monthly analysis abstracted. The anemometers at Point Lepreau and St. John are frequently changed, cleaned and lubricated.

Returns from all observers in the Maritime Provinces are received here monthly, have been checked, sums and means abstracted, and records of climatic conditions of the various stations kept for reference. This data is available to promptly answer numerous inquiries we have for weather conditions, locally as well as covering the Maritime Provinces.

During the past year, requests for information have been largely in excess of previous years and a large amount of clerical work resulted from these inquiries.

The weather bulletin received each week-day morning from Toronto has been issued with the least possible delay, is posted in public places, distributed through the mails and published by the evening newspapers. The synopsis, giving movement of important changes throughout the continent and prevailing weather and atmospheric conditions at the different stations adjacent to our coasts, and the forecasts for following days are of the highest importance to mariners, shippers of perishable goods and various other commercial and personal interests. Numerous telephone calls are daily received for the forecasts and other information pertaining to the weather.

In addition to our daily local report the press is frequently furnished with information, especially during the stormy season or when periods of extreme or unusual conditions prevail.

Ever increasing telephone calls for the time, prevailing weather conditions, forecasts and other numerous questions have been answered daily and frequently at night.

MARITIME PROVINCE TIME SERVICE.

Observations of stars on available nights have been made with the three-inch Troughton & Simms meridian telescope. The transit micrometer method of observing as particularized in former reports has been continued.

The Riefler sidereal clock run under constant pressure and temperature in the basement clock room continues to give its usual excellent results. This clock after a run of seven years was dismantled and cleaned in August. After a short period of testing the case was sealed and air pressure reduced to its former level. During the period of its cleaning and testing the Kullberg sidereal was used as the primary standard.

The mean time transmitting clock which is ru non Atlantic Standard Time, continues to give most satisfactory service. Its electrical contacts for automatically transmitting the time signals and the hourly contact for synchronizing purposes have operated without failure. The daily time signals, which reach the most important points in the Maritime Provinces have been regularly and automatically transmitted from this clock through connection with the telegraph wires on our switchboard.

The master clock in Halifax, daily synchronized by wire direct from our mean time clock has been giving satisfactory results. This clock is automatically synchronized by our 10 a.m. time signal, daily, should failure occur, owing to wire trouble, it receives the signal of correction at the first following hour service has been resumed. Its service of automatically dropping the time-ball on the Citadel and for synchronizing connected clock in Halifax has been highly satisfactory.

In addition to their synchronized and electric wound clocks in St. John and Halifax the Western Union Telegraph Company now have similar clocks in Moncton, Woodstock, Truro, Sydney and Charlottetown. They are electrically corrected to the second by signals from our transmitting clock which are on the repeaters in the Western Union Offices here every hour day and night. Consequently these outside clocks may receive the signals at any hour of the twenty-four which may be convenient. It is the purpose to further increase the number of these electric clocks at different points. They serve as a standard of time for the public wherever placed.

The system for several years, in operation in St. John, for locally synchronizing office, factory, street and tower clocks every hour day and night by wire from our master clock has been working perfectly and is a most useful service.

The time-balls at St. John and Halifax, under the control of the observatory time service, have as heretofore been dropped each week day at 1 p.m. Atlantic Standard Time. A few places in the Maritime Provinces, again last year adopted Daylight Time, which as in the previous year was the cause of considerable confusion.

Appendix "C"

The Director of the Gonzales Heights observatory, Victoria, B.C., reports as follows:—

During the past year the regular meteorological observations have been taken and daily weather forecasts issued for the following districts: Victoria and Nanaimo, the Lower Mainland, Kamloops and Kootenay. In the spring and early summer, special temperature forecasts were sent to the fruit-growing centres in the Okanagan District, and again in the autumn and early winter information was sent out respecting the advent of the first severe frosts and later of sufficient cold weather which might damage the shipping of fruit across the mountains to the Prairie Provinces.

Storms warnings have been issued for the ports of Victoria, Nanaimo, and Vancouver, and owners of small craft and towing companies are in ever increasing numbers making use of the above and phoning this office for greater detail of storms or high winds.

During the summer months the Provincial Department of Forestry was furnished with daily weather forecasts for the various forest districts, aud during the hottest periods a four- to six-day forecast was furnished, which through the above Central Forestry office was wired to the district forest rangers.

This information has proved of practical benefit in the matter of forest fire fighting by enabling the rangers to increase their staff in advance of serious outbreaks or to diminish these during cool showery periods.

The time service has been very satisactory throughout the year. The time-ball has been dropped daily at 1 p.m. by wire from this office to its site on one of the highest buildings on the city water front. The time gun which through the courtesy of General Ross was installed last year has been fired regularly at noon and at 9 p.m. from this office by a phone signal to the officer on duty. The night gun is particularly well heard and is appreciated by many both in the city and its suburbs. The time is also sent out by wireless each morning to a radius of from 300 to 400 miles from this office, for the benefit of shipping and the other Government wireless stations.

A large number of visitors (1,500) have passed through this institution during the past year, and have been greatly interested in our instruments and the valuable work being carried on here.

During the past year only 101 earthquakes were recorded on the seismographs here, while in the previous year the total was 131. Several severe earthquakes were recorded, the most important occurred off the northern coast of California on January 31, 1922.

I am pleased to state that the pilot balloon ascents now made from here on all suitable days since you kindly arranged this service last September are proving of practical value in connection with weather forecasting here, and the data obtained from these flights are throwing considerable light on the upper air movements during various types of barometric pressure prevailing on the North Pacific slope.

Fifty-five balloon flights have been observed during the past seven months; the average duration of these was 31 minutes. During four flights the balloons were kept in the field of the observing theodolite for over 60 minutes each, while on December 15, 1921, the longest flight was obtained, giving a distance of 23 miles travelled in 38 minutes and an elevation of 19,000 feet. The highest hourly wind velocity was 95 miles from the north on this date at an elevation of 18,500 feet. As these balloons are only about 20 inches in diameter when released from here, the fact that some can be retained in the observing field to a distance of 23 miles indicates an efficient observing staff, a high quality observing "Watts" theodolite, and a remarkably clear atmosphere. It is expected that owing to freedom from clouds during the summer and autumn months that a fine series of balloon ascents will be made here.

I would again respectfully urge that the seismographs which were ordered in England some time ago be forwarded as soon as possible, and also that an electric recording chronograph be installed here in connection with our star transit observations for the time service.

Appendix "D"

The Director of the McGill University observatory reports as follows:—

WEATHER SERVICE

The routine meteorological observations prescribed in Form A have been made without interruption. Continuous records of the barometric pressure, temperature, sunshine, rainfall and relative humidity have been taken and properly registered. The 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. telegraphic reports have been punctually transmitted to the Canadian National Telegraph Company and the prescribed returns and copies from our registers mailed to the Central Office monthly. A daily summary of the preceding twenty-four hours' weather which includes pressure, temperature, direction and velocity of the wind at two hour intervals, and sunshine, humidity and precipitation has been given to the Montreal Gazette each night, excepting Saturdays, at 8 p.m. Less systematic reports are given to the Star whenever requested and to various other papers. Inquiries from the French press are relatively rare and we would be glad to encourage them.

A delay in the issue of our Monthly Weather Abstract from July, 1921, to the beginning of the present year was occasioned by the Gazette Printing Company deciding to charge for the 100 copies we require monthly. For many years the Gazette had printed free from 75 to 100 copies for the observatory and 700 copies for the Natural History Society of Montreal. Until five years ago we understand this society distributed a large part of their supply, and since then have allowed an accumulation. The Gazette apparently received an erroneous impression that the Meteorological Service was willing to pay for all these 800 copies. On explanation that the Meteorological Service in no way authorized the issue to the Natural History Society, the printing of their 700 copies was discontinued in July. A warrant for the printing of 100 copies monthly for the Observatory by the Gazette was issued by the Government printing office on the authority of the Meteorological Service and the arrears of issues since July have been brought up nearly to date, the issues for February and March being at present under way. The allowance for the printing of the Abstracts is appreciated and we think highly justified. Numerous inquiries involving much labour in the reply are readily met when the printed form is available. We received an indication of the value of this publication by the demands made for it during the interruption. It had been issued for forty-seven years unbrokenly.

The daily forecast from Toronto is received over the telephone very regularly about 11 a.m. and many inquiries, systematic and desultory are answered. The delivery of the typewritten daily bulletin is delayed until usually after 1 p.m. and have had occasion to write or telephone the Canadian National Telegraph Company about irregularities and failure in its delivery. The Daily Weather map comes regularly with the mails. The Monthly Record we have found invaluable in answering inquiries as to climatic data of other Canadian stations and we have had the copies for each year since 1916 bound into book form for ready reference.

Of corporations and individuals making irregular inquiries on recent weather conditions, the railroads and express companies and various claims agents are most prominent. Manufacturers, consulting engineers, shippers, educational institutions and legal firms all have occasion for making inquiries. When the civil courts are in session, the legal fraternity do not hesitate to subpœna the production of our weather records in court on short notice and often to our great inconvenience. We have always given free and certified copies of the desired records to any lawyer or client desiring the same, with the warning that if subpœnaed to appear in court, we must make a personal charge for our services. These charges are not infrequently unpaid but have lessened the number of subpœnas received.

No new equipment has been added to the observatory. We have had one barometer thoroughly renovated, and various minor repairs attended to by Mr. A. Stirling, whose expert services and moderate charges are gratefully acknowledged. The Callendar Recorder for differences of temperature has been shipped recently to the Meteorological Office, Toronto, for Mr. Patterson's use. The anemometer is exposed on the summit of Mount Royal and the sunshine recorder on the roof of the Physics building. The screen, rain-gauge and other instruments are all on the observatory premises.

We should be glad to undertake an investigation of the distribution and intensities of rainfall over the city of Montreal were the necessary automatic gauges available. The location of these could easily be arranged as many engineers with suitable premises would be glad to attend to the collection of the records, knowing that information on this subject is of peculiar interest to their practice. The city records have shown us already interesting comparisons and differences.

The staff responsible for the weather observations are Mr. George Alberga, B.Sc., Miss M. Gilman and the writer.

On week days in the usual course, the first-named makes, records and reports the observations taken just before 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. and shares with Miss Gilman the labour of keeping the books and returns up to date. He is unable to give more than an hour night and morning to Observatory work. On week days, in addition to her office work and correspondence, Miss Gilman attends to telephone calls and routine inquiries, time signals, etc, etc.

The writer attends to extra observations for Sundays, week ends or holidays and answers all letters and special inquiries. In the past year he has attended to over 25 per cent of the routine observations and chores. The lady has given efficient service for nearly four years, and we shall be fortunate as well if Mr. Alberga's services can be retained. Owing to the small pay, it is difficult to have the services of a student or instructor in the university while the college session is on, and just as difficult to retain one when it is over. This involves usually a new apprentice each summer with the necessity of practically supervising his efforts for months. In this connection the local adoption of Daylight Saving Time increases the difficulty as a part time clerk can rarely secure other work which permits his presence at the observatory at 9 a.m., nor does he care to interrupt his evenings to regularly report for 9 p.m: even if he is not otherwise enjoying the summer vacation. The writer, living in the building, finds his proximity to the work almost a necessity in order to attend to the work on Sundays, holidays, vacations of the staff, night inquiries, and noon hours. An extension telephone enables communication with the observatory over night practicable. This, however, is rarely used.

We have frequently commented on the unsuitability of the present observatory site. This is due to the field of view being obstructed by neighbouring buildings and the mountain. Sky observations, cloud observations, and recognition of various atmospheric optical phenomena are handicapped unless the observers are continually observant both while on and off the premises. The university surroundings and the congenial atmosphere of a university offset with their advantages other minor limitations.

B—THE TIME SERVICE

Four astronomical clocks have been kept regulated, the two Howard clocks on mean time and the Riefler and Ballon on sidereal rate. Observations of about 500 star transits were made on 86 nights. These observations were made with the Troughton and Simms transit with micrometer eyepiece which registers 15 contacts on the chronograph during a star transit. The Riefler sidereal clock was thus regulated and the others by intercomparisons several times daily. Several chronometers are also kept rated. The Howard clock that transmits the signals to the public has been running over 40 years and gives good service. Only minor repairs to any of the clocks have been required in the year. The results of 19 time exchanges with Toronto have been separately submitted. We have fortunately been able to have almost daily checks on our time through the kindness of Mr. F. Redpath, who possesses an excellent Riefler clock and makes chronographic comparisons of our time, his own and the Arlington signals.

The chief subscribers to our time service are the C.P.R. and G.T.R. railroads. The master clock of the C.P.R. is regulated by our ticker and the signals sent through their line by hand and key, the operator following the beats of their clock.

The Grand Trunk signals are sent by an electric signal clock set in beat with our standard. This is not entirely safe or satisfactory. About eight jewellers have time tickers installations and others receive signals over the telephone for rating purposes. Signals are sent at noon to the city stations on the fire alarm circuit. The time ball for the Harbour Commissioners is dropped at noon. It is an unsatisfactory condition that the ball is not raised except in the navigation season, the harbour office being content with the ringing of a bell. No omissions to throw the switch on week day noons have been made in many years. Failures of current in the circuit are not uncommon. We believe the memorial clock tower of the Harbour Commissioners with the noon time-bomb proposed will be soon completed. The present time-ball is invisible to much of the harbour. We have not learned whether the noon bomb will be fired on Arlington signals or ours, but trust the past failures in the electric circuits will be impossible. For a visual signal the appreciable differences of any observatory times, being within the second, will be negligible for public purposes.

Many unknown individuals and firms call for the time, roughly the nearest minute, when recourse to the Telephone Company would serve their purpose equally well. We are, however, unable to discriminate and refuse no one.

In the course of the past year we were fortunately enabled to engage Mr. M. A. Downes, B.Sc., to act as time observer. He has made over 80 per cent of the time observations mentioned and makes the various clock comparisons. In addition, being familiar with the weather service, he has made many observations outside his prescribed duties, relieving others. Mr. Downes comes in the morning and evening on week days. The writer appreciates the relief this addition to the staff has brought and the liberty to leave the city, when college duties permit, for a month's vacation in the summer.

Greatest economy in supplies, heat if not fuel, and cleaning has been observed.

The financial statement required may be had from the bursar of the university, who handles all funds directly.

We regret being absent in June when the observatory was inspected by Mr. Patterson, of the Meteorological Office, and trust Mr. Downes, the assistant in charge at the time, did his best to meet his wishes.

The plans of the university for extensions do not, as yet, include a prospect of an astronomical observatory. The site on Westmount Hill, 33 acres belonging to the university, may charm some wealthy patron of science to some day make a benefaction to this end. In which case, the co-operation of the Government and the university towards including with it an efficient meteorological observatory is inherently reasonable.

PILOTAGE REPORT

CAPT. G. E. L. ROBERTSON, DIRECTOR, PILOTAGE

The Honourable the Minister of Marine and Fisheries is the Pilotage Authority for the Pilotage Districts of Halifax, N.S., Saint John, N.B., Quebec, and Montreal, and all matters relating to pilotage in those districts are dealt with through the local superintendents at the above-mentioned places.

DISTRICT OF QUEBEC

There are fifty-seven pilots and eight apprentices in this district. The gross earnings of these pilots was $176,660.49. Only fifty-four pilots, however, worked throughout the season, whose average earnings were $3,203.87, as compared with $2,383.91 in 1920.

The total number of ships piloted inward was 1,300, of a total net tonnage of 3,602,204, and the total number outward 1,276, of a total net tonnage of 3,522,866, making a grand total of 2,576 ships, of 7,125,070 net tons. This is an increase of 2,054,428 net tons over 1920.

In this district 7 per cent of the gross earnings of the pilots is deducted for the Pension Fund. This fund is administered by the Quebec Pilots' Corporation, and amounted on December 31, 1921, to $86,607.69. In addition to the pension received from the corporation, certain retired pilots, 28 in number, receive an annual pension of $300 from the Government.

DISTRICT OF MONTREAL

There are 51 pilots and four apprentices in this district. The gross earnings of these pilots was $181,540.40. Only forty-eight pilots, however, worked throughout the season, whose average earnings were $3,698.86, as compared with $2,938.88 in 1920.

The total number of ships piloted inward was 1,220, of a total net tonnage of 3,267,054, and the total number outward 1,203, of a total net tonnage of 3,261,127, making a grand total of 2,423 ships of 6,528,181 net tons. This is an increase of 1,697,798 net tons over 1920.

In this district 5 per cent of the gross earnings of the pilots is deducted for the Pension Fund (Montreal Decayed Pilots' Pension Fund), which fund is administered, without charge, for the Montreal pilots by the Department of Finance.

Mr. C. A. Lebel, Montreal, is the acting superintendent for the Montreal District, and Mr. F. J. Boulay, assistant superintendent, at Quebec.

All expenses for the pilotage services at Montreal and Quebec are paid out of public funds. This amounted for the district of Montreal to $9,701.08 and to $58,180.71 for the district of Quebec, the latter including the cost of maintaining the pilot tender Eureka at Father Point, Quebec.

DISTRICT OF HALIFAX

There are fifteen first-class pilots, three second-class pilots, and four apprentice pilots in this district. The gross earnings for 1921 were $58,402.95. The total amount of expenses, including the upkeep of the two pilot tenders maintained, was $13,299.13, leaving a balance to be divided amongst the pilots of $45,103.72. The average net earnings of each first-class pilot was therefore $2,733.56.

In this district 5 per cent of the gross earnings of the pilots is deducted for the Superannuation Fund. This fund is administered, without charge, for the Halifax pilots by the Department of Finance.

The total number of ships piloted inward was 1,001, and 979 outward, making a total of 1,980, of a total net tonnage of 4,043,778, as compared with 3,736,530 net tons in 1920, being an increase of 307,248 net tons.

Captain H. St. George Lindsay is the superintendent at Halifax.

DISTRICT OF SAINT JOHN

There are thirteen first-class pilots, two second-class pilots, and two apprentice pilots in this district. The gross earnings for 1921 were $41,946.62. The total expenses, including the upkeep of the pilot tender, was $8,071.25, leaving a balance to be divided amongst the pilots of $33,875.37. The average net earnings of each first-class pilot was therefore $1,991.40.

In this district 12 per cent of the gross earnings of the pilots is deducted for the Superannuation Fund. This fund is administered, without charge, for the Saint John Pilots by the Department of Finance.

The above figures are the total handling for 1921. Among these figures local handling amounted to 1,332,242 bushels, of which 340,066 bushels were recleaned.

REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE

The revenue in 1921 was $387,323.91; the expenditure, $335,303.17, leaving a surplus for the year of $52,020.74.

GENERAL

During the year under review the strictest economy was observed in the administration of the port, as shown by the 1921 surplus of $52,020.74, as against a deficit of $65,221.96 for the year 1920, an improvement of $117,242.70.

Although there was a decrease of 76 vessels inwards and 106 outwards in 1921 as compared with 1920, the quantity of freight handled in 1921 exceeded considerably that handled, in 1920, owing to the larger number of vessels loading and unloading full cargoes in 1921, as against part cargoes in 1920.

Vancouver Harbour Commission

BALLANTYNE PIER

The extra accommodation which this pier will afford is urgently needed.

The pier is situated between the Great Northern pier and the Hastings saw-mill, and when completed will be 1,200 feet long by 341 feet wide and will consist of a central gravel fill with a concrete deck, carried on reinforced concrete cylinders on either side. There will be upon it four two-story transit sheds, 110 feet wide each, two car tracks on each side between the edge of the pier and the front of the sheds, and three tracks and a roadway in the centre of the pier between the sheds.

It is estimated that this pier will be completed with superstructure by midsummer 1923.

TERMINAL RAILWAY FACILITIES

The Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada have authorized a terminal system which will connect Ballantyne pier and the present Government wharf with the Great Northern Railway interchange on Burrard inlet, and from that point to the terminal of the Canadian National Railway at False creek.

This system will directly connect the Government wharf and Ballantyne pier with all the railway systems entering Vancouver, and provide adequate switching facilities to and from the piers.

Another part of this system which will be carried out as soon as conditions permit, will be a cross-channel car-ferry, with its south shore terminal at Ballantyne pier. This will enable the various railway companies to extend their services to North Vancouver, and make available to the city and district of North Vancouver the facilities of Ballantyne pier.

IMPROVEMENTS TO NAVIGATION

In the interests of shipping, it has been decided providing the consent of the department is obtained, to take over the signalling station at Prospect point, at the entrance to the harbour, and to install a complete signalling system, which will be continuously operated day and night, and directly connected by phone with the harbour-master's department.

It is also proposed to establish a beacon light and fog signal on the north side of the First Narrows.

The nuisance of floating logs and snags in the harbour is being dealt with by a new powerful work boat the Atkinson, which was completed in November, and employed in removing these obstructions to navigation with great success.

Leading marks fitted with electric lights, so as to serve both by day and night, are being installed in Coal harbour for the use of small commercial craft and pleasure yachts navigating this section of the harbour.

HARBOUR POLICE

A beginning has been made in the establishment of a harbour police force by the appointment of two constables, who patrol the water front night and day.

The officers enforce the Commissioners' By-laws, in regard to requirements for prevention of accidents, fire, explosions, and pollution of the waters of the harbour by oil, débris, or offal. The results of their work so far have been eminently satisfactory.

MINOR WORKS AND MAINTENANCE

Government wharf.—Resurfacing has been carried on. A new private spur track 600 feet in length was built from No. 3 track to serve the Hastings Shingle Manufacturing Company.

Granville Island.—A private spur 500 feet in length was built on lot 7 to serve the works of the Northern Realty Company. Road repair work was carried out, and underdrainage provided at several points where needed.

High water boundary surveys.—A series of water front bench marks have been established showing the high water boundary of all properties within the harbour. This has been done on the south side of Burrard inlet from Coal harbour to Second Narrows, and around False creek. The levels will be completed on the north shore of the Central harbour, and the boundaries then defined.

Soundings.—Soundings of the various berths in Burrard inlet were completed, and additional soundings made in False creek, between Granville island and Connaught bridge.

Booming grounds.—Seymour booming ground was put in operation during the year.

Public landing stage.—A float 80 feet by 15 feet was built and placed in front of the Dominion immigration shed for the use of the public in making landings by tender from larger ships at anchor in the harbour. Provision was made in rear of float to moor the commissioners' tug Atkinson, and small inspection launch.

MONTREAL HARBOUR COMMISSION

ACCOMMODATION

The present accommodation and facilities of Montreal harbour are practically as given in last year's report. The new large warehouse and cold storage plant, close to the Canadian Pacific city terminals on the harbour front, alluded to in last year's report, is now nearly completed, and when in use will afford additional facilities.

The total expenditure on Montreal harbour at the close of the season of 1922 amounted to $33,000,000.

WAREHOUSE AND COLD STORAGE PLANT

This plant is now nearing completion; it is 440 feet long by 110 feet, situated at the foot of Beaudry street, on the harbour front, within one-quarter of a mile of Bonsecours market. Any ocean liner can berth at the dock. Ten refrigerator cars can be switched into the house adjoining the trucking platform, and ten others may be loaded or unloaded from a track just outside the warehouse. Motor-trucks or teams to the number of thirty can handle goods directly at the trucking platform.

There are four large freight elevators and one passenger elevator, and four mechanical platform conveyers with gravity or belt connections to and from ships are being designed.

Commodious offices and four large stores will be placed on the main distribution floor.

Each of the cold storage floors is provided with a main corridor 280 feet by 20 feet, where weighing, sampling, inspection, etc., may be carried on.

Storage is provided as follows:—

1. Cellars.—There are nineteen massive reinforced concrete cellars, 90 feet by 20 feet and 5 feet to 6 feet high; total storage capacity, 100,000 cubic feet.

2. Basement.—420 feet by 90 feet by 15 feet; total shortage capacity, 350,000 cubic feet, teams and motor-trucks, 50,000 cubic feet; trucking platform, 75,000 cubic feet.

3. Distribution Floor.—440 feet long, with railway tracks for ten cars, and facilities for 30 motor-trucks under cover, also general offices and four stores. Capacity, railway cars, 150,000 cubic feet; teams and motor-trucks, 150,000 cubic feet; offices, stores and distribution, 300,000 cubic feet.

4. Second, Third, and Eighth Floors.—440 feet by 110 feet for dry storage; total storage capacity, 1,500,000 cubic feet.

5. Fourth Cold Storage High Temperature Floor.—Nine compartments connected with main corridor, temperatures 30° to 34°F., suitable for eggs, cheese and fruit; storage capacity, 375,000 feet.

6. Fifth Cold Storage Floor.—Nine compartments connected with main corridor, temperature 25°F., suitable for general merchandise; total storage capacity, 375,000 cubic feet.

7. Sixth Cold Storage Floor.—Nine compartments connected with main corridor, temperatures 10° to 14° F., suitable for butter, fish and poultry; total storage capacity, 375,000 cubic feet.

8. Seventh Cold Storage Floor.—Nine compartments connected with main corridor, temperatures 5° to 15° F., suitable for meats; total storage capacity, 440,000 cubic feet.

Totals—

Total natural cool storage	450,000 cu. ft.
Total dry storage	1,500,000 "
Total space for railway cars and vehicles	350,000 "
Total space for corridors, elevators, etc	388,000 "
Total space for distribution, offices and stores	375,000 "
Total space for cold storage	1,565,000 "
Grand total	4,628,000 "

The warehouse is built of massive reinforced concrete, with brick curtain walls, and every known modern appliance for convenience and efficiency has been provided.

On the top of the building are four water towers: three for a sprinkler system and one for general purposes.

An artesian well 1,100 feet deep, furnishing water of excellent quality at a summer temperature of 42° F., is one of the features of the plant; a small icemaking machine is another feature.

The power-house and mechanical equipment is 50 feet distant from the warehouse, and is a separate massive reinforced concrete and brick building with three fire-walls.

All important machinery, compressors, etc., are in duplicate.

NEW STEEL TRANSIT SHEDS NOS. 18 AND 19

The Victoria pier is in the form of an "L," the upper part of the "L" abutting on the shore, the lower part roughly parallel to it; the shore and the two sides of the pier enclosing a sheltered basin (Market basin). Sheds Nos. 18 and 19 are built on the lower part of the "L".

They are built of steel throughout, rolled shapes, combined length on berthing side 1,070 feet, with lower and upper floors.

The floor and roof slabs are of reinforced concrete with carrying capacity apart from their weight of 600 pounds per square foot for floor and 120 pounds per square foot for roof.

The roof of the sheds has been designed to serve as a public recreation platform, on which light structures in the form of restaurants or amusement buildings could be erected.

The sheds are supplied with a grain conveyer gallery with two shipping belts, similar to those over the other sheds only at a higher level.

Accommodation etc.—	Shed 18	Shed 19
Lower floor area	37,100 sq. ft.	39,700 sq. ft.
Upper floor area	40,700 "	43,100 "
Roof floor area (to be used as promenade deck)		85,100 "

These sheds were formally opened by the Honourable C. C. Ballantyne, the then Minister of Marine, on May 5, 1921.

ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT

(Items of construction completed 1913-1921).

New Victoria Pier and Market Basin.—Since 1913, 2,454 linear feet of new berthage have been completed.

Extension of Shore Wharves, Sections 24-35.—Up to date approximately 3,000 linear feet have been completed; in addition to these extensions, improvements include completion of basin for floating dock at Maisonneuve, construction of wharf at Pointe aux Trembles for the Canada Cement Company, construction of wharf at Montreal East for Imperial Oil Company, Limited, construction of wharf for municipality of Montreal East, extension and partial reconstruction of Jacques Cartier pier, reconstruction wharf sections, 23-24.

Railway Extensions.—From 36 miles in 1912 the harbour railway system has increased to 59 miles to-day. Principal items of improvements and extensions were: Doubling and raising main lines above flood level from Molson's creek to Racine pier; extension of high-level railway from Racine pier to Montreal East, a distance of four miles, with yards and connections to industrial plants: storage and transfer yard at Maisonneuve, storage yard at sections 41-43, switching and city delivery yard at Moreau street, widening high-level railway at sections 27-30 from two to five tracks, extension of harbour tracks on Commissioners street, enlargement of railway entrance at section 12, railway connections to all new wharves and piers, numerous industrial sidings.

Deepening of south side of Windmill Point basin.
Widening and deepening of channel in central harbour.
Removal of shoal between St. Helen's island and Guard pier.
Widening of channel opposite St. Helen's island and Ile Ronde.
Extension of South Shore channel.
Widening of channel from section 46 to section 56.
Widening of entrance channel to floating dock basin.
Approach channel to Imperial Oil wharf, Pointe aux Trembles.
Channel approach and site for Bickerdike pier extensions.

New Concrete Road, St. Lambert-Longueuil.—The new road of reinforced concrete, 24 feet in width and 3,644 feet long, was formed along the eastern boundary of the property, and deep rubble and tile drains were laid along the entire length, on both sides of the road, while ditches and field drains were carried along the roadway by concrete culverts.

Buildings.—East addition to elevator No. 1, completed in 1914, giving additional capacity of 1,500,000 bushels. West addition to elevator No. 1, completed May, 1916, giving additional capacity of 1,500,000 bushels.

Locomotive Shop, Section 42, reinforced concrete construction, completed in 1919, 130 feet by 42 feet.

Cold Storage Warehouse and Power-house (foot of Beaudry street).—It is expected that this structure, already described, will be ready for operation by the opening of navigation in 1922.

GRAIN ELEVATOR SYSTEM

During the season the system handled 102,671,716 bushels, and the Grand Trunk elevator "B," 35,726,771 bushels, a total of 138,398,487 bushels, an increase of 121 per cent over 1920.

During the whole season the system was working to capacity, and in September the rush was such that business had to be refused and diverted elsewhere.

This record would not have been possible without the co-operation of the grain merchants, steamship companies, railway companies, forwarding companies, and the excellent labour conditions of the port.

Elevator No. 1, capacity 4,000,000 bushels.—Date first vessel unloaded, April 26, 1921. Date last vessel unloaded, November 26, 1921. Total receipts, 47,788,365 bushels. By water, 32,135,347 bushels, taken from 446 steamers and 88 barges, or 534 vessels. By cars, 15,653,018 bushels, unloaded from 8,254 cars.

Elevator No. 2, capacity 2,662,000 bushels.—Date first vessel unloaded, April 27th, 1921. Date last vessel unloaded, December 10th, 1921. Total receipts, 53,203,729 bushels. By water, 18,623,729 bushels, taken from 305 steamers and 105 barges, or 410 vessels. By cars, 34,580,060 bushels, unloaded from 17,033 cars.

ELECTRIFICATION OF STEAM OPERATED HARBOUR RAILWAY TERMINALS

The Montreal harbour railway terminals consist of surface lines between Victoria bridge and the Imperial Oil Company wharf, with a total trackage of 58·54 miles.

Electrification for freight-yards and terminals has been found economical and satisfactory, electric locomotives being considerably more efficient than steam locomotives, especially during the winter months.

The harbour terminals have been electrified from section 35 to section 101, a distance of about seven miles; an additional 1·5 mile is partly completed, which when finished, will link up to the large sorting yard at section 20 and the Power-house, and complete the first part for complete electrification.

POLICE DEPARTMENT

Organized in 1913 the harbour police force during the summer season of 1921 comprised one chief, three captains, and fifty-five constables, uniformed and armed, who regulate the traffic on the wharves, maintain order, and protect life and property within the harbour limits.

Thirty-two of the constables were continually at the disposal of the various shipping companies during the summer for special service in protecting cargoes.

During the winter season the force consists of four officers and twenty constables.

During the season of 1921, 95 passenger ships docked, bringing 19,677 passengers, and the same number of ships sailed with 41,913 passengers, making a total of 61,590 passengers handled without accident.

During the season 150 persons were arrested for various offences and brought before magistrates.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT

Receipts on revenue account were $2,891,274.42, an increase of $456,500.70 over last year, due largely to receipts from the grain elevator system.

The cost of operation, maintenance, sinking fund, etc., was $2,724,100.02, an increase of $327,791.92 over last year, leaving a surplus to the credit of revenue account for the year of $167,174.40.

GENERAL

During the year a number of records for the port of Montreal were smashed, the greatest number of ships in port in any one day, the greatest number of ocean vessels in any year, the greatest tonnage in any year, and the greatest grain handling record, doubling any past ones.

At various periods distinguished visitors inspected the harbour, including Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, the Minister of Marine, and members and senators, the Consulting Engineer of Milwaukee harbour, and the Chief Engineer of Gothenburg harbour, Sweden, and during the season the harbour and the new cold storage plant were inspected by members of the Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Trade, and members of the Montreal Produce Merchants' Association.

No serious accidents or marine casualties occurred either in the port of Montreal, or the river St. Lawrence ship channel during the year.
